Irish Set For High-Powered Augusta State Invitational

Fresh off a three-week hiatus after a three consecutive top-four finishes to begin the spring 2005 season, Notre Dame will face perhaps its biggest challenge to date when it participates in the Augusta State Invitational, presented by Administaff, Saturday and Sunday at the Forest Hills Golf Club in Augusta, Ga.

This weekend's tournament features an exceptionally strong field that includes nine of the top 25 teams in the nation, led by No. 3 Georgia, No. 8 Wake Forest and No. 10 Southern California.

Quoting Coach Kubinski ...

"There is no question that Augusta State hosts a marquee event in terms of the quality of the field. There are a number of top teams from both the ACC and SEC competing, in addition to some other highly-ranked teams such as Southern California, Augusta State and Georgia Southern. With such a strong field of 'warmer climate universities' competing, we'll need to be ready to play from the opening tee shot. It's a great test for us.

"We've had success in both New Orleans and Myrtle Beach thus far, but this event could really move us up in the rankings. We're hoping Cole (Isban) is back in good health and ready to go because he can make such a difference. I expect Shane (Sigsbee) to continue his great play and look for Mark (Baldwin) to break through. Mark has had a number of outstanding rounds going only let a shot or two slip coming in. I also look for Greg Rodgers to step up as well — he is swinging very well right now and I love his game. The pieces are here. We just need to get locked in and compete. If we compete as well as I know we can, I would not be surprised to see us raise a few eyebrows and a trophy come Sunday night in Augusta."

Did You Know?

Notre Dame has ties to two of the most famous players in golf history.

Billy Casper won 51 PGA Tour titles, including three majors (1959 & 1966 U.S. Open; 1970 Masters) and was sixth on that tour's all-time victories list upon retirement. He also logged nine wins on the Senior PGA Tour (now the Champions Tour), was an eight-time member of the U.S. Ryder Cup Team and was inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame in 1978. However, before turning pro, Casper attended Notre Dame in 1950 and won the Western Junior National Championship, which was contested at Notre Dame's Burke Memorial Golf Course.

Walter Hagen, Jr., was a three-year monogram winner at Notre Dame from 1938-40, helping the Irish to three consecutive NCAA Championship berths, including a sixth-place finish in 1938. If the name sounds familiar, it should be — his father, Walter Hagen, Sr., won 40 PGA titles, including 11 major championships (five PGA Championships, four British Opens and two U.S. Opens) in his storied career, ranking third in PGA history in the latter category. He also was a six-time U.S. Ryder Cup captain and five years after his death in 1969, he was part of the inaugural induction class for the World Golf Hall of Fame.

Dates and Times

Teams will play two rounds (36 holes) on Saturday, with the opening rounds teeing off via a shotgun start at 8 a.m. (ET). Notre Dame is paired with Toledo and North Florida and will go off from the No. 13-15 tees. The second round will also utilize the shotgun start format approximately 90 minutes after the conclusion of the first round. Competitors will then return Sunday morning for the final round, which will begin at 9 a.m. (ET) with preassigned tee times based upon the tournament standings through 36 holes.

Tournament Updates/Results

Live scoring will be available for this tournament, courtesy of Golfstat (www.golfstat.com). Complete results following each day's action also will be posted on the official Notre Dame athletics web site (www.und.com). In addition, the latest information on the Irish is available on the Notre Dame Sports Hotline (574-631-3000). Callers should select option #9, then press #2 for the latest information on the tournament, as well as weather or scheduling delays.

The Tournament Format

A total of 18 five-man teams (90 participants, with the possibility of some teams fielding additional golfers on an individual basis) will be participating in the Augusta State Invitational. Conventional collegiate golf team scoring rules will apply, with the lowest four scores in the five-man lineup in each round counting toward the team total. Scores by golfers competing on an individual basis do not count to the team total.

The Teams

To say this year's Augusta State Invitational is loaded would be a gross understatement. The event features an 18-team field that includes the following squads: Alabama, Augusta State, UCF (Central Florida), Clemson, Duke, East Tennessee State, Georgia, Georgia Southern, Minnesota (the defending champion), North Carolina, North Carolina State, North Florida, Notre Dame, South Carolina, Southern California, Toledo, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest.

Illustrating the strength of this weekend's tournament, no less than nine teams in the field are ranked in the latest Golf Coaches Association of America (GCAA)/Bridgestone Coaches' Poll (as of March 25). No. 3 Georgia, which received a pair of first-place votes in the poll, leads a trio of top-10 teams in the field, followed by eighth-ranked Wake Forest and No. 10 Southern California. Also competing this weekend will be No. 14 Duke, No. 17 Augusta State, No. 19 Clemson, No. 20 South Carolina, No. 22 Minnesota and No. 25 Alabama. Two other teams are receiving votes in the latest coaches' poll — Georgia Southern (56 votes; would be 26th if the poll were extended) and North Carolina (three votes; 44th).

This year, Notre Dame has posted an 8-5-1 (.607) record against the field at the Augusta State Invitational, having previously faced 10 of the other 17 teams in the event. The Irish are 2-1 against Toledo (wins at Inverness Intercollegiate and Notre Dame Invitational/Central Regional Preview; loss at Windon Memorial Classic), 1-0-1 against UCF (win at General Jim Hackler Invitational; tie at Inverness Intercollegiate); 1-1 vs. North Florida (win at General Jim Hackler Invitational; loss at Windon Memorial Classic) and 1-0 against Augusta State (Inverness Intercollegiate), East Tennessee State (General Jim Hackler Invitational), North Carolina State (Windon Memorial Classic) and Virginia Tech (General Jim Hackler Invitational). Notre Dame is 0-1 this season against Duke (Windon Memorial Classic), Georgia Southern (Inverness Intercollegiate) and Minnesota (Windon Memorial Classic).

The Course

This weekend's Augusta State Invitational will be played at the Forest Hills Golf Club (par 72/7,231 yards) in Augusta, Ga. Originally designed by renowned golf architect Donald Ross, the layout hosted the Southeastern Open, which was won by the legendary Bobby Jones in 1930, the year he went on to capture golf's Grand Slam. Augusta State acquired the property in 1978 and it has become the home course for the Jaguars ever since.

Notre Dame at the Augusta State Invitational

The Irish are playing in the Augusta State Invitational for the second consecutive year. In 2004, Notre Dame tied with Georgia Southern and Toledo for 14th place in the 18-team field, carding a 28-over par 892 (298-300-294). Mark Baldwin was the top Irish finisher, tying for 18th place with a two-over par 218 (74-74-70).

Irish Lineup

Perhaps no one player should benefit more from Notre Dame's recent three-week layoff than sophomore Cole Isban (South Bend, Ind.). One of the anchors in the Notre Dame lineup this year, Isban had to battle through a bout of bronchitis, as well as a minor eye injury in the past two tournaments, keeping him at less than 100 percent. Still, he has started all eight tournaments to date for the Irish and owns a team-best 74.13 stroke average this year (75.44 in the spring) and has placed in the top-five in three events, peaking with a runner-up finish at The Prestige at PGA WEST in early November. In his last outing, he tied for 30th place at the General Jim Hackler Invitational (229, +13).

Junior Mark Baldwin (Laconia, N.H.) has emerged as one of the more consistent players on the Notre Dame roster this year. Baldwin registered his fourth consecutive top-20 finish in early March at the General Jim Hackler Invitational with a tie for 14th (225, +9). Currently, he owns a career-low 75.28 stroke average, which is fourth-best on the team this year, and he is tops on the squad with a 75.22 mark this spring.

Freshman Greg Rodgers (Phoenix, Md.) has shown the greatest potential of any of the Notre Dame rookies this year, starting seven tournaments in his first year under the Golden Dome. Rodgers has recorded a 75.52 stroke average (fifth on the team) and has twice placed in the top 20, with his best finish being a tie for 14th place at the Irish Spring Invitational. In his last outing at the General Jim Hackler Invitational, Rodgers just missed the top 20, settling for a 21st-place tie (227, +11).

Sophomore Shane Sigsbee (McKinney, Texas) made his first start of the spring at last month's General Jim Hackler Invitational and didn't disappoint, matching the best finish of his career with a tie for second place (215, -1). Sigsbee has competed in five events this season, ranking third on the team with a 74.40 stroke average. His 75.33 spring total also is second on the squad.

Junior Scott Gustafson (Eden Prairie, Minn.) earned the final spot on the Irish travel roster this weekend after winning a mid-week playoff with classmate Eric Deutsch (Rochester, Minn.). Gustafson has had an up-and-down season, due in part to his ongoing recovery from injuries suffered in an automobile accident during the fall. He has a 77.22 stroke average this season in six tournaments, but his 75.16 career mark currently ranks ninth in school history.

Last Tournament – General Jim Hackler Invitational

Behind a strong final-round score of 298, Notre Dame jumped two spots to finish second overall at the General Jim Hackler Invitational, which was contested March 13-14 in Murrells Inlet, S.C. The Irish carded a 54-hole total of 27-

Notre Dame Third In Latest USSA Directors' Cup Standings

The University of Notre Dame is in third place in the first set of winter sports standings released in the 2004-05 United States Sports Academy Division I Directors' Cup all-sports competition sponsored by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (formerly known as Sears Directors' Cup).

At the conclusion of the fall sports season, Notre Dame was in first place, marking the first time in the 12-year history of the program that the Irish had been ranked number one. Their previous highest ranking was second in the 2004-05 second set of fall standings.

Fall NCAA competition earned the Irish 337 points based on their NCAA title in women's soccer (100 points), their fourth-place finish in women's cross country (80 points), their 11th-place finish in men's cross country (57 points) and their second-round NCAA appearances in both men's soccer and volleyball (50 points each).

Winter competition has netted 153 points for Notre Dame, courtesy of a combined national championship in fencing (50 points), a 20th-place finish in men's indoor track & field (53.5 points) and a 24th-place showing in women's swimming (49.5 points). Still to come are points from the Irish women's basketball team (NCAA second round) and men's swimming team (NCAA participant).

Michigan (615.75 points) has taken over the top spot in the latest standings, highlighted by a runner-up finish in wrestling and a ninth-place showing in men's indoor track & field. Stanford (609.75 points) moved into second place, thanks to its fifth-place finish in women's swimming and eighth-place finish in women's indoor track & field.

The current standings include results from all NCAA fall sports, as well as NCAA winter competitions in fencing, rifle, skiing, women's swimming, men's and women's indoor track & field and wrestling. The next set of winter standings will be available April 7.

In previous years in which the Directors' Cup competition has been held, Notre Dame has finished 11th in 1993-94, 30th in 1994-95, 11th in 1995-96, 14th in 1996-97, tied for 31st in 1997-98, 25th in 1998-99, 21st in 1999-2000, 11th in 2000-01, 13th in 2001-02, tied for 13th in 2002-03 and 19th in 2003-04.

Here are the current standings:

1.	Michigan	615.75
2.	Stanford	609.75
3.	NOTRE DAME	490
4.	Texas	471.25
5.	Wisconsin	461.25
6.	UCLA	455.5
7.	Duke	427.5
8.	Tennessee	412.25
9.	Colorado	388.5
10.	Nebraska	386.5

Warren Golf Course To Host Qualifier For '05 Western Amateur

The University of Notre Dame's Warren Golf Course will host one of two qualifying tournaments for the 2005 Western Amateur, Western Golf Association Tournament Director John Kaczkowski announced in January.

The qualifying event will be held Monday, July 25, with the second qualifier to be held in Benton Harbor, Mich., at long-time qualifying site Lake Michigan Hills Golf Club. Approximately 50 players in the final field of 156 will qualify for the 103rd Western Amateur at one of the two qualifying sites. Warren replaces Hampshire Country Club (Dowagiac, Mich.), which had hosted an annual qualifier since 1974.

"Warren Golf Course is a wonderful facility, and we're proud to be affiliated with such a prestigious university as Notre Dame," Kaczkowski said. "We expect that the reputation and quality of the course definitely will help us promote the Western Amateur to our national field."

John Foster, Warren's general manager and head professional, added that hosting an event with the history and tradition of the Western Amateur fits well with the university's mission of serving golf with a first-class venue.

"After meeting with representatives of the Western Golf Association, we agreed that holding the qualifier at Warren was mutually beneficial," said Foster. "This is further proof that the University of Notre Dame is committed to becoming one of the premier collegiate golf facilities in the country."

Warren Golf Course at Notre Dame, designed by Ben Crenshaw and Bill Coore, opened in the spring of 2000 and has hosted four BIG EAST Men's Golf Championships, two BIG EAST Women's Golf Championships and two men's U.S. Amateur Qualifiers. In May, Warren also will be the site of the NCAA Central Regional Men's Golf Championship.

Foster said he was prompted to pursue hosting the qualifier at the suggestion of Warren Superintendent Matt Cielen, who had worked closely with the Western Golf Association during his three years as assistant superintendent at Point O' Woods Golf and Country Club in Benton Harbor. Point O' Woods has served as the host club for the Western Amateur since 1971.

Warren Golf Course has undergone two major alterations over the short five years it has been open. The first, completed in the fall of 2003, entailed building eight new tees that added 270 yards to the course, resulting in championship yardage of 7,011.

The second alteration is now underway, with the renovation of the course's 86 bunkers. All of the original sand is being removed, new drainage systems and fabric liners are being installed and a new, more angular and coarse grade of sand is being used to fill the bunkers.

The 103rd Western Amateur will be played July 25-31 at Point O' Woods. First held in 1899, the championship traditionally features an international field of top-ranked amateur golfers in a medal and match play format. The champion will earn an exemption into the 2006 Cialis Western Open. The 2004 Western Amateur field included competitors from more than 30 states and five foreign countries. Past champions include Jack Nicklaus, Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson, Ben Crenshaw, Curtis Strange, Hal Sutton, Lanny Wadkins and Justin Leonard.

Notre Dame sophomore and South Bend native Cole Isban made the 36-hole cut at the '04 Western Amateur, the first South Bend-area player to make the cut in three years.

over par 891 (299-294-298) to wind up a mere five strokes behind tournament host and champion Coastal Carolina. The final-round 298 was the second-lowest of the day among the 12 teams in the field and it allowed Notre Dame to move past Purdue and Kansas State into the runner-up spot. It also was the third time in as many tournaments this spring the Irish finished in the top four.

Playing as a member of the starting lineup for the first time this spring, sophomore Shane Sigsbee came within an eyelash of capturing his first tournament title, finishing tied for second place at one-under par 215 (73-70-72), one shot behind medalist Rhys Davis of East Tennessee State. Sigsbee's runner-up placement matches the best finish of his career (also at the Earl Vestingsmeier Invitational last October) and it was his third top-five showing of the season.

Junior Mark Baldwin has remained a consistent presence in the Irish lineup this season and this week was no different, as the Notre Dame veteran tied for 14th place at nine-over par 225 (74-77-74). In three spring tournaments, Baldwin has placed among the top 20 each time and has had all nine rounds count to the team score.

Freshman Greg Rodgers finished two shots behind Baldwin in a 21st-place tie at 11-over par 227 (79-73-75). Meanwhile, sophomore Cole Isban continued to fight through a bout with bronchitis, ending up in a tie for 30th place at 13-over par 229 (73-74-82). Junior Scott Gustafson rounded out the Notre Dame scoring in a 54th-place draw at 25-over par 241 (84-80-77).

Getting Off On The Right Foot

The Irish have posted their best team scores during the first round of tournament play this year, carding a 298.38 over the opening 18 holes. Among those leading the charge in the first round are the two sophomores in this week's lineup — Cole Isban (73.13) and Shane Sigsbee (74.00).

The Sandman Cometh

Notre Dame announced Dec. 16 that Josh Sandman (Greensboro, N.C./South-east Guilford HS), has chosen to continue his career with the Irish, signing a National Letter of Intent to attend Notre Dame beginning in the fall of 2005. Sandman is the first player to commit to the Irish for the 2005-06 season.

A standout on the junior golf circuit, Sandman is ranked as the 32nd-best player in the graduating class of 2005, according to the Titleist/Golfweek rankings released in mid-December. The 6-foot-1 Sandman owns a national junior scoring average of 72.69 in 23 rounds and has four top-three finishes to his credit in the last calendar year. His best efforts include a tie for second place at the 2003-04 North Carolina State High School Championships, a tie for third place at the 2004 Golfweek Invitational and a third-place showing at the 2004 Carolina Golf Association Junior Championships. He also works regularly under the watchful eye of Greensboro-area instructor Kelly Phillips.

Sandman is the son of Michael and Dawn Sandman of Greensboro, and he has three brothers (ages 21, 19 and 13).

Next For The Irish

Following another week off, Notre Dame will have one final chance to tune up for the BIG EAST Conference Championship when it ventures to College Station, Texas, April 16-17 for the Texas A&M Invitational. The Irish previously competed in the Aggies' tournament in 2003 (when it was called the Border Olympics) and placed 14th in the 20-team field.

In addition, some Notre Dame golfers will compete as individuals at the Cleveland State Invitational April 11-12. However, the Irish will not be part of the team competition at that tournament.
