

2002 NATIONAL LETTER-OF-INTENT SIGNEES

Eighteen high school seniors signed national letters of intent with plans to enroll at the University of Notre Dame in August 2002 and play for the Irish football squad.

The eighteen players come from 10 states - Pennsylvania (4), California (4), New Jersey (2), Texas (2), Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan and Minnesota.

As listed by position, the Irish add to their roster five defensive linemen, four offensive linemen, two tight ends, two defensive backs, two running backs, two wide receivers and one quarterback – though many of the players played multiple positions in high school and could move to other spots once they arrive on campus.

Among the 18 players are:

* One member of the Parade All-America team - defensive lineman Derek Landri (Concord, Calif.), who was rated the top lineman by Parade.

* Two members of the USA Today prep All-America first team (Landri and wide receiver Maurice Stovall of Philadelphia, Pa.) and two members of the second team (defensive lineman Travis Leitko of The Woodlands, Texas, and offensive lineman Bob Morton of McKinney, Texas).

* Five players rated among the top 100 nationally by the Chicago Sun-Times - Leitko (22nd), Stovall (32nd), Landri (51st), Frome (91st) and Morton (98th).

* Two players rated among the top 101 on the CNNSI.com list of top national prospects - Landri (5th) and wide receiver Rhema McKnight (La Palma, Calif.).

* Two players rated on The Sporting News Hot 101 list - McKnight (41st) and Landri (48th).

Among the 18 are eight players who attended the Notre Dame football camp in the summer of 2001 - offensive lineman James Bonelli (Ventura, Calif.), defensive back Jake Carney (Louisville, Ken.), tight end Anthony Fasano (Verona, N.J.), tight end Marcus Freeman (St. Paul, Minn.), running back Jeff Jenkins (Ann Arbor, Mich.), Leitko, offensive lineman Jamie Ryan (Tamaqua, Pa.) and defensive lineman Dan Santucci (Chicago, Ill.).

THE WILLIAM D. REYNOLDS AWARD

THE UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME PROUDLY PRESENTS
THE WILLIAM D. REYNOLDS AWARD TO THE HONORABLE JEANNE M. JOURDAN

Working with youth for the betterment of the quality of life

The Honorable Jeanne M. Jourdan ('75 JD) of Cassopolis, Mich., is the 2002 recipient of the William D. Reynolds Award to be presented at halftime of the annual Blue-Gold spring football game. The award is conferred annually on a Notre Dame graduate who is doing exceptional work with youth for the betterment of the quality of life.

A graduate of the Notre Dame Law School in 1975, Jourdan's career as a student was legendary as she also has five daughters at home - ages two to 10 years of age.

Beginning in 1981, Jourdan served for 17 years as a judge in the St. Joseph County Superior Court, becoming the first woman to serve in that capacity. Jourdan is also the first female graduate of the Notre Dame Law School to have a daughter follow in her footsteps.

During her service on the bench, Jourdan initiated several court projects including a court devoted to drunk driving, a court sponsored rehabilitation program for drunk drivers, a drug court and an educational program for divorcing parents.

A series of murder cases involving teenagers prompted her to spearhead a community educational awareness program entitled "This is My Neighborhood." All students in the South Bend School Corporation participated in the program. Also, the area's hospitals, police forces, lawyers, leadership, Kiwanis Clubs, the Urban League and WNDU Television all joined the effort to empower the children of our community to seek peaceful solutions to conflict.

Through photography, one-act plays, mock trials and a teen forum, school children focused on the causes and solutions to conflict.

The Indiana Judicial Center also focused on the project to inspire other judges in their World Report Annual Survey for its trial advocacy program and the Notre Dame trial teams have been ranked first and second in the nation twice in the past decade.

Since retirement, Jourdan has remained active in teaching both in South Bend and around the country for the National Institute of Trial Advocacy. The opportunity to touch the lives of thousands of trial lawyers has been Jourdan's most rewarding experience. She believes there is nothing more enjoyable for a judge than to preside over trials conducted by skilled advocates. As a volunteer at the Notre Dame Legal Clinic, Jourdan is now putting her own trial skills to the test on behalf of clinic clients.

HONORABLE JEANNE M. JOURDAN'S RESPONSE

Tender, strong and true. Notre Dame's alumni who serve in America's courts have done more than sing these words, we've tried to live them. I am delighted to accept the William D. Reynolds Award this year on behalf of all the judges who call this place Notre Dame, our alma mater.

In 1965, I came to Notre Dame as a faculty wife. In 1975, I had graduated to an alumna of Notre Dame Law School. By 1985, I was the mother of Notre Dame alumnae. For nearly two decades, my role in this community has been as a judge.

The rule of law and the peaceful resolution of complaints are not easily achieved for people whose lives have been caught up in crime, contempt and conflict. As a nation we rely on judges who are true to the law, whose thirst for justice is strong and whose compassion for those who suffer is tender. Concerns for the suffering of litigants has inspired judges to reach out to the community in projects like "This is My Neighborhood," to initiate court-sponsored programs for children of divorce and to seek the advice of the victims of crime before sentencings. The Notre Dame Law School has contributed hundreds of jurist to the court-houses of America. I am proud to have been a member of both Notre Dame and the judiciary.

As a volunteer at the Notre Dame Legal Clinic and an adjunct professor at the Law School, I am happy to report that today's Notre Dame students promise to provide future courtrooms with public servants who are tender, strong and true.

COMPLIANCE

DO YOU WANT TO HELP US "WIN THE NOTRE DAME WAY"?

KNOW THE RULES

At Notre Dame, "winning" is more than simply accumulating a greater point total than the opposition. As you are aware, the University of Notre Dame has built a national reputation as a leader in scholarship, athletics and sportsmanship that is unparalleled in intercollegiate athletics. As a part of our winning formula, Notre Dame believes that following the letter and spirit of NCAA regulations is important to the success of our programs as well as the character and mission of the University. You can help Notre Dame maintain its long tradition of excellence by being aware of the NCAA rules that govern your involvement with our student-athletes, teams and prospective student-athletes. While the following information does not contain all applicable NCAA legislation, it should serve as a guide to assist you in understanding the regulations that govern the activities and actions of Notre Dame enthusiasts that may impact any of our athletic programs.

Below you will find basic information that you should be aware of as a friend of Notre Dame Athletics. By becoming familiar with these NCAA guidelines, you will be helping us to "WIN THE NOTRE DAME WAY".

You are considered a REPRESENTATIVE OF NOTRE DAME'S ATHLETICS INTERESTS if you:

Have ever been a member of the Monogram Club or any former athletic fan support group (e.g., Quarterback Club, Three-Point Club, Fast-Break Club);

Have ever made a financial contribution to the Notre Dame athletics department or to any former athletic fan support group at Notre Dame;

Have ever assisted in providing benefits to enrolled student-athlete, their families and/or friends;

Have been involved in promoting Notre Dame's athletics programs; or

Have ever been a season ticket holder for any sport at Notre Dame.

Once you become a representative of Notre Dame's athletics interests, you retain that identity indefinitely.

If you meet at least one of the criteria listed above you are considered a REPRESENTATIVE OF NOTRE DAME'S ATHLETICS INTERESTS. Consequently, you MAY NOT:

Provide a currently enrolled or prospective student-athlete, their parents and/or friends any benefit, money, gifts, awards or special arrangement without prior approval from the Compliance Office.

Provide any payment of expense or loan of an automobile for a student-athlete to return home or to any other location.

Provide an honorarium to a student-athlete for a speaking engagement. The Compliance Office must approve all speaking engagements prior to the event.

Provide free or reduced cost lodging in your home to a student-athlete or a student-athlete's family and/or friends.

Be involved in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes. No contact (in person, mail, telephone, e-mail, etc.) should be made by an Athletics Representative with a prospective-student unless an established prior relationship exists. Under no circumstances should the contact be for recruiting purposes.

Use the name, picture or appearance of an enrolled student-athlete to advertise, recommend or promote sales or use of a commercial product or service of any kind. Permissible use of a student-athlete's name, picture or appearance must receive prior authorization from the Compliance Office.

IF YOU ARE CONSIDERED A REPRESENTATIVE OF NOTRE DAME'S ATHLETICS INTERESTS based upon the criteria listed above, you MAY:

Arrange summer employment for a prospective student-athlete, provided he/she has signed a National Letter-of-Intent with Notre Dame and you receive permission from the Notre Dame Athletic Compliance Office.

Arrange employment for current Notre Dame student-athletes provided you receive permission from the Notre Dame Athletic Compliance Office.

Forward information about prospective student-athletes to the appropriate Notre Dame coaching staff.

Continue established family relationships with friends and neighbors. Contacts with sons and daughters of these families are permitted so long as they are not made for recruiting purposes.

We encourage you to ASK BEFORE YOU ACT. Please contact our Compliance Office prior to engaging in any action that may jeopardize the eligibility of current and future Notre Dame student-athletes. Only with your help can we continue to "WIN THE NOTRE DAME WAY"!

If you should ever have questions regarding NCAA regulations and rules, please contact any of the following members of the Compliance Office:

The University of Notre Dame's institutional mission is to attain the highest standards of excellence in teaching, scholarship, and selected fields of research in a community of learning where truth is seen to be informed by belief and where, specifically, the Catholic faith and intellectual tradition are celebrated and lived.

Notre Dame's founding can perhaps best be characterized as an outburst of missionary zeal. How else can one describe the action of Father Edward Sorin, the 28-year-old French priest of the Congregation of Holy Cross who, with $310 cash and three log buildings in various stages of disrepair in the middle of the northern Indiana frontier, had the temerity to christen his enterprise the University of Notre Dame du Lac?

Notre Dame at its founding was a name in search of, or perhaps in anticipation of, a university. The wonder is not so much what the University has become more than a century and a half later, but that it survived at all in those early years of beginning almost literally from nothing. In his book, "The University of Notre Dame: A Portrait of Its History and Campus," historian Thomas Schlereth of the American studies department has described the odds the University was up against:

"Only nine other Catholic colleges existed when Notre Dame was founded but that number had grown to 51 by 1861. Presently only seven of these antebellum institutions still exist. One historian estimates a mortality rate of approximately 80 percent among Notre Dame's contemporary secular institutions. Yet Notre Dame survived..."

The University's survival of those early years is a tribute not only to the faith of Father Sorin, but also his pragmatism and wit. In the beginning, his institution's only admissions requirement was the ability to pay some payment, at least, and not necessarily in currency or coin; livestock or the services of a tradesman or some other "in-kind" payment also were cheerfully accepted. Nor were admissions limited by religious preference. Father Sorin's mission and inspiration were thoroughly and indisputably Catholic, but from the beginning he made it clear that would-be students of any religious persuasion were welcome; indeed, that Notre Dame's student body eventually would become overwhelmingly Catholic was more a reflection of American culture than of parochialism on the University's part.

Sorin was equally flexible when it came to his University's academic offerings. While a classical collegiate curriculum was established early on, so too were elementary and preparatory programs as well as a manual labor school, and for several decades the collegiate program never attracted more than a dozen students in any year. As Notre Dame's chronicler, Father Arthur Hope, C.S.C., has written, "If (Sorin) was to begin at all, the head of this new college had to be mightily concerned about frostbite and empty stomachs. The more elusive problems of intellectual development would have to wait."

If Notre Dame in its infancy was the child of Sorin's vision and will, its subsequent growth and development were the products of large and powerful social and historical forces. Just as the University was being established, the first waves of European immigrants, overwhelmingly Catholic, were reaching America's shores, and Notre Dame's location-though seemingly remote in fact put it within easy reach of cities like Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, all of which soon would have large immigrant Catholic populations. The growth of the University of Notre Dame and the immigrant experience would be inextricably linked.

A number of forces were at work in this relationship. The American Dream was coming into being, and with it the hope and expectation that, through hard work and education, children would enjoy greater opportunities than their parents. At the same time, anti-immigrant and anti-Catholic sentiments were open and pervasive in American society, creating barriers to immigrant Catholic students. Equally strong sentiments among many Catholics regarded public schools at any level as dangerous places where young people might lose their faith. For all these reasons, education-primary, secondary and higher education-became the centerpiece of American Catholicism.

Though it may not have seemed so at the time, this great historical movement of peoples and the creation of the American melting pot dramatically enhanced the odds of Notre Dame's survival. What still had to be decided, however, was precisely the type of institution Notre Dame would become. How could this small Midwestern school without endowment and without ranks of well-to-do alumni hope to compete with firmly established private universities and public-supported state institutions? As in Sorin's day, the fact that the University pursued this lofty and ambitious vision of its future was testimony to the faith of its leaders-leaders such as Father John Zahm, C.S.C. As Schlereth describes it:

"Zahm... envisioned Notre Dame as potentially 'the intellectual center of the American West'; an institution with large undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools equipped with laboratories, libraries, and research facilities; Notre Dame should strive to become the University that its charter claimed it was."

Zahm was not without evidence to support his faith in Notre Dame's potential. On this campus in 1899, Jerome Green, a young Notre Dame scientist, became the first American to transmit a wireless message. At about the same time, Albert Zahm, Father John's younger brother, was designing the first successful helicopter and first wind tunnel, and was launching the first man-carrying glider from the roof of a building on campus. The University also had established the nation's first architecture, law and engineering schools under Catholic auspices.

The debate over Notre Dame's future was effectively ended in the two decades following the First World War. In 1919 the University installed its first president to have earned a Ph. D., Father James Burns, C.S.C., and the changes he initiated were as dramatic as they were far-reaching. The elementary, preparatory and manual labor programs were scrapped; the University's first board of lay advisors was established with the goal of creating a $1-million endowment, and a national campaign was conducted to achieve that goal; and the first annual giving program for alumni was launched. With this impetus established, between 1919 and 1933 the University would erect 15 new buildings and triple the numbers of both its students and its faculty.

Also during this period, a new and utterly unanticipated element was added to the ethos of Notre Dame, and the University forever after would be a national institution. That new element was, of course, the game of football. But for Notre Dame and for its legions of ethnic American loyalists-most, but not all, Catholic-the cliché was true: Football was more than a game. Through its academic program, Notre Dame already was part of the striving of ethnic Americans to earn a place in the American mainstream. Now, even for those who had never and would never attend Notre Dame, the University became a symbol, so much so that its attraction persists literally to this day.

The national recognition football brought to Notre Dame was a mixed blessing at those times when it tended to overshadow the University's growing academic distinction, but overall it has been an almost incalculable boon to public awareness of, interest in, and support of Notre Dame. It may be amusing to speculate how the University's history might have been different without the phenomenon of football, but the University is happy to accept this legacy as is.

If the post-World War I era saw Notre Dame's first flowering as a true University, the half-century since the Second World War has seen the vision of John Zahm reach full fruition. Father John Cavanaugh, C.S.C., began the process after the war by toughening Notre Dame's entrance requirements, increasing faculty hiring, and establishing the Notre Dame Foundation to expand the University's development capabilities. Then, during the 35-year tenure of Father Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., Notre Dame's enrollment, faculty and degrees awarded all doubled; library volumes increased five-fold; endowment catapulted from less than $10 million to more than $400 million; campus physical facilities grew from 48 to 88 buildings; faculty compensation increased ten-fold; and research funding more than twenty-fold. In addition, two defining moments occurred during this period: the transference of University governance in 1967 from the Congregation of Holy Cross to a predominantly lay board of trustees and the admission of women to undergraduate studies in 1972.

Since 1987, when Father Edward Malloy, C.S.C., assumed the presidency, the University has continued to grow in stature. Endowed faculty positions now number more than 135, the student body is among the most selective in the nation, with a third of entering freshmen ranking among the top five students in their high school graduating classes, and the graduation rate annually is among the four or five highest in the nation, behind only a handful of Ivy League institutions. The University's endowment, now more than $3 billion, is the 18th largest in American higher education and campus additions have included new research laboratories, a graduate student housing complex, residence halls for undergraduate women (who now comprise more than 45 percent of the student body), DeBartolo Hall, the most technologically advanced teaching facility in higher education, a 153,000-square foot complex for the Mendoza College of Business and one of the largest bookstores in higher education.

The question for Notre Dame today is, having become a distinguished American university, to what should it now aspire?

Some goals are self-evident. The University must strive at all times to bring new vigor to its teaching and to enhance both the breadth and the depth of the education it offers students. At the same time, it must strengthen significantly its graduate programs and faculty research to make ever greater contributions in the quest for new knowledge.

But the institutional mission of Notre Dame reaches beyond these goals.

The higher aspiration of the University is to seek out and assume leadership roles through which students and alumni, faculty, interdisciplinary institutes, and professional programs can bring their accomplishments to bear on the most basic and pressing needs of humanity-for peace and social justice, for human rights and dignity, for ethical conduct in business, science and the professions, for a renewal of values in interpersonal and societal relationships, and for a more enlightened stewardship of the environment, to name but a few of the challenges.

This aspiration is incumbent upon Notre Dame as a Catholic University. Today, as throughout its history, Notre Dame's position in American culture mirrors that of the Catholic church. The world is very different from the one encountered by Father Sorin on his arrival in this country. The tangible barriers faced then by Catholic students and scholars have largely been removed, and today one may find such students and scholars at Harvard and Stanford and Duke, as well as at Notre Dame. American Catholics are firmly implanted in the American mainstream.

At the same time, the secularization of contemporary American society is an undisputed fact, and with that transformation has come a weakening of common values, an antipathy to belief, and a resistance to the very notion of underlying truths. One expression of this viewpoint is the contention that a Catholic university is a contradiction in terms, that reason and belief are somehow mutually exclusive. The Catholic intellectual tradition and the Western university tradition itself stand in opposition to this contention, as does Notre Dame.

It is a telling act that throughout Notre Dame's history, and increasingly in recent years, many eminent scholars of various faith traditions have made the University their home simply because they have preferred to work in a community of learning where belief is not merely tolerated, but in fact is celebrated.

Father Sorin's dream was predicated on his conviction that a university would be a powerful force for good in this land that he embraced as his own. For Notre Dame, Sorin's conviction remains the inspiration, the mission and the driving force.

The Theodore M. Hesburgh Library and the seven other libraries on campus contain a total of more than two million volumes.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR KEVIN WHITE

Kevin White, one of the most progressive and talented administrators in the intercollegiate athletics ranks, has quickly attached his signature as director of athletics at the University of Notre Dame.

In fact, his initial year in that position remarkably qualified as the most successful across-the-board year in the history of athletics at Notre Dame.

A career educator and one of the most respected athletic administrators in the nation, White previously had been athletic director at Arizona State University, Tulane University, the University of Maine, and Loras College. He brought a combined 18 years of experience in those positions with him to his assignment at Notre Dame.

Appointed by Rev. Edward A. Malloy, C.S.C., Notre Dame's president, on March 13, 2000, White became the first Notre Dame athletic director to report directly to the University's president – under the realignment of athletic administrative responsibilities announced in February 2000 by Father Malloy.

White's first year at Notre Dame in 2000-01 saw unprecedented across-the-board achievement on Irish fields of play:

- * Notre Dame finished 11th in the Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ratings, matching its best-ever ranking in that competition.

- * Four different teams earned number-one rankings (women's soccer, women's basketball, men's fencing and baseball were number one at some point, and men's lacrosse ranked second).

- * The Irish claimed a national championship in women's basketball, a third-place finish in fencing (a men's and women's combined championship) and national semifinal appearances in women's soccer and men's lacrosse.

- * Sixteen of a possible 22 teams earned national rankings in 2000-01, including 10 that achieved the highest rating in the history of the program.

His initial year on the job at Notre Dame also featured a handful of other noteworthy accomplishments:

- * He helped the Irish athletic program toward its goal of becoming a top five program in the Sears Directors' Cup all-sports competition by championing the University's plan to add 64 grants-in-aid over the next four years, in order to give all 26 varsity sports the full NCAA complement of scholarships.

- * He emphasized the need to remain competitive on the facilities front by commissioning a facilities masterplan that will provide a long-term plan for upgrading Notre Dame's athletic physical plant.

- * On the academic front, Irish student-athletes enjoyed one of the most productive years ever in the classroom – with the football team recording its two highest-ever semester grade-point averages, the men's and women's basketball squads posting their best-ever fall GPAs and six other teams posting their highest-ever semester averages during the fall. Then four teams during the spring semester achieved their highest in-season averages ever.

- * The American Football Coaches Association awarded its Academic Achievement Award for 2001 to Notre Dame based on its 100 percent graduation for entering freshmen from 1995.

- * The NCAA Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association gave one of its four 2000 awards of excellence to Notre Dame's CHAMPS/Life Skills Program

- * He assured long-term consistency in the Irish coaching ranks by signing Notre Dame head coaches to multi-year contracts.

Under White's leadership over four years, Arizona State rose all the way to 11th in 1999-2000 in the Sears Directors' Cup rankings of overall athletic success (compared to a 23rd-place ranking the year before he arrived). He saw the Sun Devils win the 1996 NCAA men's golf title and NCAA women's golf titles in '97 and '98 – in addition to NCAA runner-up finishes in baseball in '98 and women's gymnastics in '99, and a Rose Bowl appearance in football following the '97 season. In 1998-99 the university placed three teams in the top five in the country, four in the top 10, and eight in the top 20 in their respective sports.

White reorganized academic and student services for athletes (assembling a task force to increase graduation rates of student-athletes), renegotiated the university's radio contracts, built up the athletic department staff, planned the addition of two new women's sports, hired five head coaches, and increased the athletic operating budget from $16.7 million to $26 million while at the same time turning a $3-million deficit into a $1-million-plus surplus. He also reorganized athletic fundraising and launched a $25-million capital campaign. During his tenure in Tempe, the university allocated $30 million to a series of athletics facilities construction projects.

With a Ph.D. in education, White has taught classes throughout his career, including currently as a concurrent associate professor in the management department of the Mendoza College of Business as part of Notre Dame's MBA program during spring semesters (he teaches a sports business course). Known for his close personal ties with student-athletes, at Arizona State he established a highly successful life skills program.

At Tulane for five years from 1991-96, White saw the men's basketball team advance to postseason play five seasons in as many years. Two Green Wave women's basketball teams played in the NCAA tournament during his tenure – and three Tulane baseball squads advanced to NCAA play. He helped bring Tulane into Conference USA, with the Green Wave beginning play in that league in 1995-96.

The 15-sport Tulane program featured a $13.5 million budget. White helped launch a variety of marketing initiatives, including the department's first multi-media marketing campaign (it earned several awards), an expansion of radio broadcast properties and a five-fold membership increase in the Green Wave Club. He reorganized the department, developed a comprehensive compliance program and assisted the university in its development role for a $125 million, 19,000 seat, multi-purpose arena in downtown New Orleans, with Tulane as the primary tenant.

At Maine for four years from 1987-91, White directed a program that was widely regarded as the most progressive in the Northeast. Maine captured conference championships and postseason bids (either NCAA or NIT) in 1989-90 in five sports – football, baseball, hockey, women's basketball and golf. During those four years, Maine twice appeared in the NCAA Division I-AA Football Championships and three times reached the NCAA Hockey Final Four.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR KEVIN WHITE

In addition to his current role with the BCS (Bowl Championship Series), he previously was a member of the Rose Bowl Management Committee while at Arizona State, was an ex-officio member of the Sugar Bowl Committee during his tenure at Tulane and also worked closely with the Fiesta Bowl during his stay in Tempe.

White has served as mentor for an impressive list of senior level athletic administrators who have worked for him, then gone on to become directors of athletics - including Jim Sterk of Washington State, Tom Boeh of Ohio University, Ian McCaw of Northeastern, Bruce Van De Velde of Iowa State, Herman Frazier of Alabama-Birmingham, Scott Devine of St. Mary's College (Md.), Greg Capell of Loras, Tim Van Alstine of Western Illinois, as well as current Notre Dame senior associate athletic director Sandy Barbour, who followed him at Tulane.

White also has his own weekly, half-hour radio show on ESPN Radio 1000 in Chicago - and has a pre-game segment on Westwood One's radio broadcasts of Notre Dame football games.

During his coaching career, White served as head track and field coach at Southeast Missouri State (1981-82) and assistant cross country and track and field coach at Central Michigan (1976-80).

At Southeast Missouri State (where he also served as assistant athletic director), he coached 16 Division I and II All-Americans and was named Missouri College and University Track Coach of the Year in 1982. He served as director of the 1981 NCAA Division II Cross Country Championship and founded the Semotion Relays, a track event that attracted 61 university teams.

At Central Michigan, White coached four Division I All-Americans and one national champion. He served as director of the '78 Mid-American Conference Track Championship, the 1977, '78 and '79 Central Michigan Relays and the '77 State of Michigan Special Olympics.

He began his coaching career at Gulf High School in New Port Richey, Fla., coaching cross country and track and assisting in football and wrestling. He coached his Gulf teams to 19 conference, district, regional and county championships between 1972 and '76. He's a member of the Florida High School Track Coaches and Athletes Hall of Fame.

White also spent a year (1980-81) as district administrator for athletics and special projects for the Mt. Morris Consolidated School District in Mt. Morris, Mich., where he supervised an athletic program that included 47 teams and 70 coaches in kindergarten through 12th grade.

Born Sept. 25, 1950, in Amityville, N.Y., White earned his Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University in 1983 with an emphasis on higher education administration - and in 1985 completed postdoctoral work at Harvard University's Institute for Educational Management. He earned his master's degree in athletics administration from Central Michigan University in 1976 and his bachelor's degree in business administration in 1972 from St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Ind., where he also competed as a sprinter in track and field. He was awarded St. Joseph's Alumni Achievement Award in 1997.

White also attended the University of South Florida and St. Leo College in Tampa, Fla., between 1972 and '76 - and he took 60 hours of advanced graduate courses in higher education administration at Michigan State University between 1977 and '80.

White's wife, Jane, earned a bachelor's degree from St. Joseph's in 1973 and a master's degree in physical education from Central Michigan in 1977. She also served as head track and field coach at Central Michigan.

The couple has five children - Maureen, who completed a master of fine arts degree at Arizona State in 2000 and currently teaches at San Francisco City College; Michael, a University of Mississippi graduate and four-year starter at point guard for the Ole Miss basketball team and now an assistant basketball coach at Jacksonville (Ala.) State University; Daniel, a senior at the University of Notre Dame and a member of the Irish basketball squad; Brian, a high school senior; and Mariah, a fifth-grader who is a standout in swimming.

* Notre Dame's commitment to academic excellence, values, service and character development annually places the University among the nation's top 25 institutions of higher learning in surveys conducted by U.S. News and World Report, Princeton Review, Time, Kiplinger's and the Templeton Foundation.

* Notre Dame ranks as one of the nation's most selective universities, joining Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Stanford, Dartmouth, Brown, MIT and Rice as the only schools that admit fewer than half of their freshman applicants and enroll more than half of those who are admitted.

* An influential book from Johns Hopkins University Press ranks Notre Dame sixth among 11 rising private research universities.

* Notre Dame ranks first among U.S. Catholic colleges and universities in the number of undergraduates who have gone on to earn a doctorate since 1920, according to independent studies conducted by Georgetown University and the Delta Epsilon Sigma scholastic honor society.

* Notre Dame is one of just five universities to rank consistently both in the top 25 in the U.S. News & World Report survey of America's best colleges and the Sears Directors Cup standings of the best overall athletic programs.

* Computer and information technology resources at Notre Dame have been ranked among the nation's best for three consecutive years in the survey "America's 100 Most Wired Colleges."

STUDENTS

* Notre Dame's graduation rate of 94 percent for all students ranks behind only Harvard and Princeton.

* The academic profile of the entering Notre Dame undergraduate features a median SAT score of 1350. Some 35 percent ranked 1, 2, 3, 4 or 5 in their high school graduating classes, and 85 percent graduated in the top 10 percent. Entering students were leaders in volunteer service, sports, fine and dramatic arts, and student government.

* Notre Dame's 96 percent retention rate between the freshman and sophomore years is among the highest in the country, thanks in large part to the University's unique First Year of Studies program.

* Notre Dame graduates are accepted into medical schools at a rate of about 75 percent, almost twice the national average.

FACULTY & PROGRAMS

* In a survey of some 2,000 leading scholars of American religion, two of the scholars regarded as "most important to the field" are Notre Dame historians Nathan Hatch and George Marsden. Of the two books singled out as "most important for the study of American religion," one was "The Democratization of American Christianity," by Hatch, the University's provost. A third Notre Dame historian, Jay Dolan, also was cited as one of the leading authors in the field.

* Carolyn Woo, Gillen Dean of the Mendoza College of Business, has been named one of the 40 "young leaders" of American academe by Change, the journal of the American Association for Higher Education.

* Notre Dame's School of Architecture offers the nation's only fully accredited curriculum in Classical architecture and has been described by New York Times as "the Athens" of the New Classicism movement.

* Faculty in the Notre Dame theology department have published more than 300 books since 1965, an output unmatched in higher education.

* Notre Dame's Institute for Medieval Studies was the first in the United States, and the University also founded the first publication series dedicated specifically to medieval topics.

* According to the National Science Foundation, Notre Dame is one of the top three U.S. universities in low-energy nuclear physics research.

* The University's biological sciences department is an internationally recognized center for research in mosquito biology and the Center for Tropical Disease Research and Training houses the Aedes Reference Centre.

* The 7,500-acre University of Notre Dame Environmental Research Center on the Wisconsin-Michigan border encompasses woodlands, ponds, streams and more than 30 lakes. Home to the University's Jerry Hank Family Program in Environmental Studies and the new James B. Hank Research Facility, it is one of the premier ecological field stations in the world.

* Notre Dame's Department of Accountancy consistently ranks among the top 10 in the country in an annual nationwide survey of accountancy department chairs. The University ranks seventh in the number of alumni who are partners of Big Five accounting firms.

* The distance learning initiative in the Executive MBA Program in the Mendoza College of Business has been selected as the best in higher education.

* The Department of Mathematics ranks among the top quarter among all universities that grant a doctorate in the field.

* Five of the leading marketing researchers in the nation are Notre Dame faculty members, according to a survey published in Marketing Educator.

* Faculty members in the Notre Dame chemical engineering department are among the world's top 10 most frequently cited scholars in the field, according to Science Watch.

* Five professors in Notre Dame's electrical engineering department are fellows - the highest grade of membership - in the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

* The wind tunnels housed in the Hessert Center for Aerospace Research are internationally known for pioneering techniques in smoke-flow visualization.

* The Notre Dame Law School is rated among the top 30 overall and is among the top five in the quality of the faculty and student satisfaction, according to a Princeton Review survey.

* The Law School is the oldest in the nation under Catholic auspices.

* The Notre Dame MBA program has the No. 1 business ethics curriculum in higher education, according to Business Week, and is rated by Forbes among the top 20 in giving students the best return on their investment.

* Notre Dame in 1917 became the first university in the United States to offer a four-year course of studies in foreign commerce, beginning an emphasis on global issues that continues today in the Mendoza College of Business.

INDICATORS OF EXCELLENCE

Notre Dame athletes graduate at a rate of 88 percent, third highest in His Holiness Pope John Paul II raised Sacred Heart to the title of "Major Basilica" on January 17, 1992.nation.

* Notre Dame has the only operating center for liturgical research and education established by the United States' bishops.

* Notre Dame established the first programs in law, engineering and architecture at an American Catholic institution of higher learning.

* Music professor Alexander Blachly was nominated for a Grammy Award in 1999.

* Marketing professors William Wilkie and Joel Urbany have been recognized by the Journal of Consumer Psychology as among the nation's most productive authors of consumer marketing research.

RESEARCH

* The first evidence of a new subnuclear particle – an exotic meson – was discovered by a team of physicists led by the elementary particle physics group at Notre Dame. Long theorized, the particle had remained undetected, and its discovery will allow physicists to expand their understanding of nature at its most fundamental level.

* Notre Dame is part of a new consortium of universities constructing the world's largest telescope in Arizona.

* The first experimental demonstration of a transistorless approach to computing, called quantum-dot cellular automata, was performed by a team of Notre Dame electrical engineering researchers. The new approach, which will take years to perfect, could allow for as many as 40 trillion devices on a four-inch-square chip, compared with six million devices on the most advanced conventional chip.

* Notre Dame's Nuclear Structure Laboratory is one of only nine government-designated and university-operated accelerator labs in the country.

* Two Notre Dame engineers, Bill Spencer and Michael Sain, have developed a new method to protect buildings from violent movement during earthquakes and other catastrophic events.

* Notre Dame paleontologist J. Keith Rigby has uncovered what is believed to be the largest Tyrannosaurus Rex yet found.

* The U.S. Department of Energy-supported Radiation Laboratory on campus has given Notre Dame the largest concentration of radiation chemists in the world, with typically 30 different external institutions represented annually on its research staff. Notre Dame was the first American university to provide formal training in radiation chemistry and it continues to be the principal source of trained postgraduates in the field.

* Among scientific and technological innovations historically associated with the Notre Dame campus are the discovery of the formulae leading to synthetic rubber, the first demonstration of the aerodynamics of glider flight, the first transmission in the United States of a wireless message, and the first disintegration of the nucleus of an atom by electron bombardment.

* Physicists David Bennett and his wife, Sun Hong Rhie, are developing a new technique to observe extra-solar planets.

ALUMNI

* The University's network of 242 alumni clubs – including 22 in foreign countries – is the most extensive in higher education.

* With graduates renowned for their loyalty and generosity, Notre Dame annually ranks among the top five in percentage of alumni who contribute.

* In the world of business, Notre Dame alumni serve in chief executive and other leadership positions at firms such as Goldman, Sachs & Co.; Bank of America; Haggard Company; Mobil Corp.; Morgan Stanley, Dean Witter, Discover & Co.; the Chicago Mercantile Exchange; Merck & Company; Marriott Corp.; and Liz Claiborne, Inc.

* Notre Dame alumni preside as chief executive officers at some 20 American colleges and universities.

* Notre Dame graduates in high-level governmental positions include U.S. Congressmen representing New York, New Jersey, Indiana and the national security advisor.

* In alumni satisfaction surveys, Notre Dame ranks among the top three nationally.

* Notre Dame alumni hold senior positions at some of the nation's leading media organizations, including ABC News, Newsweek, Los Angeles Times, NBC, Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia Inquirer, Universal Press Syndicate, PBS, Sports Illustrated, La opinion, and the Poynter Institute for Media Studies.

* Astronaut alumnus James Wetherbee is deputy director of NASA's Johnson Space Center and has served as pilot or commander on four space shuttle missions.

RESOURCES & FACILITIES

* Notre Dame ranks in the top 20 among all American colleges and universities in size of endowment (about $3 billion) and in annual voluntary support. Since 1984-85 the University has ranked first in the amount of money contributed annually by parents. It has the largest endowment and yearly gift total of any Catholic institution of higher learning in the world.

* DeBartolo Hall, the University's 84-classroom teaching facility, includes state-of-the-art computer and audio-visual equipment that makes it the most technologically advanced in higher education.

* The new 65,000-square-foot Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore is among the largest in American higher education.

SERVICE

* Community service is a hallmark of Notre Dame. About 80 percent of Notre Dame students through the University's Center for Social Concerns are active in social service, and at least 10 percent of each year's baccalaureate graduating class spends a year or more in volunteer service, prompting UN General-Secretary Kofi Annan to say, "Notre Dame represents much that is best and most generous in the American tradition."

* More than 600 Notre Dame graduates have participated in the Holy Cross Associates program since its inception in 1978. Established by the University's founding congregation, the program engages young lay people in the congregation's service to the poor in the United States and Chile.

* Notre Dame's Social Concerns Seminars, in which undergraduates spend fall and spring breaks offering assistance in Appalachia and other impoverished areas, constitute the most comprehensive service-learning program in higher education.

* The University's Alliance for Catholic Education (ACE) sends 135 recent graduates to teach in some 90 understaffed Catholic schools in the Southern, Southeastern and Southwestern United States and in South Bend.

INTERNATIONAL AND OFF-CAMPUS STUDIES

* Notre Dame has the largest proportion of students studying abroad of any Top 20 research university in the United States.

* Notre Dame offers 26 international study programs in 16 countries: Austria, France, Ireland, Mexico, Japan, Spain, Greece, Egypt, Australia, Chile, Israel, England, Italy, Russia, China and Germany.

* Notre Dame's Keough Institute for Irish Studies is the nation's foremost Irish studies program, and Notre Dame has the most prominent presence in Ireland of any American university. The Keough Institute is under the direction of the distinguished Irish scholar and novelist Seamus Deane and brings the foremost Irish scholars in the world to Notre Dame as both visiting and permanent faculty.

* Notre Dame students study the Bible, Middle Eastern history and the social and political problems of the Palestinians and Israelis in the Holy Land at the University's Ecumenical Institute for Theological Studies at Tantur, located on a hilltop on the road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem.

* The University's London Centre programs, which recently moved into expanded quarters in an historic building on Trafalgar Square, include some 120 students each semester from each of Notre Dame's four colleges.

* Notre Dame's London Law Centre operates the only full-time branch of an American law school located outside the United States.

* Notre Dame students who choose to study Down Under attend the University of Notre Dame-Australia, a private Catholic university founded in 1989 and located in Fremantle. Although there are no financial or legal ties, Notre Dame-Australia drew much of its founding inspiration from its U.S. namesake.

Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center, Inc. is proud to sponsor the 2002 Blue-Gold Spring Football Festival. Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center is the largest healthcare system in North Central Indiana. It brings together more than 3700 people, partners with nearly 700 physicians, and represents more than $37 million annually in community initiatives and care for the poor. We serve nearly one million people living in eleven counties in north central Indiana and southwestern Michigan.

The roots of Saint Joseph are planted deep within the community. Our founders, the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Cross and the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ, trace their histories of service to our community well back into the 19th century. Our faith-based traditions guide us as we move ahead dedicated to meeting the healthcare needs of our communities located throughout the region.

A strong regional presence encompassing primary care, community-based hospital care, and tertiary care is a key element of Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center's vision. Being able to provide the range of services together will provide the opportunities over the long haul to meet the healthcare needs of those we serve more economically and efficiently. We bring together the resources of two strong traditions blending them into one organization committed to meeting community health need with services including:

Acute care hospitals in South Bend, Mishawaka and Plymouth

Our Lady of Peace Hospital

Transitional Care Center

Edison Lakes Medical Center

Saint Joseph Physician Network

Saint Joseph VNA Home Care

Healthy Family Centers in South Bend, Mishawaka and Saint Joseph Health Centers in South Bend and Plymouth
