Notre Dame (31-7) advanced to the NCAA final for the second time in program history with a stirring 72-63 win over top-ranked Connecticut in the national semifinals on Sunday night. Setting The Standard

Under the guidance of 24th-year head coach Muffet McGraw, Notre Dame has evolved into one of the country's leading women's basketball powers. The Irish have appeared in 18 NCAA Tournaments (including a current streak of 16 in a row) and advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 nine times in the past 15 seasons. Notre Dame also has reached the NCAA Women's Final Four three times, winning college basketball's ultimate prize with the 2001 national championship.

In its history, Notre Dame has developed 11 All-Americans, 10 WNBA players (including seven draft picks in the past decade) and four USA Basketball veterans (eight medals won). Now in their 34th season in 2010-11, the Irish own an all-time record of 720-309 (.700).

Quick Hitters

- Notre Dame has advanced to its third NCAA Women's Final Four (and second title game) despite losing four starters from last year's NCAA Sweet 16 club, a group that accounted for approximately 55 percent of the team's offensive production.
- While they are often sent nationwide for the first four rounds of the NCAA tournament, all three Fighting Irish Final Four appearances have come in the Midwest (1997 - Cincinnati; 2001 - St. Louis; 2011 - Indianapolis).
- With its No. 9 ranking in the final 2010-11 Associated Press poll, Notre Dame now has appeared in the AP poll for a school-record 77 consecutive weeks, extending the program standard that began with the 2007-08 preseason poll.
- The Fighting Irish are 8-7 against ranked opponents this season, with those seven losses (the only defeats for Notre Dame to date) coming by an average of just 7.6 points per game, and only one by more than 11 points. Four of those setbacks came to the nation's top two squads (76-65 at No. 2/3 Baylor on Dec. 1; 79-76 vs. No. 2 Connecticut on Jan. 8; 78-57 at No. 2 Connecticut on Feb. 19; 73-64 at No. 1 Connecticut on March 8), with the first UConn contest being one of four in which Notre Dame led or had a chance to tie in the final 30 seconds of regulation (also 86-83 double-OT loss to No. 15 UCLA, a 81-76 loss at No. 9/10 Kentucky and a 70-69 loss at No. 12/11 DePaul).
- The Fighting Irish rank among the top 20 in the country in eight statistical categories, according to April 3 NCAA statistics report. Notre Dame ranks fourth in the nation in steals (12.8) and field goal percentage (.480), sixth in scoring margin (+21.5), ninth in three-point defense (.269), assists (17.3) and rebound margin (+8.6), 11th in scoring offense (77.2) and 16th in turnover margin (+4.55). These rankings are ironic for a Fighting Irish team that has just one player ranking higher than 55th in any category.

- Notre Dame became the 32nd NCAA Division I program to record 700 wins, earning the landmark victory (91-47) vs. Loyola Marymount on Dec. 30 at the State Farm Holiday Hoops Classic in Seattle. The Fighting Irish are 720-309 (.700) over 34 seasons.
- Notre Dame celebrated another program milestone on Dec. 5 with its 1,000th all-time game (a 72-51 win over Purdue at Purcell Pavilion).
- Part of Notre Dame's success thus far can be traced to the improvement in two of its veterans, both of whom have exceeded their scoring outputs from last season by at least 50 percent. Junior guard Natalie Novosel (5.0 to 15.1) and senior forward Devereaux Peters (6.7 to 11.7) also are currently logging career-high scoring averages this year.

Other Notre Dame Notables

- Notre Dame is among the nation's winningest programs during the past 15 seasons (1996-97 to present), ranking fifth with 374 victories.
- Notre Dame has ranked among the top 20 in the nation in attendance each of the past 10 seasons. This year, the program is fifth in the NCAA attendance rankings with a school-record 8,553 fans per game, topping last year's mark of 8,377. The Fighting Irish also have drawn 5,000-or-more fans to 158 of their last 160 home games, logging 17 Purcell Pavilion sellouts (most recently on Feb. 26 vs. Cincinnati).
- The Fighting Irish have become a regular fixture in the WNBA Draft in recent years, as seven Notre Dame players have been selected in the past decade. Charel Allen was the most recent Fighting Irish player to be chosen, going to the Sacramento Monarchs in the third round (43rd overall pick) of the 2008 WNBA Draft. Ruth Riley (San Antonio) was active in the league during the '10 season, helping the Silver Stars return to the playoffs for the fourth consecutive season. Three of Notre Dame's eight WNBA alums have won a total of four league championships — Riley won a pair of crowns with the Detroit Shock (2003 Finals MVP, 2006). Coquese Washington toiled for the 2000 Houston Comets, while Jacqueline Batteast was Riley's teammate on the 2006 title-winning squad in Detroit.
- For the fifth year in a row, the Fighting Irish posted a perfect 100-percent Graduation Success Rate (GSR), according to figures released by the NCAA in October. What's more, since Muffet McGraw became head coach in 1987, every Notre Dame women's basketball player who has completed her athletic and academic eligibility at the University has earned her bachelor's degree (a 62-for-62 success rate), with all four members of this year's senior class on target to earn their diplomas.

The Notre Dame-Texas A&M Series

Tuesday will mark just the second time Notre Dame and Texas A&M have met in the sport of women's basketball. The Aggies won the only prior matchup between the schools, 88-84 in overtime on Dec. 3, 1995, in Kona, Hawaii (see recap below).

The Last Time Notre Dame And Texas A&M Met

Lisa Branch scored Texas A&M's last nine points in overtime, including four free throws in the final six seconds, to lead the Aggies past Notre Dame. 88-84 in the fifth-place game of the Kona Women's Basketball Classic on Dec. 3, 1995, in Kona, Hawaii.

Other Notre Dame-Texas A&M Series Tidbits

- Notre Dame is 7-7 all-time against Texas schools, most recently falling at No. 2/3 Baylor, 76-65 back on Dec. 1 in Waco. The Fighting Irish are 3-2 all-time against the Lone Star State in the NCAA Championship, having last faced a Texas school in the tournament on March 23, 2008, defeating SMU, 75-62 in an Oklahoma City Region first round game at West Lafayette, Ind.
- Notre Dame has had four players on its all-time roster from the state of Texas. Kelly Hicks (1977-80; Bandera) was the first Lone Star State product to suit up for the Fighting Irish, followed by Ellen Mauch (1987; Mineral Wells). More recently, two members of Notre Dame's 2001 NCAA national championship teams came from Texas — Imani Dunbar (1997-2001; San Angelo) and Amanda Barksdale (1999-2002; Friendswood).
- When Notre Dame and Texas A&M played their only previous game, it was in the fifth-place contest at the 1995 Kona Women's Basketball Classic in Kona, Hawaii. Tennessee won that tournament title with a 79-67 win over Penn State in the championship game, despite a game-high 24 points from PSU's Angie Potthoff (who now serves as Notre Dame's associate director of operations & technology).
- Notre Dame sophomore guard Skylar Diggins is close with Texas A&M sophomore center Kelsey Bone, who is sitting out this season after transferring from South Carolina. Diggins and Bone were two of the nation's top three prep players in the Class of 2009, according to all major recruiting services, and have been teammates on numerous USA Basketball and all-star teams through the years.
- Diggins and Texas A&M senior forward/center Danielle Adams were two of the 10 players named to this year's State Farm

Coaches' All-America Team that was announced Saturday at the Westin Hotel in Indianapolis.

Time Capsule: Notre Dame 68, Purdue 66 (2001 NCAA National Championship)

Add the names McGraw, Riley and Ivey to the rich lore of Notre Dame athletics.

The school of Rockne, Leahy and Montana now has a national championship in basketball.

Notre Dame won the NCAA women's title by pulling off yet another Final Four comeback, beating Purdue 68-66 on April 1, 2001, at the Savvis Center in St. Louis on Ruth Riley's two free throws with 5.8 seconds left.

The Fighting Irish trailed by 12 points in the first half and were down 66-64 with a little more than a minute to play when Riley, the team's unanimous All-American and national player of the year, came through.

"It's definitely euphoria," coach Muffet McGraw said. "It's the greatest moment in our basketball history at Notre Dame.

"I don't know when I've been this excited. What can you say about Ruth Riley? What clutch on the free throw line, to make both of those free throws!"

Somehow it seemed fitting in this all-Indiana final. Riley was Notre Dame's only Indiana native.

First, she scored in the lane to tie it at 66 with 1:01 remaining. Then, she rebounded a miss by Purdue's Shereka Wright, enabling the Fighting Irish (34-2) to set up a late shot.

They got the ball to Riley — who else? — and she was fouled by Wright. She made the first throw, returned to the line after a Purdue timeout and calmly made the second.

"I can't even describe it," Riley said. "This is the only thing I wanted. To be able to share this with my teammates is unbelievable. We worked so hard that it was fitting to end the season this way.

"All those free throws I shot after practice really paid off."

It still wasn't over because Purdue (31-7) had the last shot. But All-American Katie Douglas missed an 18-foot shot at the buzzer, the ball hitting the front of the rim and bouncing off the backboard as the game ended, touching off a wild celebration by Notre Dame.

"We designed a play and got out there and didn't execute it," Douglas said. "I had a good look at the basket and it didn't go down for me."

Don't blame Douglas, Purdue coach Kristy Curry said. Curry didn't say it, but the implication was clear: the Boilermakers wouldn't have been here without her.

"She's hit a lot of shots for us, but it didn't go down for her tonight," Curry said. "But we'll not focus on that. We would have liked for her to make the shot, but we didn't get it."

Riley, held to one point in the first 8:23, finished with 28 to lead all scorers, grabbed 13 rebounds and blocked seven shots. Ericka Haney, St. Louis native Niele Ivey and Kelley Siemon also scored in double figures for the Fighting Irish.

That turned out to be enough to offset the inspired play of Purdue freshmen Wright and Shalicia Hurns and another solid performance by Douglas. Purdue won the 1999 national championship and certainly had its chances to win this one, but Notre Dame would not be denied.

Haney finished with 13 points for Notre Dame, Ivey scored 12 and Siemon had 10.

The Fighting Irish, the best three-point shooting team in the nation, won despite going 1-for-10 from behind the arc. Alicia Ratay, the nation's best individual performer, was 1-for-4. But the one she made was huge, tying the score at 62 with 4:02 remaining.

Douglas came through with 18 for Purdue and had the Boilermakers' final points, converting a three-point play off a steal and layup to give Purdue a 66-64 lead with 1:22 remaining. Then Riley, named the Most Outstanding Player of the Women's Final Four, took over and denied Purdue a second title.

Notre Dame trailed 19-7 early and was down six at halftime. But the Fighting Irish have this comeback thing down pat. They rallied from 16 points down in the semifinal to beat Connecticut — the biggest comeback in the history of the NCAA Women's Final Four.

And they did it again.

Riley had four points as Notre Dame started the second half with an 8-0 run to take its first lead at 34-32. It didn't last long. Purdue came back with a 10-3 run that included three-pointers by Douglas and Kelly Komara to go up 42-37, and it was 49-41 after Komara's layup with 12:32 remaining.

Notre Dame then chipped away and finally tied it at 55 on Jeneka Joyce's two free throws with 7:55 to play.

From there, it was back and forth to the end. Notre Dame led 64-63 when Ivey made a layup as the shot clock buzzer sounded and fans were counting down the time. Komara's airball gave the Fighting Irish a chance to extend the lead, but Douglas came up with her steal and three-point play.

Notre Dame vs. The Big 12 Conference

Notre Dame is 9-11 (.450) all-time against current Big 12 Conference members, including wins in seven of its last 11 games against that conference (most recently dispatching Oklahoma, 78-53 in the NCAA Dayton Regional semifinals on March 26). The four losses in that time all came by 11 points or less (three by five or fewer and two in OT):

- 2000 NCAA Midwest Regional semifinal vs. Texas Tech at Memphis (L, 69-65 ... ND led 17-0 to start the game)
- 2003 WBCA Classic final at Colorado (L, 67-63, ot ... CU hit 30-footer at regulation horn to force overtime)
- 2010 NCAA Kansas City Regional semifinal vs. Oklahoma at Kansas City, Mo. (L, 77-72, ot ... OU nailed game-winning 3FG with 4.4 seconds left in overtime)
- 2010-11 regular season at Baylor (L, 76-65

Passing The Torch

Notre Dame celebrated the 10th anniversary of its 2001 NCAA national championship season with a reunion weekend Nov. 12-14 on campus. Included as part of the festivities was the Fighting Irish season opener this year, a 99-48 win over New Hampshire on Nov. 12 at Purcell Pavilion (which featured the elevation of Ruth Riley's ubiquitous No. 00 into Notre Dame's new Ring of Honor at the arena).

In an on-court ceremony following the game, the members of the 2000-01 squad, led by captains Riley and (current Notre Dame assistant coach) Niele Ivey presented this year's Fighting Irish team with a basketball autographed by each player from the 2000-01 team with inspirational messages and reminders about carrying on the Notre Dame championship tradition.

This year's captains — seniors Becca Bruszewski and Brittany Mallory — placed the ball in the Notre Dame locker room, where it has remained all season as a reminder of the team's ultimate goal.

Other NCAA Women's Final Four Tidbits

- Prior to this week, Notre Dame had played in Conesco Fieldhouse once before, dropping a 77-61 decision to Tennessee on Dec. 28, 2002.
- Sophomore guard Skylar Diggins should be intimately familiar with Indianapolis and Conesco Fieldhouse, having led her high school team (South Bend Washington) to four consecutive Indiana state championship game appearances from 2006-09, winning the Class 4A crown in 2007 with a 84-64 win over Columbus East High School (Diggins had 27 points, a 4A title game-record 17 rebounds, six assists and five steals).
- After playing at Conesco Fieldhouse from 2006-08, the 2009 title game was played at Lucas Oil Stadium (home of the NFL's Indianapolis Colts, as well as last year's NCAA Men's Final Four and next year's Super Bowl), where more than 30,000 fans watched Diggins singlehandedly rally Washington from an eight-point deficit in the final 1:40 against Indianapolis Ben Davis High School, only to fall 71-69 on a last-second circus shot in what was later dubbed one of the greatest high school girls' basketball games ever played.
- One of Diggins' closest friends is former Stanford All-America guard (and current member of the WNBA's Minnesota Lynx) Candice Wiggins, whom Diggins refers to as one of her mentors. The two crossed paths after Diggins mentioned her appreciation for Wiggins' game during an interview at the 2009 ESPY Awards in Los Angeles, and the Stanford star reached out to Diggins shortly thereafter, striking up a friendship that has existed ever since.
- Four of the core members from the 2009 USA Basketball U19 World Championship Team that struck gold in Thailand were on hand in Indianapolis this weekend. Diggins and Stanford's Nnemkadi Ogwumike served as co-captains for that squad, which also featured Connecticut's Kelly Faris and Texas A&M's Kelsey Bone and was coached by current Notre Dame associate coach Carol Owens. Team USA went 8-1 in the tournament, with two of those wins coming over a Canadian team that was led by current Fighting Irish freshman forward Natalie Achonwa.

Add To The Count

Notre Dame will go in search of its third NCAA title in the 2010-11 academic year when the Fighting Irish women's basketball team squares off with Texas A&M Tuesday night in Indianapolis.

Currently, Notre Dame is one of three schools in the country to have won multiple NCAA Division I championships this year (women's soccer and fencing), joining Penn State (women's volleyball and wrestling) and California (men's and women's swimming & diving) in that elite group, while giving the school 27 titles overall.

Only once in school history has Notre Dame won three national championships in the same academic year — in 1943-44, the Fighting Irish football team was the consensus national champion, while the men's tennis and men's golf teams took home NCAA titles (or their equivalent at the time).

Irish In The NCAA Championship

Notre Dame is making its 18th appearance in the NCAA Championship, and 16th in a row, as it takes the Conesco Fieldhouse court Tuesday for its NCAA national championship game against Texas A&M. The Fighting Irish have a .667 winning percentage (32-16) in NCAA tournament play, ranking 12th all-time in that category (minimum of 20 games played).

In addition, Notre Dame's current streak of 16 consecutive NCAA Championship appearances ranks sixth in the record books.

Here are some other facts about the Fighting Irish in the "Big Dance" (see pp. 172-188 in this year's regular season media guide for box scores, results and records):

- Each of Notre Dame's 18 NCAA tournament appearances have come during the tenure of 24th-year head coach Muffet McGraw.
- Following their March 19 win at Utah, the Fighting Irish now have won their NCAA tournament opener in 14 of the past 16 seasons, dating back to the start of their membership in the BIG EAST Conference (1995-96 to present).
- Notre Dame is one of eight schools in the country to have advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 nine times in the past 15 years (1997-2011).
- Notre Dame is one of 11 schools to make three trips to the NCAA Women's Final Four and come away with at least one national championship, going to the

Sowing The Seeds

For the second consecutive season, Notre Dame earned a No. 2 seed for the NCAA Championship. It's also the third time in 18 NCAA tournament appearances that the Fighting Irish have been seeded second, with Notre Dame holding a 9-2 (.818) record on that line of the bracket.

This year's seed was the highest for the Fighting Irish when they did not open the tournament at home. Prior to 2011, Notre Dame's highest seed when opening away from Purcell Pavilion was a No. 4 seed in 2005, when they also came west, playing in Fresno, Calif.

In 2000, the No. 2-seeded Fighting Irish opened the tournament with victories at Purcell Pavilion over 15th-seeded San Diego (87-61) and No. 7 seed George Washington (95-60), before bowing to third-seeded Texas Tech (69-65) in the Mideast Regional semifinals at The Pyramid in Memphis, Tenn.

Last year, Notre Dame used its No. 2 seed to post home victories over 15th-seeded Cleveland State (86-58) and No. 10 seed Vermont (84-66) before falling to third-seeded Oklahoma (77-72 in OT) in the Kansas City Regional semifinals at the Sprint Center in Kansas City.

Notre Dame has been awarded a top-eight seed for the 12th time in its 18 NCAA Championship visits (and a top-four seed for the fifth time). The Fighting Irish are 19-5 (.792) all-time as the higher seed in NCAA tournament play.

It Hinges On Defense

Notre Dame's success in the NCAA Championship can be directly traced to its performance at the defensive end of the floor. In 18 NCAA tournament trips (48 games), the Fighting Irish are 18-2 (.900) when holding their opponent to 60 points or fewer, including wins in three of five tournament games this year (Utah, Oklahoma and Tennessee) — and nearly all five, as both Temple and Connecticut scored exactly 63 points in their second-round and national semifinal games.

Notre Dame's two losses to teams scoring 60 points or fewer both came at the hands of top-seeded clubs — Penn State (55-49) in the 2004 East Regional semifinals, and North Carolina (60-51) in the second round of the 2007 Dallas Region.

Re-Stoking The Offensive Fires

Prior to the 2008 NCAA Championship, Notre Dame had gone 13 consecutive games without scoring more than 61 points in a regulation NCAA tournament contest, dating back to its 2001 national championship game win over Purdue (68-66 in St. Louis).

However, that 2008 tournament saw the Fighting Irish offense roar to life, as Notre Dame topped the 70-point mark in its first two games (75-62 over SMU and 79-75 in overtime over Oklahoma) before a hard-fought 74-64 loss to Tennessee at the regional semifinals at the Ford Center in Oklahoma City.

The back-to-back 70-point outings were the first for the Fighting Irish in the NCAA Championship since their Midwest Regional final and Final Four games in 2001, as they downed Vanderbilt (72-64) and Connecticut (90-75), respectively.

Notre Dame now has topped the 70-point mark in 10 of its last 12 NCAA tournament games, with last year's 86-58 first-round win at home over Cleveland State representing the highest point production by the Fighting Irish in the NCAA Championship since that 2001 NCAA national semifinal win over Connecticut in St. Louis.

It's A Beautiful Day-ton

Most members of the Notre Dame women's basketball team didn't know it ahead of time, but the locker room they used at the University of Dayton Arena for the March 28 NCAA Dayton Regional final against Tennessee ended up having some good karma within its walls.

As it turns out, that same locker room (innocuously called Locker Room #4) was the same one used by the VCU men's basketball team for its game against Southern California in the inaugural NCAA Men's First Four event on March 16 in Dayton. The Rams defeated the Trojans that night, 59-46, sparking a memorable five-game NCAA Championship run to the men's Final Four in Houston, capped by a 71-61 Elite Eight win over top-seeded Kansas in San Antonio.

In a strange twist, one of the VCU supporters in the Alamodome stands for the Rams' regional semifinal win over Florida State was the school's women's basketball coach — Beth (Morgan) Cunningham, Notre Dame's all-time scoring leader with 2,322 points and a two-time honorable mention All-America selection who led the Fighting Irish to the 1997 NCAA Women's Final Four in Cincinnati.

Bonus Basketball

Notre Dame is 2-1 all-time when going to overtime in the NCAA tournament, following its 2010 regional semifinal loss to Oklahoma (77-72 in Kansas City). The Fighting Irish had previously beaten the Sooners in OT in the NCAA tournament (79-75 in a 2008 second-round game at West Lafayette, Ind.), and also defeated Southwest Missouri State (now Missouri State), 69-65, in extra time in their 2004 NCAA opener.

Notre Dame is 16-17 (.485) all-time when going to overtime, having split its last eight OT contests. This season, the Fighting Irish dropped their lone overtime game, an 86-83 double-OT thriller to No. 15 UCLA on Nov. 18 at Purcell Pavilion.

Double Deuce

No, the title of this note doesn't haven't anything to do with the notorious tavern from Patrick Swayze's 1989 movie "Road House", but rather it's all about Notre Dame basketball.

For the first time in school history, both Fighting Irish hoops teams garnered No. 2 seeds for their respective NCAA tournaments. Mike Brey's crew (27-7) advanced to the second round of the NCAA Southwest Region before falling to Florida State, 71-57 in Chicago.

Notre Dame is one of only two schools in the country to have both of its basketball teams seeded No. 2 or better in both the men's and women's tournaments (Duke's men earned a No. 1 seed, while the Blue Devil women are seeded second in the Philadelphia Region).

The NCAA tournament seeds are just the latest highlight in a historic season for Fighting Irish basketball. The 2010-11 campaign marks the first time ever that both Notre Dame teams have recorded at least 27 wins in the same season (each squad had 25 victories in 2007-08). This year's clubs also have set a new school record for combined men's/women's basketball victories in a single season with 58, topping the old mark of 54 set in 2000-01 (women 34-2; men 20-10).

One added note – with the Fighting Irish hockey team also earning a berth in this year's NCAA Championship (they face Minnesota-Duluth in an NCAA Frozen Four national semifinal Thursday night in St. Paul, Minn.), Notre Dame is the only school to have all three major winter sports qualify for NCAA postseason play.

Notre Dame's 33-Hour Tour ... #Winning

In a 33-hour span on March 27-28, Notre Dame athletics went through a "good-things-happen-in-threes" moment. It all started on the afternoon of March 27 when the Fighting Irish fencing teams clinched the NCAA combined championship (their eighth, trailing only football's 11 national titles) in Columbus, Ohio.

That evening, the Notre Dame hockey team secured its second NCAA Frozen Four berth in four seasons with a 2-1 victory at New Hampshire in the NCAA Northeast Regional final.

The next night, the Notre Dame women's basketball team punctuated the run by earning its third NCAA Women's Final Four berth with a 73-59 win over top-seeded Tennessee in the NCAA Dayton Regional final in Dayton, Ohio.

The Rare Air Up There

Beginning on Jan. 31 (and the first time since Dec. 9, 2002), both Notre Dame basketball teams have been ranked in the top 10 of their respective Associated Press polls. In the final 2010-11 polls released on March 14, the Fighting Irish women were ranked ninth, while Mike Brey's men checked in at No. 5.

Notre Dame is one of only three schools in the country with two top-10 basketball programs, along with Connecticut (No. 1 women/No. 9 men) and Duke (No. 6 women/No. 3 men).

If you want to go one further, this marks the first time in Notre Dame athletics history that both Fighting Irish basketball teams AND the Notre Dame hockey team are ranked in the top 10 at the same time (the Fighting Irish icers currently stand fourth in the nation).

A BIG EAST Bonanza

Notre Dame is one of a record-setting nine BIG EAST Conference schools that earned invitations to the 2011 NCAA Championship, joining a club that also includes seven-time national champion Connecticut, DePaul, Georgetown, Louisville, Marquette, Rutgers, St. John's and West Virginia.

This year's nine selections are one better than the previous conference (and NCAA Championship) record for the highest number of teams from one league invited to a single NCAA tournament. The BIG EAST (2004, 2008) and SEC (1999, 2002) hit that mark twice, while the Big 12 reached that total for the first time in 2008.

With Notre Dame and Connecticut both advancing to this weekend's NCAA Women's Final Four, it marks the fourth time in conference history (and second in three years) that two BIG EAST schools have advanced to the national semifinals – the others coming in 2000 (Connecticut and Rutgers), 2001 (Notre Dame and Connecticut) and 2009 (Connecticut and Louisville).

Notre Dame also is the fourth different BIG EAST school to reach the NCAA Women's Final Four since 2007, joining Rutgers (2007), Connecticut (2008-11) and Louisville (2009).

With Notre Dame's victory over Connecticut, the BIG EAST will have a team play for the NCAA national championship for the third consecutive season and the fourth time in five years (Rutgers - 2007; Connecticut 2009-10; Louisville - 2009; Notre Dame - 2011).

Don't Mess With Tradition

The Notre Dame women's basketball program has developed some traditions that should be quite evident during this week's NCAA Women's Final Four in Indianapolis.

- Green nails – each of the Fighting Irish players and female coaches wear green nail polish throughout the NCAA Championship. This tradition started during the 1997 tourney, when the Fighting Irish added the green polish to their fingers prior to their second-round St. Patrick's Day game at Texas, which Notre Dame won 86-83. The Fighting Irish ended up going to their first NCAA Final Four that season and the green nail polish was here to stay. As a show of solidarity, the male members of the travel party usually paint their left pinky green, and some (including associate head coach Jonathan Tsipis) have even gone so far as to shave their heads for the tournament.

- Green uniforms — though not limited exclusively to NCAA tournament play, Notre Dame's distinctive kelly green road uniforms have become a staple of the postseason in keeping with the St. Patrick's Day holiday, which often falls during the early rounds of the tournament (or in this year's case, during the week leading up to the preliminary rounds). The Fighting Irish most recently wore the alternate green road threads in the NCAA Championship for Sunday's national semifinal win over Connecticut (72-63) — Notre Dame is 8-7 (.533) all-time in the NCAA tournament when featuring the "wearing o' the green." The Fighting Irish also have broken out their alternate home whites with green trim for early-round games the past four seasons (2008 - a 75-62 win over SMU in West Lafayette, Ind.; 2009 - a 79-71 home loss to Minnesota; 2010 - an 86-58 home win over Cleveland State and 84-66 home win over Vermont; 2011 - a 67-54 win at Utah and 77-64 win over Temple in Salt Lake City), the first time those uniforms have been worn in NCAA tournament play.
- Irish jig — this unique pre-game ritual has become one of the widely-recognized traditions of Notre Dame women's basketball. Just prior to the introduction of the starting lineups, the Fighting Irish players will circle up in the lane with a basketball at their feet. As the Notre Dame pep band plays, the team will perform the Irish Jig (a popular step with Notre Dame fans, especially the student body) with the ball bouncing around in the midst of their dance. This tradition is believed to have started during the 1999-2000 season, but picked up steam during Notre Dame's 2000-01 national championship run and has been part of the Fighting Irish pre-game ritual ever since.

And Don't Forget The Lime Green Shirts

The ever-present lime green t-shirts you might see many Notre Dame fans wearing around Indianapolis this week are given out annually to Fighting Irish women's basketball season ticket holders, a group affectionately known as the "Spirit Patrol". Created by coordinator of basketball operations Stephanie Menio, the shirts are based on one of head coach Muffet McGraw's favorite colors, which she sported on the sidelines during the 2001 national championship game win over Purdue.

Thirty Deeds

The 73-59 win over Tennessee in the NCAA Dayton Regional final on March 28 was Notre Dame's 30th victory of the season, marking the third time in program history the Fighting Irish have reached the 30-win mark (now 31-7). Coincidentally, the other two 30-win seasons also resulted in NCAA Women's Final Four appearances for Notre Dame — 1997 (31-7) and 2001 (34-2).

The victory also gave the BIG EAST Conference two 30-win squads in the same season for the fourth time, and three of those have involved Connecticut and Notre Dame — 1996-97 (UConn 33-1, ND 31-7), 2000-01 (ND 34-2, UConn 32-3), 2008-09 (UConn 39-0, Louisville 34-5) and 2010-11 (UConn 36-2, ND 31-7).

Pieces of Silver

With its 63-53 win over Louisville in the BIG EAST Championship quarterfinals on March 6 in Hartford, Conn., Notre Dame registered its 25th victory of the season, marking the second consecutive year (and third time in four years) the Fighting Irish have reached that level.

Notre Dame has recorded eight 25-win seasons in its 34 varsity campaigns, but only once before had the Fighting Irish done so in back-to-back years. From 1998-99 through 2000-01, Notre Dame topped that mark each season (26-5, 27-5 and 34-2), including a school-record 34 wins in the final year of that run, which culminated with the program's first national championship.

What's more, this year's seniors have become the fourth group in program history to contribute to three 25-win seasons during their careers, joining the senior classes of 1999-00 (Danielle Green and Julie Henderson), 2000-01 (Imani Dunbar, Meaghan Leahy, Niele Ivey, Ruth Riley and Kelley Siemon) and 2001-02 (Ericka Haney).

Twenty Questions

Notre Dame reached the 20-win mark for the 17th time in the past 18 seasons with its 76-68 victory at South Florida on Feb. 5. The Fighting Irish now have registered 20-or-more wins 21 times in the 24-year Muffet McGraw era and 25 times in the program's 34-year history.

McGraw herself has coached 23 20-win seasons (adding in two during her five-year tenure at Lehigh from 1982-87), tying her for ninth all-time among NCAA Division I coaches.

Century City

The current Notre Dame senior class (Becca Bruszewski, Mary Forr, Brittany Mallory, Devereaux Peters) reached a collective career milestone with a 66-48 Senior Day win over Cincinnati on Feb. 26 at Purcell Pavilion. With that victory, the group has led the Fighting Irish to a 107-31 (.775) record since they arrived on campus in 2007-08.

Only five other senior classes in program history have registered 100 wins in their four-year tenures, led by the 2000-01 national championship seniors (Imani Dunbar, Meaghan Leahy, Niele Ivey, Ruth Riley and Kelley Siemon), who amassed 109 victories from 1997-2001 (Ivey was a fifth-year senior in '00-01, following a knee injury five games into her rookie season of '96-97).

This year's seniors also are the fifth group to help Notre Dame reach the NCAA Sweet 16 three times, joining the senior classes of 1999-

Rankings from AP poll // Boldface games played this season

2000, 2000-01, 2002-03 and 2003-04.

It should be noted that Forr joined the Fighting Irish roster as a walk-on prior to this season, while both Mallory and Peters have the option to return for a fifth year of eligibility next season after both suffered knee injuries early in the 2008-09 campaign.

The Best Things In Life Are Free

One of the keys to Notre Dame's success this season has been its ability to get to the free throw line. The Fighting Irish have set school records for foul shots made (647) and attempted (904) this season, going to the gift line nearly 24 times per game (and converting better than 17 of those charity tosses). In fact, Notre Dame is easily making more free throws (647) than its opponents are attempting (623) this season.

Junior guard Natalie Novosel has been the most notable individual purveyor of this strategy. She ranks second in school history for single-season free throws made (179) and attempted (228), trailing only the marks set by All-America center Ruth Riley (182-of-237) in 2000-01.

The Five-Finger Discount

Notre Dame comes into Tuesday's game ranked fourth in the nation in steals with 12.8 thefts per game (as of April 3). The Fighting Irish also have recorded double-digit steals in 26 games this season, including four contests with 20-plus steals.

Highlighting this year's takeaway brigade for Notre Dame was a school-record 36-steal performance in the season-opening victory against New Hampshire on Nov. 12 at Purcell Pavilion. The Fighting Irish followed that up three days later with 26 thefts in a win over Morehead State, and also logged 24 steals at Valparaiso (Dec. 2) and 23 steals against IUPUI (Nov. 26).

Prior to this season, Notre Dame had posted 23 steals in a game just seven times in the first 33 years of the Fighting Irish women's basketball program (and only three games with 25-plus steals in that time, none since a then-record tying 29 steals at Saint Louis on Jan. 31, 1991).

Individually, Notre Dame has 11 different players with double-digit steals this season, including a school-record three with at least 70 thefts. The Fighting Irish are led by senior guard Brittany Mallory, who has collected a career-high 2.1 steals per game (ninth in the BIG EAST).

Helping Hands

Notre Dame also enters Tuesday's game ranked ninth in the country in assists (17.3 app.), having dished out at least 20 assists in 15 games this season.

Further illustrating the Fighting Irish giving spirit, Notre Dame has assisted on 61.3 percent of its baskets this season, with 659 assists on 1,075 field goals.

At the head of the Fighting Irish assist company is sophomore Skylar Diggins, who has adapted well to her role as Notre Dame's primary point guard, ranking fifth in the BIG EAST Conference at 4.8 assists per game, and just outside the top 15 in the league with a 1.23 assist/turnover ratio. She also has handed out at least five assists in 22 games this season (including a career-high 12 against Oklahoma on March 26, the most by a Fighting Irish player since Jan. 2, 2000 - Niele Ivey vs. Marquette), after tallying seven five-assist games during her entire freshman campaign.

Sharp Shooters

Notre Dame also ranks fourth in the nation with a .480 field goal percentage, shooting 50 percent or better from the floor in 18 games this season, and at least 45 percent in 28 outings.

Notre Dame also has seen a rise in its three-point shooting numbers following a slow start this season. During the past 28 games, the Fighting Irish are connecting at a 40.4 percent clip (108-of-267) from beyond the arc. Compare that with the first nine contests of the season, when Notre Dame had a .269 (29-of-108) three-point percentage.

National Leaders

Notre Dame ranks among the top 20 in the nation in eight categories according to the April 3 NCAA statistics report — fourth in steals (12.8 spg.) and field goal percentage (.480); sixth in scoring margin (+21.6 ppg.); ninth in three-point percentage defense (.269), assists (17.3 app.) and rebounding margin (+8.6 rpg.); 11th in scoring offense (77.2 ppg.); and 16th in turnover margin (+4.55).

Yet for all of these high team statistical marks, only one Fighting Irish individual is ranked higher than No. 55 in any single category — senior forward Devereaux Peters 55th in the nation in blocked shots (1.8 bpg).

High Octane Offense

Behind one of the nation's top 15 scoring offenses (77.2 ppg., 11th as of April 3), Notre Dame is moving into uncharted territory in the school's record books.

The Fighting Irish have scored 90 points in a game in eight contests this season, setting a new school record for 90-point games in a season (the previous mark was seven on three occasions - 1996-97, 1998-99 and 2007-08).

Notre Dame also has set a new school record with nine wins by at least 35 points, more than doubling the previous program record of four 35-point wins set in 2008-09.

What's more, the Fighting Irish have won 12 games by at least 30 points, topping the school record of 10 30-point victories, which was set during the program's 2000-01 national championship season.

Last year, Notre Dame averaged 77.2 points per game, the fifth-highest single-season scoring average in school history, and best since the Fighting Irish logged a school-record 81.0 ppg. mark in 1998-99.

Two Of A Kind

Junior guard Natalie Novosel (574 points) and sophomore guard Skylar Diggins (562 points) both have topped the 500-point mark this season. It's just the third time in school history — and the first in 15 years — that Notre Dame has had two 500-point scorers in the same season.

In both 1995-96 and 1996-97, All-Americans Beth Morgan and Katryna Gaither pulled off this feat — Morgan had 626 points and Gaither had 613 in 1995-96. A year later, Gaither took the lead with a school-record 776 points, followed by Morgan with 696 points.

Glass Houses

One of Notre Dame's greatest areas of improvement this season has been in the rebounding column, where the Fighting Irish are averaging 40.9 caroms per game, up more than two rebounds from last year's final total (38.6 rpg.) and good enough for third in the BIG EAST.

Notre Dame also is giving up just 32.3 rebounds per game, more than three caroms better than last year's final total (35.8 rpg.), also placing third in the conference.

With a +8.6 rpg. margin this season, the Fighting Irish rank third in the BIG EAST and ninth in the country as of April 3. Notre Dame has won or tied the battle on the boards in 32 of 38 games this year (including 25 of its last 28), and has not had a negative rebounding margin of more than 12 all season (vs. Tennessee on March 28).

What's more, Notre Dame has outrebounded its opponent by double digits in 17 games this season, including nine games in which the Fighting Irish posted rebound margins of +15 or better, topped by a season-high +42 mark (66-24) on Jan. 2 against Southeast Missouri State at Purcell Pavilion.

Everyone Gets Into The Act

The Fighting Irish have spread the wealth so far this season, with seven different players leading the team in scoring in at least one game thus far, with five different 20-point scorers along the way.

Notre Dame also has seen no fewer than eight different players claim team-high rebounding and assist honors at some point this year.

Missed It By That Much

Notre Dame may hold a 31-7 record coming into Tuesday's game, but the Fighting Irish are oh-so-close to owning a much better mark, with all seven losses coming to top-15 opponents by an average margin of just 7.6 points per game — five by single digits (four by five points or fewer), and a sixth by 11 points.

What's more, Notre Dame led inside the final 30 seconds of regulation in three of those losses (No. 15 UCLA, also at the end of the first overtime; No. 2 Connecticut; No. 12/11 DePaul), and the Fighting Irish also had a possession to tie the game in the final 30 seconds at No. 9/10 Kentucky.

The 76-65 loss at No. 2/3 Baylor on Dec. 1 saw Notre Dame battle to within six points (65-59) with five minutes remaining and have a look at a three-pointer to halve the margin further on their next possession, but the shot rattled out and the Lady Bears managed to put the game away with nine free throws (despite making only one field goal during the final 8:23).

Sky-Light Reel

Despite making the tricky move to point guard this season, sophomore Skylar Diggins hasn't missed a beat, averaging career highs in scoring (14.8 ppg.), rebounding (4.0 rpg.) and assists (4.8 apg.).

The South Bend native also is second on the team with 31 double-figure scoring games this season, including nine 20-point outings, and she has stuffed the stat sheet to the tune of a team-best nine "5-5-5" outings (at least "5" in three of the five major statistical categories, or a mini triple-double).

A State Farm Coaches All-American and third-team AP All-American, Diggins has been tapped as a prime candidate for all of the major national player-of-the-year awards, including a spot on the final ballot for this year's John R. Wooden Award, as well as a finalist berth for the Nancy Lieberman Award, given to the nation's top point guard.

In addition, Diggins was a unanimous first-team all-BIG EAST selection, one of three Fighting Irish players (along with Novosel and senior forward Devereaux Peters) to make the WBCA/State Farm All-Region I Team AND be chosen as WBCA/State Farm All-America Team finalists, and she made her second consecutive appearance on the BIG EAST Championship All-Tournament Team, just the fourth Notre Dame player to make that squad twice (along with multi-time All-Americans Beth Morgan, Katryna Gaither and Ruth Riley).

Diggins also has recorded an extremely rare career accomplishment, going over the 1,000-point mark with her game-high 24 points against Tennessee on March 28. With 1,046 career points (25th all-time), she is just the second Fighting Irish player ever to reach the 1,000-point mark in her first two seasons at Notre Dame — Morgan (the program's all-time leading scorer) had exactly 1,000 points from 1993-95.

basketball history have featured at least five current or future 1,000-point scorers on the same roster — from 1995-96 through 1999-2000, every Notre Dame squad had five or more players who had reached or would reach the 1,000-point plateau during their careers (including a school-record six on the 1996-97 and 1997-98 squads).

Aside from head coach Muffet McGraw and current associate coach Carol Owens, the one common link between those teams was guard Danielle Green, who scored 1,106 points from 1995-2000, missing the 1996-97 Final Four season with a preseason Achilles injury and coming back for a fifth year of eligibility in 1999-2000.

Right Said Fred

Junior guard Fraderica Miller often has been termed the “defensive spark” off the bench for Notre Dame, and the numbers bear it out. The Atlanta native is uber-efficient with her playing time (9.5 min/game), ranking fifth on the team this season with a career-high 47 steals.

Were she to play a full 40 minutes, she would easily lead the nation in steals with 6.10/game, nearly a full steal ahead of her next closest competitor.

Novosel Is Just Plain Nasty

Nicknamed “Nasty” for her playmaking abilities, junior guard Natalie Novosel emerged as easily the most improved player in the BIG EAST Conference, if not the entire country.

The Lexington, Ky., native currently leads the Fighting Irish (and ranks seventh in the league) in scoring at a team-high 15.1 points per game, more than tripling her offensive output from a season ago. She also has scored at least 20 points in a game seven times this year (after coming into the campaign with a career single-game high of 19 points) and has scored in double figures a team-high 32 times (tying for second-most in school history) after doing so a total of 14 times in her first two seasons combined at Notre Dame.

In addition to collecting the BIG EAST Most Improved Player award (the third by a Notre Dame player and first since Megan Duffy in 2005), Novosel added other hardware to her personal trophy case, taking home first-team all-BIG EAST and WBCA/State Farm All-Region I Team honors (later being named an All-America Team honorable mention pick for the latter), as well as Most Valuable Player plaudits at the WBCA Classic. She also earned a spot on the BIG EAST Championship and State Farm Holiday Hoops Classic all-tournament teams, and garnered three mentions on the BIG EAST Weekly Honor Roll (Nov. 29, Feb. 7, March 1).

Thus, it's no surprise that ESPN.com's Graham Hays tweeted the following comment after Novosel's career-high 27 points (8-11 FG, 2-2 3FG, 9-9 FT) vs. Gonzaga in a 70-61 Fighting Irish win on Dec. 29 in Seattle:

“Is Natalie Novosel the most improved player in the nation? Gotta be on the short list.”

Peters Showing Her Own Dev-elopment

If Novosel is among the nation's most improved players, senior forward Devereaux Peters can't be far behind. The veteran frontliner is playing some of the best basketball of her career this season, putting a pair of knee injuries and three surgeries well in the rearview mirror.

Peters currently is averaging career highs of 11.7 points per game (24th in the BIG EAST) and 7.4 rebounds per game (sixth), along with a .586 field goal percentage (second), 1.8 blocks per game (third) and 1.7 steals per game.

Peters' numbers in BIG EAST play were even more eye-popping, as she ranked among the top five in the league in field goal percentage (first - .621), rebounding (second - 7.9 rpg.) and blocks (third - 1.9 bpg.), while ranking 15th in scoring (12.9 ppg.). She also placed second in the BIG EAST with five double-doubles during conference action.

Like Novosel, Peters regularly has been pulling in accolades this season, most notably being named the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year (the first Fighting Irish cager to earn that award since Ruth Riley's three-year run from 1999-2001). Peters also was a first-team all-BIG EAST and WBCA All-Region I selection (nabbing honorable mention All-America status following the latter accolade), while earning a spot on the WBCA Classic All-Tournament Team and garnering MVP honors at the State Farm Holiday Hoops Classic in Seattle. During the latter tournament on Dec. 29-30, she averaged 13.0 points, 8.0 rebounds, 2.5 steals and 2.5 blocks per game with a .684 field goal percentage (13-of-19) in wins over Gonzaga and Loyola Marymount.

That tournament effort has been the cornerstone of Peters' post-Christmas surge. In the past 26 games, the Chicago native is averaging 12.8 points and 8.5 rebounds with nine double-doubles and a .604 field goal percentage (142-of-235).

Peters Adds Griner To SWAT Team

Senior forward Devereaux Peters has made a living as a shot blocking presence in the paint for Notre Dame throughout her career, with her 6-foot-2 frame and 77-inch wingspan. However, on Dec. 1 at No. 2/3 Baylor, she added another notch to her belt in historic fashion.

2010-11 Signees

At the 10:22 mark of the second half, the Lady Bears threw an entry pass in to their 6-foot-8 sophomore All-America center Brittney Griner, but as she turned to shoot, Peters rotated perfectly from the weak side and rejected Griner's shot out of bounds. It was one of the highlights in a 17-2 Fighting Irish run that pulled Notre Dame within six points of Baylor with five minutes left.

It's believed to be the first time in Griner's two-year college career that she has had a shot blocked. A video clip of Peters' block has been posted on the Notre Dame Women's Basketball YouTube channel (search for "notredameirishhoops" or click the link through the sidebar on the women's basketball page at www.UND.com).

Polling Station

Notre Dame was ranked No. 9 in the final 2010-11 Associated Press poll, its eighth consecutive week in the top 10. That marked the 77th consecutive AP poll appearance for the Fighting Irish, extending the program record that started with the AP preseason poll in 2007-08 (the old record was 59 consecutive weeks from 1998-2001).

With its final poll position, Notre Dame has appeared in the top 10 of the AP poll in each of the past four seasons and 11 of the past 15 seasons (1996-97 to present), as well as 103 weeks overall since the Fighting Irish earned their initial AP top-10 ranking (No. 9 on Nov. 24, 1996).

This year's No. 9 year-end ranking also represents the fifth time (and the second consecutive year) that Notre Dame has appeared in the top 10 of the final AP poll.

The Fighting Irish were second in 2000-01, fifth in 1999-2000, seventh in 2009-10 and eighth in 1998-99).

Notre Dame has been ranked in the AP poll for 216 weeks during the program's 34-year history, with every one of those appearances coming in the Muffet McGraw era (since 1987-88). McGraw ranks 13th among all active NCAA Division I head coaches for weeks in the AP poll, and also is 22nd all-time in that category.

In addition, the Fighting Irish are ranked No. 7 in the March 14 ESPN/USA Today/WBCA coaches' poll, matching their season-best position for the third time in four weeks. Notre Dame has been ranked in the coaches' poll for 77 of the past 78 weeks, falling just outside the Top 25 in the final poll of the 2008-09 season. Nevertheless, the Fighting Irish have appeared in the coaches' poll for a total of 208 weeks during their history (all coming during McGraw's tenure).

This marks the third consecutive season Notre Dame has been ranked in the top 10 of the ESPN/USA Today/WBCA poll, as well as nine of the past 13 campaigns (1998-99 to present).

More Polling Data

Notre Dame head coach Muffet McGraw is one of 30 people in NCAA Division I women's basketball history who have both played for and coached a team that has appeared in the Associated Press Top 25 poll.

Besides her 216 AP poll appearances while coaching at Notre Dame, McGraw was the starting point guard at Saint Joseph's (Pa.) as a senior in 1977, helping the Hawks to No. 3 in the nation.

Of the 30 people on this list, 16 currently are NCAA Division I head coaches (see accompanying chart on this page), with nine of the 16 leading their teams to this year's NCAA Championship. McGraw and Baylor's Kim Mulkey are the only active skippers to play for and coach a team in the AP poll, and coach that team to a national title (McGraw in 2001, Mulkey in 2005).

Half And Half

During the past decade, Notre Dame has been nearly unbeatable when it has the lead at half-time. The Fighting Irish are 216-17 (.927) since the start of the 2000-01 campaign when they go into the dressing room with the lead, including wins in 144 of their last 155 such contests, and 53 in a row since a 58-47 loss to Villanova on March 8, 2009, in the BIG EAST Championship quarterfinals at Hartford's XL Center (Notre Dame led 25-21 at intermission).

The Fighting Irish have been up at the break in 28 games this year, including their March 28 win over Tennessee in their NCAA Dayton Regional title game, when they led 29-24 through the first 20 minutes.

The Best Offense Is A Good Defense...

During the past 16 seasons, Notre Dame has discovered that a solid defensive effort can almost certainly guarantee a victory. In fact, since the beginning of the 1995-96 season (Notre Dame's first in the BIG EAST Conference), the Fighting Irish have an amazing 231-15 (.939) record when they hold their opponents below 60 points in a game, including victories in 23 contests this season (New Hampshire, Morehead State, IUPUI, Butler, Purdue, Providence, Creighton, Valparaiso, Loyola Marymount, Southeast Missouri State, Marquette, Pittsburgh, Georgetown, St. John's, Villanova, Syracuse, Seton Hall, Rutgers, Cincinnati, Louisville, Utah, Oklahoma, Tennessee).

...But Sometimes You Have To Score If You Want To Win

Not resting solely on its defensive laurels, Notre Dame also seemingly has found the magic mark when it comes to outscoring its opponents. During the past 16 seasons (since

University of Notre Dame head women's basketball coach Muffet McGraw announced Nov. 11 that three of the country's top high school student-athletes have chosen to continue their academic and athletic careers with the Fighting Irish, each signing a National Letter of Intent to attend Notre Dame beginning in the fall of 2011.

Madison Cable, a 5-11 guard from Mount Lebanon, Pa. (Mount Lebanon High School), Whitney Holloway, a 5-4 guard from Plainfield, Ill. (Montini Catholic High School) and Markisha Wright, a 6-2 forward from Des Moines, Iowa (Des Moines East High School) all made their official commitments to the Fighting Irish during the early signing period.

All three student-athletes are rated among the top 60 players in the country by various national recruiting services. As a group, this trio currently is a consensus top-20 class by all major recruiting outlets (as high as No. 7 by Blue Star Basketball), giving Notre Dame a Top 25 class for the 15th consecutive year, a streak only two other schools in the country (Connecticut and Tennessee) can match.

Ruth Riley, a three-time All-America center at Notre Dame during her storied career from 1997-2001, and the 2001 consensus national player of the year, was inducted into Notre Dame's Ring of Honor on Nov. 12 during a pre-game ceremony before the Fighting Irish opened their 2010-11 season against New Hampshire at Purcell Pavilion.

A banner honoring Riley's iconic number 00 was unveiled and now permanently hangs in the rafters on the east side of Purcell Pavilion, making her the first women's basketball player added to the Ring of Honor, and the second player overall following last spring's induction of men's basketball All-America forward Luke Harangody.

The only player in Notre Dame women's basketball history with 2,000 career points and 1,000 rebounds, Riley ranks as the program's all-time leader in seven categories, including rebounds (1,007), blocked shots (370 - fifth in NCAA history) and field goal percentage (.632 - 11th in NCAA history). What's more, the Macy, Ind., native ranks third in school history with 2,072 points, and holds the Fighting Irish single-game scoring record with 41 points in a January 1998 win over Providence. Riley also played a pivotal role in Notre Dame's run to the 2001 NCAA national championship, earning Final Four Most Outstanding Player honors after scoring 28 points and grabbing 13 rebounds in the title game victory over Purdue, capped by her gamewinning free throws with 5.8 seconds remaining.

A 10-year WNBA veteran (the past four with the San Antonio Silver Stars), two-time WNBA champion and 2004 Olympic gold medalist, Riley was back on campus with the other members of Notre Dame's 2001 championship team for ceremonies honoring the 10th anniversary of that milestone achievement in Fighting Irish athletics history.

Beginning in 2010-11, the Notre Dame Athletics Department plans to honor annually additional former and present men's and women's basketball and volleyball players who have made distinguished and noteworthy contributions during their career while student-athletes at the University. A committee that will consist of Fighting Irish coaches and administrators will be formed to determine future inductees, with men's basketball legend Austin Carr becoming the third player to join the Ring of Honor, taking his place on Feb. 26, 2011, at halftime of the Fighting Irish men's basketball team's win over Seton Hall.

1995-96), the Fighting Irish are 153-5 (.968) when they score at least 80 points in a game. The only blemishes on that record are three overtime losses to Texas A&M (88-84) and Michigan State (87-83) in 1995 and UCLA (86-83 in double OT) in 2010, as well as a 106-81 loss to Connecticut in 1998, and an 81-80 loss to DePaul in 2008.

Notre Dame has topped the 80-point mark in 14 games this year (13-1 record) after going 17-0 last season when it scored at least 80 points.

Irish Are The Hottest Ticket In Town

The 2009-10 season saw an unprecedented surge in fan support for Notre Dame women's basketball, as the Fighting Irish set new program records for the highest year-end NCAA attendance ranking (fourth), highest average attendance (8,377 fans per game) and most sellouts (six) in a single season. And, as the old saying goes — "you ain't seen nothin' yet."

For the second consecutive preseason, Notre Dame fans all but exhausted the program's season ticket packages (close to 7,500) and snapped up single-game ducats at a rate that helped the Fighting Irish make short work of their freshly-minted single-season average attendance record in 2010-11.

For the second consecutive year, Notre Dame set a new single-season attendance record, averaging 8,553 fans for its 17 home games this season (fifth in the country according to this week's NCAA attendance report), including sellout crowds of 9,149 for its games against Purdue (Dec. 5), Connecticut (Jan. 8), St. John's (Jan. 23), Rutgers (Feb. 12) and Cincinnati (Feb. 26).

Part of the appeal of Notre Dame women's basketball can be traced to the renovated Purcell Pavilion at the Joyce Center, which has yet another new feature this season with the addition of a four-sided LED video scoreboard high above center court, as well as LED auxiliary scoreboards above all four court-level entrance ramps and at the scorer's table.

McGraw Is Simply Legendary

The announcement on July 10, 2010, may have made it official, but it really only confirmed what Notre Dame fans have known for a very long time — head coach Muffet McGraw is a Hall of Famer.

McGraw, the 2001 consensus national coach of the year and winner of more than 600 games in her illustrious career, was one of six people — and the lone coach — named to the 2011 Women's Basketball Hall of Fame Class, as announced in Uncasville, Conn., during the "WNBA vs. USA Basketball: The Stars at the Sun Game" that was televised live nationally on ESPN from Mohegan Sun Arena.

The others in McGraw's Hall of Fame class include former Olympic gold medalists Ruthie Bolton (Auburn) and Vicky Bullett (Maryland), as well as Val Ackerman, the first WNBA president (1996-2005) and first female president of USA Basketball (2005-08), and a pair of three-time All-America players from the pre-NCAA era, Pearl Moore (Frances Marion) and Lometa Odom (Wayland Baptist).

The '11 class officially was introduced at the 2010 State Farm Tip-Off Classic on Nov. 16 at the XL Center in Hartford, Conn., before the Connecticut-Baylor game. The group will be enshrined June 10-12, 2011, during the 13th annual Induction Weekend at the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in Knoxville, Tenn.

McGraw becomes the first Notre Dame selection for the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame. The Fighting Irish skipper also is the third BIG EAST Conference coach chosen for the honor, joining Rutgers' C. Vivian Stringer (2001) and Connecticut's Geno Auriemma (2006) in that elite company. First-year Seton Hall head coach Anne Donovan also was a member of the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame inaugural class in 1999, going in primarily for her accomplishments as a player at Old Dominion.

McGraw also will be the eighth active college head coach to enter the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame. Besides Stringer and Auriemma, the others on this list are: Pat Summitt (1999 - Tennessee), Van Chancellor (2001 - LSU), Tara VanDerveer (2002 - Stanford), Sylvia Hatchell (2004 - North Carolina) and Andy Landers (2007 - Georgia).

Oh Captain, My Captain

Senior forward Becca Bruszewski and senior guard Brittany Mallory are serving as Notre Dame's team captains for the 2010-11 season. Both players received the captain's honor for the first time in their respective careers following a preseason vote by their teammates.

Notre Dame Sets Pace For Pink Zone

Following last year's wildly-successful fundraising efforts for the WBCA's Pink Zone breast cancer initiative, Notre Dame reached even higher this season, as the Fighting Irish have raised a program-record $130,633 for the initiative, among the most by any Division I school in the country this year. That also lifts Notre Dame's combined Pink Zone fundraising total in the last three years to more than a quarter of a million dollars (nearly $275,000).

Notre Dame's local Pink Zone drive is led by primary sponsor Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center, with donations divided between the Foundation for Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center's Women's Task Force and the Kay Yow Cancer Fund.

Diggins made the conference all-tournament team for the second consecutive season, becoming just the fourth Notre Dame player to be a two-time honoree, along with Beth Morgan (1996, 1997), Katryna Gaither (1996, 1997) and Riley (1999, 2000, 2001) ... Diggins recorded her eighth "5-5-5" game of the season, and the 16th of her young career ... Diggins also topped the 950-point mark for her career ... Natalie Achonwa posted her first career double-double with 12 points and 10 rebounds - it was Achonwa's second double-figure rebounding game, following a career-high 13 caroms at No. 9/10 Kentucky on Nov. 21

NOTES: Notre Dame will play for the NCAA national championship for the second time, matching its 2001 Final Four feat by knocking off top-ranked Connecticut to make the title game ... the Fighting Irish are the first team in NCAA Championship history to defeat Connecticut and Tennessee in the same tournament, and the first to defeat both schools in consecutive games ... Notre Dame earns its third all-time victory over a No. 1 team, adding to its two wins over Connecticut in 2001 ... the Fighting Irish also post their second consecutive win over a top-five opponent after having three such victories in their first 33 seasons of existence ... Notre Dame has not led at halftime in any of the three NCAA national semifinal games in its history ... Notre Dame rallied from a halftime deficit to win for the third time this season, most recently doing so in the BIG EAST Championship semifinal on March 7 in Hartford, Conn. (trailed DePaul 31-27; won 71-67) ... the Fighting Irish snap a series-long 12-game losing streak to Connecticut, earning their fifth all-time win over the Huskies in 33 meetings (two have come in as many NCAA Women's Final Four contests) ... Notre Dame records its 31st win of the season, tying the 1996-97 squad for the second-most victories in school history (that club went 31-7, while the 2000-01 team went 34-2) ... the Fighting Irish senior class logs its 107th win, tying the 2001-02 seniors for second in school history (the 2000-01 seniors had 109 victories in their four-year career) ... Notre Dame shot better than 50 percent from the field for the 18th time this season, and made better than 45 percent of its shots for the 28th time this year ... Notre Dame tied a school record by playing its 38th game of the season, a mark first established in 1996-97 ... Skylar Diggins' season-high 28 points weren't even the most she has scored in an NCAA tournament game (career-high 31 points vs. Vermont in 2010 second round game at Purcell Pavilion), but she did Katryna Gaither and Ruth Riley for the most points by a Fighting Irish player in a Women's Final Four game (Gaither did in the 1997 semifinals vs. Tennessee; Riley did so in the 2001 national championship game vs. Purdue) ... Natalie Novosel posted her 32nd double-figure scoring game, tying Riley's 2000-01 mark for the second-most in school history (Gaither had 37 in 1996-97) ... Notre Dame won its second consecutive NCAA tournament game in its green uniforms, improving to 8-7 (.533) all-time in the NCAA Championship when sporting the alternate threads.

Head Coach Muffet McGraw

24th season at ND (556-210, .726) • 29th season overall (644-251, .720)

"If we searched for an entire year, I don't think we would find anyone better suited for our program."

With those words, former Notre Dame athletics director Gene Corrigan announced the hiring of Muffet McGraw as the third head coach of the Irish women's basketball program on May 18, 1987. Corrigan may not have realized it at the time, but he also ushered in an era of unparalleled success in women's basketball at Notre Dame, brought to life on the shoulders of a 5-foot-6 dynamo who accepts nothing less than the very best from herself, her players and her program.

Ask anyone familiar with women's basketball about McGraw and her Notre Dame program and inevitably, you'll hear the same two words — consistency and excellence. And it's no wonder, when you consider what McGraw and the Irish have achieved in the past 24 seasons:

- The 2001 NCAA Championship, defeating Purdue in the title game, 68-66. McGraw is one of only eight active Division I coaches to guide her team to a national title.
- Three trips to the NCAA Women's Final Four (1997, 2001 and 2011). McGraw is one of just nine active Division I coaches to lead her team to three Women's Final Four appearances.
- Nine NCAA Sweet 16 trips, all in the past 15 seasons (1997-2011). The Irish are one of only eight programs in the nation that can make that claim.
- 21 seasons with 20-or-more victories, including 17 in the past 18 years (1993-2011). Notre Dame also has posted eight 25-win seasons and three 30-win campaigns in the past 15 years (1997-2011).
- 18 NCAA Tournament appearances, including a current string of 16 consecutive NCAA Tournament berths. During this current streak (1996-2011), Notre Dame has won at least one NCAA postseason game 14 times.
- 74 wins over ranked opponents, including 63 in the past 13 seasons alone (1998-2011). In addition, 23 of those wins have come against top-10 opponents.
- 216 appearances in the Associated Press Top 25 poll, putting McGraw 13th among active Division I coaches and 22nd all-time on that list (through final 2010-11 poll). Notre Dame also has spent 103 weeks ranked among the top 10 teams in the nation, all in the past 13 seasons (1997-2011).
- 13 top-four finishes in the BIG EAST Conference during Notre Dame's first 16 years in that league (1995-96 through 2010-11). The Fighting Irish also won a share of the 2001 BIG EAST regular-season title.
- 13 consecutive top-20 recruiting classes, dating to the incoming class of 1997. Notre Dame is one of just three programs in the nation that owns an active streak of that length.
- Ranks among the top 20 active NCAA Division I coaches with 644 career wins (reaching the 600-win milestone on Jan. 19, 2010, at Louisville in her 839th game, at the time tying for 10th-fastest to 600 wins in Division I history) and a .720 all-time winning percentage.
- One of only six coaches in the 124-year history of Fighting Irish athletics to win 500 games at Notre Dame, joining fencing's Michael DeCicco and Yves Auriol, tennis/wrestling coach Tom Fallon and baseball's Jake Kline and Paul Mainieri.
- Far and away the winningest basketball coach (men's or women's) in school history, with noted men's skipper Richard "Digger" Phelps second on that list (393 wins).
- A perfect 100-percent graduation rate for all players entering the program since 1987 who have completed their athletic and academic eligibility at Notre Dame (a spotless 62-for-62 success rate). The Irish have posted a perfect 100-percent NCAA Graduation Success Rate (GSR) score in each of the past four years, and they are one of only five programs in the country to combine a perfect GSR score with a trip to the NCAA Sweet 16 twice within the past three seasons (2008 and 2010).

Add it all up and you have the framework for a Hall of Fame career. And, on July 10, 2010, that's exactly what McGraw became, as she was named to the six-person Women's Basketball Hall of Fame Class of 2011. McGraw officially will become the Hall's first Notre Dame representative when she is inducted during Enshrinement Weekend activities June 10-12, 2011, in Knoxville, Tenn.

Still, with all of those accomplishments in hand, McGraw has shown no signs of slowing down any time soon. In July 2008, the veteran head coach signed a contract extension that will keep her patrolling the Irish sidelines through the 2014-15 campaign.

"For more than 20 years, Muffet has led our program with integrity and passion, and, of course, to much success," said Rev. John I. Jenkins, C.S.C., Notre Dame's president. "As we look forward to many more years together, I am confident that the excellence she has achieved on and off the court will continue."

Under McGraw's guidance, the past 16 seasons (1995-96 to 2010-11) have been the most successful in Notre Dame's history. The Irish have compiled an impressive 397-130 (.753) record, including a sparkling 201-63 (.761) regular-season mark in BIG EAST play, the second-best winning percentage in league history. Notre Dame also has averaged nearly 25 victories per year during that span, with three 30-win seasons and eight 25-win campaigns to its credit. The Irish have won at least one NCAA Tournament game 14 times in the past 16 years, advancing to the Sweet 16 nine times (1997, 1998, 2000, 2001, 2003, 2004, 2008, 2010, 2011), the Final Four three times (1997, 2001 and 2011), the NCAA national championship twice (2001 and 2011) and winning the 2001 NCAA title.

Success for McGraw also has meant coaching great players. During her illustrious career, the Notre Dame skipper has coached 13 All-Americans, including 2001 consensus National Player of the Year Ruth Riley. She also has worked with five players who have been selected for USA Basketball National Teams, with those players going on to win a total of nine medals (highlighted by Riley's gold with the '04 U.S. Olympic Team). In addition, McGraw has coached 24 players who have earned all-conference recognition a total of 51 times, including 18 first-team picks who have been chosen a total of 30 times, and has helped shape several other national award winners, namely two Frances Pomeroy Naismith award recipients (Niele Ivey in 2001, Megan Duffy in 2006) and 2002 United States Basketball Writers Association (USBWA) National Freshman of the Year Jacqueline Batteast.

Another sign of McGraw's success has been her ability to prepare her players for the next level. No less than 21 Notre Dame cagers have gone on to play professionally (domestically or overseas), including nine who either have been drafted or signed as free agents with WNBA teams. The past decade has seen the greatest influx of Irish talent into the WNBA, with seven Notre Dame players having been selected in the league's annual draft since 2001. Four of those players — Riley, Ivey, Kelley Siemon and Erica Haney — were starters on the '01 Irish NCAA championship team, and five of the recent Irish WNBA draftees (Riley, Ivey, Batteast, Duffy and Charel Allen) earned All-America status during their careers at Notre Dame.

Dedicated to helping grow and further the sport in any way possible, McGraw has groomed 10 of her former players and/or assistant coaches who currently are serving as coaches at either the high school or college level. Of those 10 proteges, five presently are Division I head coaches — 1988 Notre Dame graduate Sandy Botham (Wisconsin-Milwaukee), 1997 Notre Dame graduate and the school's all-time leading scorer Beth (Morgan) Cunningham (Virginia Commonwealth), Bill Fennelly (Iowa State), Kevin McGuff (Xavier) and 1991 Notre Dame graduate Coquese Washington (Penn State). McGuff and Washington (along with current Irish associate coach Carol Owens) comprised McGraw's assistant coaching staff on the 2001 Irish NCAA national championship squad, while McGuff and Owens also were on staff for Notre Dame's run to the 1997 NCAA Final Four.

A native of West Chester, Pa., McGraw received her bachelor's degree in sociology from Saint Joseph's University (Pa.) in 1977. Following graduation, she coached for two seasons at Philadelphia's Archbishop Carroll High School (50-3 record) and two more at her alma mater as an assistant coach under Jim Foster (now the head coach at Ohio State). In 1982, McGraw was named head coach at Lehigh University, her teams finishing 88-41 (.683) during her five-year tenure.

McGraw and her husband, Matt, celebrated their 33rd wedding anniversary in 2010 and make their home in Granger, Ind. They are the proud parents of 20-year-old son Murphy, who is a junior at Indiana University.
