ASSISTANT COACHES: Chris Markwood (Maine '05), Ed Kohtala (Maine '81)

University/Coach Info...

Named the 2009-10 America East Coach of the Year by Collegelinsider.com, Ted Woodward returns for his seventh season at the helm of the Black Bears in 2010-11. Under Woodward's leadership, the 2009-10 Black Bears had one of the best seasons in program history.

Maine finished the 2009-10 season with 19 wins, the fourth-most in program history. Included in those wins were victories over the Atlantic Coast Conference's Boston College Eagles and the Fordham Rams from the Atlantic-10. The win over BC was the first in 85 years and the only win for an America East team over an ACC team last season. Maine would finish third in America East, the best finish since the 1999-2000 campaign.

In addition to the Coach of the Year Award, Woodward was named a national finalist for the Skip Prosser Man of the Year Award, given annually to honor recipients who not only achieve success on the basketball court but who display moral integrity off of it as well.

The Black Bears also received votes in the Mid-Major Top-25 Poll for three consecutive weeks, and had five players (Gerald McLemore, Sean McNally, Junior Bernal, Murphy Burnatowski and Andrew Rogers) earn America East postseason awards. In addition, five players (Bernal, Burnatowski, Simon Elias, Terrance Mitchell and Rogers) were named Maine Scholar-Athlete Award winners.

In the 2008-09 season, Woodward led the Black Bears to their best start in 37 years, as they won the season-opening 100 Club Classic hosted by Kennesaw St. and went on to defeat Princeton in overtime. The team also had five players (Jon McAllian, Travon Wilcher, Junior Bernal, Phil Tchekane Bofia and Junior Bernal).

In the 2007-08 season, Woodward led the youngest team in America East to wins over the defending champion Albany Great Danes and eventual champion UMBC. Even more impressive, the Black Bears won at their opponents' home courts. Woodward led the 2006-07 squad to a fourth-place finish in America East and a sixth-place finish the year before, 2005-06.

Woodward led Maine to a fifth-place finish in 2004-05, including a spot in the America East Conference semifinals. He earned his first win as a head coach on Nov. 26, 2004 with a 47-44 win over Rhode Island, and went on that year to a 14-15 overall record with wins over Boston University, Northeastern and Vermont, all postseason teams in either the NCAA or NIT Tournaments.

Woodward has developed a number of Black Bears who have achieved honors both on and off the basketball court. He has had 10 players earn America East All-Conference honors including McLemore, Burnatowski, Bernal, McNally, Kevin Reed (twice), Joe Campbell, Ernest Turner, Olli Ahvenniemi, Philippe Tchekane Bofia, Mark Socoby. Off the court, Woodward has led the Black Bears to achieve tremendous academic success, with many players receiving America East academic honors (Bernal (twice), David Dubois, Olli Ahvenniemi and Andrew Rogers), and Maine Scholar-Athlete Honors (Bernal, Burnatowski, Elias, Mitchell, Rogers, Jordan Cook, Olli Ahvenniemi, David Dubois, Jesse Keith, Chris Markwood, Jason Hight, Tyson Hartnett, and Philippe Tchekane Bofia). In 2005-06, Maine had six players honored as part of the UMaine Scholar-Athlete program, and four others were named to the America East Academic Honor Roll. In 2006-07, the men's basketball team recorded the highest team grade point average in any year since records began being kept in 1988. In addition, the Black Bear basketball program has taken pride in community service with the team taking part in many community service events throughout the year.

Woodward was named the 20th men's basketball head coach in school history on Tuesday, August 31, 2004. Woodward, with 19 years of Division I coaching experience upon his hiring, spent eight seasons as the top assistant coach with the Black Bears prior to being named head coach. He served as associate head coach during the 2003-04 season.

Woodward has been part of a Maine coaching staff that has led the Black Bears to appearances in two America East Championships and the lone pair of 20-win seasons in Maine history.

"We are pleased to name Ted as our next men's basketball head coach," said former Director of Athletics Patrick Nero upon his hiring. "He shares the priorities that we have for our athletic program. He understands the high value we put on education, citizenship and the desire for our student-athletes to excel athletically. Ted joins and strengthens what we feel is already a very strong group of head coaches in our program."

Woodward, 44, spent eight seasons as John Giannini's top assistant and recruiting coordinator. He is respected as an accomplished recruiter and has played a key role in bringing top level talent to Maine. In addition, he has valuable expertise in the technical and administrative aspects of the program. He has an excellent record as a teacher of basketball, as he has worked with five players in his career who have reached the NBA.

Before coming to Maine in 1996, Woodward was the top assistant and recruiting coordinator for Mark Adams at Central Connecticut State for five seasons. During his tenure, CCSU set a Division I era school record for wins. Prior to his stint at Central, Woodward was a full-time assistant and recruiter at Harvard University during the 1989-90 and 1990-91 seasons, where he also served as Director of Athletic Promotions.

He began his coaching career as an assistant at the University of Connecticut under Jim Calhoun from 1986-89. While he was at UConn, the Huskies achieved one of the greatest rebuilding projects in college basketball, culminating with three straight postseason appearances in four years, including the 1988 NIT Championship. Woodward had been recognized by his peers in rivals100hoops.com and TheInsidersHoops.com surveys as one of the top assistants in the country. He also served as a specially invited guest of the Portuguese Basketball Coaches Association at their annual clinic in Lisbon.

In addition to his work with the basketball team at Maine, he was also head coach of the men's golf team from 1997 to 2001.

A native of Suffern, N.Y., Woodward received his bachelor of arts degree in economics from Bucknell in 1986 and his master's in education with an emphasis in sports administration from UConn in 1989. He is married to the former Linda Emery and they have two children, Jillian, 16, and Tommy, 13.
