About BC

- · Boston College finished the 2016-17 season 9-12. The Eagles were selected to finish last in the ACC Preseason Coaches poll this season.
- The Eagles return three players who earned starting time last year sophomore Taylor Ortlepp, sophomore Georgia Pineau and sophomore Emma Guy. All three are expected to play high minutes. Ortlepp has worked on her outside shots, while Pineau can score inside and outside. Guy came into camp as one of the most improved players. A flu-bug has set her progress back a couple of weeks.
- · Freshmen guard Sydney Lowery and freshman forward Milan Bolden-Morris are expected to play significant minutes this season. Lowery will play the off-guard position while Bolden-Morris will go from small forward to guard. Lowery is a slasher with a mid-range game while Bolden-Morris had range and loves to drive to the basket.
- · Senior Marti Mosetti is expected to be the back-up point and off guard. Mosetti has played both over the past three seasons and is more comfortable in the off-quard position. She has been knocking down midrange jumpers in practice and will be looked upon for her experience.
- · Graduate student Andie Anastos, who played hockey at BC, will provide a defensive stopper and leadership for the Eagles young team. She is expected to play at the point and off-guard spot..
- Senior center Katie Quandt is expected to supply minutes off the bench for Pineau and Guy.

OVERALL CAREER RECORD | 139-154

Erik Johnson enters his sixth season as the Head Coach of the women's basketball team at Boston College. Johnson arrived at The Heights following a successful four-year run as head coach at the University of Denver.

This is Johnson's second stint at Boston College. He was an assistant coach with the women's basketball program from 2005-08.

In Johnson's six years at BC, the Eagles are 67-102 overall and 18-67 in the ACC. His overall coaching record is 139-154.

Johnson's 2016-17 finished up the season with a 9-21 record. The Eagles were led by senior guard Kelly Hughes who became the program's all-time leader in three-pointers. Also leading the team was sophomore center Mariella Fasoula. She led the team in points (14.4 ppg.) and rebounds (7.8 rpg.).

In the 2015-16 season, Johnson's team opened the season with a 12-1 run with key wins over Utah and Purdue on the road. The Eagles only loss in that run was to No. 23 ranked Oklahoma at the Junkanoo Jam in the Bahamas. The 2015-16 team finished the season 15-16 and ranked 19th in the country in three-point field goal percentage and 25th in assists per game. The Eagles ranked second in the ACC in three-point field goal percentage, three-point field goal defense, third in scoring defense and fifth in assists.

In Johnson's third season Boston College finished the season at 13-17 overall and 5-11 in the ACC. The Eagles had key wins vs. St. Mary's on the road, along with an upset of then-No. 13 ranked Duke on Jan. 22 at Conte Forum. It marked the first win over a ranked opponent since the 2010 season. It also marked Coach Johnson's second career win over a ranked opponent as his 2011 Denver Pioneer team defeated No. 19 ranked Vanderbilt.

The 2014-15 team set the program record for most three's made in a single season with 250. They finished 11th in the country in three's made and 29th in three-point field goal percentage.

In his second year, Johnson led the Eagles to a 12-19 record. The Eagles posted win s over Providence, FIU and Hartford in non-conference play and ACC victories over Miami, Virginia Tech and Virginia.

Johnson inherited a program that had only won seven games prior to his arrival in 2012-13. In his first season, the Eagles went 12-19 and won five ACC games, including a first round ACC Tournament victory over Virginia.

Under Johnson's guidance, then rookie Nicole Boudreau was named to the All-ACC Rookie team and senior Kerri Shields shot a career-high 40.5 percent from the floor and 38.1 from the three-point line. The team led the ACC and was 44th in the country in free throw percentage. Johnson has produced eight All-Conference/All-Rookie team players while at Boston College and Denver. Ten players have gone on to play professionally while one - Carolyn Swords - plays for the New York Liberty in the WNBA.

In four years at Denver, Johnson's overall record was 72-52 and went 44-24 in the Sun Belt Conferents. His teams finished second in the Sun Belt four consecutive seasons.
