NOTRE DAME

SEASON IN REVIEW

Noriko Nakazaki had a stellar senior season in 2006-07 as she eclipsed her own program mark with a 74.71 scoring average. She also owns the Irish's career scoring mark with a 75.80 average.

A New Era

A new head coach and young squad shows promise for the Irish

A new era for the Notre Dame women's golf program began during the 2006-07 season. Susan Holt was hired on as just the second full-time head coach in program history in August of 2006. The Irish boasted a youthful lineup and a veteran leader that took the squad to the doorstep of the NCAA Tournament.

Holt came to Notre Dame following 13 successful seasons at the University of South Florida. She directed the USF program to 16 team titles and 17 runner-up titles, including five of 10 Conference USA Championships. She has guided the team and/or individuals to 11 NCAA Regional appearances and two consecutive trips to the NCAA Championship Finals in 2001 and 2002. In her first season at Notre Dame, the Irish posted a school-record 305.46 scoring average.

Despite the arrival of a new era, there was one constant for the Fighting Irish in senior co-captain Noriko Nakazaki. Nakazaki concluded her stellar collegiate career owning several school records, including the career scoring average of 75.80. Her 2006-07 average of 74.71 eclipsed her mark of 75.41 from the previous season as the all-time Irish standard. She posted a school record 23 team-leading efforts, which included a school record eight during her freshman and senior campaigns.

Nakazaki also became the first golfer in program history to qualify for NCAA play as an individual entrant. The senior was tabbed to compete in the NCAA Central Regional at the University of Michigan Golf Course in Ann Arbor, Mich. She officially concluded her collegiate career and the 2006-07 season for the Irish as she carded a three-round score of 224 (+11) to place in a tie for 18th and six shots away from qualifying for the NCAA Championship Finals.

Her 54-hole total at the Central Regional marked the top score for any Irish golfer in NCAA competition. She owned the previous record of 230 (+14) at the 2005 Central Regional. Nakazaki also became the first Notre Dame female golfer to participate in three NCAA Tournaments.

The 2006-07 Fighting Irish just missed out on making it to the postseason as a team. Despite the BIG EAST Conference not having an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament until the 2007-08 season, a win at the conference tournament would have gone a long way to assuring Notre Dame a spot in the 2007 national field.

The Fighting Irish led the 2007 BIG EAST Championship after the conclusion of both the first and second rounds. Notre Dame's first-round four-over par total of 292 established a BIG EAST Championship record for any round. Notre Dame entered the third and final round with a three-shot lead over Louisville. The Irish posted a third-round score of 297, while the Cardinals carded a 294 and both teams finished with identical 54-hole totals of 891 (+27), which was the Irish's top score of the season. A sudden-death playoff ensued and Louisville topped Notre Dame by one shot on the first hole to take the conference crown. Despite falling one shot short, Notre Dame exceeded expectations during the three-day event.

"The way we closed out our season with a tie after 54 holes at the BIG EAST Championship, unfortunately losing in the playoff, I don't know the expectations at the beginning of the season were for that kind of possibility," said Holt. "I was extremely excited and encouraged this spring by the amount of progress that was made and by the freshmen first and foremost."

Freshman Annie Brophy paced the Irish at the conference tournament as she carded the team's best three-round score of the season with an even-par 216. In all, four Irish golfers copped all-BIG EAST honors, which matched a school record. Joining Brophy as an all-conference member was Nakazaki with a fifth-place finish along with freshman Julie Kim, who placed eighth, and sophomore Lisa Maunu, who finished in a tie for 10th overall.

There was an indication of good things to come at the BIG EAST tournament as the Irish placed fifth at the Indiana Invitational, which took place two weeks prior at the Crooked Stick Golf Club in Carmel, Ind. At that event, Nakazaki tied for second with a three-over par 147 for the tournament, which was reduced from 54 to 36 holes due to inclement weather. Brophy registered her first top-10 finish of the season as she tied for ninth with a seven-over par 151.

"We had a positive showing at the Indiana tournament," said Holt. "On the 31st hole of the 36-hole event we were in the lead by one shot. We ended up fifth, but we were only nine shots out of first. I think they realized that we can be competitive and we are good. Then they realized the value of every shot and of playing until the end because you just never know. I think they carried that with them and I impressed that upon them when we returned from the Indiana tournament. I think they took the words to heart and they used that as their motivation for conference. It was so fun to see that at conference."

The late-season success should not have come as a big surprise for the Irish. A team that featured three freshmen in the scoring lineup during the entire spring season was gaining confidence in their play. The Irish also welcomed Kim to the lineup after she missed all of the fall season due to an injury.

"Having Julie Kim get healthy for the spring season was a huge boost for the program as far as having a competitiveness that we had amongst ourselves," commented Holt. "Had Julie been in our lineup from day one I think the team, without much hesitation, would have made it to postseason play."

Kim made her presence felt immediately as she and Nakazaki paced the Irish to a 10th-place finish in the first event of the second semester at the Central District Classic. Both Kim and Nakazaki shot 230 (+14), to tie for 30th.

Nakazaki, who led the team in eight of 10 events during the season, posted Notre Dame's top mark at the UNLV Spring Invitational with an eight-over par 224. Kim and Maunu both carded a 13-over par 229 to help the Irish to a 15th-place finish at the event, which was held at the Boulder Creek Golf Club.

Next up was the Betsy Rawls Longhorn Invitational. Nakazaki posted yet another team-leading performance as she tied for sixth overall with a seven-over par 223. Brophy began her late season surge at the event as she tied for 20th with a 233.

"The difference from fall to spring was fun to watch," stated Holt. "We got better and better and better with every tournament."

The success in the spring may have seemed far off when the Irish first teed it up in the fall season at the Cougar Classic in Charleston, S.C. Notre Dame placed 12th out of 18 teams with a 906 (+42) total. Nakazaki carded a four-over par 220 to lead the Irish as she finished in a tie for 14th, while Maunu tied for 20th with a score of 222. The tournament was a unique experience for Holt, who was still coaching South Florida at the event, while Notre Dame assistant coach Kyle Veltri led the Irish.

"Once I had a chance to watch them (Notre Dame) play at their first tournament, when I was coaching South Florida, I really was excited and encouraged by what I saw, especially from the freshmen," said Holt. "I knew Noriko was a good player. I was very familiar with her career at Notre Dame. Lisa had an outstanding freshman season, so I knew that part of the puzzle was in good shape. Really the only question was just the newcomers and how they were going to fit in and what kind of progress they were going to make."

Holt's first official tournament as the Notre Dame mentor came at the Lady Irish Invitational. Notre Dame took second place at the event, which was held at the Warren Golf Course. Nakazaki paced the Irish again as she registered a 230 to tie for eighth. Maunu and Wetzel both tied for 11th with 232 totals.

The Fighting Irish posted their second consecutive runner-up finish by placing second at Kansas' Marilynn Smith Sunflower Invitational with a 931 total. Maunu registered the first team-leading effort of her career as she tied for sixth, which was a career-best finish, with a 13-over par 229. Nakazaki and junior Jane Lee notched Notre Dame's other top-20 finishes as they tied for 19th with 235 totals.

Notre Dame then traveled to the TaylorMade Aztec Fall Classic in Chula Vista, Calif. The Irish tied for fifth at the 36-hole event with a 609 total. Notre Dame's second-round score of 299 marked the first sub-300 round of the season for the Irish. Nakazaki had yet another impressive performance as she placed in a tie for fifth after carding a one-over par 145, which included a one-under par 71 during the tournament's first round. Maunu was second for the Irish with a 10-over 154, while Brophy carded a 155.

In the final event of the fall campaign, Notre Dame tied for eighth at the Edwin Watts/Palmetto Intercollegiate in Kiawah Island, S.C. The highlight of the tournament was the Irish's fall-best round of 296 (+8) during the final 18 holes of play. Nakazaki carded the team's top round of the season with a two-under par 70 during the third round en route to registering her third top-10 finish of the semester as she tied for sixth with a 219 (+3) total.

For her efforts during the season, Nakazaki was awarded the Notre Dame Monogram Club Team MVP, while fellow captain Alejandra Diaz-Calderon, a junior, was the recipient of the team's Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley Rockne Student-Athlete Award.

Brophy finished second on the team with a 77.04 scoring average, which ranks sixth in program history for a single season. Kim was third with a 77.71 average, while Maunu was fourth with a 78.04 mark. Lee's 78.45 average through four events ranked fifth and Wetzel was sixth with a 78.82 average. Senior Stacy Brown registered a 81.91 scoring average through four tournaments.

The 2007-08 campaign looks bright for the Fighting Irish as they will bring in a highly-touted recruiting class to go along with the solid crew of returning student-athletes. Katie Conway and So-Hyun Park comprise the highest-ranked incoming class in the history of the program.

"I think it was a great transition year and the progress that was made was extremely encouraging," stated Holt. "Individual players have made great strides and I'm excited for next year. The freshman class we have coming in is, on paper, the best recruiting class in the history of the men's or women's program. Having them come in at this point of our program is really exciting. The program has the potential to have its best season ever next year."

Kristin Wetzel competed in all 10 team tournaments during her freshman campaign in 2006-07. The Fighting Irish played three freshmen in the five-person scoring lineup during the entire spring season.

NOTRE DAME COACHING STAFF

Head coach

Susan Holt guided the Fighting Irish to a program-record scoring average of 305.46 during her first season at Notre Dame in 2006-07.

Susan Holt

Head Coach
First Year

Ohio State University '88

Susan Holt was introduced as head coach of the University of Notre Dame women's golf program in August of 2006. Holt became the second full-time head coach in the history of the Fighting Irish program and the fourth overall since women's golf became a varsity sport in 1988-89. In her first season at the helm of the Fighting Irish, Holt witnessed her team post a school-record scoring average of 305.46 during the 2006-07 season.

Holt came to Notre Dame from the University of South Florida, where she spent 13 successful seasons guiding the Bulls. In her final season, USF joined the BIG EAST Conference where she led the Bulls to a tie for third, along with the Irish, in their inaugural BIG EAST tournament.

In her first BIG EAST Championship coaching the Irish, Holt steered Notre Dame to a runner-up finish. The Irish tied Louisville with a season-best 891 (+27) total during the 54-hole event. Notre Dame fell to the Cardinals by one stroke in the first hole of a sudden-death playoff. Notre Dame tied a program record by placing four student-athletes on the all-BIG EAST Team with the fine performance at the 2007 BIG EAST Championship.

The showing at the conference tournament was the culmination of hard work displayed by the golfers and coaching staff during the season. Notre Dame produced two runner-up finishes, including one at the Lady Irish Invitational. The other second-place finish occurred at Kansas' Marilynn Smith Sunflower Invitational. The results were even more impressive given the Irish squad featured three freshmen in the five-person scoring lineup during the entire spring semester.

Notre Dame also made history as senior co-captain Noriko Nakazaki became the first team member in program history to qualify for NCAA play as an individual entrant. Nakazaki carded a three-round score of 224 (+11) to place in a tie for 18th at the NCAA Central Regional in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Holt's presence at the helm of the Fighting Irish program has also produced big dividends on the recruiting trail. Notre Dame is bringing in the top recruiting class in program history for the 2007-08 season. Notre Dame's Class of 2011 is comprised of Katie Conway and So-Hyun Park, who are both ranked in the top 25 nationally.

"First and foremost, I was attracted by the opportunity to come to what I believe is the best academic and athletic combination that's out there," says Holt on why she decided to come to Notre Dame following a successful run at South Florida.

"The commitment to the golf program with the course and the new indoor facility makes a statement. As a coach you want to know that you have a chance to be successful and you can tell that's how it is at Notre Dame and it's impressive to see that."

A native of Dayton, Ohio, Holt made a return to the Midwest, where she began her college coaching career at Purdue University, with her hiring at Notre Dame. She was at the helm of the women's golf program at Purdue for four seasons from 1990-93 before taking the position at South Florida.

Holt directed the USF program to 16 team titles and 17 runner-up finishes, including five of 10 Conference USA Championships. She guided the team and/or individuals to 11 NCAA Regional appearances and trips to the NCAA Championship Finals in 2001 and 2002.

Holt's teams at South Florida won at least one tournament in 10 of her 13 seasons and she was recognized as the Conference USA Coach of the Year in 1996, 1999 and 2001. In the spring of 2005, Holt was named Conference USA Coach of the Decade for women's golf (1995-2005). Under Holt's watch, South Florida players were named to the Conference USA All-Conference Team 23 times. Current LPGA player and South Florida graduate Kelly Lagedrost was named Conference USA Player of the Year in 2001. Current South Florida golfer Christina Jones was named Conference USA Freshman of the Year in 2005.

Over the past 12 years Holt's teams have excelled academically as well. Eighteen times, players have been named to the National Golf Coaches Association All-Scholar Golf Team (3.5 grade-point average and play in 66 percent of events) and 18 times have earned the Conference USA

Kyle Veltri

Assistant Coach
Second Year

Saint Mary's College (Ind.) '01

Kyle Veltri completed her second season as the assistant women's golf coach at the University of Notre Dame during the 2006-07 campaign. The Fighting Irish have posted the top two scoring averages in program history during Veltri's brief tenure. Veltri, a 2001 graduate from Saint Mary's College in Notre Dame, Ind., returned to the Notre Dame community when she was hired in August of 2005.

During her second year at Notre Dame, Veltri was an instrumental part with the transition after the hiring of new head coach Susan Holt in August of 2007. Veltri coached the Irish in their first event of the fall season, while Holt was still with her former team at the University of South Florida.

On the season, Veltri helped a young Irish squad that featured three freshmen in the five-person scoring lineup during the spring semester. The team posted impressive numbers, including a program record 305.46 stroke average for the entire 2006-07 campaign.

Notre Dame tied a program record by placing four student-athletes on the all-BIG EAST Team after a fine performance at the 2007 BIG EAST Championship. The Irish were tied with Louisville following the 54-hole event with a season-best 891 (+27) total. Notre Dame fell by one stroke in the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to the Cardinals.

The showing at the conference tournament was the culmination of hard work displayed by the golfers and coaching staff during the season. Notre Dame produced two runner-up finishes, including one at the Lady Irish Invitational. The other second-place finish occurred at Kansas' Marilyn Smith Sunflower Invitational.

Notre Dame also made history as senior co-captain Noriko Nakazaki became the first team member in program history to qualify for NCAA play as an individual entrant. Nakazaki carded a three-round score of 224 (+11) at the NCAA Central Regional in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Veltri has also been a huge factor on the recruiting scene for Notre Dame. She helped the Fighting Irish land the top recruiting class in program history for the 2006-07 period. Notre Dame's Class of 2011 includes Katie Conway and So-Hyun Park, who are both ranked in the top 25 nationally.

In her first season, Veltri helped guide the Fighting Irish to a (then) school record 306.66 scoring average. Notre Dame posted 10 rounds under 300, including a 294 at the Tyson/Embassy Suites Invitational, which is the second-lowest round in school history. The Irish had seven top-five finishes, including a win at the Notre Dame Invitational.

Before her arrival at Notre Dame, Veltri compiled seven years of experience in the golf industry, tracing all the way back to her work at the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's College Nike Golf Camp in 1999 and 2000. At the camp, she introduced golf etiquette, rules and technique to over 50 youths per week. The Clarksburg, W. Va., native also worked at Notre Dame's Warren Golf Course as a golf shop assistant during her time at Saint Mary's.

Following her graduation from Saint Mary's College, Veltri worked for nearly one year at Captain's Choice Golf Services Inc. in Orlando, Fla., where she served as management/tournament coordinator while also working in sales. She managed the company's secondary location along with selling both individual and tournament tee times. Additionally, she planned each tournament including the organization of the golf course, merchandise, food, beverage and location.

During the summers of 2003 and 2004, Veltri served as an instructor/counselor at the Stonewall Resort Nike Golf Camp in Roanoke, W. Va. At the camp, she taught golf etiquette, rules and technique to youths on a daily basis along with supervising campers during day and evening activities.

Prior to coming to Notre Dame, she worked at the Palmer Course at the Stonewall Resort as the assistant golf professional for three years. Her main duties included the coordination of golf tournaments by consulting out-ing groups. She also created marketing plans and traveled to golf shows to promote and market the golf course and resort.

George
Thomas

George Thomas helped found the women's golf program at Notre Dame. Thomas and Tom Hanlon were co-head coaches when women's golf was elevated to varsity status in 1988 and they remained in that role until 1993. Thomas is still actively involved in the Fighting Irish program.

Thomas also served as the Notre Dame men's golf coach from 1989-2001. He was a two-time BIG EAST Coach of the Year while guiding the men. Thomas also was named the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Coach of the Year for the 1988-89 campaign.

As a player, Thomas qualified for the U.S. Open twice (1965, 1976) and the PGA Championship once (1974). He has also appeared in the U.S. Senior Open from 1981-86. The Elkhart, Ind. native was inducted into the Indiana PGA Hall of Fame in 1979-80 and was the Indiana PGA Player of the Year three times (1970, 1973, 1977).

After serving as a B-17 navigator with the Eighth Air Corps during World War II, Thomas accepted a football scholarship to Purdue University. He served as a backup quarterback to All-American Bob DeMoss.

Thomas also was a four-year member of the golf team at Purdue. During his playing days at Purdue, Thomas was a member on the NCAA runner-up squad for the Boilermakers in 1950. He graduated from the Purdue School of Pharmacy and served as a pharmacist for 12 years while playing professionally.

The longtime member of the Notre Dame community earned an honorary monogram from the Notre Dame Monogram Club in 1999.

Tom Hanlon

Tom Hanlon has been involved with the women's program from its days as a club sport through its transition to a varsity sport. He served as co-head coach, along with George Thomas, of the Fighting Irish women's team when they began varsity play in 1988. He and Thomas served in that role until 1993.

Hanlon has been linked with Notre Dame golf since his playing days back in the 1940's. He was a member of Notre Dame's 1944 NCAA championship team. Following the 1944 NCAA competition, Hanlon joined the Navy and served on a cruiser in the Pacific during World War II.

After being discharged at the end of the war, Hanlon returned to Notre Dame and received a Bachelor of Science degree in pre-medicine in 1949. He later received a master's degree in education from Notre Dame in June of 1951 before going on to teach science and math and coach basketball and track at Jefferson School in South Bend.

Hanlon sold the insurance firm of Tom Hanlon and Associates in order to devote his time fully to the varsity golf duties. Hanlon is still actively involved in both the men's and women's programs at Notre Dame.

The date of May 1, 2000, marked the beginning of a new era in the history of Notre Dame golf as the University unveiled the championship-caliber William K. and Natalie O. Warren Golf Course at Notre Dame.

Since its opening date, the course has been hailed as one of the best new courses in America by Golf Digest and has been featured in Links Magazine and Golf Digest as a must-play venue.

Through the generous donation of Notre Dame alumnus and Tulsa, Okla., resident Bill Warren ('56), the University features an impressive 18-hole golf course, located a stone's throw away from the northeast corner of campus. Constructed in a heavily-wooded area, the facility is bordered by Douglas Road to the south, Juniper Road to the west, Ironwood Drive to the east and the Indiana Toll Road to the north.

The course was designed by the Austin, Texas-based architectural team of Coore and Crenshaw, headed by Bill Coore and PGA Tour veteran Ben Crenshaw. Coore began his design and construction career in 1972 with noted course architect Pete Dye and formed his own company in 1982 before joining forces with Crenshaw four years later.

Founded in 1986, Coore and Crenshaw has established a reputation for creating courses based on traditional, strategic golf, including: the Plantation Course at the Kapalua Resort in Maui, Hawaii; Cuscowilla Golf Club in Greensboro, Ga.; Sand Hills Golf Club in Mullen, Neb.; Barton Creek Club in Austin; the New Town Golf Club in Indonesia; Talking Stick in Scottsdale, Ariz.; and the East Hampton Golf Club on Long Island. Sand Hills was recognized by Golf Digest as the nation's "best new private course" when it opened and is now recognized as the "number one modern golf course" by Golfweek magazine.

Coore and Crenshaw also has undertaken several renovation projects, including the Southern Hills Country Club (in Tulsa) and the Prairie Dunes Golf Club (located in Kansas). The firm oversaw nine-hole additions to the Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa and the Onion Creek Country Club in Austin.

The existing Notre Dame Memorial Golf Course, located on the southwest side of campus, served as an 18-hole facility for the Notre Dame community until 1993, when the back nine was lost due to the addition of four campus dormitories and several athletic fields. The 70-year-old University course remains a convenient nine-hole facility available to the campus community.

"After losing the back nine of the existing course, Mr. Warren came forward with an interest in developing a new 18-hole, championship course," said Notre Dame special assistant to the president Rev. E. William Beauchamp, C.S.C.

"It then became apparent that this was a project worth pursuing. Since Mr. Warren was familiar with the team of Coore and Crenshaw through its work in Tulsa, it was a very natural fit.

"We are very grateful for Mr. Warren's generosity," said Beauchamp.

"Such a championship-level course allows our golf teams to be more competitive on a national level. The course is intended to benefit the entire Notre Dame community while still retaining the existing course as a nine-hole facility for instructional purposes."

Course construction began on March 1, 1997, with the first actual phases of dirt movement beginning two months later. Many of the day-to-day tasks were coordinated by the University's department of facility engineering, under the ultimate supervision of associate vice president for business operations Jim Lyphout. The project also was coordinated by former associate athletic director Bubba Cunningham, who had responsibilities for athletic facility and financial affairs at the time.

Final construction was overseen by Doug Marsh, director of the Notre Dame facilities engineering office. Assisting in this monumental task was Butch Layman, a construction administrator in the facilities engineering office.

South Bend-based Rieth Reilly Construction was contracted to handle the movement of approximately 100,000 yards of dirt. Another local company, Ziolkowski Construction, handled construction of the course's buildings and other structures.

Final details of the course were directed by Tom Beck, construction superintendent for Coore and Crenshaw, and his associate Jeff Bradley. Kim Hocker, the now former golf course superintendent of the Warren Golf Course and the existing University golf course, and his dedicated staff added their expertise to the successful finish of the project.

Final construction – completed in the fall of 1999 – included grading and seeding of the driving range, construction of tee areas around the clubhouse, completion of the many strategically-placed bunkers, overseeding of the fairways and roughs, and the defining of the course during the "grow-in" period. A number of trees and ornamental grasses were planted to add finishing touches.

Warren Golf Course Earns Top-15 Ranking From Golf Digest

The University of Notre Dame's Warren Golf Course has been chosen as one of the top 15 college courses in the nation, according to a feature article in the September 2005 issue of Golf Digest. The magazine used a variety of criteria in rating the various layouts, including shot values, resistance to scoring, design variety, memorability, aesthetics, conditioning, ambience and bonus walking points. The Warren Golf Course was ranked 15th in the country and is one of the newest courses on the 2005 Golf Digest list.

The ranking from Golf Digest is only the latest in a series of honors for the Warren Golf Course in its brief history. Here's a partial list of the accolades the Notre Dame layout has received since opening in 2000:

- Golf Digest, 2002 "Places to Play"
- Golfweek, Special Edition: America's Best Courses: State-by-State Ranking of Best Public Access Courses, No. 2 course in Indiana
- Golf Digest, Best New Courses of 2000: No. 5 in Affordable Public Division
- Golf and Travel Magazine, August 2001: 40 Best Daily Fee Courses: No. 33 in United States (only course in the state of Indiana ranked)
- Chicagoland Golf Magazine: Five-star rating (highest)
- Golf Magazine, March 2001: "Top 10 You Can Play" – honorable mention selection (one of only 35 courses in the country chosen)

Warren Golf Course Recognized For Environmental Excellence

The William K. and Natalie O. Warren Golf Course has achieved designation as a "Certified Audobon Cooperative Sanctuary" by the Audobon Cooperative Sanctuary System (ACSS), the educational division of Audobon International.

The Warren Course was the sixth course in Indiana and the 335th in the world to achieve this honor.

"The Warren Golf Course has shown strong commitment to its environmental program. They are to be commended for their efforts to provide sanctuary for wildlife on the golf course property," said Joellen Zeh, staff ecologist for the ACSS.

"To reach certification, a course must demonstrate that they are maintaining a high degree of environmental quality in a number of areas," said Zeh.

"We are extremely proud to be certified Audobon Cooperative Sanctuary," said Kim Hocker, the now former golf course superintendent at the Warren Golf Course. "From the beginning, it was the goal of the University of Notre Dame to create an environmentally-sound golf course. In addition, the overwhelming positive response from golfers and the local community has made our efforts worthwhile."

Brian Godfrey was named the first PGA director of golf and general manager for the Notre Dame Golf Courses in October of 1998. He returned to his hometown of Michigan City, Ind., in January of 2003 to become the General Manager and Head Golf Professional at Long Beach Country Club. Assuming the post of general manager is general manager John Foster. His duties at the Warren Golf Course include overseeing the operation of both courses, in addition to pro shops, club house and driving range management. He coordinates course use to balance and meet the requirements of the varsity golf teams, course members, faculty, staff, students and the public. Foster also maintains the golf facility budgets as well as oversees staff training.

The design of the Warren Golf Course is reminiscent of the classic, walkable Irish and American courses built in the late 1800s and early 1900s, with short distances between the greens and tees. Winding its way through 250 wooded acres, the course incorporates traditional elements of the great golf courses of the early 1900s and – unlike many modern layouts – is built on subtleties rather than special effects.

"Players have been impressed with the design," said Godfrey after the course opened in 2000.

"From the dramatic bunkering to the strategic designs of the greens, it is challenging and enjoyable for golfers of all abilities."

Distinguishing features include: rectangular tee boxes that provide a classic start to each hole; undulating greens of varying shapes constructed in a push-up style that slopes from back to front; false fronts to greens that allow a golfer to run the ball or fly it to the flag; strategically-placed bunkers that visually enhance each hole while challenging players to proceed with caution.

An even more distinguishing – and extremely unusual – characteristic is that there is no par for the course. Like one of the world's most traditional golf courses, Muirfield in Scotland, only the yardage is posted for each hole – allowing players to attack the course from their own perspective and without the preconceived notions inherent to par.

The course runs 6,744 yards from the back tees, 6,346 from the middle and 5,302 from the forward tees. It includes 88 bunkers scattered among the 18 holes, and water comes into play on six holes. The course has bent grass fairways and fescue grass rough, playing surfaces found at some of today's top facilities.

"We maintain the course in a dry and firm manner that will be true to the vision of the architects," said Godfrey.

"Many older courses required the player to have both the ability to run the ball along the ground as well as being able to fly it to the flag. A firmer surface allows for both options."

"This type of maintenance plan also requires fewer chemical applications and less water, which will allow for an environmentally-friendly course."

The designers received full permits to realign the existing Juday Creek that runs through the course and environmental safeguards were a priority in design and construction. A new creek channel was opened, resulting in a complete created habitat. The creek winds through the finishing holes, which are noted for heavy woods and change of elevations – providing a beautiful, challenging completion to the inward nine. Constant monitoring of the creek ensures a healthy and natural environment.

Some 4,400 native hardwood trees and shrubs were planted to increase the stream's canopy cover. Approximately 360 large boulders, along with gravel and logs, were added to the slopes and bed to enhance fish habitat while a permanent sediment trap was installed. A combination of pest management, drainage and filtration techniques minimizes the use and impact of fertilizers and pesticides while 2,200 feet of new shaded stream course were created to relocate the stream from the golf course proper.

Environmental engineers J.F. New & Associates directed these aspects of the project, and Ronald A. Hellenthal, professor of biological sciences at Notre Dame and Gillen Director of its Environmental Research Center, reviewed the plans and continues to monitor the creek.

Two lakes add to the challenge of the course, with one stationed between the third and fourth holes while another provides a hazard from the tee of the 17th hole. Water comes into play with the existing Juday Creek winding through holes 16 and 18 while additional creeks were added on holes 10 and 18. The 7,000-foot clubhouse – designed by Moake-Park Group Inc. of Fort Wayne, Ind., in a French Country style – was completed in June of '99. The building matches the period of the course architecture (early 1900s), with a classic "clinker" style brick exterior. The design is completed by copper cupolas, dormers and trim, a slate roof and an enclosed porch. Brick fireplaces are located on both sides of the building, which welcomes the University community to venture over for lunch, meetings or shopping.

The clubhouse is open to the public and houses some of the finest in men's and women's golf apparel, with both the Warren Golf Course logo as well as traditional Notre Dame merchandise and souvenirs. The Warren Grille, which is operated by Notre Dame Food Services, serves traditional golf course fare as well as speciality items and sandwiches.

The northwest corner of the course showcases the green for the long, 443-yard second hole with the third tee in the distance. Douglas Road intersects with Juniper Road in the background.

The fairway bunkers on the 216-yard 11th hole provide an architectural deception, in that – from the tee – the front bunkers appear to be located on the sides of the green when they, in fact, are 20 yards short of it (bunkers also are located on the sides of the green).

The view from behind the 414-yard eighth hole looks to a green that is rectangular in shape and slopes dramatically from the rear, with an open front that allows either a bump-and-run shot or one that is flown to the green.

The 197-yard 14th is one of Ben Crenshaw's favorite holes on the Warren Golf Course. Noted for its old-Scottish style, the hole includes an elevated green and two bunkers to the right of the green that cannot be seen from the tee (unlike those to the left of the green). The hole is even more scenic when framed by full foliage in the surrounding trees.

This is a look from the fairway of the 436-yard sixth hole. The green is guarded by two trees and has a narrow entrance that is protected by bunkers both left and right. The Starter's Cottage is visible in the right side of the picture.

The 15th green is located just a stone's throw from the clubhouse, yet the building is obscured by a distinctive variety of trees that rim the putting green.

Above is a look from the picturesque tee at the 16th hole. Overlooking Juday Creek from the elevated tee, the hole ascends up and to the left to a tiny, undulating green that is very well protected by classic Coore- and Crenshaw-designed bunkers.

The finishing hole's tee shot (above) must carry the new stretch of Juday Creek and bend left to the green. The entire left side of the 18th fairway is bordered by the bed of the former Juday Creek, which has been filled to form a new stream.

The elevated tee from the longest hole on the course, the 480-yard 17th hole, overlooks a pond to the left and the large bunkers in the bank of the hill, leading to a sharp dogleg-left approach to the green.

The 495-yard 10th hole is another long hole that a big hitter may try to reach in two. Watch out for the creek that runs diagonally across the entire width of the fairway in front of the green.

The eastside back porch of the clubhouse (above) overlooks the finishing holes and welcomes golfers from the nearby 18th green.

The westside entrance to the clubhouse sits beyond the ninth green, which is noted for its back-to-front slope and is surrounded by deceptive and treacherous bunkering.

The ninth hole, as seen from one of the Warren Golf Course's distinctive rectangular tee boxes, is beautifully framed by trees, and the clubhouse is located behind the green.

Varsity Golf Facility

The Robert and Marilyn Rolfs Family All-Season Varsity Golf Facility

(opened Sept. 30, 2006)

A 5,000-square foot indoor short game area, that includes a putting green, chip and pitch area along with a practice bunker allows the student-athletes the ability to practice their short game year-round on campus.

The Robert and Marilyn Rolfs Family All-Season Varsity Golf Facility, which is located at the Warren Golf Course on the northeast corner of the University of Notre Dame campus, opened on Sept. 30, 2006 with a private dedication ceremony. The $2.1 million, 10,333-square foot facility is used by both the Irish men's and women's golf programs.

"We are seeing an immediate impact with recruiting and that will only make our program stronger by bringing in top-level talent. The facility will also allow us to get quality practice time all year round. The putting and chipping areas are extremely nice and very authentic."

— Notre Dame head coach Susan Holt

One of the nicest features of the facility are the six hitting stations that are located within the building that lead out to the Warren Golf Course driving range, allowing players to work on their swings in all weather conditions. Incorporated within the stations is state-of-the-art video equipment to give players and coaches instant feedback on players' swing techniques.

Four offices are located on the east end of the building to accommodate the coaching staffs. A fully furnished lounge is available to members of both teams for studying or relaxing. Another asset for the teams is a club repair room, which is located in the southern wing of the facility.

Each student-athlete has his or her own locker area in their respective locker room.

Fighting Irish women's golf program enters 20th varsity season as strong as ever

A new era for the Notre Dame women's golf program began during the 2006-07 season. Head coach Susan Holt took over the reigns of the Fighting Irish in August of 2006 and guided a young squad to the brink of the NCAA Tournament. Holt came to Notre Dame from the University of South Florida, where she had spent 13 successful seasons as the head coach of the Bulls.

The Irish showed dramatic improvement during Holt's first season. The team produced some of their best numbers in the season finale at the BIG EAST Championship. Notre Dame was tied with Louisville after the 54-hole tournament and the event went to a sudden-death playoff. The Cardinals topped the Irish by one shot on the first playoff hole to take the conference title, yet a valiant effort was given by the Irish during the three-day event.

The season produced the program's top single-season scoring average of 305.46, which eclipsed the old mark of 306.66 from the previous campaign. Noriko Nakazaki concluded her distinguished Notre Dame career as the leader in career scoring average with a mark of 75.73. Her 2006-07 stroke average of 74.71 is the best in school history. She topped her old standard of 75.41, which was set in 2005-06. She also became the first golfer in program history to qualify for postseason play as an individual entrant. She placed in a tie for 18th at the NCAA Central Regional in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Nakazaki also became the first Irish female golfer to earn a fourth all-BIG EAST honor as she placed fifth in the conference tournament. Leading the way at the BIG EAST was freshman Annie Brophy, who placed third. Freshman Julie Kim and sophomore Lisa Maunu also earned all-BIG EAST honors to give the Irish four nods, which tied a program record.

During Holt's first semester, she guided the Irish to runner-up finishes in back-to-back events. Notre Dame placed second at its own Lady Irish Invitational as Nakazaki tied for eighth overall. The next tournament was the Marilyn Smith Sunflower Invitational in Lawrence, Kansas and the Irish finished second with Maunu leading the way as she tied for sixth.

The 2006-07 season also marked a new era in another way as the Robert and Marilyn Rolfs Family All-Season Varsity Golf Facility opened in September of 2006. The $2.1 million, 10,333-square foot facility houses the offices for both the men's and women's coaching staffs and features a lounge area and separate locker rooms for both squads. A 5,000-square foot indoor short game area, that includes a putting green, chip and pitch area along with a practice bunker will allow the student-athletes the ability to practice their short game year-round on campus. One of the nicest features of the facility are the six hitting stations that are located within the building that lead out to the Warren Golf Course driving range, allowing players to work on their swings in all weather conditions. Incorporated within the stations is state-of-the-art video equipment to give players and coaches instant feedback on players' swing techniques.

Notre Dame began a rapid elevation in play with the hiring of former Memphis head coach Debby King in August of 2001. The increase of scholarship money along with a state-of-the-art home golf course and the indoor golf facility have also helped the program reach new heights.

The program began in 1988-89 under the direction of men's golf coach George Thomas and Tom Hanlon, a member of Notre Dame's 1944 NCAA championship golf team. Under Thomas, Hanlon and Ross Smith, who guided the women's program for eight seasons from 1993 through 2001, the Irish women have risen through the national ranks – earning the program's highest national ranking of 18th in the fall of 2004.

The 1989-90 season brought the arrival of Kathy Phares, who would lead the program over the next four years en route to 17 team-leading finishes. Phares captured medalist honors at the Indianapolis Invitational and helped the Irish continue to build a foundation as the program headed into the 1990s.

Senior Roberta Bryer, Phares and junior Allison Wojnas were among the leading players in 1990-91 while promising freshmen Crissy Klein and Alicia Murray joined the fold as well that season.

The Irish continued to improve in 1991-92, posting a four-player stroke average of 333.83, on the strength of Phares (82.90) and Wojnas (83.29).

In '92-'93, the Irish were guided by Phares (82.19) and an 83.32 from newcomer Julie Melby. Two other freshmen, Katie Shannon and Katy Cooper, provided the Irish with a promising top-six group of players.

The 1993-94 Irish were paced by Murray, who posted an 80.68 stroke average, which would hold up as the top season average until 1996-97.

Notre Dame headed into the seventh year of the program in 1994-95 with a returning nucleus of Shannon, Melby and Cooper, while welcoming a freshmen class that would produce four-year regulars Katie King, Tracy Melby and Kristin Schaner. The team set a (then) season stroke-average record, 328.92, with an 81.77 and 82.42 from Shannon and King, respectively.

The 1997-98 season proved to be the best in the program's first 10 years. King (81.42) and Melby (81.78) finished atop Notre Dame's career stroke-average list while leading the team to a then-Irish record 319.83 stroke average.

The '98-'99 and '99-'00 seasons were highlighted by the play of Andrea Klee, Mary Klein and Shane Smith. Klee closed out her career with an 83.91 career stroke average. Klein, who played just three seasons, finished her career with an 82.17 mark.

Smith closed out her career during 2000-01, finishing at that time with the best career average (81.64) and the second-best single-season average (79.87). She also led Notre Dame to three tournament titles, while contributing to a team average of 323.26.

The 2001-02 season, King's first as head coach, saw freshman Karen Lotta come on the scene. She would go on to be a valuable member of the program during her career, which included a co-medalist finish at the 2005 BIG EAST Championship. Lotta also owns the program's low-round record with a four-under par 68 at the 2004 Notre Dame Invitational.

In 2002-03, an outstanding freshmen class, along with strong play from the upperclassmen, led the Irish squad to the greatest season in Notre Dame women's golf history to that point.

Katie Brophy, one of five freshman on the team, made an immediate impact on the program, finishing the campaign as Notre Dame's top golfer with a record-setting 78.44 average. Brophy became the first Irish golfer ever to win two tournaments, let alone in one season, coming away with medalist honors at the Peggy Kirk Bell Invitational and co-medalist honors at the inaugural BIG EAST Championship.

In 2003-04, the emergence of Nakazaki, a freshman, along with the continued solid play of Brophy guided the Irish to the program's first NCAA Tournament appearance.

Notre Dame also captured its second straight BIG EAST Conference title as Nakazaki placed third and Brophy fourth, while Lotta joined them as an all-BIG EAST member with a seventh-place showing. The Fighting Irish totaled four team titles during the 2003-04 campaign, including three crowns during the fall season.

Nakazaki was the team's top-finisher in eight of the 13 tournaments, including a 17th-place showing at the NCAA Central Regional. Her stroke average of 76.33 and low-round score of a three-under par 69 also were tops on the squad.

Coming off of the school's first-ever NCAA berth, the 2004-05 Notre Dame women's golf team matched expectations by returning to the Central Regional. The Fighting Irish claimed arguably the biggest win in program history during the fall portion of the 2004-05 campaign. Notre Dame won the Jeannine McHaney Invitational/Central Regional Preview at the Jerry S. Rawls Golf Course in Lubbock, Texas, the site of the 2005 NCAA Central Regional. Brophy took home the individual crown at the event to secure her third career medalist finish, which is a program record.

In April of 2005, Notre Dame hosted its third straight BIG EAST Championship at the Warren Golf Course. The course, which opened on May 1, 2000 is a beautiful facility for the Fighting Irish women's golf program within walking distance of the main campus.

Notre Dame concluded the '04-'05 season by finishing 18 shots better at the Central Regional than the previous trip. For the year, Brophy led the team with a 76.46 stroke average and the Irish captured a school-record four medalist finishes by four different student-athletes.

The Fighting Irish were denied a third straight trip to the postseason in 2005-06, however a solid campaign was still produced as the Irish registered three top-two finishes on the year. The squad opened the season by winning the Notre Dame Invitational. Nakazaki earned co-medalist honors at the home event. The fall season also witnessed the Irish post a runner-up finish at the Tyson/Embassy Suites Invitational in Rogers, Ark. Brophy and Nakazaki placed eighth and ninth, respectively, to lead the charge. A few weeks later, the Fighting Irish finished second at the Lady Jaguar Invitational in Augusta, Georgia. Nakazaki was the runner-up, while Maunu collected the second top-10 finish of her first semester.

The spring of 2006 saw the Irish tie for third at the BIG EAST Championship. Nakazaki was the runner-up in the tournament to collect her third straight all-conference accolade. In her final collegiate tournament, Brophy finished in a tie for seventh to earn her third all-BIG EAST honor and end her career with a 77.42 scoring average, which ranks second in school history. For the season, Nakazaki had a team-best 75.41 stroke average. That was the top mark in program history until she bested it as a senior.

Following the success under Holt during the 2006-07 season, the Fighting Irish have their sights set on even bigger and better things in the future. A young but experienced core will combine with a stellar recruiting class that will take to the course in the fall of 2007. The Irish are poised to get the program back atop the BIG EAST Conference and into the NCAA Tournament, once again. Beginning in the spring of 2008, the champion of the BIG EAST will be given an automatic postseason bid. All things point to a continued level of prosperity for the Fighting Irish women's golf program as it enters its 20th season of varsity competition.

A Tradition of Excellence in Academics, Spirituality, Athletics

“Early on when I was invited to serve the University of Notre Dame, we talked about the goal of having every one of our varsity athletics teams achieve a top five national ranking – and every day we come closer to making that goal a reality.”

- Dr. Kevin M. White,
Director of Athletics

Since Knute was at the helm, the Department of Athletics has played an undeniable role in Notre Dame's visibility, its unique place in the hearts of those around the world, and – ultimately – its climb to the top ranks of academic institutions.

It is the challenge to continue to play that role, fulfill those lofty goals, reflect its Catholic heritage, educate future world leaders and, particularly, find the means to fund those undertakings that faces Our Lady's University today.

Simply put, we want it all. We want Irish athletics to continue to be a source of revenue for the academy, but we also want to be the home of the model intercollegiate athletics program. We want to be the unsurpassed leader in academic performance and fiscal responsibility. And we want to do it the right way, the Notre Dame way, which demands the highest level of integrity on and off the field.

With the help of the Notre Dame family – alumni, parents and friends – all things are possible.

How to make a gift:

- Send a check made payable to the University of Notre Dame to the address below.
- Specify if your employer has a matching gift program.
- Notre Dame employees may request a payroll deduction form.

Shane Smith's 2000-01 stroke average of 79.87 made her just the second Fighting Irish golfer to record a season average under 80. Katie King was first to do so with a 79.50 average in 1997-98.

Notre Dame captured the first-ever BIG EAST Conference Women's Golf Championship in 2003 by topping runner-up Miami by 44 shots. Freshman Katie Brophy (third from left) was a co-medalist at the tournament, which was held at Notre Dame's Warren Golf Course.

Notre Dame's founding can perhaps best be characterized as an outburst of missionary zeal. How else can one describe the action of Father Edward Sorin, the 28-year-old French priest of the Congregation of Holy Cross who — with $310 cash and three log buildings in various stages of disrepair in the middle of the northern Indiana frontier — had the temerity to christen his enterprise the University of Notre Dame du Lac?

Notre Dame at its founding was a name in search of, or perhaps in anticipation of, a university. The wonder is not so much what the University become more than a century and a half later, but that it survived at all in those early years of beginning almost literally from nothing.

In his book, The University of Notre Dame: A Portrait of Its History and Campus, historian Thomas Schlereth of the American studies department has described the odds the University was up against: "Only nine other Catholic colleges existed when Notre Dame was founded, but that number had grown to 51 by 1861. Presently only seven of these antebellum institutions still exist. One historian estimates a mortality rate of approximately 80 percent among Notre Dame's contemporary secular institutions. Yet Notre Dame survived ..."

The University's survival of those early years is a tribute not only to the faith of Father Sorin, but also to his pragmatism and wit. In the beginning, his institution's only admissions requirement was the ability to pay — some payment, at least, and not necessarily in currency or coin; livestock or the services of a tradesman or some other "in-kind" payment also were cheerfully accepted. Nor were admissions limited by religious preference. Father Sorin's mission and inspiration were thoroughly and indisputably Catholic, but from the beginning he made it clear that would-be students of any religious persuasion were welcome; indeed, the fact that Notre Dame's student body eventually would become overwhelmingly Catholic was more a reflection of American culture than of parochialism on the University's part.

Sorin was equally flexible when it came to his University's academic offerings. While a classical collegiate curriculum was established early on, so too were elementary and preparatory programs as well as a manual-labor school, and for several decades the collegiate program never attracted more than a dozen students in any year. As Notre Dame's chronicler, Father Arthur Hope, C.S.C., has written, "If (Sorin) was to begin at all, the head of this new college had to be mightily concerned about frostbite and empty stomachs. The more elusive problems of intellectual development would have to wait."

If Notre Dame in its infancy was the child of Sorin's vision and will, its subsequent growth and development were the products of large and powerful social and historical forces. Just as the University was being established, the first waves of European immigrants, overwhelmingly Catholic, were reaching America's shores, and Notre Dame's location — though seemingly remote — in fact put it within easy reach of cities like Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, all of which soon would have large immigrant Catholic populations. The immigrant experience and the growth of the University of Notre Dame would be inextricably linked.

A number of forces were at work in this relationship. The "American Dream" was coming into being, and with it the hope and expectation that, through hard work and education, children would enjoy greater opportunities than their parents. At the same time, anti-immigrant and anti-Catholic sentiments were open and pervasive in American society, creating barriers to immigrant Catholic students. Equally strong sentiments among many Catholics regarded public schools at any level as dangerous places where young people might lose their faith. For all these reasons, education — primary, secondary and higher education — became a centerpiece of American Catholicism.

Though it may not have seemed so at the time, this great historical movement of peoples and the creation of the American melting pot dramatically enhanced the odds of Notre Dame's survival. What still had to be decided, however, was precisely the type of institution Notre Dame would become. How could this small Midwestern school without endowment and without ranks of well-to-do alumni hope to compete with firmly-established private universities and public-supported state institutions? As in Sorin's day, the fact that the University pursued this lofty and ambitious vision of its future was testimony to the faith of its leaders — men such as Father John Zahm, C.S.C.

As Schlereth describes it: "Zahm ... envisioned Notre Dame as potentially 'the intellectual center of the American West'; an institution with large undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools equipped with laboratories, libraries, and research facilities. Notre Dame should strive to become the University that its charter claimed it was."

Zahm was not without evidence to support his faith in Notre Dame's potential. On this campus in 1899, a young Notre Dame scientist by the name of Jerome Green became the first American to transmit a wireless message. At about the same time, Albert Zahm, Father John's younger brother, was designing the first successful helicopter and first wind tunnel while also launching the first man-carrying glider from the roof of a campus building. The University also had established the nation's first architecture, law and engineering schools under Catholic auspices.

The debate over Notre Dame's future effectively was ended in the two decades following the First World War. In 1919, the University installed its first president to have earned a Ph.D., Father James Burns, C.S.C., and the changes he initiated were as dramatic as they were far-reaching. The elementary, preparatory and manual-labor programs were scrapped; the University's first board of lay advisors was established with the goal of creating a $1-million endowment, with a national campaign conducted to achieve that goal; and the first annual giving program for alumni was launched. With this impetus established, the period between 1919 and 1933 would see the University would erect 15 new buildings and triple the numbers of both its students and its faculty.

A new and utterly unanticipated element was added to the ethos of Notre Damed uring this period, and the University forever after would be a national institution. That new element was, of course, the game of football. But for Notre Dame and for its legions of ethnic American loyalists — most, but not all, Catholic — the cliché was true: football was more than a game. Through its academic program, Notre Dame already was part of the striving of ethnic Americans to earn a place in the American mainstream. But in this golden era, even for those who had never and would never attend Notre Dame, the University became a symbol, so much so that its attraction persists literally to this day.

The national recognition that football brought to Notre Dame was a mixed blessing at those times when it tended to overshadow the University's growing academic distinction, but overall it has been an almost incalculable boon to public awareness of, interest in, and support of Notre Dame. It may be amusing to speculate how the University's history might have been different without the phenomenon of football, but the University is happy to accept this legacy as is.

If the post-World War I era saw Notre Dame's first flowering as a true University, the six decades since the Second World War have seen the vision of John Zahm reach full fruition. Father John Cavanaugh, C.S.C., began the process after the war by toughening Notre Dame's entrance requirements, increasing faculty hiring, and establishing the Notre Dame Foundation to expand the University's development capabilities. Then, during the 35-year tenure of Father Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., Notre Dame's enrollment, faculty and degrees awarded all doubled; library volumes increased five-fold; endowment catapulted from less than $10 million to more than $400 million; campus physical facilities grew from 48 to 88 buildings; faculty compensation increased ten-fold; and research funding grew more than twenty-fold. In addition, two defining moments occurred during this period: the transference of University governance in 1967 from the Congregation of Holy Cross to a predominantly lay board of trustees and the admission of women to undergraduate studies in 1972.

During the 18-year presidency of Father Edward Malloy, C.S.C., the University continued to grow in stature. Endowed faculty positions rose to more than 190, the student body became — and remains — one of the most selective in the nation (with one-third of entering freshmen ranking among the top five students in their high school graduating classes), and the graduation rate annually in the top five in the nation. The University's endowment of some $4 billion is among the top 20 in American higher education, and campus additions during the Malloy years included new research laboratories, a graduate student housing complex, residence halls for undergraduate women (who now compose 47 percent of the student body), the 84-classroom DeBartolo Hall, the Mendoza College of Business, the DeBartolo Center for the Performing Arts, and the new Jordan Hall of Science.

Father John I. Jenkins, C.S.C., who became Notre Dame's 17th president in July of 2005, has challenged his administration and the faculty, students, alumni and friends of the University to, in words from his inaugural speech, "build a Notre Dame that is bigger and better than ever — a great Catholic university for the 21st century, one of the pre-eminent research institutions in the world, a center for learning whose intellectual and religious traditions converge to make it a healing, unifying, enlightening force for a world deeply in need. This is our goal. let no one ever again say that we dreamed too small."

Some goals are self-evident. The University must strive at all times to bring new vigor to its teaching and to enhance both the breadth and the depth of the education it offers students. At the same time, it must strengthen significantly its graduate programs and faculty research to make ever-greater contributions in the quest for new knowledge.

But the institutional mission of Notre Dame reaches beyond these goals.

The higher aspiration of the University of Notre Dame is to seek out and assume leadership roles through which students and alumni, faculty, interdisciplinary institutes, and professional programs can bring their accomplishments to bear on the most basic and pressing needs of humanity — for peace and social justice, for human rights and dignity, for ethical conduct in business, science and the professions, for a renewal of values in interpersonal and societal relationships, and for a more-enlightened stewardship of the environment, to name but a few of the challenges.

This aspiration is incumbent upon Notre Dame as a Catholic university. Today, as throughout its history, Notre Dame's position in American culture mirrors that of the Catholic Church. The world is very different from the one encountered by Father Sorin on his arrival in this country. The tangible barriers faced then by Catholic students and scholars have largely been removed, and today one may find such students and scholars at Harvard and Stanford and Duke, as well as at Notre Dame. American Catholics are firmly implanted in the American mainstream.

At the same time, the secularization of contemporary American society is an undisputed fact, and with that transformation has come a weakening of common values, an antipathy to belief, and a resistance to the very notion of underlying truths. One expression of this viewpoint is the contention that a Catholic university is a contradiction in terms, that reason and belief are somehow mutually exclusive. The Catholic intellectual tradition and the Western university tradition itself stand in opposition to this contention, as does Notre Dame.

It is a telling act that throughout Notre Dame's history, and increasingly in recent years, many eminent scholars of various faith traditions have made the University their home simply because they have preferred to work in a community of learning where belief is not merely tolerated, but in fact is celebrated.

Father Sorin's dream was predicated on his conviction that a university would be a powerful force for good in this land that he embraced as his own. For the University of Notre Dame, Sorin's conviction remains the inspiration, the mission and the driving force.

Kevin White, one of the most progressive and talented administrators in the intercollegiate athletics ranks, quickly attached his signature as director of athletics at the University of Notre Dame. His initial six years in that position qualify as the most successful across-the-board years in the history of athletics at Notre Dame – and the 2005-06 season included the most impressive list of accomplishments in Irish sports annals.

In addition, he has been cast in a handful of prominent national roles within collegiate athletics – including his ongoing representation with the Bowl Championship Series, his service in 2005-06 as president of the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association, and as first vice president in 2006-07 of NACDA, the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

White was named the 2006 GeneralSports TURF Systems Division I-A Central Region Athletic Director of the Year – thanks to Notre Dame's best-ever sixth-place finish in the NACDA Cup competition, its 44 All-Americans, 14 Academic All-Americans, five combination All-American/Academic All-Americans and 13 BIG EAST Conference titles, all Irish records.

Twenty-four (of 26) Notre Dame programs qualified teams or individual for postseason play in 2005-06, 16 teams finished in national top-25 rankings, nine finished in the top 10, six ended up in the top 10 in NCAA competition and four achieved top-four NCAA finishes (men's and women's fencing, women's lacrosse, men's cross country). Three Notre Dame head coaches received national coach-of-the-year recognition in 2005-06 – Charlie Weis in football, Jay Louderback in women's tennis and Tracy Coyne in women's lacrosse.

A career educator and one of the most respected athletic administrators in the nation, White previously had been athletic director at Arizona State University, Tulane University, the University of Maine, and Loras College. He brought a combined 18 years (1982-83 to 1999-2000) of experience in those positions with him to his assignment at Notre Dame.

Appointed on March 13, 2000, White became the first Notre Dame athletic director to report directly to the University's president. After agreeing to an original five-year contract as well as a five-year extension, White in December 2002 saw his commitment extended an additional two years to 2012.

White's first six years at Notre Dame from 2000-01 through 2005-06 saw unprecedented achievement on Irish fields of play:

- Notre Dame finished 11th, 13th, 13th, 19th, 16th, then a program-best sixth (in 2005-06), respectively, in the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) Directors' Cup (formerly sponsored by Sears) all-sports ratings in those six years, accounting for its best-ever six-year run in that competition.
- Irish teams have achieved number-one national rankings 11 times during his years at Notre Dame – women's basketball in 2000-01; baseball in '01; men's fencing in '00, '02 and '03; women's fencing in '04, '05 and '06; and women's soccer in '00, '04 and '05

- The Irish claimed the '01 national championship in women's basketball; the '03 and '05 NCAA titles in fencing (a men's and women's combined championship); the '04 crown in women's soccer; third-place finishes in fencing in '01, '02 and '04, in women's cross country in '03, and in men's cross country in '05; national semifinal appearances in women's soccer in '00 and men's lacrosse in '01, and a College World Series appearance in baseball in 2002.

- Notre Dame has seen its number of athletes earning All-America honors improve annually – to a record 44 in 2005-06, with five of those 44 also earning Academic All-America recognition.

- Notre Dame's record-setting 2005-06 season saw 24 of 26 programs send teams or individuals to postseason play.

Sixteen of a possible 22 teams earned national rankings in 2000-01, including 10 that achieved the highest rating in the history of the program. In 2001-02, 20 of 26 teams qualified for NCAA competition. In 2002-03, 13 sports managed top 25 national finishes – and 17 advanced to postseason competition. In 2003-04, an unprecedented 22 teams qualified for NCAA competition, including two (hockey and women's golf) that accomplished that for the first time and a third (men's golf) that made the field for the first time in 38 years. Twenty Irish squads in 2004-05 advanced teams or individuals to NCAA play.

- Notre Dame in 2002 was the only school in the country to qualify all six of its teams – men's and women's soccer, men's and women's cross country, volleyball and football – for fall NCAA tournament competition (or, in the case of football, a bowl game). Notre Dame and Texas were the only schools in 2002-03 to play in football bowl games and have both their men's and women's basketball squads advance to the NCAA Sweet 16 round. In 2005, Notre Dame was the only school to win at least twice in both NCAA soccer tournaments and in the NCAA volleyball championship (men's soccer and volleyball won twice, women's soccer had three NCAA wins). Notre Dame, Penn State and California were the only schools to win at least once in those three 2005 NCAA tournaments and also play in a Division I football bowl game.
- Notre Dame won the BIG EAST Conference Commissioner's Trophy for overall athletic success in league play in 2001, '02 and '03 for both men and women (the trophy was no longer awarded after 2003) – and the Irish annually lead the league in conference titles, including a record 13 in 2005-06.

His initial six years on the job at Notre Dame featured a handful of other noteworthy accomplishments:

- He helped the Irish athletic program toward its goal of becoming a top-five program in the NACDA Directors' Cup competition by championing the University's plan to add 64 grants-in-aid over a four-year span (that goal was announced in December 2000), in order to give all 26 varsity sports the full NCAA complement of scholarships.
- He emphasized the need to remain competitive on the facilities front by commissioning a facilities master plan that now provides a long-term plan for upgrading Notre Dame's athletic physical plant. The first facility from that plan opened in 2005, with the addition of the Guglielmino Athletics Complex that provides a new day-to-day home for the Irish football program as well as enhanced space for training, sports medicine, equipment, and strength and conditioning for all Notre Dame student-athletes. Slated for completion in fall 2006 is the 10,500-square foot Robert and Marilyn Rolfs Family All-Season Varsity Golf Facility that will serve as the new home of the Notre Dame men's and women's golf teams.
- On the academic front, Irish student-athletes enjoyed their most productive year ever in the classroom in 2005-06 – as for the first time in the 2005 fall semester and the 2006 spring semester, every one of Notre Dame's programs achieved at least a 3.0 grade-point average. A Notre Dame record 14 individuals claimed Academic All-America notice in 2005-06.
- The American Football Coaches Association awarded its Academic Achievement Award for 2001 to Notre Dame based on its 100 percent graduation for entering freshmen from 1995. The University received a 2002 USA Today/NCAA Academic Achievement Award for graduating 90 percent of its student-athletes who enrolled in 1995 – and it also received the 2003 award for highest overall student-athlete graduation rate (92 percent of those who enrolled in 1996). When the NCAA first issued its Academic Performance Rate numbers in 2005, Irish teams excelled, with 13 of them earning a perfect 1,000 score.

- Sixteen of 20 athletics programs at Notre Dame compiled graduation rates of 100 percent, and none were below 90 percent, according to the new Graduation Success Rate measurement developed by the NCAA and announced in December 2005. NCAA figures showed that, among Notre Dame's men's sports, baseball, cross country/track, fencing, ice hockey, soccer, swimming and tennis achieved 100 percent GSR scores. Football scored 96 percent, golf was 92 percent and basketball was 90 percent (lacrosse was not included because the program did not offer grants in aid during the years covered in the survey). Irish women's programs with GSR rates of 100 percent were basketball, cross country/track, fencing, golf, lacrosse, softball, swimming, tennis and volleyball. Soccer scored a 94 percent GSR.
- Among the 119 NCAA Division I-A institutions listed in those December 2005 standings, Notre Dame had the highest percentage of its sports with 100 percent GSR scores, with an .800 figure (16 of 20). In football, Notre Dame achieved a 96 GSR rating, with only the United States Naval Academy (at 98) ranking higher among the Division I-A schools. And, when the final 2005 USA Today football poll of coaches was re-ranked by football GSR score, Notre Dame (11th in the actual poll) finished first in that tabulation at 96, just ahead of Clemson at 94 (21st in actual poll).
- The NCAA Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association gave one of its four 2000 awards of excellence to Notre Dame's CHAMPS/Life Skills Program
- He assured long-term consistency in the Irish coaching ranks by signing Notre Dame head coaches to multi-year contracts – with all assistant coaches and administrators signing contracts for the first time starting in 2001-02.
- He renewed in 2003 Notre Dame's NBC Sports contract for televising of home football games for five more years (2006-10 for that renewal, extending the relationship to 20 years) and its Westwood One contract for football radio broadcasts for five more years beginning in 2003.
- He oversaw the University's NCAA re-certification process in 2004 as Notre Dame went through that self-study and peer review process for the first time since 1997. The University's athletic program was recertified without conditions, with the committee noting that Notre Dame is "committed to academic success of its student-athletes and demonstrates this by requiring three more core courses than what is required by the NCAA," that Notre Dame "student-athletes are quite satisfied with quantity and quality of academic support and attribute much of the success around graduation rates to this service," and that Notre Dame has "affirmed and demonstrated its commitment to fair and equitable treatment" of male, female and minority student-athletes.

In addition to the varsity athletic component, White's assignment at Notre Dame also includes administration of a comprehensive intramural, club sport and campus recreation program, with 94 percent of the student body participating. Sports Illustrated On Campus rated the Irish intramural program tops in the nation in '04.

With a Ph.D. in education, White has taught graduate-level classes beginning in 1982-83 with his tenure at Loras, including currently as a concurrent associate professor in the management department of the Mendoza College of Business as part of Notre Dame's MBA program during spring semesters (he teaches a sports business course).

White has served on numerous NCAA committees, including the NCAA Council, formerly the association's highest governing body. In addition to his current role with the BCS, he previously was a member of the Rose Bowl Management Committee while at Arizona State, was an ex-officio member of the Sugar Bowl Committee during his tenure at Tulane and also worked closely with the Fiesta Bowl during his stay in Tempe.

In December, 2004, White was named the 15th most influential individual in collegiate sports by Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal. He has been a member of the NCAA Coalition on Intercollegiate Athletics (COIA) that deals with academics, fiscal reform and student-athlete well-being. He also was an ex-officio member of the NCAA Committee on Academic Performance and a member of its Penalty and Rewards subcommittee.

White has served as mentor for an impressive list of senior level athletic administrators who have worked for him, then gone on to become directors of athletics - including Jim Sterk of Washington State, Tom Boeh of Ohio University and currently Fresno State, Ian McCaw of Northeastern, Massachusetts and currently Baylor, Bruce Van De Velde previously of Iowa State, Herman Frazier of Hawaii, Rudy Keeling of Emerson, Scott Devine of St. Mary's College (Md.), Tim Van Alstine of Western Illinois, Mark Wilson of Tennessee Tech, Bubba Cunningham of Ball State and currently Tulsa, Sandy Barbour (who followed him at Tulane) of California-Berkeley, Jim Phillips of Northern Illinois, Bernard Muir of Georgetown, Sandy Hatfield Clubb of Drake, Vic Cegles of Long Beach State and Norwood Teague of Virginia Commonwealth.

White has his own weekly, hour-long radio show in Chicago – and he has a pre-game segment on Westwood One's radio broadcasts of Notre Dame football games.

During his coaching career, White served as head track and field coach at Southeast Missouri State (1981-82) and assistant cross country and track and field coach at Central Michigan (1976-80). He began his coaching career at Gulf High School in New Port Richey, Fla., coaching cross country and track and assisting in football and wrestling. White also spent a year (1980-81) as district administrator for athletics and special projects for the Mt. Morris Consolidated School District in Mt. Morris, Mich. During his tenure at Loras, he originated the National Catholic Basketball Tournament.

Born Sept. 25, 1950, in Amityville, N.Y., White earned his Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University in 1983 with an emphasis on higher education administration (his dissertation title was An Appraisal of the Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Programs, and the Relationship to Men's Athletics at the Big Ten Conference Institutions Before and After Title IX Implementation). In 1985 he completed postdoctoral work at Harvard University's Institute for Educational Management. He earned his master's degree in athletics administration from Central Michigan University in 1976 and his bachelor's degree in business administration in 1972 from St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Ind., where he also competed as a sprinter in track and field. He was awarded St. Joseph's Alumni Achievement Award in 1997, and he's currently a member of the Loras College Board of Regents. He was a 2006 inductee into the Suffolk County (Long Island, N.Y.) Sports Hall of Fame

White also attended the University of South Florida and St. Leo College in Tampa, Fla., between 1972 and '76 – and he took 60 hours of advanced graduate courses in higher education administration at Michigan State University between 1977 and '80.

White's wife, Jane, earned a bachelor's degree from St. Joseph's in 1973 and a master's degree in physical education from Central Michigan in 1977. She also served as head track and field coach at Central Michigan. White and his wife both received honorary degrees from St. Joseph's in 2001.

The couple have five children – Maureen, who completed a master of fine arts degree at Arizona State in 2000 and currently teaches at Notre Dame Prep School in Scottsdale, Ariz.; Michael, a University of Mississippi graduate and four-year starter at point guard for the Ole Miss basketball team and now an assistant basketball coach at his alma mater (after a stint at Jacksonville State University in Alabama); Daniel, a University of Notre Dame graduate and member of the '01 Irish basketball squad, who was an assistant basketball coach at Ohio University while earning his MBA in sports administration there, and now is assistant athletics director of development and annual fund director at Northern Illinois University; Brian, a 2006 graduate of the University of Notre Dame and now an intern in the Arizona State University athletics department; and Mariah, a high school sophomore who is a standout in swimming.

Rev. John I. Jenkins, C.S.C.
University President

Rev. John I. Jenkins, C.S.C., took office as the 17th president of the University of Notre Dame on July 1, 2005. He was elected by the University's Board of Trustees to a five-year term April 30, 2004.

An associate professor of philosophy and member of Notre Dame's faculty since 1990, Father Jenkins had served from 2000 until becoming president as a vice president and associate provost at the University.

Prior to his service in the provost's office, Father Jenkins had been religious superior of the Holy Cross priests and brothers at Notre Dame for three years. As religious superior, he was a Fellow and Trustee of the University, but he relinquished those posts to assume his duties in the provost's office.

Father Jenkins specializes in the areas of ancient philosophy, medieval philosophy and the philosophy of religion. He is the author of Knowledge and Faith in Thomas Aquinas, published by Cambridge University Press in 1997.

Father Jenkins earned degrees in philosophy from Oxford University in 1987 and 1989. He earned his master of divinity degree and licentiate in sacred theology from the Jesuit School of Theology in Berkeley, Calif., in 1988.

Prior to entering the Congregation of Holy Cross, he earned bachelor's and master's degrees in philosophy from Notre Dame in 1976 and 1978, respectively.

Father Jenkins was ordained a priest in Notre Dame's Basilica of the Sacred Heart in 1983. He served as director of the Old College program for Notre Dame undergraduate candidates for the Congregation of Holy Cross from 1991 to 1993.

A native of Omaha, Neb., Father Jenkins was born Dec. 17, 1953.

Thomas G. Burish, formerly president at Washington and Lee, University in Lexington, Va., and a 1972 Notre Dame alumnus, was elected provost on July 21, 2005. As provost and second-ranking officer of the University, he exercises responsibility for all academic matters. He is the fourth person to hold the office since it was established in 1970. Burish succeeded Nathan O. Hatch, who became president of Wake Forest University. In addition, Burish also was appointed a professor of psychology.

Burish had been president of one of the nation's top liberal-arts colleges since July 2002. Prior to joining Washington and Lee and prior to being named president was the longest-serving provost in the history of Vanderbilt University. He served as provost at the nationally-renowned research university from 1993 to 2002.

Known as a ground-breaking researcher, award-winning teacher and gifted leader, Burish exemplifies the excellence and humanity to which Notre Dame is dedicated. Through his work, he has helped "tens of thousands of cancer patients better cope with the emotional and physical pain of this disease," according to John R. Seffrin, chief executive officer of the American Cancer Society. Burish currently serves as chair of the American Cancer Society's national board of directors.

A native of Peshtigo, Wis., Burish was graduated from Notre Dame, summa cum laude, with a bachelor's degree in psychology in 1972. He earned his master's degree in psychology from the University of Kansas in 1975 and a doctorate in clinical psychology from Kansas a year later.

While at Kansas, Burish received the David Shulman Memorial Award of Excellence in Clinical Psychology. He moved in 1976 to Vanderbilt, becoming a full professor in 1986. He won Vanderbilt's prestigious Madison Sarratt Prize for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching in 1980 and served as chair of the department of psychology from 1984 to 1986. Burish became Vanderbilt's provost in 1993. He is the co-author or co-editor of four books, and has contributed to more than 16 other books and written more than 60 journal articles.

Dr. John Affleck-Graves
Executive Vice President

John Affleck-Graves was elected the first lay executive vice president of Notre Dame in April 2004. A vice president and associate provost the previous three years, he also holds the Notre Dame Chair in Finance in the Mendoza College of Business.

Dr. Affleck-Graves, the fifth person to serve as executive vice president, administers the University of Notre Dame's annual operating budget of more than $700 million and an endowment of approximately $4 billion. He oversees human-resource activities for a work force of more than 4,000 employees – the largest in St. Joseph County – and directs the University's construction program.

A native of South Africa and a naturalized U.S. citizen, Dr. Affleck-Graves specializes in the study of initial public offerings, valuation and asset pricing models, and shareholder value-added methodology. He is the author of more than 50 refereed publications and the recipient of numerous teaching awards.

Dr. Affleck-Graves joined the Notre Dame faculty in 1986 after teaching and conducting research for 11 years at the University of Cape Town, where he earned bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees.

Patrick F. McCartan was elected the fifth chair of Notre Dame's Board of Trustees in May 2000. He has been a Notre Dame trustee since 1989 and also is a Fellow of the University.

McCartan served from 1993 through 2002 as managing partner of Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue, an international law firm headquartered in Cleveland. Cited by The National Law Journal as one of the country's most respected and influential corporate trial lawyers, he currently is Jones Day's senior partner, concentrating on appellate litigation and corporate governance.

Don Pope-Davis, Dean of The Graduate School and a professor of psychology, was appointed in 2006 as chair of the University's Faculty Board on Athletics and NCAA faculty athletics representative in 2006.

A member of the Notre Dame faculty since 2000, Pope-Davis studies in the areas of multicultural psychology, counseling and education. He is the co-author of three books, "Multicultural Counseling Competencies: Assessment, Education, and Supervision," "The Intersections of Race, Class, and Gender in Multicultural Counseling," and, most recently, "Handbook of Multicultural Competencies in Counseling and Psychology." He has published more than 50 journal articles and book chapters in the field and is a research fellow of the American Psychological Association.

He previously served as a member of the Faculty Board on Athletics and also has served on the Provost Advisory Council, the Diversity Committee and as chair of the NCAA certification sub-committee for equity, gender and sportsmanship.

Pope-Davis earned his doctorate in counseling psychology from Stanford and his bachelor's degree in psychology and theology from Benedictine University in Lisle, Ill.

Academic Services

The Academic Services for Student-Athletes Office is designed to help Notre Dame fulfill its commitment to all student-athletes in their pursuit of a college degree and academic excellence. In order to achieve these goals, Academic Services has four major aims: to maintain academic integrity of the University; to comply with University and NCAA rules and regulations; to maintain the academic good standing of every student-athlete; and to assist every student-athlete to graduate in four years. These objectives work together and are aimed at teaching student-athletes to be responsible for themselves academically.

To this end, Academic Services provides student-athletes many services that begin when freshmen arrive on campus and continue through graduation. The office provides consistent counseling and appropriate interventions regarding academic matters and refers student-athletes to campus offices where they can meet regularly with their professors and use support services provided by the various colleges and departments.

As soon as student-athletes begin classes, Academic Services monitors their progress through professor surveys that ask professors to comment on each student's work level, attendance and any need for tutorial help. If a professor or student-athlete feels there is need for additional help, Academic Services provides tutorial assistance.

In addition to this interaction with the faculty, the members of the Academic Services Office meet with student-athletes to develop a personal relationship. These sessions help develop semester-long and career academic goals. Discussions may include such topics as summer-school attendance, class scheduling and career possibilities.

In 2001, the Academic-Services department received a new home through a generous donation by football alumnus Jim Morse ('57) and his wife, Leah Rae, when the Coleman-Morse Center was completed. A $14-million building, the James and Leah Rae Morse Center for Academic Services houses Notre Dame's First Year of Studies Program and Academic Services for Student-Athletes. It also contains the University Writing Center and a satellite office for the Center for Social Concerns, plus classrooms, staff offices, a tutoring center, a computer cluster, workrooms and a lounge.

Working alongside the athletic department's Student Welfare and Development office, Academic Services helps coordinate numerous workshops and speakers to assist student-athletes with post-graduate planning and transition into professional careers. Offered in conjunction with the University Counseling Center, workshops cover such topics as stress management, socialization to college life, adjusting to physical trauma and conflict management.

At the end of each academic year, the office hosts an Academic Excellence Dinner for student-athletes who have achieved excellence in the classroom. The University president, deans of each college, members of the Faculty Board on Athletics and coaches also attend. Students with 4.0 semester GPAs, the individual student with the highest GPA in each sport, the top senior student-athlete and the team with the highest GPA receive special awards.

Thank you for your tremendous support of our entire athletics program. Our student-athletes, coaches and administrative staff are very appreciative of your spirit and affinity for Notre Dame, in particular its intercollegiate athletics.

Your adherence to all applicable NCAA rules and regulations is essential as we strive to maintain and enhance our national athletic prominence while protecting the University's tradition of integrity and values.

Our Compliance Office staff stands prepared to assist you with your questions and concerns regarding NCAA regulations. Please contact us immediately should you have concern regarding any situation. Your attention to these matters will ensure that the eligibility of both prospective student-athletes ("recruits") and enrolled student-athletes is protected and maintained. Again, many thanks for your cooperation in this matter and your ongoing support.

Who is a Representative of Notre Dame's Athletics Interests?

(The following lists of examples are not all-inclusive. As always, ask before you act!)

You are if:

- you are an enrolled student or graduate of the University.
- you ever have participated in or are a member of any organization promoting Notre Dame's athletics program (the former Quarterback Club, the 3-Point Club, the Fast-Break Club, etc.).
- you ever made financial contributions to the University of Notre Dame athletics department.
- you ever have helped to arrange employment of or provided any benefits to prospective or enrolled student-athletes.
- you ever have been a season ticket holder in any sport.
- you ever have promoted the athletics programs at the University of Notre Dame.

According to NCAA rules, once an individual has been identified as an institutional "representative of athletics interests" the individual retains that title for life. The University of Notre Dame ultimately is responsible for the behavior of all its athletics representatives in relation to NCAA rules and regulations. Violations of NCAA regulations by an athletics representative could result in the loss of eligibility for involved student-athletes (e.g. no participation in competitions) and/or severe sanctions against the University (e.g. loss of scholarships, television and post-season bans).

Current Student-Athlete

A student-athlete is any Notre Dame student who is a member of a varsity athletics team.

NCAA regulations apply to all student-athletes, not just those student-athletes who were recruited or who receive an athletics scholarship.

*Note: NCAA regulations concerning enrolled student-athletes remain in effect throughout the entire year (including summer break). If a student-athlete has completed his/her final season of eligibility, all NCAA regulations must be adhered to until he/she graduates or leaves school.

Do's and Don'ts for representatives in regards to a current student-athlete:

(The following lists of examples are not all-inclusive. As always, ask before you act!)

Do's

You may:

- contact a current student-athlete regarding employment opportunities. However, no contact may be made without approval from the Compliance Office.
- provide a student-athlete, not his/her family and friends, an occasional (once a semester) meal at your home.

Don'ts

You may not:

- provide a currently-enrolled student-athlete, his/her parents or friends any benefit or special arrangement without prior approval from the Compliance Office.
- pay for or arrange for payment of room, board or any type of transportation for a student-athlete or his/her family or friends.
- entertain student-athletes or their family and friends. (Exception: NCAA rules do permit institutional staff members and athletics representatives to provide student-athletes [not including their family and friends] with an occasional meal [defined as once a semester] provided the meal is at the staff member's or athletic representative's home and not at a restaurant.)
- use the name, picture or appearance of an enrolled student-athlete to advertise, recommend or promote sales or use of a commercial product or service of any kind; any use of a student-athlete's name, picture or appearance must receive authorization from the Compliance Office.
- provide any payment of expense or loan of an automobile for a student-athlete to return home or to travel to any other location.
- provide awards or gifts to a student-athlete for any reason; all awards provided to student-athletes must first be approved by the Compliance Office and meet all NCAA regulations.
- provide an honorarium to a student-athlete for a speaking engagement; all speaking engagements must be approved in advance by the Compliance Office.
- allow a student-athlete or his/her relatives or friends to use your telephone to make free calls.
- provide free or reduced-cost lodging in your home to a student-athlete or a student-athlete's family or friends.

Prospective Student-Athlete

A prospective student-athlete is any student who has started classes for ninth grade. Any student younger who receives any benefits from an institution or athletics representative would become a prospect. In addition, student-athletes enrolled in preparatory school or two-year colleges are considered prospective student-athletes.

* Note: An individual is considered a prospect (whether or not they have signed a National Letter of Intent) until the first day of initial collegiate enrollment or the first day they report for practice, whichever is earliest. Therefore, all NCAA regulations concerning contact with a prospective student-athlete are applicable until that time.

Do's and Don'ts for representatives in regards to a prospective student-athlete:

(The following lists of examples are not all-inclusive. As always, ask before you act!)

Do's

You may:

- forward information about prospective student-athletes to the appropriate coaching staff.
- have telephone contact with a prospect regarding permissible pre-enrollment activities such as summer employment, provided the prospect has graduated from high school and signed a National Letter of Intent; you must contact the Compliance Office to make them aware that you are making these employment arrangements.
- have a telephone conversation with a prospect only if the prospect initiates the call; such a call may not be prearranged by an institutional staff member, and you are not permitted to have a recruiting conversation, but may exhibit normal civility; you must refer any questions about our athletics programs to an athletics-department staff member/coach.
- view a prospect's athletic contest at your own initiative provided you do not contact the prospect or his/her parents; you may not contact a coach, principal, or counselor in an attempt to evaluate the prospect.
- continue established family relationships with friends and neighbors; contact with sons and daughters of these families is permitted so long as it is not made for recruiting purposes or encouraged by Notre Dame coaches.

Don'ts

You may not:

- write, e-mail or telephone a prospective student-athlete or his/her parents in an effort to recruit them to Notre Dame.
- become involved in making arrangements to provide money, financial aid or a benefit of any kind to a prospect or the prospect's family and friends.
- make contact with a prospective student-athlete or his/her parents when the prospect is on-campus for an official or unofficial recruiting visit.
- contact a prospect to congratulate him/her on signing a National Letter of Intent to attend the University.
- transport, pay or arrange for payment of transportation costs for a prospect or his/her relatives or friends to visit campus (or elsewhere).
- pay or arrange for payment of summer-camp registration fees for a prospect.
- provide ANYTHING to a prospect, the prospect's family or friends without prior approval from the Compliance Office.

Support of alumni and friends is welcomed and appreciated. We ask, however, that you help to keep Notre Dame's tradition of athletics integrity intact by following NCAA regulations. Your assistance will help ensure that the eligibility of prospective and currently-enrolled student-athletes is protected and preserved. Your efforts to know and follow the NCAA legislation are greatly appreciated because violations could affect the eligibility of involved prospects or student-athletes and/or result in NCAA penalties being imposed on the University.

To that end, it should be our goal, as the best alumni and fans in the country, to preserve and protect each and every student-athlete's eligibility. All NCAA legislation cannot be covered in a limited space such as this page. Therefore, any additional questions should be forwarded to the Compliance Office in the department of athletics. Please remember to ask before you act!

Student Development

The Student Welfare and Development Program is committed to the total development of Notre Dame student-athletes, by fostering the cultivation of skills that encourage student-athletes to reach their full potential.

Designed to work in conjunction with existing on-campus student services, the program acknowledges the unique needs and demands of student-athletes. The Notre Dame Student Welfare and Development program continues to receive national recognition for its student-athlete participation and has been named to the NCAS Outreach and Community Service Honor Roll three times in the past four years.

The Student Welfare and Development Program implements events and activities that are designed to facilitate learning within five key areas: academic excellence, athletic success, career preparation,

- An orientation program for freshman student-athletes to familiarize and identify the challenges and opportunities that are unique to them as both students and athletes.

Nearly every Notre Dame varsity sports team (24 of 26) participated in community service activities during the 2005-06 academic year, with the student-athletes completing more than 2,300 hours of community service (an increase of approximately 340 hours from the previous year) while reaching over 3,000 people in the community and assisting some 40 non-profit organizations and schools.

The women's tennis team participates in the Fight for Life program that links teams with young cancer patients.

Notre Dame student-athletes annually take part in the Buddy Walk with area Down Syndrome children.

Student Development also is responsible for: managing the scholarship textbook process; designing and producing the annual Student-Athlete Handbook/Planner; facilitating "An Evening at Shamrock Hills" team dinners; serving as the primary advisors to the Student Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC); coordinating the Student-Athlete Leadership Institute; and facilitating the athletic department's annual year-end celebration, the O.S.C.A.R.S. – Outstanding Students Celebrating Achievements & Recognition Showcase.

The program has three components: elective services (community service, leadership, social events); complementary services (encourages administrators and coaches to request coordination of workshops, events and activities); and essential services (student-athletes participate in a series of required skill-building and developmental workshops and activities).

The many services offered by the Student Development Program include the following:

- Academic support by working in coordination with the Office of Academic Services for Student-Athletes.
- Athletic success support with discussion topics on performance enhancement, leadership, nutrition, agents and amateurism, and sports conduct.
- Preparing for post-graduate life by working closely with the Notre Dame Career Center.
- Bringing Notre Dame and the community together through specific relationships with local area hospitals, community centers and outreach agencies to provide ongoing and reliable volunteer opportunities.

Statement of Principles

Throughout its long and proud history, the University of Notre Dame has embraced the philosophy that a well-rounded athletics program — including club, intramural and intercollegiate competition — comprises an integral part of Notre Dame's educational mission.

This philosophy reflects the importance of operating an intercollegiate athletics program that fully comports with the University's aspirations as a Catholic institution. Notre Dame therefore dedicates itself to the pursuit of excellence in intercollegiate athletics within the framework of an academic community committed to the University's educational and religious objectives.

Notre Dame also commits itself to the unquestioned integrity of its athletics programs. All individuals involved, directly or indirectly, in the athletics enterprise must maintain and foster the values and goals associated with the University's mission as a Catholic institution of higher education.

As a Catholic university, Notre Dame espouses Christian values and principles. These include the development of the human person — spirit as well as body — in addition to the pursuit of excellence in all endeavors, the nurturing of Christian character, and the call to personal integrity and responsibility. By providing a general description of the structures that support these endeavors, this document articulates the central values and expectations that guide the University of Notre Dame's participation in intercollegiate athletics.

PRESIDENTIAL CONTROL

Notre Dame adheres to the principle of presidential control over intercollegiate athletics. The director of athletics reports to the president, who exercises ultimate responsibility for the conduct of the University's intercollegiate athletics program. The Faculty Board on Athletics serves as the principal advisory group to the president on educational issues related to intercollegiate athletics. The chair of the Faculty Board on Athletics also serves as the NCAA-mandated faculty athletics representative.

Basic Principles

1. The Faculty Board on Athletics nurtures Notre Dame's commitment to academic integrity within the athletics program, strives to ensure that the University's athletics program operates in consonance with Notre Dame's educational mission, and actively promotes the welfare and educational success of the University's student-athletes. The Board also functions as a formal liaison between the faculty and the athletics department.

In carrying out its charge, the Board reviews policies, procedures and practices that affect the educational experience of student-athletes and advises the president of its findings and deliberations. The Board systematically ascertains the views and concerns of student-athletes. The Board reviews data on admissions of student-athletes and on their academic performance, progress towards degrees, and graduation rates. The Board assesses the effectiveness of institutional support for student-athletes. In addition, the Board sets guidelines for the approval of all student petitions for a fifth year of eligibility for athletics and votes on each such petition. The Board establishes guidelines for all intercollegiate athletics schedules and qualifications for captaincy of all University teams, and it votes on all proposed schedules and captaincy nominations. The Board also assesses and revises procedures for resolving prospective conflicts between final examinations and post-season championship events.

In its role as a liaison to the broader faculty, the Faculty Board disseminates appropriate, non-confidential information and initiates discussions on educational issues regarding intercollegiate athletics and the related concerns of the faculty and administration.

2. The faculty athletics representative champions academic integrity, promotes the welfare of student-athletes, and helps ensure institutional control of intercollegiate athletics. More specifically, the faculty athletics representative works with the president and the director of athletics to maintain appropriate University oversight of intercollegiate athletics; assists the president and director of athletics in determining institutional positions on proposed NCAA and conference legislation; serves on search committees for senior athletics administrators and head coaches; oversees decisions regarding eligibility of student-athletes; remains visible and available to student-athletes; and actively participates in all investigations and reports of possible NCAA violations.

ACADEMICS

Notre Dame dedicates itself to providing to all of its students an outstanding education. The University commits itself to developing in its students those disciplined habits of mind, body and spirit that characterize educated, skilled and free human beings. Notre Dame calls its students to pursue the wisdom of our culture and religious heritage and to experience the human family's diversity and interdependence. To accomplish these objectives, the University provides to its students, on an equitable basis, ongoing opportunities to cultivate their moral, intellectual and physical well-being.

Basic Principles

1. Any student hoping to succeed at the University needs a significant level of ability and preparation. Therefore, the Office of Undergraduate Admissions will accept into the University only those student-athletes who demonstrate, on the basis of the best available academic and character-based information, the capacity to complete a degree at Notre Dame.

2. Even for individuals manifestly well suited for Notre Dame, the adjustments to the rigors of academic and athletic life in a highly-competitive university present difficulties. The University recognizes its responsibility to provide appropriate assistance to enable student-athletes to meet the demands of both academic and athletic competition. To this end, the University affords its student-athletes suitable academic counsel and support, primarily under the auspices of the provost's office. Other sources of support, both academic and personal, include the faculty, academic advisors, the residence-hall staff, coaches, athletics administrators and the Student Development Program.

3. The University strives to schedule practices and competitions so as to minimize conflicts with class periods and other academic assignments of student-athletes. In this regard, the rhythm of the academic year and the particular importance of final examinations warrant special attention. All playing schedules remain subject to the approval of the Faculty Board on Athletics.

4. Notre Dame expects its student-athletes to maintain the appropriate sequence and number of courses and the grade-point-average necessary to complete a degree within the usual time (normally four years), including summer classes when appropriate. Any exception to this policy remains subject to the approval of the Faculty Board on Athletics.

STUDENT LIFE

Like other students, student-athletes should have the opportunity to pursue fully the University's academic, cultural and spiritual resources. The University holds student-athletes not only to the same standard of conduct that applies to other students, but also to that higher level of behavior appropriate to their visibility.

Basic Principles

1. Student-athletes must comply with all University rules and guidelines, including those set out in both the student handbook, du Lac, and in the Student-Athlete Handbook. The Office of Residence Life and Housing enforces the University-wide rules according to procedures applicable to all student disciplinary matters.

2. The University strives to integrate student-athletes into the student body so that all students may take full advantage of the educational and other opportunities afforded by campus and hall life. Given the centrality of residential life to the University's mission, student-athletes normally live in residence halls; exceptions to this policy remain subject to the approval of the Faculty Board on Athletics. Moreover, Notre Dame provides no separate residence halls or sections of residence halls for student-athletes.

3. The University lists among its primary concerns the physical and mental health of all members of the Notre Dame community. Because of the dangers inherent in athletic competition, the prevention of injuries and the provision of medical care for student-athletes demand particular concern and deserve constant attention. The appropriate sports-medicine and athletics-training personnel alone determine whether injury or illness precludes a student-athlete from practicing or competing.

4. Because of the harm that illicit drug use causes and the pressure on student-athletes to use performance-enhancing drugs, drug-related education and counseling require particular emphasis. As a preventive measure, all student-athletes remain subject to regular, random, and unannounced drug testing according to the University's established drug-testing protocol. University Health Services decides the timing of drug tests, determines whom to test and administers the tests. The drug-testing protocol prescribes the treatment of test results and the consequences of a positive test.

5. Notre Dame regularly provides chaplains for athletics teams. Chaplains' duties include pastoral care and liturgical services for student-athletes, coaches and staff.

COACHING STAFFS

The University strives to maintain a staff of coaches who represent the best in athletic instruction, who possess the ability to motivate and inspire, and who take responsibility for the full development of the student-athletes within their charge as students, athletes and persons. Coaches, who after all are primarily teachers, share with members of the faculty and other University personnel the obligation to educate, train and otherwise assist in the formation of students entrusted to them. Furthermore, Notre Dame recognizes the important role each coach plays in the University's overall educational mission and makes this aspect an important part of both the coach's position description and periodic evaluation. Because of the public nature of their work, coaches represent Notre Dame in a highly-visible manner. Their words and actions should therefore reflect the University's values and principles.

Basic Principles

1. Notre Dame expects the personal and professional lives of its coaches to reflect highest standards of behavior. Coaches' actions must demonstrate that athletic success may not jeopardize institutional or personal integrity or student-athlete welfare.

2. Notre Dame expects its coaches to appreciate the primacy of academic life at Notre Dame and to emphasize that primacy during the recruitment and education of student-athletes and their participation in intercollegiate athletics.

3. Notre Dame requires its coaches to adhere to the policies and procedures of the University, its conferences and the NCAA. To that end, Notre Dame provides a comprehensive orientation to new coaches and suitable continuing education to other coaches. The University treats seriously all violations of University, conference or NCAA standards and reports such violations according to the applicable conference or NCAA procedures.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF ATHLETICS

The Director of Athletics and the other administrators in the department of athletics supervise all activities of the athletics program at the University. All aspects of the program must accord with the principles of justice and fairness. In addition, Notre Dame expects the personal and professional lives of its athletics administrators to reflect the highest standards of behavior. Athletics administrators also must adhere to the policies and procedures of the University, its conferences and the NCAA. The University treats all violations of such policies and procedures seriously.

Basic Principles

1. The University maintains full and direct control of the financial operations of the athletics department, including all revenues. The operating budget and the ongoing financial activities of the athletics department remain subject to the same approval process as all other units of the University.

2. Historically, Notre Dame's athletics program has generated funds sufficient to cover its expenses, as well as to provide funds for the University's general operating budget. The generation of revenue must always take into consideration Notre Dame's integrity and priorities.

3. The University commits itself to the principle of racial, ethnic and gender diversity in the composition of its coaching and administrative staffs. Notre Dame will make every reasonable effort to promote this commitment as positions are created or vacated.

4. Consistent with its overall academic mission and program, its financial resources and the athletic interests of its student body, the University will provide a full and stable athletics program for both sexes. Notre Dame embraces the principle of gender equity and will continue to monitor its intercollegiate programs in accord with this principle.

5. In considering conference affiliations, the University will assess the extent to which the other institutions involved share Notre Dame's educational philosophies and goals, as well as its commitment to integrity in intercollegiate athletics.

CONCLUSION

Notre Dame endeavors to maintain a highly-competitive athletics program consistent with its tradition, heritage and overall mission as a Catholic university. It will attempt to excel in intercollegiate athletics, but always in conformity with its primary role as an educator and moral guide. Notre Dame will conduct its intercollegiate athletics program so as to support the University's commitment to education, as well as the letter and spirit of the policies and procedures of the University, its conferences and the NCAA.

Many observers often are surprised to discover that Notre Dame's total enrollment encompasses fewer than 12,000 students per year. That surprise is due in part to the University's national appeal, but it also is due to the many noteworthy Notre Dame alumni who have gone on to distinguish themselves in a wide variety of fields.

Listings on this page are simply a sampling of the many noteworthy individuals who have spent their formative years in academia at Notre Dame. A more detailed list can be found at www.nd.edu (follow the alumni link), and some additional noteworthy alums are included on the athletic heritage page later in this section.

Alumni Organizations

The Notre Dame Alumni Association was established in 1868, some 26 years after the University's founding. Father Neal Gillespie, C.S.C., was elected the first president of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, then comprised of just a few hundred graduates — while the current membership reaches nearly 110,000.

Leadership — Several Alumni Association staff are former Notre Dame student-athletes, led by executive director Chuck Lennon (a catcher with the Irish baseball team in the early 1960s) and another former Irish baseball player, Scott Siler ('82), who serves as the Association's director of information technology.

Membership — Any person who holds a Notre Dame undergraduate or graduate degree and any who has matriculated at the University and is approved for membership by the Alumni Board shall be a regular member of the Alumni Association.

Alumni Clubs — An alumni club is one of the most viable channels through which the University is perceived by local communities. The Alumni Association helps coordinate activities of 215 domestic alumni clubs and 63 international chapters.

Reunion Weekend — Traditionally held the first weekend in June, Alumni Reunion is the largest campus program sponsored by the Alumni Association. Each five-year class is invited to participate. The program offers exciting and rewarding events for some 3,000 alumni and their spouses.

Notre Dame Magazine — This quarterly publication is sent to all alumni as well as parents of current students. News contributed by class officers is featured in the section entitled, "The Classes."

The Alumni Newsletter — This publication is distributed three times a year and highlights people, programs and events that are related to the Alumni Association, including local alumni activities.

Visitors Center — The Eck Visitors Center, located on the south end of campus (next to the Hammes Bookstore), offers a meeting and resting place for visitors, in addition to providing a summary of the University's history. Display cases line the walls, featuring University information and artifacts. A lighted aerial map gives a visual overview of campus and interactive kiosks allow visitors to take a virtual tour of the campus. A number of sculptures are on display, including the work of the late world-renowned artist and Notre Dame professor Ivan Mestrovic. An auditorium offers a DVD movie that chronicles Notre Dame's tradition and excellence in academics and athletics and its commitment to spirituality.

Notre Dame Monogram Club: "Bridging the Gap Between Legend and Legacy"

The Notre Dame Monogram Club is comprised of some 6,500 individuals who have earned the University's varsity athletic insignia for their athletic or team-support endeavors or who have been honorary-monogram recipients. The club supports the primary goal of the University: the spiritual, intellectual and physical development of its students and alumni. By providing its members the opportunity to foster and maintain relationships across different sports, generations and geographical locations, the Monogram Club aspires to contribute — through the common bond of sport — to the social and professional enrichment of its members while providing a means for ongoing association with the University. As an integral part of the Notre Dame family, the Monogram Club endeavors to uphold and enrich the great tradition of Notre Dame athletics.

One of the organization's primary functions continues to be providing aid to children of Monogram Club members to attend Notre Dame, through the Brennan-Boland-Riehle ("BBR") Scholarship Fund. The fund is named in honor of Joe Boland, Rev. Thomas Brennan, C.S.C., and Rev. James Riehle, C.S.C. Monogram Club members donate to the fund, and the University handles the principal funds, with interest providing scholarship money. The fund has grown to approximately $5.0 million, making it one of Notre Dame's largest endowments.

Since the fund's inception in 1980, there have been 146 BBR Scholarship recipients — including 46 sons and daughters of Monogram Club members who attended Notre Dame in 2005-06 — whose combined scholarship allocations are more than $2 million.

In 1976, at a meeting called by 1949 Heisman Trophy winner Leon Hart, the Monogram Club developed its bylaws, recommending that its purpose was to foster all the principles of the University in its academic, athletic, religious and social endeavors along with promoting camaraderie between former athletes and alumni.

During the Monogram Club presidency of Harvey Foster in 1981, he recommended that an endowment fund be started for the express purpose of aiding the University in continuing non-revenue sports. During the next 15 months, nearly $8 million was pledged and paid into the endowment fund. Endowment contributions still are accepted but more recently the Monogram Club's efforts have been directed to increasing the Brennan-Boland-Riehle Fund.

In 1984, during the presidency of Jim Lynch, the club received permission to construct a Sports Heritage Hall in the concourse of the Joyce Center. The first phase was to provide a ring of gold which names each monogram winner, alphabetically by decade, with those plans reaching fruition in 1987 when some 4,300 names were placed in gold letters on the oak panels. Nearly 1,700 names later were added in 2001, honoring monogram winners from the 1990s.

The second phase of the Heritage Hall involved building display cases showing various pieces of memorabilia, pictures of individuals and teams, trophies of various awards and other interesting objects detailing the history of Notre Dame athletics.

The Monogram Club's ever-growing list of events and projects included the following activities during 2005-06:

- A full allocation of $1 million towards the Notre Dame Stadium enhancement project — featuring an elaborate series of banners that commemorate Notre Dame's rich tradition in college football

- Introduction of the Sports Liaison Program, which pairs board members with current Irish teams to foster a beneficial two-way relationship

- Establishing a Catastrophic Relief Fund to help former Notre Dame monogram winners faced with catastrophic problems of health and/or financial hardship

- Pledged support for the 35th anniversary of women's athletics at Notre Dame, to be celebrated in 2006-07

- Sponsorship of student-athletes who participated in various domestic and international summer-service projects, as coordinated by Notre Dame's Center for Social Concerns. Former Irish hockey player and recent Monogram Club board member Dave Bossy has made a 10-year commitment ($10,000 per year) to help fund sponsorship of student-athletes who participate in the Summer Service Program

- Funding aid for 2005-06 foreign trips by the Notre Dame men's lacrosse team (Czech Republic), the men's soccer team (Brazil), the women's lacrosse team and the men's tennis team (Germany)

- Continuing financial assistance ($110,000 in '05-'06) to programs benefiting current student-athletes, via the student welfare initiative (in conjunction with the athletic department's student welfare/life skills programs)

- An expanded student-athlete outreach and education program that includes continued sponsorship of the "OSCARS" all-sports banquet (with specific funding for the popular all-sports highlight video), an informative brochure targeted to student-athletes and continued sponsorship of the varsity monogram awards program (letter jackets, blazers, blankets, rings, and watches)

- The continuing program of providing laptop computers to the Academic Services for Student-Athletes, with student-athletes able to check out these computers during official team travel.

- Ongoing funding and presentation of BIG EAST-championship rings and NCAA-participation awards for Notre Dame teams and individuals

Other recent Monogram Club projects have included:

- A joint effort with the network of local Notre Dame alumni clubs, providing various team hosting events (such as receptions and cultural events) for Notre Dame teams as they travel throughout the country

- A series of football-weekend receptions for Monogram Club members and their guests, typically held in the Joyce Center prior to each home football game (the final home game also traditionally includes a unique thrill for all former monogram winners in attendance, who form the pregame tunnel as the Irish team takes the field)

Monogram Club dues-paying members annually greet the Notre Dame football team as it takes the field prior to the final home game.

- Continuing an expanded sponsorship of the annual Blue-Gold Football Alumni Weekend that includes the alumni flag-football game and an interactive Friday-night dinner (attended by 700-plus) with the program's current players and coaches

- The organization of several popular events, including the fourth annual Football Fantasy Camp, the annual Monogram Club golf outing (held during reunion weekend) and V.I.P. football weekend auctions

- Expanded offerings and unique website content at www.ndmonogramclub.com (also linked via und.com), as part of an ever-increasing list of member benefits

- And the traditional awarding of honorary monograms — presented to those who have demonstrated exceptional service to Notre Dame — in conjunction with the announcement of the Moose Krause Distinguished Service Award

The Monogram Club of today is comprised of some 4,100 dues-paying members who are awarded the block ND. Yearly dues entitle members to a variety of benefits: annual golf outing and dinner; membership card; the Inside Irish publication, with first-class mailing (plus e-mail and web options); members' children eligible for Brennan-Boland-Riehle scholarship at Notre Dame; and ticket applications for home football games. The Club's annual golf outing, mass for deceased members, dinner and meeting is held in early June prior to the Notre Dame Alumni Reunion Weekend.

Assistant athletic director Jim Fraleigh has served as the Monogram Club's executive director since the fall of 2004 while the current president is former volleyball player Julie Pierson Doyle (the first female president in the history of the Monogram Club). The first vice-president is former basketball player Marc Kelly, with former Academic All-America football player Joe Restic joining the officer rotation as second vice-president.

Irish athletics receive the finest in sports medicine care from the team of athletic trainers and physicians.

From the days of Knute Rockne, when Eugene "Scrap Iron" Young first began providing care to student-athletes, the Notre Dame athletic training department has evolved into a fully-staffed sports medicine team with three state-of-the-art facilities. The 2005-06 academic year was a time of key growth and expansion for Notre Dame's athletic training operation, in keeping up with the changing demands of college athletics.

The sports medicine department added two new full-time staff positions while moving into its new primary locale at the Guglielmino Sports Complex.

Head athletic trainer and physical therapist Jim Russ now oversees a staff of three associate and eight assistant athletic trainers, plus two physical therapist/athletic trainers. The staff of 13 is responsible for the care and treatment of more than 750 Notre Dame student-athletes. The entire sports medicine staff is certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association and boasts nearly 200 years of collective experience.

Each staff member is responsible for the health care of at least two of Notre Dame's varsity athletic teams. Duties in that role include evaluating and assessing athletic injuries, administering first-aid, making medical referrals, establishing treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries and educating student-athletes on nutrition and injury prevention.

The foundation of the Notre Dame Sports Medicine Department falls under the direct supervision of several sports medicine physicians. This group now includes three university primary-care doctors – Notre Dame directors of sports medicine Dr. Willard Yergler and Dr. Jim Moriarity, plus Dr. Rich Jacobs – along with six orthopaedic surgeons: Dr. Becky Moskwinski, Dr. David Bankoff, Dr. Fred Ferlic, Dr. Robert Clemency, Dr. Michael Yergler and Dr. Chris Balint. A variety of medical consultants are available for specific needs, ranging from cardiology to dermatology, while the sports medicine department also is supplemented by 17 undergraduate student athletic trainers.

Notre Dame student-athletes have access to three state-of-the-art sports medicine facilities, in addition to the 24-hour University Health Center. The original athletic training room is located in the Joyce Center and Notre Dame Stadium is home to the 3,300 square-foot athletic training room – while the newest sports area is located in the new Guglielmino Athletics Center. This sports medicine area opened in the fall of 2005 and encompasses more than 8,500 square-feet of cutting-edge sports medicine technology.

Through these facilities, all student-athletes have access to the most modern sports medicine, providing the latest in diagnostic procedures, treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. The various athletic training facilities include the latest in physical therapy modalities and rehabilitation equipment, with two 3,500-gallon therapy pools, a full x-ray unit and an MRI machine making up the majority of the department's diagnostic equipment.

The sports medicine team of athletic trainers and team physicians is committed to providing the most comprehensive and safest health care possible. Evaluations, treatments and rehabilitation are established for each individual, with the goal of returning the student-athletes to competitive status in the safest and quickest manner possible.

The Notre Dame strength and conditioning program is designed to provide each student-athlete with the most productive, effective and efficient means of sport-specific physical training. Led by director of strength and conditioning Ruben Mendoza, the Irish strength and conditioning staff has a simple philosophy that combines a "no nonsense" approach with an "old school" attitude.

The staff offers a well-balanced, well-rounded program by incorporating a variety of training methods from conjugate training to Olympic style movements. Everything the staff does is geared toward developing speed, power and strength.

The staff wants to teach Notre Dame student-athletes work ethic, discipline and pride with a relentless attitude to strive for, and win, championships.

When entering the 25,000-square foot Haggar Fitness Complex (shared by the Loftus Sports Center and the Guglielmino Athletics Complex), student-athletes are quickly reminded of the "roll up your sleeves" and "get to work" mentality that Mendoza and his staff inspires.

The Haggar Fitness Complex features 25,000 square feet of workout space with a three-lane speed development track (40 yards in length), a state-of-the-art sound system with 28 speakers and four sub woofers, six giant plasma screen televisions, a 45 x 18 yard Prestige Turf plyometric agility area and a Gatorade hydration station.

The Notre Dame strength and conditioning staff – seven full-time coaches and two intern coaches – includes: director of strength and conditioning Ruben Mendoza, senior assistant Tony Rolinski, assistants Mike Joseph, Brian Herzog, Rick Perry, Sarah Kearney and Chris Sandeen, nutritionist Abby Richey, and speed/skill development coach Shawn Gaunt. The staff provides a large enough group to meet the student-athlete needs while developing an environment where student-athletes want to come in order to get better and achieve athletic success.

One of the eye-catching features of the Haggar Fitness Complex, a 25,000 square-foot facility shared by the Guglielmino Athletics Complex and the Loftus Center, are two variable weight sleds installed in the summer of 2005.

NACDA Directors' Cup

DIRECTORS' CUP STANDINGS

A best-ever sixth-place finish in the 2005-06 United States Sports Academy Division I Directors' Cup all-sports competition sponsored by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (formerly known as Sears Directors' Cup) added an exclamation point to the most successful across-the-board year in the history of Notre Dame athletics.

Notre Dame is among 11 schools to earn a top-20 finish in each of the past six years, as Irish programs finished 11th in 2001, 13th in '02 and '03, 19th in '04 and 16th in '05. The other schools with that distinction include five from the Pacific-10 Conference (Stanford, UCLA, California, Arizona State and Arizona) and two from the Southeastern Conference (Florida and Georgia), plus Ohio State (Big Ten), Texas (Big-12) and North Carolina (Atlantic Coast Conference).

Notre Dame made one of the most noteworthy single-year improvements, rising 10 spots from its 16th-place finish in 2004-05.

FALL

Fall NCAA competition earned the Irish 412 points based on their third-place NCAA finish in men's cross country (85 points), seventh-place in women's cross country (69 points), a quarterfinalist appearance in women's soccer (73 points) third-round appearances in both men's soccer and volleyball (64 points each) and a final ranking of 11th in the USA Today football poll (57 points).

Notre Dame finished the fall seasons in first place for the second straight year, with the 412 points representing the most ever by Notre Dame during the fall season.

WINTER

Winter competition netted Notre Dame 125.5 points – based on its fourth-place finish in the NCAA men's and women's combined fencing championship (40 points), a 33rd-place finish in men's indoor track and field (32.5 points), a 41st-place finish in women's swimming and diving (21 points) and a first-round NCAA appearance in women's basketball (25 points).

SPRING

Spring sports play netted 368 points – a boost of 120 points from the 2005 spring – thanks to NCAA participation in women's tennis (quarterfinals; 73 points), men's tennis (round-of-16; 64 points), women's outdoor track and field (32nd; 42 points), women's lacrosse (semifinalist; 41.5 points), rowing (9th; 37 points), softball (regional finalist; 50 points), baseball (regional participant; 25), men's golf (50th; 23 points) and men's lacrosse (1st round; 12.5 points). Per the Directors Cup scoring format, the women's track outdoor points displaced the points from the indoor.

HISTORICAL PERFORMANCE

In previous years in which the Directors' Cup competition has been held, Notre Dame has finished 11th in 1993-94, 30th in '95, 11th in '96, 14th in '97, 31st in '98, 25th in '99, 21st in 2000, 11th in '01, 13th in '02 and again in '03, 19th in '04 and most recently 16th for 2004-05.

All but one of Notre Dame's 26 varsity sports have scored points for the Irish in the NACDA Cup. Leading the way are the men's and women's fencing programs, which have used 12 consecutive top-four finishes at the NAAs to contribute 806 points since fencing was added to the NACDA Cup in 1995-96. Women's soccer has contributed 815.5 points, highlighted by seven national-semifinal appearances and a pair of titles ('95, '04). It also stands as one of two teams – along with women's volleyball – to have scored points in the NACDA Cup all 13 years. Eleven of Notre Dame's sports have contributed points on 10 or more occasions while 17 have scored in at least half (7) of the NACDA Cup competitions.

The Directors' Cup competition honors institutions for maintaining athletic programs that seek to achieve success in many sports, both men's and women's. Begun in 1993-94 for Division I by NACDA and USA Today, the program was expanded in 1995-96 to include Divisions II, III, and the NAIA. Each institution is awarded points in a pre-determined number of sports for men and women (10 each in Division I). The overall champion is the institution that records the highest number of points in their division's Directors Cup standings.

Notre Dame placed sixth in the 2005-06 NACDA Directors' Cup competition, its highest finish in the 13-year history of the Directors' Cup.

The Notre Dame athletic department's sixth-place finish in the annual Directors' Cup standings included a historic finish by the women's lacrosse team, which reached the NCAA semifinals for the first time in the program's history.

BEST OF BOTH WORLDS – The Notre Dame athletic department continues to emerge as one of the highest-rated in the nation ... a 2005 report by the National Collegiate Scouting Association listed Notre Dame third (behind Stanford and Duke) in Division I-A rankings for schools with the top combination of academics and athletics, based on student-athlete graduation rates, the U.S. News and World Report rankings (academic) and the annual Directors' Cup all-sports standings.

A SPORT-MINDED CAMPUS – A Sports Illustrated feature on "America's Top Jock Schools" crowned UCLA No. 1, with Notre Dame a close runner-up ... the profile cited the Bengal Bouts campus-wide boxing tournament that benefits the Holy Cross Mission, Bookstore Basketball (the world's largest five-on-five basketball tournament) and intramural football in full pads (with the title game in Notre Dame Stadium) – plus the fact that 75 percent of Notre Dame undergrads lettered in high-school sports.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE – The success of Notre Dame athletics extends to the classroom:

- All 26 athletics programs at Notre Dame in 2004-05 and '05-'06 exceeded the NCAA's new academic performance standard introduced in 2005, with 14 Irish teams in '05-'06 scoring a perfect 1,000 (most from any Division I-A school) ... the Academic Progress Rate (APR) uses a series of formulas related to student-athlete retention and eligibility.

- In the traditional federal-mandated format of the NCAA graduation-rate report, Notre Dame ranked first nationally in the survey covering student-athletes who enrolled between '95-'98, based on the raw percentage of those who entered and graduated within six years (those who left or transferred were considered non-graduates) ... ND's 90.4% graduation rate in that study ranked first among all of Division I-A schools (also first with 87% grad. rate for male student-athletes and first with 96% for female student-athletes).

- Among 626 student-athletes who completed all four years of athletic eligibility at Notre Dame from among those entering over a 10-year period from 1989-90 through 1998-99, virtually 100 percent (623 of 626; 99.52%) earned their degrees.

- Another new graduation-rate survey – the GSR (Graduation Success Rate) – ranks Notre Dame second among Division I-A schools with a 98% GSR score (Navy is first on that list). The GSR was created to more accurately reflect graduation rates by factoring in transfer data. Notre Dame also was second in the latest male GSR rankings (98%, behind Navy) and fifth for female student-athletes (99%, behind Duke, Northwestern, Rice and Navy).

- Notre Dame student-athletes combined to post a 4.0 semester GPA 31 times in the 2005 spring and fall semesters ... those of note who posted 4.0s in 2005 included: soccer players Mary Boland, Erika Bohn, Ashley Jones, Susan Pinnick and John Stephens, swimmers Kelli Barton and Patrick Davis, sprinter Maryann Erigha, golfer K.C. Wiseman, lacrosse player Mary Carpenter, distance runners Sunni Olding, Elizabeth Webster, Mike Popejoy and Todd Ptacek, and track-and-field performer Petra Dankova.

SPANNING THE GLOBE – Similar to the composition of the Notre Dame student body, the 26 current varsity teams include student-athletes from nearly every state ... Notre Dame's 2004-05 varsity rosters included some 700 student-athletes who hailed from 44 states (all but Hawaii, Maine, Mississippi, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming), plus six Canadian provinces and 19 other foreign countries: Austria, Cayman Islands, Colombia, Czech Republic, El Salvador, England, Finland, Germany, Guatemala, Hong Kong, Iceland, Ireland, Jamaica, Korea, Luxembourg, Mexico, Poland, Singapore and South Africa.

A TRADITION OF SUCCESS

- Notre Dame has claimed 25 NCAA team titles: 11 in football ('24, '29, '30, '43, '46, '47, '49, '66, '73, '77, '88), seven in fencing (men in '77, '78 and '86, women in '87, combined in '94, '03, '05), two in women's soccer ('95, '04) and men's tennis ('44, '59), and one each in men's golf ('44), men's cross country ('57) and women's basketball ('01) ... the 2004-05 academic year saw Notre Dame win two NCAA titles (women's soccer and combined fencing) for the third time in the athletic department's history (also men's golf/men's tennis in '43-'44; football/men's fencing in '77-'78).

- Notre Dame's 11-year domination as a member of the BIG EAST Conference includes winning an unprecedented 13 official BIG EAST championships (based on tournament finish or regular-season standings) in 2005-06, besting the 10 titles won by the Irish in '04-'05 as the most ever by one school in a single academic year ... Notre Dame's BIG EAST titles in '05-'06 included five men's sports (cross country, swimming and diving, golf, outdoor track and field, and baseball) plus women's soccer, volleyball, cross country, swimming and diving, indoor track and field, softball, rowing and tennis. A total of 16 Notre Dame teams (out of 21) finished first or second in 2004-05 BIG EAST play – with men's tennis, women's lacrosse and women's outdoor track and field nearly winning BIG EAST titles before finishing in second place.

- Notre Dame's total of nearly 900 All-Americans includes 24 who have been four-year All-Americans and 49 who have coupled All-America and Academic All-America honors in the same season. The 2005-06 year saw an all-time high of five different Notre Dame student-athletes earn both All-America and Academic All-America honors.

BIG EAST Conference

The BIG EAST Conference in 2006-07 enters its second year as the nation's largest Division I-A conference. The first year with 16 members produced plenty of curiosity among those in the world of collegiate athletics and in the media, but the league thrived in its new alignment while enjoying significant success in the athletic arenas, on the playing fields and in the classroom.

The goals of the BIG EAST have remained constant throughout its history – to compete at the highest level and to do so with integrity and sportsmanship.

BIG EAST squads secured a league-record eight bids to the 2005-06 NCAA Tournament while seven BIG EAST women's basketball teams earned NCAA berths. In football, West Virginia garnered the attention of the college football world with its victory over Georgia in the Nokia Sugar Bowl, as the BIG EAST's representative in the Bowl Championship Series.

The BIG EAST welcomed five new members in 2005-06, increasing its membership to 16 with the addition of the University of Cincinnati, DePaul University, the University of Louisville, Marquette University and the University of South Florida. Some were ready to call the new BIG EAST alignment too unwieldy but the league showed that there can be strength in numbers even when that number is a large one.

BIG EAST institutions reside in nine of the nation's 34 largest media markets, including New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Tampa, Pittsburgh, Hartford, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. With its newest members, BIG EAST markets will contain almost one fourth of all television households in the U.S.

Since opening its doors in 1979, the league has seen its teams win 25 national championships in six different sports while 123 student-athletes from BIG EAST schools have won individual national titles.

The Villanova women's cross country team recently was named the NCAA's Silver Anniversary Cross Country Program, with that 2005 honors recognizing seven NCAA team titles by the Wildcats since 1981. Former Villanova standout Carole Zajac was named the top individual performer of the NCAA women's cross country era.

The BIG EAST always has been able to boast that some of its best students are also some of its best athletes. More than 350 BIG EAST student-athletes have earned Academic All-America honors – including West Virginia's Joe Herber, who was named by the College Sports Information Directors of America as its ESPN The Magazine

Academic All-American of the Year in men's basketball for the 2005-06 season.

The BIG EAST has continued its basketball success in the 21st century. Connecticut became the first school in NCAA history to win the men's and women's NCAA titles in the same season (in 2003-04). With the Syracuse men and the UConn grabbing NCAA crowns the previous year, the BIG EAST became the first conference in NCAA history to win the men's and women's titles in consecutive seasons. In fact, the BIG EAST has won five of the past seven women's basketball crowns and three of the past eight men's titles.

Moving proactively has been a consistent strategy for the conference, as the BIG EAST continually has turned challenges into opportunities to become stronger. The BIG EAST added women's lacrosse and rowing to its growing list of sports in the spring of 2001 while the inaugural women's golf championship was held in the spring of 2003.

The BIG EAST became a reality on May 31, 1979, following a meeting of athletic directors from Providence, St. John's, Georgetown and Syracuse. Seton Hall, Connecticut and Boston College completed the original seven-school alliance.

While the membership has increased and changed, the focus of the BIG EAST has not wavered. The conference reflects a tradition of broadbased programs, led by administrators and coaches who place a constant emphasis on academic integrity. The BIG EAST Conference has enjoyed a leadership role nationally. Its student-athletes own significantly high graduation rates and their record of scholastic achievement notably shows a balance between intercollegiate athletics and academics.

Any successful organization needs outstanding leadership. Michael Tranghese – the league's first full-time employee and, for 11 years, the associate to Dave Gavitt – moved into the BIG EAST commissioner's chair in 1990. In his first year, Tranghese administered the formation of the BIG EAST Football Conference.

The league has long been considered a leader in innovative concepts in promotion and publicity, particularly regarding television. Those efforts have resulted in unparalleled visibility for BIG EAST student-athletes. The conference has enjoyed long-standing relationships with CBS, ESPN and ABC.

While BIG EAST basketball games are regular sellouts at campus and major public arenas, including the annual men's BIG EAST Championship in Madison Square Garden, attendance figures also are significant at BIG EAST soccer, women's basketball and baseball games.

More than 550 BIG EAST athletes have earned All America recognition and dozens have won individual NCAA national championships. The BIG EAST has been well represented in U.S. or foreign national and Olympic teams. Several athletes earned gold medals in each of the past five summer Olympiads.

The BIG EAST has its headquarters in Providence, where the conference administers to more than 5,500 athletes in 23 sports.
