NOTRE DAME

SEASON PREVIEW

Senior captain

Stephen Bass has filled the No. 1 spot for the Irish each of the past two seasons and will likely do the same in 2007. He is on pace to finish among the top 10 in Notre Dame history in overall singles victories (73-35) and top five in singles victories at No. 1 (20-19).

Fighting Irish Tennis Hoping for Breakthrough in 2006-07

Experience from last season has only made Notre Dame stronger

After making its 15th appearance in the NCAA Championships over the last 16 years, the Notre Dame men's tennis team hopes for even greater success in 2006-07 with the return of the bulk of its lineup and another talented freshman class. Lost to graduation were Patrick Buchanan and Eric Langenkamp, but 20th-year head coach Bob Bayliss welcomes back five of his top six players, including junior All-American Sheeva Parbhu and senior Stephen Bass, as part of a determined group of returning individuals.

"This year's team has done a good job of positioning itself for a breakout year," said Bayliss. "Individually we had an outstanding fall. Stephen's [Bass] semifinal finish at the National Indoors, Sheeva's quarterfinals showing at last year's NCAA Championships, Barry's finish at the Midland Invitational, Brett's potential and the showing that Ryan and Sheeva had in doubles at the Indoors show that we can win high in our lineup.

"These things have placed us high enough in the rankings to be in the National Team Indoors and, that - plus the already strong national schedule which includes home matches against Illinois, Duke, Florida State and Michigan - gives us the opportunities to prove that we are an elite team."

The Irish will be hungry to not only improve upon their NCAA round of 16 loss to top-ranked Georgia that ended their 2005-06 season with a 19-9 record, but to regain dominance in the BIG EAST Conference. Louisville upset top-seeded

Notre Dame in last year's BIG EAST Tournament final. The Irish were looking for their third consecutive title and sixth in program history.

"Perhaps our biggest asset is last year's experience," said Bayliss. "We opened the spring with three tough losses to teams ranked in the top 10, but we came back and knocked off Ohio State. Similarly, after losing the Big East final, we came back to down Texas A&M in College Station and knocked the Aggies out of the NCAA tournament before the Sweet 16 for the first time in seven years.

"Our guys have been through the wars and have tasted enough success to know what it feels like, but have lost 4-3 decisions often enough that they still remember those experiences. Reaching the Sweet 16 a year ago gave us a taste of what we want, but certainly left us hungry for more. This year we expect to be in the same position and will not be satisfied unless we advance further."

This past fall, Notre Dame showcased its depth and ability to compete on a national stage. Bass became the first Irish player ever to reach the semifinals of the ITA National Indoor Championship, while Parbhu reached the finals of the ITA Midwest Championship for the second consecutive season. Senior Ryan Keckley and Parbhu also qualified for the ITA National Indoor Doubles Championship after winning the ITA Midwest title.

Parbhu, who played most of last season at No. 2 singles, went 33-8 in 2006 (now 65-15 for his career) and was ranked 28th in the final ITA national, singles rankings after being the first Irish men's player to advance to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Singles Championship since 1959. He led Notre Dame in singles victories, registering the most since current assistant coach Ryan Sachire was 37-9 in 1998-99. Parbhu was the first Notre Dame All-American since Javier Taborga (singles and doubles) and Casey Smith (doubles) in 2001-02. He also participated with the 2006 USTA Summer Collegiate Team - one of six male collegiate players on the squad.

"Sheeva has the mentality of a CIA operative," said Bayliss. "He really focuses entirely on winning rather than looking pretty. He may be the most improved player in college tennis over the past two years, as he has gone from a very good No. 4 player to a quarterfinalist in last year's NAAs. He had weaknesses when he arrived, but has made some of them into strengths and has really developed weapons off both wings."

Sophomore Brett Helgeson had a brilliant freshman season posting a 23-11 record and gives the Irish a dynamic player in the No. 3 spot in the singles order.

Bass enters his senior year after playing much of the past two years in the No. 1 singles position. He went 27-14 in singles, including 14-12 in dual action. Bass, now 73-35 over his first three seasons with the Irish, ranked second on the Irish in singles victories and finished the season as the 29th-rated singles player in the NCAA. He climbed as high as 8th in singles - becoming the third Notre Dame player ever to crack the top 10.

"Stephen has made a firm and measured commitment over his Notre Dame career to become the best player he can be," Bayliss said. "He arrived with a second serve that, at times, needed a tailwind to help it clear the net. His forehand was defensive and he rarely came to the net. Now, he is simply one of the elite players in the country, having won the Midwest Regional Singles title a year ago and having reached the semifinals of this year's National Indoors. This is a result of hard work, dedication and a fierce desire for greatness."

While the Irish will depend on Parbhu and Bass to turn in 30-plus singles win seasons, the play of sophomore Brett Helgeson, senior Barry King and senior Ryan Keckley will be a strong indicator of the team's success. The trio will not only fill out the No. 3, No. 4 and No. 5 spots in the singles order, but each will play significant roles in doubles.

Helgeson had a brilliant freshman season a year ago. He went 23-11 in 2006, including 16-10 in dual action mostly at No. 3 (11-8). He was named to the BIG EAST Conference all-tournament team in singles. Helgeson's season was highlighted by his triumph over #6 Treat Huey of Virginia, 6-7, 6-1, 6-1 – the highest-ranked player to fall victim to a Notre Dame player since Javier Taborga beat then-#3 K.J. Hippensteel of Stanford on Oct. 12, 2000. He was second on the team with four match-clinching victories and reached the round of 16 at the ITA Midwest Regional Championships.

"Brett is the best ball striker we have," Bayliss said. "He can be absolutely devastating off the ground and with his serve. His challenge is to incorporate these weapons into an all-court philosophy that will allow him to showcase what he can do by coming to the net with a real purpose. When he truly understands the all-court philosophy, it is scary to think how good he might become."

King and Keckley split time last season between the No. 4 and 5 spots in the lineup. King went 14-8 overall, all in dual action after missing the fall season studying overseas. He was 5-2 at No. 3, 2-3 at No. 4 and 7-3 at No. 5. Keckley finished the season 21-7 in singles and 19-6 in dual action. The 19 dual victories were tied for the team-high. He went 11-5 at No. 4, 8-1 at No. 5 and climbed into the national rankings at #115 following his victory over #125 Georges-Alexandre Israel of VCU. Keckley, who opened the season with 16 victories over his first 18 matches, clinched Notre Dame's berth into the NCAA Tournament round of 16 with a victory over Brett Joelson of Texas A&M.

"Barry arrived with a strong backcourt identity, rarely venturing to the net and seldom taking any chances off the ground, but was very steady and covered a lot of court," said Bayliss. "He was a 6'5" counter-puncher playing a game not really suited to his physical attributes. We encouraged him to play a bigger game and, I am happy to say, it looks as if it may pay off this season."

"Ryan progressed from a promising player who lacked consistency to the toughest out in our lineup last season. He is an attacking player who is at his best at the net where he consistently demonstrates an uncanny ability to finish points. He became very solid off the ground last year and proved that he could outlast some very strong players from the backcourt. He is our most instinctive doubles player and I have high hopes that he and Sheeva Parbhu will maintain their top 10 ranking all year."

Senior Irakli Akhvlediani and junior Andrew Roth each will look to expand their role this spring after battling through injuries most of last season. Akhvlediani went 3-3 overall in singles last year, including a 1-1 mark in dual action (all at No. 6). In 2004-05, he finished the season with a record of 26-14 overall in singles, including 13-9 in dual action (2-2 at No. 4, 11-7 at No. 5). Roth went 8-4 overall and 2-2 in dual action (1-0 at No. 5 and 1-2 at No. 6). Roth made more of an impact in doubles, posting a 13-8 mark. He was 9-7 in dual action, going 4-3 with Helgeson at No. 3 and 4-3 with departed Eric Langenkamp (1-3 at No. 2 and 3-0 at No. 3).

"Bubba' was a strong presence at No. 5 during his sophomore year, but injuries hampered him a year ago and he saw very little action in the dual match season," said Bayliss. "He has strong ground strokes and has responded well to the direction we have given him – to be more aggressive and take advantage of opportunities to attack."

"Andrew has been hampered by injuries his entire Notre Dame career, but this fall gave indication that he is ready to be the 'sparkplug' in the lower lineup," added Bayliss. "He can be your worst nightmare in a tight match – having weapons off the ground, but not afraid to attack. Andrew has improved his second serve and backhand and is opening his stance on that side, giving him a quicker recovery and more explosive power. His confidence in attacking a second serve gives him another way to hurt you."

Sophomore Santiago Montoya also returns with his sights set on challenging for a spot in the Irish lineup. Montoya saw very limited action last season, going 2-3 in singles and 2-8 in doubles.

"He is perhaps the team's hardest worker and shows consistent improvement," said Bayliss. "He might have made his biggest strides this fall when he showed some terrific results. He is definitely in the loop for a doubles position this spring and has grown significantly as a singles player. At first, he was always trying to win every point and never gave you a chance to miss, but he now understands percentages and has shored up his weaknesses."

Bayliss also will point to members of Notre Dame's freshman class for contributions. Sean Corrigan enters Notre Dame with a strong backhand and already has proven his ability to play on both the ITF and USTA level. Takashi Yoshii's power and work ethic should provide a boost to the Irish lineup, while Patrick Callaghan offers a rare combination of speed and grit. Graham King and Dan Schafer also could contribute.

In addition to necessary contributions from the freshman class, Bayliss sees other points of emphasis for the Irish.

"One of the keys to success this year is our doubles play," said Bayliss. "Our No. 1 team of Keckley and Parbhu has a preseason national ranking of #9, so that is a good start. We need Helgeson and King to play big and become an overpowering presence at No. 2, allowing them to flourish. With Bass, Roth and Montoya we feel we can be outstanding at No. 3. Establishing a strong doubles identity at the start of the season will be critical to our development. Hopefully our singles will take care of themselves. We have four or five guys capable of playing and winning at the top of our lineup and several great options for the lower positions. In short, we have strength at the top, balance at the bottom and the promise of beginning each match with the critical doubles point in hand."

Awaiting the Irish is a perennially challenging schedule that includes Ohio State, Illinois, Duke, Virginia, Florida State and Washington. In all, 12 of Notre Dame's 18 regular-season opponents – not including the teams the Irish will face in the Blue-Gray National Tennis Classic, which traditionally provides several ranked tests for ND – were listed in the preseason rankings, with six ranking in the top 20.

Senior Ryan Keckley finished last season with a 21-7 singles record and led the Irish with 19 dual victories. In addition to most likely filling the No. 4 singles spot, he will team with junior Sheeva Parbhu at No. 1 doubles. The duo enters the 2007 season ranked #11 in the ITA.

HIGH SCHOOL AND PERSONAL

DATA: One of the top juniors in Austria ... was ranked in national top 40 in men's division ... member of the Georgia Davis Cup team ... played for Vienna Athletic Club team that won Vienna men's team championship in '03 ... in 2001, won Casely's Junior Championship in 18s in Miami, Fla., and was a quarterfinalist in European Tennis Association 16s tournament in Krems, Austria ... had a number of other strong finishes in junior events ... his father is a senior officer of the United Nations ... born March 23, 1985, in Tbilisi, Georgia ... enrolled in the College of Arts and Letters as an economics major.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Irackli Akhvlediani ...

"'Bubba' was a strong presence at No. 5 during his sophomore year, but injuries hampered him a year ago and he saw very little action in the dual match season. He has strong ground strokes and has responded well to the direction we have been given him - to be more aggressive and take advantage of opportunities to attack. His win over Maryland's Andy Orban this fall indicates some progress there and we believe that he can regain the form of two years ago when he defeated the likes of Darren Cohen (Virginia) and Pramod Dabir (Illinois) in dual matches."

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Stephen Bass ...

"Stephen has made a firm and measured commitment over his Notre Dame career to become the best player he can be. He arrived with a second serve that, at times, needed a tailwind to help it clear the net. His forehand was defensive and he rarely came to the net. He competed very well, was quick, and generally found a way to win without weapons. Now, he is simply one of the elite players in the country, having won the Midwest Regional Singles title a year ago and having reached the semifinals of this year's National Indoors with a win over Georgia's John Isner. This is a result of hard work, dedication, and a fierce desire for greatness. He fully deserves the accolades he has garnered. I am excited to see where he can take his game this year. His second serve now allows him to start the point in control, his forehand is a weapon, and he is very adept at getting to the net and finishing points."

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Ryan Keckley ...

"Ryan progressed from a promising player who lacked consistency to the toughest out in our lineup last season, culminating the season with an inspiring win over Texas A&M's Brett Joelson in the match that sent us to the NCAA Sweet 16. He is an attacking player who is at his best at the net where he consistently demonstrates an uncanny ability to finish points. He became very solid off the ground last year and proved that he could outlast some very strong players from the backcourt. He is our most instinctive doubles player and I have high hopes that he and Sheeva Parbhu will maintain their top-10 ranking all year."

Olen Parks Award (2004-05)

Former national junior champion of Ireland who returned to Notre Dame for the spring semester of 2006 after spending the fall studying at University College in Dublin ... has been an integral part to team's success over the past three seasons ... has flattened out his shots and become more aggressive ... will look to rush the net more in his fourth collegiate season ... size, terrific backhand, and great serve are biggest strengths of his game ... has tremendous potential to turn into a great player ... boasts outstanding groundstrokes ... needs to take advantage of the opportunities he creates ... just the second Ireland native to play for Notre Dame, joining County Kildare native Eoin Beirne (1993-94) ... three-year monogram winner.

AS A JUNIOR: Provided experience in the middle of the Irish lineup ... recorded a 14-8 overall singles record, all coming in dual action ... was 5-2 at No. 3, 2-3 at No. 4 and 7-3 at No. 5 ... moved into the national rankings for the second time in his career on March 7 (106th) ... opened the dual season with three consecutive victories, including a three-set triumph over #54 Rylan Rizza of Virginia, 6-3, 6-7, 6-1 ... put together a career-best five-match winning streak that was snapped in the Blue-Gray Classic final against Sergi Arumi of VCU ... led all three matches in the BIG EAST Championship, but each went undecided ... went 8-5 indoors, 2-4 in tie breakers, 8-13 in close sets, 14-3 when winning the first set, 6-3 outdoors, 5-6 in close matches, 6-2 at home and 6-3 against the Midwest Region ... went 11-10 in doubles action, all in dual format ... teamed up with six different Irish players, mostly with classmate Ryan Keckley ... went 5-5 at No. 1 doubles with Keckley ... went 4-1 with Sheeva Parbhu at No. 2 doubles ... he and Keckley were ranked as high as #20 ... ranked in seven of the 10 polls a year ago ... Keckley and King posted an 8-4 victory over then #1-ranked Raian Luchi and Brad Pomeroy of North Carolina on Feb. 4 ... that was the first time an Irish doubles team had knocked off the nation's top-ranked squad since Feb. 18, 1993, when Chuck Coleman and Will Forsyth prevailed 8-3 against Anders Eriksson and Trey Phillips of Texas.

AS A SOPHOMORE: Broke through to be one of Notre Dame's most-consistent winners and top clutch players in 2004-05 ... posted 26-10 record, including 19-7 in dual action - the second-most wins on the Irish ... was 5-3 at No. 2 and 14-4 at No. 3 ... ranked for most of the spring, peaking at 100th ... slipped out of final rankings, but was listed 12th in the Midwest Region ... posted 5-2 record in three-set matches, including 4-2 with the dual-match outcome paired with four different partners in doubles ... finished spring with Keckley, making No. 2 a strength for the Irish ... they won in final match on court to clinch doubles point against SMU and Ball State ... also won in tiebreaker against Michigan and provided ND's lone doubles victory in the NCAA tournament against Louisville ... only defeat came in 9-7 match against Ohio State ... played most of the spring with Stephen Bass, going 6-7 overall and 4-6 in dual matches ... lost 9-7 in final match on court against Duke ... clinched doubles point against North Carolina ... played twice at No. 3 with Patrick Buchanan ... teamed with Parbhu in fall, going 2-3 (they played together in the ITA Midwest Championships) ... in doubles, posted 9-6 record outdoors, compared to 6-10 inside ... won Olen Parks Award for having the best personality on the Irish.

AS A FRESHMAN: Immediately stepped into the Irish singles lineup and provided a boost in the bottom half ... finished 17-11, including 13-8 in dual matches, mostly at No. 5 ... was 9-5 at No. 5, 3-3 at No. 4, and 1-0 at No. 3 ... won six of his first eight matches in the spring ... had key three-set wins against Indiana and Illinois State in helping Irish to victories ... also won in three against Adel Abbas of Virginia Tech in 4-3 Notre Dame defeat ... in only match at No. 3, won against Saint Joseph's ... clinched Irish upset of #30 Fresno State in the Blue-Gray National Classic ... entered NCAA tournament on a five-match winning streak ... had late start in the fall due to some injuries ... went 3-1 in the adidas Invitational and lost at No. 4 against USC in exhibition match ... won one match in the ITA Midwest Championships before losing to #62 Michael Calkins of Illinois ... went 5-2 in three-set matches and was 14-2 when taking the opening set ... struggled in doubles action, losing in all seven of his matches (all dual) ... played five times with classmate Stephen Bass, but could do no better than a tiebreaker defeat against SMU ... played twice with Paul Hidaka.

IN NON-COLLEGIATE ACTION: Had outstanding summer of 2004 ... paired with Colin O'Brien of William & Mary to win the Irish Close doubles championship, defeating Tom Hamilton, formerly a national top-five doubles player at Arkansas, in the final ... reached semifinals of Irish Close singles tournament, falling to eventual champion Peter Clarke, who was ranked among the top 400 in the world ... defeated Conor Taylor, formerly North Carolina State's No. 1 player who was ranked as high as 36th in the nation, twice in the semifinals of tournaments in Ireland ... played his way into a wild card while qualifying at the Peoria, Ill., futures in 2005, but could not participate due to summer school.

HIGH SCHOOL AND PERSONAL DATA: National 18-and-under champion of Ireland and undefeated in junior action in his home country from January '01 until he enrolled at Notre Dame in August '03 ... captured second consecutive national junior title in summer of '03 ... won national indoor titles, in every age category ... at 16, won matches at No. 1 singles for Ireland against Scotland and Wales in the 18-and-under Four Nations tournament ... at 14 and 15, played No. 1 for Gonzaga College to help it win the All-Ireland schools tennis titles in 1999 and 2000 ... in 2001, finished as top-ranked player in Ireland in both 16s and 18s ... reached semifinals of Senior Irish Open in summer of '03 ... had a number of other impressive junior results ... four-year letterwinner in soccer in high school as a forward ... also played No. 3 singles on the table tennis team in his first two prep years ... born Jan. 22, 1985, in Dublin, Ireland ... enrolled in the Mendoza College of Business as a finance major.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Barry King ...

"Barry arrived with a strong backcourt identity, rarely venturing to the net and seldom taking any chances off the ground, but was very steady and covered a lot of court. He was a 6'5" counter-puncher playing a game not really suited to his physical attributes. We encouraged him to play a bigger game and, I am happy to say, it looks as if it may pay off this season. His wins at Midland over Filip Parocia and Denes Lukacs showed that he is ready to become a presence on the court."

Honor Society ... born July 30, 1986, in Iowa City, Iowa ... son of Rekha and Kaiushik Patel ... older of two children ... enrolled in the College of Arts and Letters as a preprofessional studies major.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Sheeva Parbhu ...

"Sheeva has the mentality of a CIA operative when he plays a match. He really focuses entirely on winning rather than looking pretty. He may be the most improved player in college tennis over the past two years, as he has gone from a very good No. 4 player to a quarterfinalist in last year's NCAAAs. He had weaknesses when he arrived but has made some of them into strengths and has really developed weapons off both wings. As his volleying and transitional skills continue to improve, he will threaten to become a challenger for an NCAA singles title before he graduates."

Tough player who was plagued by injuries over his first two seasons ... will look to return to form and challenge for playing time ... had several health problems in 2004-05, including two minor eye surgeries ... competitive and at his best in a tough fight ... big forehand is among his weapons ... has great instincts ... boasts good understanding of doubles ... has worked to improve his backhand volley and second serve

ASA SOPHOMORE: Went 8-4 in singles play, including 2-2 in dual action ... was 1-0 at No. 5 and 1-2 at No. 6 ... won three of his four matches at the Tom Fallon Invitational ... put together a career-high four-match winning streak ... took his first two matches from the ITA Midwest Championships qualifier ... went 4-1 indoors, 0-1 in tie breakers, 3-4 in close sets, 7-0 when winning the first set, 4-3 outdoors, 2-2 in close matches, 5-1 at home and 6-2 against the Midwest Region ... went 13-8 in doubles, including a 9-7 mark in dual action ... teamed with four different Irish players ... at No. 2 doubles, went 1-3 with departed Eric Langenkamp ... at No. 3 doubles, went 0-1 with current senior Stephen Bass, 1-0 with departed Patrick Buchanan, 4-3 with sophomore Brett Helgeson and 3-0 with Langenkamp.

AS A FRESHMAN: Posted 9-3 record in singles in 2004-05, as well as 6-6 in doubles ... started season 9-1 in singles, qualifying for the main draw of the ITA Midwest Championships before losing to #23 Jakub Praibis of Indiana ... went 4-0 in the Tom Fallon Invitational ... in doubles, went 5-5 with Buchanan ... they won first three matches together and then reached consolation final of A flight in Crimson Tide Fall Championships.

HIGH SCHOOL & PERSONAL DATA: Top-ranked 18-and-under player in Texas in 2004 ... ranked 12th nationally by the USTA in 2004 ... won two bronze balls (third place) in singles and doubles as a 16-year-old in the national winter championships ... ranked 12th by the USTA in the 16s in 2003 and 13th in the 14s in '01 ... was the No. 1 player on the Texas Junior Davis Cup team ... doubles quarterfinalist at the Winter Super National Championships ... born March 29, 1986, in Houston, Texas ... son of Stacey and Jeffrey Roth ... has one younger sister ... enrolled in the College of Arts and Letters as a film, television, and theater and computer applications double major.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Andrew Roth ...

"Andrew has been hampered by injuries his entire Notre Dame career, but this fall gave indication that he is ready to be the 'sparkplug' in the lower lineup. He can be your worst nightmare in a tight match - having weapons off the ground, but not afraid to attack. Andrew has improved his second serve and backhand and is opening his stance on that side, giving him a quicker recovery and more explosive power. His confidence in attacking a second serve gives him another way to hurt you. He really executed this well in last fall's win over NC State's Andres Iriarte."

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Brett Helgeson ...

"Brett is the best ball striker we have. He can be absolutely devastating off the ground and when serving. His challenge is to incorporate these weapons into an all-court philosophy which will allow him to showcase what he can do by coming to the net with a real purpose. When he truly understands the all-court philosophy, it is scary to think how good he might become. Watch out, college tennis fans!"

Episcopal School (TX)

Native of Colombia who figures to challenge for time in Notre Dame's doubles lineup ... recently became a United States citizen ... won doubles title at 2005 USTA Spring National Championships ... claimed Arizona state championship as a freshman in his only prep season in that state ... boasts great athleticism and big-time forehand, which he can hit with power to all corners of the court ... his serve is another major weapon ... possesses great flair and creative play ... has outstanding character and will add to team chemistry ... second Colombian ever to play for the Irish tennis team, following Jaime Saenz (1951-53, Cali).

ASA FRESHMAN: Saw limited action in 2005-06, posting a 2-3 record in singles and 2-8 mark in doubles ... picked up each of his victories in the Tom Fallon Invitational ... knocked off Chris Leuth of Drake, 7-6 (4), 6-1, and Danny Vidal of Ball State, 6-1, 6-3 ... split his two doubles matches with departed Patrick Buchanan ... defeated Hanus and Metully of Bradley, 8-2, with senior Ryan Keckley.

IN NON-COLLEGIATE ACTION: Played in four ITA Collegiate Summer Circuit events in Texas in 2005 ... doubles runner-up in Abilene and reached semifinals in Plano and Arlington ... was singles consolation runner-up in Abilene and reached final 16 in Plano and Arlington.

HIGH SCHOOL & PERSONAL DATA: Standout junior player in doubles ... won gold ball in the 2005 USTA Spring National Championships ... finished 2004 ranked 11th in USTA 18-and-under national doubles rankings, as well as 113th in singles (ninth in Texas) ... went undefeated and won state championship as a freshman at Chaparral High School in Scottsdale, Ariz. ... did not play prep tennis again until his senior year, when he competed for St. Stephen's Episcopal School in Austin, Texas ... spent much of his high school years traveling to play in junior tournaments ... born May 26, 1986, in Bogota, Colombia ... son of Luis Alberto Montoya and Luz Stella Allred ... oldest of four children ... intends to major in finance ... enrolled in the Mendoza College of Business.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Santiago Montoya ...

"Santiago is perhaps the team's hardest worker and shows consistent improvement. He might have made his biggest strides this fall when he showed some terrific results. He is definitely in the loop for a doubles position this spring and has grown significantly as a singles player. At first, he was always trying to win every point and never gave you a chance to miss, but he now understands percentages and has shored up his weaknesses. He is going to become an outstanding player in both singles and doubles here."

HIGH SCHOOL & PERSONAL DATA:

Four-year letterwinner at Covington Catholic high school ... two-time region singles champion ... named Northern Kentucky Player of the Year as a senior ... earned all-state as a senior ... school valedictorian, National Merit Finalist and Wendy's High School All-American state finalist ... member of top-ranked doubles team in USTA Midwest Section ... fourth-ranked player from the state of Kentucky ... born Jan. 1, 1988, in Cincinnati, Ohio ... son of Nancy Schafer and Mike Schafer ... has two brothers, Brian (16) and Stephen (13) ... intends to major in engineering ... enrolled in the First Year of Studies.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Dan Schafer ...

"Dan made tremendous strides quickly after his arrival, taking full advantage of the opportunities for individual coaching sessions to improve technically, specifically on the forehand and second serve. He plays with great determination and grit. He is not afraid to go for his shots and never, ever quits on a ball. No one can question Dan's toughness."

HIGH SCHOOL & PERSONAL DATA:

Four-year letterwinner at Iowa City West high school ... top-ranked player from the state of Iowa ... peaked at #81 in the national recruiting rankings ... captured two state singles championships ... helped scholastic team win a pair of state titles ... also reached the state finals in doubles ... member of the National Honor Society and an AP National Scholar ... born Aug. 29, 1987, in Washington, D.C. ... son of John and Kim Callaghan ... has one sister, Katie (17) ... intends to major in economics and political science ... enrolled in the First Year of Studies.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Patrick Callaghan ...

"Patrick has lightning quickness and the heart of a lion. He won in the juniors with primarily these two attributes. At our level, he now realizes that he has to flatten out his ball and look for his opportunities to attack. As he improves in this area, I believe he can become a strong lower lineup presence – and, from there, who knows? I rarely have seen this combination of speed and grit in a freshman."

"Sean made good strides this fall by compacting his forehand to allow him to play more up in the court. He has good all-court skills and the ability to really hurt you with his backhand. He is a seasoned veteran of junior play on both the ITF and USTA level. I see Sean becoming a very sound player who is equally good in both singles and doubles. He has terrific court awareness."

"Graham, more than anyone, has benefitted from our strength and conditioning program. He simply has become much more athletic in one semester. He has a strong lefty serve and the ability to crush the ball off the ground. He has opened up his stance on the two-handed backhand, adding power and mobility. His doubles skills are developing quickly. His ballstriking ability is greater than his older brother Barry's was at a comparable time in their respective developments."

"I met Takashi when I was the coach of the U.S. Collegiate All Star Team that played in Japan in 2003, when his family served as our hosts. He has explosive power off the ground and trains as hard as anyone we have. He is gaining an awareness of transition and learning to play higher percentage shots – but, athletically, he is already there. His ability to hurt you is his biggest weapon."

NOTRE DAME COACHING STAFF

A 12-time conference coach of the year and two-time national coach of the year, Bob Bayliss is one of just five active coaches to have more than 600 career victories. He has helped Irish players earn All-America honors on 18 occasions, and his squads have won 14 league championships and finished in the national top 20 in 10 different seasons.

Bob Bayliss

Head Coach
20th Season
Richmond '66

Over the past 37 years, Bob Bayliss has built a reputation as one of the top collegiate tennis coaches in the country. Few others have turned out so many exceptional players, had such great team success and earned as many honors.

His teams' accomplishments speak for themselves. Bayliss has led the Irish to 15 NCAA Championship berths in the past 16 seasons and has helped his teams post 10 top-20 finishes in that time. Bayliss' squads have advanced to the round of 16 in the NCAA tournament on six occasions, including a quarterfinal appearance in 1993 and a trip to the NCAA title match in 1992. On 14 occasions, his teams have won conference titles.

The players who have played under him have had similar success, earning All-America honors 18 times and bringing home seven Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) national awards. A pair of Irish players and three Notre Dame doubles teams have earned national rankings in the top five under Bayliss. Six of his players have been honored with the Byron V. Kanaley Award, the most prestigious honor given to Notre Dame senior student-athlete monogram winners who have been exemplary both as students and leaders.

The professional ranks have been the next step for a number of competitors who spent four years under Bayliss' tutelage. David DiLucia, who was ranked No. 1 nationally in both singles and doubles while at Notre Dame, went on to a successful pro career in which he played in the singles main draw of all four grand-slam events, entered the world top 100 in doubles and clinched the 2001 World Team Tennis title for the Philadelphia Freedoms. He recently served as the personal coach of Lindsay Davenport, former world's #1-ranked women's player. Three other formerly the Notre Dame players (Richard Cahill, Andy Zurcher, and current assistant coach Ryan Sachire) have been ranked among the world's top 400 doubles players, and a total of seven former Irish players have gone on to play professionally since 1999.

Bayliss' talent has not gone unnoticed among his peers, as he has been honored as national coach of the year twice. He also is a four-time Midwest Region coach of the year and has been named the top coach in his conference on 12 occasions. In 1995, he was honored with the Meritorious Service Award – previously had been bestowed upon just six coaches – for his extraordinary contributions to collegiate tennis and his service to the collegiate tennis community throughout his career.

Notre Dame's Monogram Club recognized Bayliss' accomplishments by awarding him an honorary monogram in 1993. At the time, he was one of just three current Irish coaches to have been so honored.

Bayliss currently serves on the ITA executive board of directors and is the assistant chair of the ITA's Division I operating committee. He also serves as co-chairperson of the ITA ethics and infractions committee and is on the executive and budget and collegiate hall of fame committees.

On two occasions, Bayliss has been selected to lead a team of collegiate all-stars into foreign competition. In the summer of 1991, Bayliss guided the United States team to a gold medal at the World University Games in Sheffield, England.

In the summer of 2003, he led an ITA All-Star Team to Tokyo, Japan, to take part in two "Dream Matches" – exhibition showdowns with the top Japanese collegiate tennis program (Waseda University) and a Japanese collegiate all-star squad. Bayliss and the USA were victorious in two hard-fought contests.

Feb. 18, 2005, against Northwestern, to become just the fifth active Division I coach to accomplish that feat. Bayliss has posted an overall record of 637-269-1 (.703) in 37 years of coaching, finishing with a winning record on all but one occasion. In 19 years at Notre Dame, Bayliss has a 346-166 (.676) record, and he helped Notre Dame become the seventh Division I school to register 1,000 all-time men's tennis victories, with a 5-2 upset of #18 North Carolina on Jan. 29, 2005.

Bayliss remains best known as the mastermind behind Notre Dame's march to the NCAA final in 1992 as the 10th seed. The '92 Irish were the lowest seed and first Northern school to reach the NCAA final since the team format was adopted in 1977.

He wasted little time in making his mark on Notre Dame men's tennis. In just the third year under Bayliss, in 1990, Notre Dame received its first-ever listing in the ITA national rankings. DiLucia advanced to the NCAA Singles Championship for the second year and was named one of 16 seeded competitors, becoming the first Irish player to earn All-America honors in 22 years.

Bayliss directed Notre Dame to a new level in 1991, when the Irish earned a berth in the NCAA Championship for the first time since the team format was adopted in 1977. Notre Dame was voted the top squad in the Midwest Region and defeated Kansas in the first round of the NCAA tournament before falling to eventual champion USC in the round of 16.

The following season, 1991-92, marked the return of two-time national champion Notre Dame to the nation's elite. The Irish posted an overall record of 23-4 on their way to the NCAA title match. Notre Dame entered that event ranked No. 10 in the country but proceeded to record wins over #7 Mississippi State, host and third-seeded Georgia, and top-ranked USC before falling to Stanford in the final. Bayliss was named ITA National Coach of the Year for his efforts, while DiLucia finished his career as a five-time All-American and won the Dan Magill Award as the top senior collegiate tennis player in the country.

Despite the impressive accomplishments of the '91-'92 team, the performance of the '92-'93 Irish team may have been even more remarkable. The Irish lost DiLucia to graduation and the pro tour, and captain Zurcher went out for the year in December, sidelined with a wrist injury just before the start of the dual-match season.

With the performance of a solid senior class and some surprises from the underclassmen, Bayliss and his team posted an 18-9 record and defeated Mississippi State in the second round of the NCAAAs to advance to the quarterfinals and finish the season ranked 10th in the country. The Irish also captured the prestigious Blue-Gray National Classic title in March. Seniors Chuck Coleman and Will Forsyth both were named singles All-Americans, the first time Notre Dame had boasted multiple singles All-Americans in 34 years. Coleman won the inaugural Tennis Magazine/Arthur Ashe National Collegiate Award for Sportsmanship and Leadership.

Bayliss faced a dual challenge in 1993-94 — coaching his team and playing host to the NCAA Championships — but he came through to lead the Irish to a 23-10 record and a spot in the round of 16 after they won the Region IV championship. The South Bend community came out to see the best players in the nation, and Zurcher and Todd Wilson gave the hometown crowd something to remember by advancing to the semifinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship. Zurcher became the second Notre Dame player in three years to win the Dan Magill Award and was the first Irish men's tennis player to earn Academic All-America honors.

For the second year in a row, Notre Dame played host to NCAA early-round action in 1995. The Irish finished with a 16-9 mark after falling to eventual NCAA finalist Mississippi in the final of the Region IV championship. Mike Sprouse became the second Notre Dame player in three years to win the Arthur Ashe Award, continuing the pattern of Irish dominance of national honors.

The Irish again advanced to NCAA Region IV play in 1996, after winning the BIG EAST championship in their inaugural season in the league. Despite losing half of the singles lineup and the No. 1 doubles team from the previous season, the 1996-97 team delivered a seventh top-20 finish for Notre Dame in eight years with a No. 16 final ranking.

Sachire became the first singles All-American in five years when he earned a seed in the 1998 NCAA Singles Championship, advanced to the third round, and finished as the 20th-ranked player in the country. He also became the first Notre Dame player to be named Most Outstanding Player at the BIG EAST Championship.

Bayliss helped Sachire improve his game and develop into the #2-ranked singles player in the country during his junior season, 1998-99, as he reached the final of the ITA All-American Championships, the second leg of the collegiate grand slam. Bayliss' milestone 500th career win came in a 9-0 victory against Northwestern on Feb. 20, and the Irish won their second BIG EAST title in April.

Under Bayliss' tutelage, Sachire became the first Irish player ever to win the Ted A. Farnsworth/ITA National Senior Player of the Year Award and the John Van Nostrand Memorial Award, which gives a cash stipend to a senior player intending to pursue a professional career. The 2000 Irish nearly pulled off the biggest upset in the history of the NCAA Team Championship, but No. 2 UCLA eventually prevailed 4-2 over the 34th-ranked Irish.

The 2001 squad vaulted from a preseason ranking of 33rd to a season-high 10th before finishing at 16th. For the first time since 1993, the Irish won the Blue-Gray National Classic and returned to the top 10.

His '02 team was one of the finest in Irish history. It was ranked in the top 10 throughout the regular season, peaking twice at No. 4, the highest midseason listing in school history. The Irish played host to NCAA action again and advanced to the round of 16 for the first time since 1994. They also won their third BIG EAST title, posted the second-highest win total of Bayliss' tenure, and defeated three top-10 teams, as well as eventual national champion USC in a fall exhibition match. Taborga was ranked as high as 11th in singles and joined DiLucia as the only players in school history to earn All-America honors in singles and doubles in the same season. He also won the National Senior Player of the Year award and was the only player in the country to defeat both the final national No. 1 singles player and No. 1 doubles team. He and Casey Smith teamed up for one of the best doubles seasons in school history, earning All-America honors and both winning a school-record 32 matches along the way.

In 2004, Bayliss guided his team from a preseason ranking of 49th to as high as 26th en route to a thrilling BIG EAST championship. The Irish avenged earlier losses to rivals Miami and Virginia Tech, in claiming the conference title in the final year with those two schools as league members.

The 2005 campaign saw the Irish return to the national top 20, peaking at 16th en route to winning back-to-back BIG EAST titles for the first time.

The 2006 Irish finished 17th in the final edition of the Fila Collegiate Tennis Rankings, administered by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA). It was the highest year-end listing for the Irish since 2001-02 (14th), as well as the 10th time since 1989-90 that Notre Dame has been among the top 20 in the final ITA rankings. It was the 16th consecutive year that Notre Dame was listed in the final ITA rankings. The Irish were 26th in the preseason, fell to as low as 31st (Feb. 14) and peaked at 15th (March 21) before finishing with a 19-9 record and reaching the round of 16 of the NCAA Championship.

Sheeva Parbhu was named a 2006 singles All-American by the ITA. The first Irish player to be so honored since 2001-02, he finished with a 33-8 record and was 28th in the final ITA national singles rankings after being the program's first player since 1959 to advance to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Singles Championship.

At Notre Dame, Bayliss remains responsible for much more than just providing the Irish with a winning men's tennis record. He oversees the Eck Tennis Pavilion, and has been responsible for improving the Courtney Tennis Center and erecting stadium-type bleachers for that outdoor facility. A series of free clinics for the Notre Dame and South Bend communities organized by Bayliss won the Irish program a grant from Volvo Tennis.

Bayliss came to Notre Dame after a three-year stint at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He guided the MIT men's tennis team to a 43-23-1 (.649) record. He led MIT to two consecutive New England Intercollegiate titles, its first in school history. He also was an assistant professor of physical education and the tennis pro at the Wellesley (Mass.) Country Club.

During 15 seasons at Navy (1970-84), Bayliss led the Midshipmen to a 248-80 (.756) record. His tenure was highlighted by being named the 1980 National Coach of the Year by the United States Professional Tennis Association. Navy finished with a 19-5 record that season and Bayliss was named the Maryland Professional of the Year.

He is the only Navy men's tennis coach that never lost to Army and was named the Mid-Atlantic Conference Coach of the Year in three consecutive seasons from 1978-80 before guiding the Middies to a 22-3 record in 1982. In addition to his tennis duties at Navy, Bayliss was an assistant professor of English and associate professor of physical education. He also coached Navy's squash team to a 42-16 (.724) record from 1978-1982. In the fall of 2005, Bayliss – who compiled a 19-0 career mark against Army – was recognized by Navy with both a plaque in the squash facility and the renaming of one of the tennis courts in his honor.

Bayliss is nationally esteemed in his profession. He has lectured at the United States Tennis Association program for teaching professionals and at the National Tennis Coaches convention. He oversees the Notre Dame tennis camps in the summer and completed the USTA's High Performance Coaching Program in 2002. In 2005, he traveled to Wimbledon to participate in a High Performance Continuing Education Program organized by the USTA.

Assistant coaches have benefited from spending time under Bayliss, being named the top assistant in the Midwest Region four times since '97. Four recent Irish assistants have gone on to head coaching positions. Brian Kalbas stayed on as an assistant under his former coach after graduating in 1989, eventually leaving for the head women's tennis job at William & Mary. Kalbas was the '98 National Coach of the Year and moved to North Carolina in the summer of '03 to become its head women's coach. Mike Morgan, an Irish assistant from 1997-2000, left to be the head men's coach at Claremont McKenna/Harvey Mudd/Scripps Colleges in California. In '03, he took over the men's and women's programs at Colby (Maine) College. Billy Pate, the '02 National Assistant Coach of the Year under Bayliss, is in his fifth season as head coach of Alabama.

Most recently, former Notre Dame assistant Todd Doeblar was named head coach at Penn State following the 2006 season.

Bayliss received his bachelor of arts degree in English at the University of Richmond (1966), where he also captained the tennis team and was a member of the basketball squad. In 2002, Bayliss was inducted into the University of Richmond Athletics Hall of Fame. A member of Omicron Delta Kappa (national leadership fraternity), he completed his master's degree in English at Richmond in 1971.

Bayliss and his wife, Pat, have four children: Jackie, Rob, Brendan, and Patrick. All of them graduated from Notre Dame.

What They Are Saying About Bob Bayliss

"He is by far one of the top three or four coaches in the nation. He does a great job in preparing his teams. He is extremely analytical and thoroughly studies his opposition to find a weakness. Every time you play a Bobby Bayliss-coached team, you know you're in for the fight of your life. He is a great friend off the court, but a highly competitive adversary on it."

– Jerry Simmons,
retired LSU head coach

"Bobby is unquestionably one of the most outstanding coaches in the country. He consistently gets the most out of his players, and they always represent Notre Dame as tremendous competitors and great sportsmen."

– Dick Gould,
Stanford director of tennis

"Bobby is known throughout the tennis community for his unselfish giving back to the sport. He's an inspiration to all of us."

– David Fish,
Harvard head coach

"He's by far the best coach in the country, men or women. He's the best motivator. Everything I've learned as far as motivating and developing strategy has come from him. I owe him everything."

– Brian Kalbas
North Carolina women's head coach, '98 ITA Women's National Coach of the Year and former Notre Dame player and assistant coach under Bayliss

"Bobby Bayliss is a true leader. He sets the standard in collegiate tennis. His passion for tennis, knowledge of the game and honesty are great assets to the development of our sport. We owe a great deal of our success to Bobby Bayliss' contributions."

– Craig Tiley,
former Illinois head coach, director of Tennis Australia

"Bobby is one of those rare individuals in life that absolutely inspires all of those around him. His unquestionable character, coupled with his unsurpassed enthusiasm, truly makes him one of the finest coaches in the entire tennis industry. I consider my time working with Bobby as one of the special opportunities in my life."

– Billy Pate,
Alabama head coach, '02 National Assistant Coach of the Year at Notre Dame under Bayliss

Assistant Coach

Ryan Sachire

Assistant Coach
First Season
Notre Dame '00

One of the top players in the 84-year history of the University of Notre Dame men's tennis program, Ryan Sachire is in his first year at his alma mater as an assistant coach. Sachire ended his professional career in 2005 and was an assistant at Baylor in 2005-06, helping the Bears reach the semifinals of the NCAA Championship. A three-time singles All-American, he replaces Todd Doebler, who was hired as the head coach at Penn State University.

"I was really excited to come back to Notre Dame," said Sachire. "It was special to return here as a coach after also being a student-athlete at Notre Dame. It was a dream come true for me. I have the utmost respect for coach Bayliss, and it has been a great thrill to have the opportunity to work with him."

Sachire was instrumental in helping Baylor compile an outstanding season in 2005-06. Despite losing two NCAA singles champions (Benjamin Becker and Benedikt Dorsch) to graduation, the Bears finished 25-7 and #4 in the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) national rankings. Baylor advanced all the way to the semifinals of the NCAA Championship before falling 4-3 to then-undefeated national #1 Georgia. The Bears won their fifth consecutive Big 12 Conference championship, slugging their way through a league that saw five teams finish among the national top 25. Sachire also helped several individual players to strong performances, as sophomore Lars Poerschke ascended to the national #1 ranking in singles on Jan. 10, 2006, and went on to be an All-American. Baylor ended up with three players (Poerschke #4, Michal Kokta #34, Matija Zgaga #62) and two doubles teams (Kokta/Poerschke #11, John Reckewey/Zgaga #51) in the final ITA national rankings.

"Ryan was a big part of our success this past season at Baylor," said BU head coach Matt Knoll. "While we are sorry to lose him, we understand that he and his wife Cindy are going home to Notre Dame. The Baylor family wishes them the very best."

Six years after graduating, Sachire remains one of the top players in Irish tennis history. He is the only Notre Dame player ever to win 30-plus singles matches in all four of his collegiate seasons and one of only two to earn four invitations to the NCAA Singles Championship. One of three Notre Dame players ever to be a three-year All-American, he finished in the national top 40 in singles four times and on five occasions appeared at a career-high of #2 in the ITA national singles rankings (four of those instances saw him behind only Harvard's James Blake, now ranked fifth in the world). Sachire posted a 138-43 record in singles – placing him second on Notre Dame's all-time wins list – and a 73-32 mark in doubles. In 2000, he swept the ITA's major awards for seniors, being tabbed the Ted A. Farnsworth/ITA National Senior Player of the Year and winning the John Van Nostrand Memorial Award, which provides a stipend to the top senior player embarking on a professional career.

"The hiring of Ryan Sachire at Notre Dame is going to have an immediate and positive impact on their team," said Harvard head coach Dave Fish. "He has played at the highest levels of the college game and had some outstanding results at the professional level. The Notre Dame players will benefit instantly from his expertise and presence on the court."

An elite singles player throughout his career – who was 72-19 at No. 1 singles – he was a regular in the collegiate grand slams. Sachire's best result was a trip to the title match of the 1998 ITA All-American Championships, where he lost to Blake. He also won the consolation title in the 1999 ITA National Intercollegiate Indoor Championships and reached the semifinals of the 1999 ITA National Clay Court Championships. He also reached the semifinals of the ITA Midwest Championships three times, including a runner-up result in 1996. Sachire three times was invited to be on the elite USTA Summer Collegiate Team that trains and plays pro tournaments together in the summer.

Sachire ranks among the top five in 13 different categories in the Irish record book. Among his notable career rankings are second in combined singles and doubles victories (211) and combined singles and doubles dual-match victories (141), third in wins at No. 1 singles and doubles dual-match victories (64), as well as fifth in singles dual-match wins (77).

He helped the Irish compile a 67-33 (.670) mark during his collegiate days, as well as four consecutive finishes in the national top 35 (including 16th in 1997), four NCAA tournament bids, and the 1999 BIG EAST Conference championship. Sachire was twice tabbed the conference tournament MVP and was the ITA Midwest Region Player of the Year in 1998 and 2000 after being the region's top rookie in '97. He was voted the team's MVP four times. A two-time BIG EAST Conference Academic All-Star, Sachire graduated in 2000 with a degree in economics.

Upon leaving Notre Dame, Sachire played five years of professional tennis, climbing to as high as 184th in the ATP (Association of Tennis Professionals) world doubles rankings and 391st in singles. He captured 16 tournament titles in doubles, 14 on the futures circuit, as well as challenger-level championships at Waco in 2002 and Atlantic City in '03. In singles, Sachire has a pair of pro titles to his credit, winning futures events in St. Joseph, Mo. (2002), and Lachine, Quebec (2003). He was among the top 35 American players in the ATP rankings in both singles and doubles and also served as director of tennis for the Wickertree Tennis and Fitness Center in Columbus, Ohio, before joining the Baylor staff.

Born April 2, 1978, Sachire is a native of Canfield, Ohio, and a 1996 graduate of Canfield High School. He dropped just five singles matches during his entire prep career en route to capturing a pair of Ohio state singles titles. He also was ranked as high as 24th in the USTA national singles rankings in the 16-and-under division.

Sachire married the former Cindy Harding – a 1999 Notre Dame graduate and former Irish cheerleader – on June 30, 2006, in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart on the Notre Dame campus.

Head Coach Bob Bayliss on Ryan Sachire ...

"I was so excited about Ryan's joining us that I couldn't wait for practices to begin!" said Bayliss. "I truly feel that we have the top assistant coach in the country and that his presence will energize our players to achieve new success this year. When Ryan enrolled at Notre Dame, he brought the same infectious enthusiasm. On top of that, it really helps to have someone who has won professional tournaments and played at a top 300-400 ATP level out on the courts with our guys."

Dr. Hugh Page

Volunteer Assistant Coach
Hampton '77

Dr. Hugh Page, the dean of the First Year of Studies and an associate professor in both theology and Africana Studies at the University of Notre Dame, is in his 12th year as a volunteer assistant coach with the Irish.

Page has been active in teaching tennis since 1975, when he began his career with All American Sports, Inc., a pioneer in the tennis industry. He has worked at a number of tennis camps in New England and has coached ranked players from the U.S., South America, and Europe. He is a member of both the United States Professional Tennis Association and the United States Professional Tennis Registry.

Page, a 1977 graduate of Hampton University, holds master's and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University.

Megan McBride

Senior Manager
Saint Mary's '06

Megan McBride is in her second year with the men's tennis program, serving as the team's senior manager in 2006-07. A native of Cortland, Ohio, and graduate of Lakeview High School, McBride handles daily administrative duties concerning videotaping, team travel, equipment, and recruiting, as well as assisting with the program's day-to-day operation. Prior to her involvement with the men's tennis program, McBride worked with the Irish football team in 2005.

Born April, 5, 1985, and the daughter of Timothy and Ruth McBride, she is enrolled at Saint Mary's College and will graduate in May 2007 with a degree in accounting and finance.

Jamie Rowland

Racket Technician
Notre Dame '08

Jamie Rowland is in his second year with the men's tennis program, serving as the team's racket technician. A native of the Minneapolis suburb of Plymouth, Minn., and a graduate of Wayzata High School – where he was on the tennis team – Rowland handles all stringing and customization of rackets and assists the coaching staff as needed in the program's day-to-day operation.

Born Feb. 2, 1986, and the son of Bill and Jill Rowland, he is a sophomore at Notre Dame and enrolled in the College of Engineering as a mechanical engineering major.

Teams Participating: Midwest Region teams, which include the Big Ten Conference schools other than Iowa and Penn State, as well as other area squads

Format: A 64-player singles draw, with a 64-player qualifying round feeding in eight players, and a 64-team doubles draw

ITA National Intercollegiate Indoor Championships

November 2-5
Columbus, OH • Racquet Club of Columbus

Host School: Ohio State

Participants: Singles finalists and doubles champions from each of the nine ITA regional championships held in October, plus at-large selections

Format: A 32-player single-elimination singles draw and a 16-team single-elimination doubles draw.

ND History in Tournament: The Irish have made 14 singles and six doubles appearances since 1991 in what is currently the second leg of the collegiate grand slam. Stephen Bass reached the singles quarterfinals in 2005, as did Ryan Sachire in 2000. In doubles, David DiLucia and Chuck Coleman were runners-up in 1992 and Javier Taborga and Casey Smith reached the semifinals in 2001.

Series vs. 2006-07 Opponents

Notes: Numbers in the rank column are Notre Dame's ITA national ranking at the time of the match followed by the opponent's ITA national ranking at the time of the match (199-present only). F-fall match.

BIG EAST CHAMPIONSHIP

*April 19-22
Tampa, FL • USF Varsity Tennis Courts*

Host School: South Florida
Teams Participating: Top eight teams as determined by the conference, based on national rankings and head-to-head results
Format: Dual-match tournament
ND History in Tournament: Notre Dame has reached the title match in all 10 years since joining the conference, winning the title in 1996, 1999, 2002, 2004, and 2005. The '03 final was rained out in progress. The Irish met Miami (which hosted all 12 tournaments while it was a league member) in the final eight years in a row before downing top-seeded Virginia Tech to win the '04 championship after upending the 'Canes in the semis. A year ago, ND swept Rutgers in the final.

NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP

*May 11-13 (1st/2nd Rounds, Campus Sites)
(Rd. of 16-Final, Athens, GA)*

Host School: Georgia
Teams Participating: 31 conference champions automatically qualify, 33 teams receive at-large bids from the NCAA
Format: 64-team single-elimination tournament
ND History in Tournament: Notre Dame won national titles in 1944 and 1959. In the current team format, Notre Dame gained a berth in the NCAAs every year from 1991 to 2002 and in '04, '05 and '06, advancing to the title match in 1992.

NCAA SINGLES & DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIPS

*May 23-28
Athens, GA*

Host School: Stanford
Format: A 64-player single-elimination singles draw and a 32-team single-elimination doubles draw
ND History in Tournament: Notre Dame has appeared in the singles draw 16 times since 1990. In the doubles draw, the Irish have sent 11 teams since 1991, with Andy Zurcher and Todd Wilson reaching the semifinals in 1994.

A Tradition of Excellence in Academics, Spirituality, Athletics

“Early on when I was invited to serve the University of Notre Dame, we talked about the goal of having every one of our varsity athletics teams achieve a top five national ranking – and every day we come closer to making that goal a reality.”

- Dr. Kevin M. White,
Director of Athletics

Since Knute was at the helm, the Department of Athletics has played an undeniable role in Notre Dame's visibility, its unique place in the hearts of those around the world, and – ultimately – its climb to the top ranks of academic institutions.

It is the challenge to continue to play that role, fulfill those lofty goals, reflect its Catholic heritage, educate future world leaders and, particularly, find the means to fund those undertakings that faces Our Lady's University today.

Simply put, we want it all. We want Irish athletics to continue to be a source of revenue for the academy, but we also want to be the home of the model intercollegiate athletics program. We want to be the unsurpassed leader in academic performance and fiscal responsibility. And we want to do it the right way, the Notre Dame way, which demands the highest level of integrity on and off the field.

With the help of the Notre Dame family – alumni, parents and friends – all things are possible.

How to make a gift:

- Send a check made payable to the University of Notre Dame to the address below.
- Specify if your employer has a matching gift program.
- Notre Dame employees may request a payroll deduction form.

NOTRE DAME

TENNIS TRADITION

Jerry Evert (left) – whose niece Chris went on to win 18 professional grand-slam titles and be the world's #1 women's player – and Charles Samson (right) teamed up to reach the semifinals of the NCAA doubles tournament, helping the Irish earn a share of the 1944 national championship. Samson, the NCAA singles runner-up that year, returned to his alma mater as head coach in the mid-1950s, recruiting a number of players who would win the second Irish national title, in 1959.

Tradition of Excellence Defines Irish Men's Tennis Program

Notre Dame's 84-year-old program boasts two national championships and over 1,000 victories

One needs only to glance at a few numbers to realize the tradition of excellence boasted by the Notre Dame men's tennis program. In 84 years of varsity competition, the Irish have posted 68 winning seasons, including 28 in the past 29 years. In 2004-05, Notre Dame became the seventh Division I school to pile up 1,000 all-time victories. A pair of national championships and countless tournament and conference titles serve as mileposts along the road to success.

Men's tennis initially took hold as an organized sport in 1888, when university vice president Rev. John Zahm, C.S.C., and future Notre Dame president Rev. Andrew Morrissey, C.S.C., announced the formation of a faculty-sponsored lawn tennis club. Within three years, a full-fledged interhall tennis program had emerged. In 1910, the Notre Dame Tennis Club was founded, setting up the transition to varsity status for the sport.

On May 7, 1923, the first Notre Dame varsity men's tennis team (the school's sixth varsity squad) played host to Indiana University, dropping a 6-0 decision at home in Notre Dame Fieldhouse. After coach C.P. Van Ryper elected to lead the Irish for only that 1923 season (consisting of two matches), Notre Dame began a 10-year coachless period. Nonetheless, the Irish managed their first victory in 1924, a 2-0 win at Wabash College, and put together an outstanding crew in 1927, posting a perfect 6-0 record for the first of six undefeated Irish men's tennis campaigns. Athletic director and football coach Knute Rockne was a major supporter of the program throughout this period, taking steps to allow the sport to be successful right up until his death.

Pedro de Landero became Notre Dame's second coach in 1934, helming the Irish program for six years before surrendering the reins to Walter Langford, who took Notre Dame to new heights.

After going undefeated in 1942, success arrived in a major way in '44 when Langford's team was 9-0 during the regular season and went on to win a share of the national title, making men's tennis the first Irish sport (along with men's golf, which won the '44 national title that same week) besides football to claim a national championship. Charles Samson led the Irish charge by advancing to the final of the singles draw of the NCAA Championships before falling to Miami's Francisco "Pancho" Segura – who also captured the crown in 1943 and '45 – which denied the Irish sole possession of the title (Miami and Texas also finished as co-champions). Samson and Jerry Evert, who reached the semifinals in doubles, earned All-America honors for their efforts, becoming the first Irish players to do so.

Evert and his brother Jim (a '47 All-American whose daughter Chris went on to be the No. 1 women's player in the world en route to claiming 18 grand-slam singles titles) combined for an astounding rate of success at Notre Dame. Together, they posted a 100-0 record in dual-match play (26-0 in both singles and doubles for Jerry, 24-0 in both singles and doubles for Jim).

After delivering another undefeated season in 1947, Langford ceased leading Notre Dame in 1953, to be replaced by Samson. The former Irish star led the team for three years before Tom Fallon began his tenure in 1957. Two seasons later, he led the Irish to a 14-0 regular season and a share of the 1959 NCAA title with Tulane. Notre Dame's Maxwell Brown and Bill Heinbecker had a chance to clinch the outright title when they faced the Green Wave's Crawford Henry and Ronald Holmberg in the NCAA doubles final, but the Tulane pair prevailed to give its team a share of the championship.

In his career, Fallon coached a number of players who went on to great success after leaving Notre Dame, from Jasjit Singh, who excelled in the professional grand slams, to 1966 graduate Pedro Rosselló, who went on to become the governor of Puerto Rico. Rosselló was named one of two winners of the 1999 Rolex Achievement Awards, which pay tribute to past participants in the world of collegiate tennis who have achieved excellence in their chosen careers and are honored for their professional successes and their contributions to society.

Following another undefeated campaign in 1966, Fallon brought the 1971 NCAA Championships to the Notre Dame campus, as UCLA won the team title. The NCAA singles final featured two soon-to-be legends: Jimmy Connors of UCLA and Roscoe Tanner of Stanford, with Connors – just a freshman at the time – prevailing.

Fallon became a college tennis legend and amassed a 514-194 record, winning the Eastern Intercollegiate Championships 11 times before retiring after the 1986-87 season. He was inducted into the Intercollegiate Tennis Association's (ITA) Hall of Fame in 1988.

In the fall of 1987, Bob Bayliss took over leadership of the program, beginning the process of returning Notre Dame to a position of national prominence. Bayliss led Notre Dame to its first-ever ITA national ranking in his third year and to an NCAA tournament berth in 1991 – the first for the Irish since the team format was adopted in 1977.

Notre Dame solidified its position as a national power in 1992 when Bayliss' squad upset #7 Mississippi State, host #3 Georgia, and #1 USC to advance to the NCAA championship match before falling to second-ranked Stanford. The Irish were the lowest-seeded team to advance to the NCAA final

Former Players Talk of the Notre Dame Experience

"I went to Notre Dame with very high expectations. I wanted to graduate with honors, be an All-American and play professional tennis upon my graduation. Thanks to the commitment and effort of all my coaches, professors and staff, I reached all my goals and continue to benefit from everything I learned during those fabulous four years."

- Javier Taborga, class of 2002

"I visited many of the top universities in the world in my search for a perfect school, and each one had something special to offer. Notre Dame was the only one that offered the complete package. I wanted a school that could help me develop as an athlete, a student, and a person. I expected quite a bit from the school, but as I look back on my four years I can honestly say that it went above and beyond anything I ever could have imagined. My only regret is that I did not have four more years."

- Casey Smith, class of 2002

"Not only is Notre Dame a prestigious university to attend, but to be a student-athlete there commands respect. I can't tell you the overwhelming pride I feel when I tell people I played Division I college tennis ... at Notre Dame."

- Brian Patterson, class of 1999

"I remember thinking what a privilege it was just to receive a letter from the tennis coach at the University of Notre Dame – and I wasn't even Catholic, nor was I a big Notre Dame fan. I just knew that Notre Dame was a place where I could combine my academic goals with my athletic goals. Little did I realize Notre Dame is that and so much more. ... As I traveled the United States and the world playing professional tennis, I was constantly amazed at the number of alumni who would introduce themselves out of the blue and welcome me to their particular corner of the world. I was offered housing and meals from Charleston, South Carolina, to Perth, Australia. The reason? Because I was part of the Notre Dame family; that was enough for them. ... It will be difficult to look at this place in the rearview mirror, but I know that I'll never really say good-bye to Notre Dame. I will always carry a piece of Notre Dame in my heart."

and the first Northern school to accomplish the feat. Bayliss was named the national coach of the year by the ITA, and Notre Dame finished the season ranked third in the nation, which remains the highest-ever listing for the school.

The '92 team was led by senior David DiLucia, who capped an extraordinary career at Notre Dame as a five-time All-American. He remains the only Irish player ever to be ranked No. 1 in the nation in singles, while he and Chuck Coleman are the only Notre Dame doubles pair ever to top the national doubles rankings. In 1992, DiLucia, playing No. 1 singles, went undefeated in dual-match play until falling to Alex O'Brien of Stanford in the NCAA final to finish the season 21-1 at No. 1. The Irish legend was honored by the ITA with the Dan Magill Award, which goes to the top senior collegiate tennis player in the country. DiLucia went on to a successful pro career, eventually playing in the singles main draw of each of the professional grand slam events, entering the world's top 100 in doubles and clinching the 2001 World Team Tennis championship for the Philadelphia Freedoms. He served as the personal coach of Lindsay Davenport, when she was the world's #1-ranked women's player.

Despite losing DiLucia, the '93 squad flourished, advancing to the NCAA quarterfinals (before losing to eventual national champion USC) and ending the season ranked 10th in the nation. Besides their success in the NAAs, the Irish also won the prestigious Blue-Gray National Tennis Classic with victories over four nationally-ranked teams. Coleman garnered All-America accolades in singles and doubles and earned the Tennis Magazine/Arthur Ashe National Award for Sportsmanship and Leadership.

In 1994, the NCAA introduced regional play in the men's tennis tournament for the first time, and the Irish posted wins over Michigan and Minnesota to win the Region IV tournament and a spot in the NCAA round of 16, which returned to the Notre Dame campus as Bayliss coordinated a city-wide effort to make the event a success on all fronts. Mark Merklein of Florida won the singles championship, while USC was the team victor (the Irish dropped a heartbreaking 4-3 decision against #4 Georgia).

Seniors Andy Zurcher and Todd Wilson, who both began their careers at Notre Dame as walk-ons, advanced to the semifinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship to earn All-America honors. Zurcher became the second Notre Dame player to win the Dan Magill Award and also the first men's tennis competitor to gain CoSIDA Academic All-America honors.

In 1995, Mike Sprouse won the national Arthur Ashe Award for Leadership and Sportsmanship. In addition, Bayliss was named the winner of the Rolex Meritorious Service Award for his dedication to college tennis.

The following year marked the first for Notre Dame in the BIG EAST Conference. The Irish won the 1996 title over Miami and have advanced to the final of the BIG EAST tournament each year since then, winning five championships.

In 2000, another Irish tennis great, Ryan Sachire, graduated after a brilliant career that saw him become the first Notre Dame player to win national senior-player-of-the-year honors when he swept both national senior awards. The ITA honored Sachire as the Ted A. Farnsworth/ITA National Senior Player of the Year and as the recipient of the John Van Nostrand Memorial Award, which gives a stipend to a college senior who intends to pursue a professional career. Sachire, who went on to capture 18 titles on the pro tour before retiring to become an assistant coach at Baylor, was ranked as high as No. 2 in the nation, was a three-time All-American in singles and twice was tabbed the BIG EAST Championship's Most Outstanding Player.

The two years following Sachire's departure featured a resurgence in Notre Dame's program, which has become one of the elite in the country once again. In 2001, Notre Dame won its second Blue-Gray National Tennis Classic title and moved into the top 10 of the ITA national rankings for the first time since 1993.

The 2002 season saw a number of milestones. The Irish advanced to the round of 16 of the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1994, won their third BIG EAST title and were ranked as high as fourth in the nation – the second-highest listing in school history. Javier Taborga became the second Notre Dame player to earn All-America honors in both singles and doubles in the same season. The Irish senior also was honored by the ITA as the National Senior Player of the Year and was the only competitor in the nation to defeat both the year-end No. 1 singles player and No. 1 doubles team.

Classmate Casey Smith teamed with Taborga to put together one of the best doubles seasons in school history, shattering the school record for doubles wins in a campaign (32) and earning All-America honors along the way. Assistant coach Billy Pate, now the head coach at Alabama, also was honored as the National Assistant Coach of the Year, continuing a long line of Irish coaching awards. Bayliss, who would be tabbed his conference's top coach for the ninth time during his Notre Dame career in 2005, also was named the BIG EAST's coach of the year.

The Bayliss Factor

Four years at Notre Dame under head coach Bob Bayliss has greatly enhanced the development of many players. A few examples of the progression of careers are below:

As a senior

National Senior Player of the Year; Singles & Doubles All-American; 19-5 at No. 1 singles; ranked #11 in singles and #4 in doubles

1944 NCAA Champions

Notre Dame's 1944 team headed to Northwestern for the 60th NCAA Championships in search of its first national intercollegiate title after being proclaimed the mythical "Western Tennis Champions" with a perfect 9-0 record. Each team was allowed to enter four players and the total score of a team was determined by the number of wins of those individuals from the quarterfinals on.

The "Big Four" of Jerry Evert, Jim Griffin, Charles Samson and Bill Tully, who had combined to lose just one time in the regular season, came through for head coach Walt Langford. A singles runner-up finish and a doubles semifinal showing were enough to earn the Irish a share of the title with Miami (Fla.) and Texas.

After all four won first-round singles matches, only Samson survived the second round. Unseeded, he advanced to the title match after ousting Gonzaga's third-seeded Harry Likas 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 in the semifinals. Samson's dream of an NCAA singles crown ended against Miami's top-seeded Pancho Segura, whose two-handed backhand and attacking style helped him cruise through the draw without losing a set, gaining the second of his three consecutive NCAA singles titles.

In the doubles competition, Griffin and Tully dropped their opening-round match to the second-seeded team. Evert and Samson rallied the Irish with a semifinal showing, keyed by a quarterfinal upset of Pacific's Arnold Beisser and George Druliner, to guarantee Notre Dame a share of the national title and make men's tennis (along with men's golf, which also won the 1944 NCAA title) the first Irish sport other than football to capture a national championship.

Notre Dame's 1944 NCAA champions, led by head coach Walter Langford. Members of the team included captain Charles Samson, Jerry Evert, Jim Griffin, Darrell Black, Sanford Warshawsky, Bill Tully, Joe Wood, Bart O'Brian, and Leonard Buchstaber.

The Irish found success once again at Northwestern, site of the 1959 NCAA Championships. Despite a change making all singles and doubles victories count in the team score, Notre Dame shared the national title – this time with Tulane – when both teams finished with eight points.

Irish captain and No. 1 singles player Max Brown advanced to the singles semifinals before losing to San Jose State's Whitney Reed, who went on to win the singles title.

Two matches between the eventual co-champions proved to be keys in the outcome: a singles quarterfinal and the doubles championship. Brown posted a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Tulane's Ron Holmberg in singles, but Holmberg teamed with Crawford Henry to form the top-seeded team in the doubles draw. Brown and Bill Heinbecker needed a win over the Green Wave in the doubles title match to clinch the outright NCAA crown for the Irish. Henry and Holmberg rallied Tulane with a 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 victory to secure the doubles championship and a share of the NCAA title, the first time it had been shared since 1944.

The 1959 Notre Dame men's tennis team proved to be one of the strongest teams in Irish history, as it won all 14 of its dual matches. Ten of the Irish victories were by 9-0 scores, three others were 8-1, and the only close match was a 5-4 win over Michigan, the Big Ten champion. The unbeaten season was the fifth of Notre Dame's six perfect seasons and the first of two under legendary coach Tom Fallon.

1992 NCAA Runners-Up

Notre Dame wrote another chapter in its NCAA tennis history of success, as the Irish and top-ranked All-American David DiLucia stormed to the NCAA championship match in 1992. The 10th-seeded Irish were the lowest seed and first Northern team to reach the national title match since the current format was adopted in 1977.

After finishing the regular season with a 20-3 record, Notre Dame split the six singles matches with seventh-seeded Mississippi in its first-round contest. The Irish won in straight sets at No. 2 and 3 doubles to advance to the quarterfinals for the first time.

Notre Dame next faced host and third-seeded Georgia and built a 4-2 lead after singles. The Bulldogs rallied to knot the match at 4-4 after doubles wins at No. 1 and 3, but the Irish doubles team of Will Forsyth and Andy Zurcher clinched another upset with a 7-6 (7-5), 7-6 (7-5) win at No. 2.

Top-ranked and defending champion USC awaited Notre Dame in the semifinals with a 21-2 record. The Irish won two of the first three matches to take the lead and then won three different three-set matches to pull the 5-1 upset before doubles commenced.

Second-seeded Stanford stopped Notre Dame's Cinderella run in the title match with a 5-0 win. The Cardinal won two three-set matches to help clinch the championship.

Irish in the Davis Cup

Since the arrival of head coach Bob Bayliss, various players have represented their native lands in the Davis Cup – the world-wide team tennis competition that has been contested for over a century. Over the past 15 years, three Notre Dame players – Allan Lopez ('94) of El Salvador, Javier Taborga ('02) of Bolivia, and Luis Haddock ('04) of Puerto Rico – have competed in Davis Cup action, while David DiLucia ('92) was a member of the prestigious United States team, though he never saw action in a tie. Current senior Irakli Akhvlediani was invited to play for his native Georgia in 2004, but he declined because of academic conflicts.

Taborga has established himself as the most prolific Davis Cup player in Bolivian history. In five years of competition (1998-99, 2002-04), he holds a 21-15 (11-7 singles, 10-8 doubles) record. His victory total is the most for any Bolivian in the Davis Cup, while his 23 career ties played also are tops for his country. Taborga and Alberto Sottocorno stand as the best

Bolivian doubles team, as they are unbeaten in five Davis Cup matches.

During his final season at Notre Dame, Taborga played in the Davis Cup and went unbeaten in both singles (4-0) and doubles (3-0) in helping Bolivia to a 4-0 record that moved it up to Group III of the Americas Zone. In his most recent performance, Taborga was 2-3 in singles and 2-2 in doubles in '04, as Bolivia won two of five ties in Group III action in Honduras. In '98, Taborga notched a 6-3, 6-2 win against Haddock in Davis Cup doubles action in Bolivia.

Haddock holds the distinction of being the youngest player in Puerto Rico history to play in the Davis Cup, as he made his debut at the age of 16 in 1998. He has participated in all but one Davis Cup (2001) since then, and his six career appearances tie him with Gabriel Montilla as the most by any Puerto Rican. Haddock's 13-12 career record (10-9 singles, 3-3 doubles) place him behind only Montilla in career wins in the event. His Davis Cup career was highlighted by helping Puerto Rico post 10 consecutive wins from 1998-2000 en route to moving up to Group III. He then went 3-1 in singles play in 2003, as Puerto Rico was unbeaten in four matches to move up to Group II of the Americas Zone. In 2004, Haddock lost to former University of Florida standout Mark Merklein (who won the NCAA singles title at the Courtney Tennis Center in 1994) of the Bahamas in the Group II quarterfinals in February. He then went on to avenge a 2000 Davis Cup loss to Jamaica's Ryan Russell in relegation play in April.

During his final two collegiate seasons, Lopez became the first Bayliss-era player to compete in the Davis Cup. He compiled a 6-8 record (0-3 singles, 6-5 doubles) in Americas Zone Group III action, helping El Salvador to a 5-2 record in 1993 and a 3-1 mark in '94.

Notre Dame Men's Tennis All-Americans

In the history of men's tennis varsity competition at Notre Dame, 16 different Irish players have earned All-America honors on 28 occasions, spanning from 1944 to 2006. While All-Americans were determined by an NCAA committee for most of the 20th century, the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) adopted specific criteria for the honor in 1977.

The governing body of collegiate tennis each year bestows All-America honors upon all players who meet at least one of three criteria in singles or doubles. In singles, an individual must: 1) finish in the top 20 of the final ITA national singles rankings; 2) earn one of the 16 seeds in the NCAA Singles Championship; or 3) advance to the round of 16 in the NCAA Singles Championship. To earn All-America mention in doubles, a team must: 1) finish in top 10 of the final ITA national doubles rankings; 2) earn one of the eight seeds in the NCAA Doubles Championship; or 3) advance to the quarterfinals in the NCAA Doubles Championship.

David DiLucia ('92) is the only Irish player to earn All-America honors on five occasions, gaining mention in singles from 1990-92 and in doubles in the latter two seasons. Four players have gained All-America mention in three different years. Joining DiLucia are Don Ralph (1959-61), Chuck Coleman (1991-93), and Ryan Sachire (1998-2000). The only players to earn All-America honors in both singles and doubles in the same season are DiLucia (1991 & '92) and Javier Taborga (2002).

Byron V. Kanaley Award

The most-prestigious honor awarded to a Notre Dame student-athlete, the Byron V. Kanaley Award has been presented each year since 1927 to senior monogram athletes who have been exemplary as students and leaders.

The awards, presented by the Faculty Board on Athletics, are named in honor of a 1904 Notre Dame graduate who was a member of the Irish baseball team as an undergraduate. Kanaley went on to a successful banking career in Chicago and served the University as a lay trustee from 1915 until his death in 1960.

Nine members of the Notre Dame men's tennis team have received the award, including Luis Haddock in 2004 and Brent D'Amico in '05.

Francis Patrick O'Connor Award

First presented in 1993, the Francis Patrick O'Connor Award is named in honor of a former Notre Dame wrestler who died in 1973 following his freshman year at Notre Dame. The award is presented upon nomination of head coaches and is given to one male and one female student-athlete who best display the total embodiment of the true spirit of Notre Dame as exemplified by their contribution and inspiration to their teams and who possess such characteristics as caring, courage, confidence, encouragement, humility, honesty, humor, kindness and patience. Brian Patterson (pictured) became the first men's tennis player to receive the Francis Patrick O'Connor Award, in 1999.

Notre Dame in the NCAA Tournament

The University of Notre Dame men's tennis team has advanced to the NCAA Championship in 15 of the last 16 years, making it one of only 12 Division I teams to hold that distinction. The run has been highlighted by a trip to the championship match in 1992 – the first by a Northern school since the inception of the team tournament – and an appearance in the quarterfinals in 1993, as well as three other trips to the round of 16.

Notre Dame won the NCAA Championship in 1959, along with Tulane, when the tournament was based on points gained from individual singles and doubles victories. The Irish also tied with Texas and Miami (Fla.) to win the national title in 1944, when only wins from the quarterfinals or later counted as team points. Notre Dame finished in the top 10 at the NCAA's 17 times from 1943-67.

In 1977, the NCAA Championship became a 20-team event with all teams picked on an at-large basis. In 1994, the event developed into a regional format with the top eight teams in the country and eight regional winners advancing to a bracket of 16, which was played at a national site. In 1999, the championship expanded to 64 teams, dropped the regional format and implemented first- and second-round matches at 16 campus sites for every team in the championship. The 16 teams winning their second-round matches in 2007 advance to the national site, the Dan Magill Tennis Complex in Athens, Ga., for the final four rounds of team competition, May 17-28.

Irish in the NCAA Singles & Doubles Championships

Notre Dame has had a number of outstanding results in the individual NCAA tournaments. Prior to 1977, the NCAA Championship consisted of a singles and doubles draw, with players earning points for their teams with victories. Jim Evert, whose daughter Chris went on to be the world's No. 1 player and win 18 grand-slam singles titles, was the first Irish player to score a point in the NCAA Championship when he reached the singles semifinals in 1943. A year later, Charles Samson advanced to the singles title match before losing to three-time champ Pancho Segura. Also in 1944, a year in which Notre Dame won the national title, Samson and Jerry Evert (brother of Jim) made the doubles semifinals before bowing out. After both served time in the military, the Evert brothers teamed up in 1948 to reach that same round in the NAAs.

The best singles result by an Irish player under the old format after the 1940s was a semifinal finish by Maxwell Brown in 1959, while he and Bill Heinbecker posted the all-time best Notre Dame doubles result that same year, advancing to the final before losing to Tulane's pair of Crawford Henry and Ronald Holmberg.

In 1977, the NCAA adopted a separate team tournament and limited the singles and doubles draws to 64 and 32 entrants, respectively. (They had previously been open to an unlimited number of participants.) Under the new format, Notre Dame has qualified 20 singles players and 12 doubles teams to the NAAs, with all but two singles entrants coming since 1990. Five times Irish players have been among the final 16 in the NCAA Singles Championship, including on three occasions by David DiLucia. However, current junior Sheeva Parbhu became the first Notre Dame player to reach the quarterfinals under the current format. In doubles, Andy Zurcher and Todd Wilson posted the best result, reaching the semifinals in front of a home crowd in 1994.

IRISH PLAYERS IN THE COLLEGIATE GRAND SLAM EVENTS

The collegiate grand slam consists of the three most-prestigious individual national tournaments in college tennis: the ITA All-American Championships (played in October), the National Intercollegiate Indoor Championships (now played in November after being a February event until 2001-02), and the year-end NCAA Championships. From 1986 until 2000-01, the September National Clay Court Championships made up the fourth leg of the collegiate grand slam, but the event is no longer played.

Irish players have had considerable success in the collegiate grand-slam events, earning runner-up finishes on three occasions: Ryan Sachire at the 1998 All-Americans, David DiLucia in the same event in '91 and DiLucia/Chuck Coleman in the '92 National Indoors. Notre Dame competitors have earned one of the top four seeds at a collegiate grand-slam event on 10 occasions, including four No. 1 seeds.

Conference Dominance

Following 60 years competing as an independent, the University of Notre Dame men's tennis team has had incredible success in conference action. The Irish have been league champions 12 times, including a streak of eight consecutive conference titles from 1988-89 to 1995-96. In its second stint in the league (four straight top-three finishes from 1982-83 to 1985-86 when it was called the Midwestern City Conference), Notre Dame won seven Midwestern Collegiate Conference titles from 1988-89 to 1994-95. Since becoming a member of the BIG EAST Conference in the 1995-96 season, the Irish have reached the title match of the league tournament every season, claiming five titles. Overall, Notre Dame has a 40-10 (.800) all-time mark against league rivals, including a 16-match winning streak from 1982-97.

Ten members of the BIG EAST Conference – Connecticut, DePaul, Georgetown, Louisville, Marquette, Notre Dame, Rutgers, South Florida, St. John's, and Villanova – field teams in men's tennis, but the league does not require round-robin competition during the season. ND has an all-time record of 94-3 (.969) against those teams. The top eight squads, as selected by the conference based on national ranking and head-to-head results, earn invitations to the year-end BIG EAST Championship, a single-elimination team tournament with the winner earning the league's automatic berth in the NCAA Championship. The 2007 BIG EAST Championship will take place April 20-22 in Tampa, Fla., on the USF campus. Prior to 2001, all 10 teams qualified for the conference tournament, with the top two seeds gaining byes into the quarterfinals. From 2002-05, the event featured the top six squads, again with two teams gaining byes. For more information on the BIG EAST Conference, see page 107.

Notre Dame faced Miami in eight straight BIG EAST finals (1996-2003), before upsetting top-seeded Virginia Tech in 2004 and beating Rutgers in the '05 title match. The Irish won three times (1996, '99, 2002) against the Hurricanes (who hosted the event until leaving the conference after the 2003-04 season). The '03 final was rained out in progress, with conference policy awarding the NCAA automatic berth to the top-seeded Hurricanes. In 15 early-round matches (first round though semifinals), Notre Dame is undefeated, having registered 14 shutouts. The Irish have been the top seed heading into the tournament eight times, while they were the No. 2 seed in 2000 and '04 and the No. 3 seed in 2003.

Courtney Tennis Center

Notre Dame's Courtney Tennis Center, the home of Irish tennis since its construction in 1967, has played host to the nation's top players on a number of occasions, while becoming an extremely difficult place for opposing teams to win.

Due to its exceptional facilities, Notre Dame has played host to a number of prestigious events, including serving as the national site of the NCAA Championships three times. Just four years after it was built, the Courtney Tennis Center played host to the 1971 NCAA Division I Men's Tennis Championships, which featured what is still considered by coaches to be the finest collection of collegiate tennis talent ever assembled. In that spring classic, freshman Jimmy Connors of UCLA defeated Stanford's Roscoe Tanner in five sets to capture the singles title. That pair would go on to reach a combined 17 grand slam singles finals on the pro tour, including eight victories. The Bruins swept all three titles, claiming their 10th team national championship (besting runner-up Trinity University) and having Haroon Rahim and Jeff Browiak win the doubles championship.

The NCAA tournament came to Notre Dame again in 1994, and USC won its third national championship in four years by outlasting Stanford in the title match by a 4-3 score. Mark Merklein of the University of Florida won the singles championship, and Mississippi State's Laurent Miquelard and Joc Simmons captured the doubles title, though the Notre Dame pair of former walk-ons Andy Zurcher and Todd Wilson reached the semifinals. It marked just the third different site to play host to the NCAA Championships since the current team format was established in 1977. The NCAA Women's Tennis Championships came to Notre Dame in 1998, making it the northernmost site ever to play host to that event.

In all, the Courtney Tennis Center has played host to NCAA action on 11 occasions, including every year from 1994-2002 for either men's or women's play. It has been the site of conference championships on nine occasions (three North Star, six Midwestern Collegiate), as well as an Intercollegiate Tennis Association Summer Circuit event for 10 straight years (1994-2003). The Courtney Tennis Center also has played host to a fall tournament since 1970, being the site of the Irish Fall Invitational until 1986 and of the Tom Fallon Invitational since then.

The Irish played nearly exclusively at the Courtney Tennis Center until the Eck Tennis Pavilion was completed in 1988. The indoor facility now has become the predominant location of Notre Dame's home matches, while the Courtney Tennis Center remains a regular site for late-season matches and NCAA competition, as well as continuing to be an integral practice facility during both the fall and spring.

Since 1991, a total of 16 top-25 opponents have left Notre Dame with a loss. Among the biggest home wins have been three upsets of top-15 foes, including a 4-3 decision against #8 Duke in 1997.

Since opening, the Courtney Tennis Center has undergone a variety of improvements. Most recently, 14 of the courts were newly resurfaced during the summer of 2003 and the facility was reoriented in the winter of 2004 as construction began on the neighboring Guglielmino Family Athletics Center. That undertaking saw the construction of a new tournament center tower, while the seating was moved from the west to the east end, which now plays host to varsity matches, making it more convenient for the teams headquartered in the Eck Tennis Pavilion. The reoriented Courtney Tennis Center, which features 14 courts, saw its first varsity men's action at the 2004 Tom Fallon Invitational.

The home of Irish tennis for nearly 40 years, construction Courtney Tennis Center was financed entirely by prominent Washington, D.C., attorney Jeremiah Courtney. The numerous courts and brand-new laykold surface make it a popular spot for students and faculty, as well as the varsity tennis teams. Courtney is a 1932 graduate of Columbia University, where he captained the tennis team. His two sons attended Notre Dame and played tennis under legendary coach Tom Fallon.

The first home of Irish tennis was the Notre Dame Fieldhouse, which played host to Irish home matches until the Courtney Tennis Center was built. The structure was razed in 1983. Indoor courts in Notre Dame's Joyce Center also were used sporadically before the Eck Tennis Pavilion's construction.

Eck Tennis Pavillion

Since its completion in June of 1987, Notre Dame's Eck Tennis Pavilion has been an integral part of the success of Irish tennis, allowing the team to practice year-round, regardless of weather conditions, and providing an alternative surface to further develop the all-around skills of Notre Dame's players. Additionally, it has become an extremely-difficult place for opponents to be victorious and has attracted some of the top events in collegiate tennis.

In 19 years of action in the Eck Tennis Pavilion, the Irish have compiled a 135-40 record for a .771 winning percentage. Notre Dame has been unbeaten in the building three times (7-0 in 1992, 10-0 in 2002 and 7-0 in 2006) and has lost just once in a season on six occasions. The Irish have posted a losing record in the Eck Tennis Pavilion in only one season since its opening.

The combination of the Eck Tennis Pavilion and Courtney Tennis Center has allowed the University of Notre Dame to play host to a number of prestigious events, including serving as the national site of the NCAA Championships. The event came to Notre Dame in 1994, and USC won its third national championship in four years by outlasting Stanford in the title match by a 4-3 score. Mark Merklein of the University of Florida won the singles championship, and Mississippi State's Laurent Miquelard and Joc Simmons captured the doubles title, though the Notre Dame pair of former walk-ons Andy Zurcher and Todd Five-time All-American David DiLucia plays in the Eck Tennis Pavilion in front of 1,100 fans against Stanford.

Wilson reached the semifinals. It marked just the third different site to play host to the NCAA Championships since the current team format was established in 1977. The NCAA Women's Tennis Championships came to Notre Dame in 1998, making it the northernmost site ever to play host to that event.

In all, Notre Dame has been the site of NCAA action on 11 occasions, including every year from 1994-2002 for either men's or women's play. The Eck Tennis Pavilion has three times welcomed the Intercollegiate Tennis Association's Midwest Region Indoor Championships and six times helped play host to the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Championship. The facility has been the home of the women's Eck Classic for 17 years and has provided additional courts for the men's Tom Fallon Invitational.

Since 1991, a total of 16 top-25 opponents have left Notre Dame with a loss. Among the biggest home wins have been three upsets of top-15 foes, including a 4-3 decision against #8 Duke in the Eck Tennis Pavilion in 1997. On Jan. 29, 2005, the facility was the site for Notre Dame's 1,000th all-time men's tennis victory, a 5-2 upset of #18 North Carolina that allowed the Irish to join the Tar Heels in the elite group of then just seven schools with 1,000-plus all-time wins.

The summer of 2003 saw the Eck Pavilion newly renovated, as all six courts were resurfaced (changing them from red to green) and the color scheme was changed to blue and gold throughout the building. Among the other highlights were numerous pieces of new wood furniture, as well as additional trophy cases and other accessories. The facility features the offices for both the men's and women's tennis coaches, as well as locker rooms for both teams, and a spacious spectator viewing area upstairs that is ideally suited for videotaping.

"It is truly one of the great collegiate indoor tennis facilities in the country," says Irish head coach Bob Bayliss.

In September 1988, the Eck Pavilion received the United States Tennis Association (USTA) Award for architectural design. As a result, the USTA presented the facility with a handsome wooden plaque, a large sign placed in front of the pavilion and a complimentary one-year membership in the USTA. The facility and its award are recognized in an inscription on a large mahogany board displayed in the lobby of the USTA National Tennis Center in Flushing Meadow, N.Y.

The facility was underwritten by Franklin E. Eck. He is chairman and chief executive officer of Advanced Drainage Systems, Inc., which produces corrugated plastic drainage pipe for agricultural and commercial purposes. A 1944 chemical engineering graduate of Notre Dame, Eck earned an M.B.A. from Harvard University in 1949. In 1984, he endowed a collection in Notre Dame's Hesburgh Library. The generosity of Eck also made possible the addition of Notre Dame's baseball facility, Frank Eck Stadium, and the Eck Visitor's Center.

The Eck Tennis Pavilion is the third facility to play host to indoor Irish tennis action. The Notre Dame Fieldhouse, which was razed in 1983, was the first home of Notre Dame's varsity team, and the Irish also sporadically used courts in the Joyce Center.

Notre Dame players have a long history of going on to play professional tennis. Jim Evert, an All-American who reached the singles semifinals of the NCAA Championship in 1943, was ranked as high as eighth in the United States as a professional, in 1952. His daughter, Chris, went on to be the world's No. 1 player, winning 18 grand-slam singles titles.

Among other former Notre Dame players to play professionally were two from the 1960s. A first-team All-American as a member of the Irish, Bill Brown ('67) had some success professionally upon graduation only to be followed into the pros by one of his teammates. Jasjit Singh, a 1968 graduate from India, remains the only Sikh to have played in all four professional grand-slam tournaments (Australian Open, French Open, Wimbledon, U.S. Open). In 1974, he was ranked 70th in the world by the Association of Tennis Professionals (ATP).

A total of 14 individuals who played under Bob Bayliss have gone on to dabble in professional careers. The most successful of that group was David DiLucia, a 1992 graduate who appeared in the singles main draw in each of the four grand slams. Ranked 92nd in the world in doubles in 1998, he went on to clinch the 2001 World Team Tennis title for the Philadelphia Freedoms and was the personal coach of Lindsay Davenport, the world's #1 women's player.

Six recent Irish graduates have been active in pro tennis. Ryan Sachire ('00) – now an assistant coach for the Irish – was the most successful, climbing to 180th in the world in doubles before retiring in 2005. During his pro career, he captured 16 tournament titles (14 futures, two challengers) in doubles and a pair in singles (both futures). Among American pros, Sachire was in the top 35 in singles and top 30 in doubles.

Among other recent players, 2002 graduate Javier Taborga won three futures doubles titles, while his classmate, Casey Smith, and '01 grad Matt Daly had one each to their credit. Aaron Talarico ('02) and Matthew Scott ('04) both reached the semifinals in doubles in futures events, as well.

Notre Dame's founding can perhaps best be characterized as an outburst of missionary zeal. How else can one describe the action of Father Edward Sorin, the 28-year-old French priest of the Congregation of Holy Cross who — with $310 cash and three log buildings in various stages of disrepair in the middle of the northern Indiana frontier — had the temerity to christen his enterprise the University of Notre Dame du Lac?

Notre Dame at its founding was a name in search of, or perhaps in anticipation of, a university. The wonder is not so much what the University become more than a century and a half later, but that it survived at all in those early years of beginning almost literally from nothing.

In his book, The University of Notre Dame: A Portrait of Its History and Campus, historian Thomas Schlereth of the American studies department has described the odds the University was up against: "Only nine other Catholic colleges existed when Notre Dame was founded, but that number had grown to 51 by 1861. Presently only seven of these antebellum institutions still exist. One historian estimates a mortality rate of approximately 80 percent among Notre Dame's contemporary secular institutions. Yet Notre Dame survived ..."

The University's survival of those early years is a tribute not only to the faith of Father Sorin, but also to his pragmatism and wit. In the beginning, his institution's only admissions requirement was the ability to pay — some payment, at least, and not necessarily in currency or coin; livestock or the services of a tradesman or some other "in-kind" payment also were cheerfully accepted. Nor were admissions limited by religious preference. Father Sorin's mission and inspiration were thoroughly and indisputably Catholic, but from the beginning he made it clear that would-be students of any religious persuasion were welcome; indeed, the fact that Notre Dame's student body eventually would become overwhelmingly Catholic was more a reflection of American culture than of parochialism on the University's part.

Sorin was equally flexible when it came to his University's academic offerings. While a classical collegiate curriculum was established early on, so too were elementary and preparatory programs as well as a manual-labor school, and for several decades the collegiate program never attracted more than a dozen students in any year. As Notre Dame's chronicler, Father Arthur Hope, C.S.C., has written, "If (Sorin) was to begin at all, the head of this new college had to be mightily concerned about frostbite and empty stomachs. The more elusive problems of intellectual development would have to wait."

If Notre Dame in its infancy was the child of Sorin's vision and will, its subsequent growth and development were the products of large and powerful social and historical forces. Just as the University was being established, the first waves of European immigrants, overwhelmingly Catholic, were reaching America's shores, and Notre Dame's location — though seemingly remote — in fact put it within easy reach of cities like Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, all of which soon would have large immigrant Catholic populations. The immigrant experience and the growth of the University of Notre Dame would be inextricably linked.

A number of forces were at work in this relationship. The "American Dream" was coming into being, and with it the hope and expectation that, through hard work and education, children would enjoy greater opportunities than their parents. At the same time, anti-immigrant and anti-Catholic sentiments were open and pervasive in American society, creating barriers to immigrant Catholic students. Equally strong sentiments among many Catholics regarded public schools at any level as dangerous places where young people might lose their faith. For all these reasons, education — primary, secondary and higher education — became a centerpiece of American Catholicism.

Though it may not have seemed so at the time, this great historical movement of peoples and the creation of the American melting pot dramatically enhanced the odds of Notre Dame's survival. What still had to be decided, however, was precisely the type of institution Notre Dame would become. How could this small Midwestern school without endowment and without ranks of well-to-do alumni hope to compete with firmly-established private universities and public-supported state institutions? As in Sorin's day, the fact that the University pursued this lofty and ambitious vision of its future was testimony to the faith of its leaders — men such as Father John Zahm, C.S.C.

As Schlereth describes it: "Zahm ... envisioned Notre Dame as potentially 'the intellectual center of the American West'; an institution with large undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools equipped with laboratories, libraries, and research facilities. Notre Dame should strive to become the University that its charter claimed it was."

Zahm was not without evidence to support his faith in Notre Dame's potential. On this campus in 1899, a young Notre Dame scientist by the name of Jerome Green became the first American to transmit a wireless message. At about the same time, Albert Zahm, Father John's younger brother, was designing the first successful helicopter and first wind tunnel while also launching the first man-carrying glider from the roof of a campus building. The University also had established the nation's first architecture, law and engineering schools under Catholic auspices.

The debate over Notre Dame's future effectively was ended in the two decades following the First World War. In 1919, the University installed its first president to have earned a Ph.D., Father James Burns, C.S.C., and the changes he initiated were as dramatic as they were far-reaching. The elementary, preparatory and manual-labor programs were scrapped; the University's first board of lay advisors was established with the goal of creating a $1-million endowment, with a national campaign conducted to achieve that goal; and the first annual giving program for alumni was launched. With this impetus established, the period between 1919 and 1933 would see the University would erect 15 new buildings and triple the numbers of both its students and its faculty.

A new and utterly unanticipated element was added to the ethos of Notre Damed uring this period, and the University forever after would be a national institution. That new element was, of course, the game of football. But for Notre Dame and for its legions of ethnic American loyalists — most, but not all, Catholic — the cliché was true: football was more than a game. Through its academic program, Notre Dame already was part of the striving of ethnic Americans to earn a place in the American mainstream. But in this golden era, even for those who had never and would never attend Notre Dame, the University became a symbol, so much so that its attraction persists literally to this day.

The national recognition that football brought to Notre Dame was a mixed blessing at those times when it tended to overshadow the University's growing academic distinction, but overall it has been an almost incalculable boon to public awareness of, interest in, and support of Notre Dame. It may be amusing to speculate how the University's history might have been different without the phenomenon of football, but the University is happy to accept this legacy as is.

If the post-World War I era saw Notre Dame's first flowering as a true University, the six decades since the Second World War have seen the vision of John Zahm reach full fruition. Father John Cavanaugh, C.S.C., began the process after the war by toughening Notre Dame's entrance requirements, increasing faculty hiring, and establishing the Notre Dame Foundation to expand the University's development capabilities. Then, during the 35-year tenure of Father Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., Notre Dame's enrollment, faculty and degrees awarded all doubled; library volumes increased five-fold; endowment catapulted from less than $10 million to more than $400 million; campus physical facilities grew from 48 to 88 buildings; faculty compensation increased ten-fold; and research funding grew more than twenty-fold. In addition, two defining moments occurred during this period: the transference of University governance in 1967 from the Congregation of Holy Cross to a predominantly lay board of trustees and the admission of women to undergraduate studies in 1972.

During the 18-year presidency of Father Edward Malloy, C.S.C., the University continued to grow in stature. Endowed faculty positions rose to more than 190, the student body became — and remains — one of the most selective in the nation (with one-third of entering freshmen ranking among the top five students in their high school graduating classes), and the graduation rate annually in the top five in the nation. The University's endowment of some $4 billion is among the top 20 in American higher education, and campus additions during the Malloy years included new research laboratories, a graduate student housing complex, residence halls for undergraduate women (who now compose 47 percent of the student body), the 84-classroom DeBartolo Hall, the Mendoza College of Business, the DeBartolo Center for the Performing Arts, and the new Jordan Hall of Science.

Father John I. Jenkins, C.S.C., who became Notre Dame's 17th president in July of 2005, has challenged his administration and the faculty, students, alumni and friends of the University to, in words from his inaugural speech, "build a Notre Dame that is bigger and better than ever — a great Catholic university for the 21st century, one of the pre-eminent research institutions in the world, a center for learning whose intellectual and religious traditions converge to make it a healing, unifying, enlightening force for a world deeply in need. This is our goal. let no one ever again say that we dreamed too small."

Some goals are self-evident. The University must strive at all times to bring new vigor to its teaching and to enhance both the breadth and the depth of the education it offers students. At the same time, it must strengthen significantly its graduate programs and faculty research to make ever-greater contributions in the quest for new knowledge.

But the institutional mission of Notre Dame reaches beyond these goals.

The higher aspiration of the University of Notre Dame is to seek out and assume leadership roles through which students and alumni, faculty, interdisciplinary institutes, and professional programs can bring their accomplishments to bear on the most basic and pressing needs of humanity — for peace and social justice, for human rights and dignity, for ethical conduct in business, science and the professions, for a renewal of values in interpersonal and societal relationships, and for a more-enlightened stewardship of the environment, to name but a few of the challenges.

This aspiration is incumbent upon Notre Dame as a Catholic university. Today, as throughout its history, Notre Dame's position in American culture mirrors that of the Catholic Church. The world is very different from the one encountered by Father Sorin on his arrival in this country. The tangible barriers faced then by Catholic students and scholars have largely been removed, and today one may find such students and scholars at Harvard and Stanford and Duke, as well as at Notre Dame. American Catholics are firmly implanted in the American mainstream.

At the same time, the secularization of contemporary American society is an undisputed fact, and with that transformation has come a weakening of common values, an antipathy to belief, and a resistance to the very notion of underlying truths. One expression of this viewpoint is the contention that a Catholic university is a contradiction in terms, that reason and belief are somehow mutually exclusive. The Catholic intellectual tradition and the Western university tradition itself stand in opposition to this contention, as does Notre Dame.

It is a telling act that throughout Notre Dame's history, and increasingly in recent years, many eminent scholars of various faith traditions have made the University their home simply because they have preferred to work in a community of learning where belief is not merely tolerated, but in fact is celebrated.

Father Sorin's dream was predicated on his conviction that a university would be a powerful force for good in this land that he embraced as his own. For the University of Notre Dame, Sorin's conviction remains the inspiration, the mission and the driving force.

Kevin White, one of the most progressive and talented administrators in the intercollegiate athletics ranks, quickly attached his signature as director of athletics at the University of Notre Dame. His initial six years in that position qualify as the most successful across-the-board years in the history of athletics at Notre Dame – and the 2005-06 season included the most impressive list of accomplishments in Irish sports annals.

In addition, he has been cast in a handful of prominent national roles within collegiate athletics – including his ongoing representation with the Bowl Championship Series, his service in 2005-06 as president of the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association, and as first vice president in 2006-07 of NACDA, the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics.

White was named the 2006 GeneralSports TURF Systems Division I-A Central Region Athletic Director of the Year – thanks to Notre Dame's best-ever sixth-place finish in the NACDA Cup competition, its 44 All-Americans, 14 Academic All-Americans, five combination All-American/Academic All-Americans and 13 BIG EAST Conference titles, all Irish records.

Twenty-four (of 26) Notre Dame programs qualified teams or individual for postseason play in 2005-06, 16 teams finished in national top-25 rankings, nine finished in the top 10, six ended up in the top 10 in NCAA competition and four achieved top-four NCAA finishes (men's and women's fencing, women's lacrosse, men's cross country). Three Notre Dame head coaches received national coach-of-the-year recognition in 2005-06 – Charlie Weis in football, Jay Louderback in women's tennis and Tracy Coyne in women's lacrosse.

A career educator and one of the most respected athletic administrators in the nation, White previously had been athletic director at Arizona State University, Tulane University, the University of Maine, and Loras College. He brought a combined 18 years (1982-83 to 1999-2000) of experience in those positions with him to his assignment at Notre Dame.

Appointed on March 13, 2000, White became the first Notre Dame athletic director to report directly to the University's president. After agreeing to an original five-year contract as well as a five-year extension, White in December 2002 saw his commitment extended an additional two years to 2012.

White's first six years at Notre Dame from 2000-01 through 2005-06 saw unprecedented achievement on Irish fields of play:

- Notre Dame finished 11th, 13th, 13th, 19th, 16th, then a program-best sixth (in 2005-06), respectively, in the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) Directors' Cup (formerly sponsored by Sears) all-sports ratings in those six years, accounting for its best-ever six-year run in that competition.
- Irish teams have achieved number-one national rankings 11 times during his years at Notre Dame – women's basketball in 2000-01; baseball in '01; men's fencing in '00, '02 and '03; women's fencing in '04, '05 and '06; and women's soccer in '00, '04 and '05

- The Irish claimed the '01 national championship in women's basketball; the '03 and '05 NCAA titles in fencing (a men's and women's combined championship); the '04 crown in women's soccer; third-place finishes in fencing in '01, '02 and '04, in women's cross country in '03, and in men's cross country in '05; national semifinal appearances in women's soccer in '00 and men's lacrosse in '01, and a College World Series appearance in baseball in 2002.

- Notre Dame has seen its number of athletes earning All-America honors improve annually – to a record 44 in 2005-06, with five of those 44 also earning Academic All-America recognition.

- Notre Dame's record-setting 2005-06 season saw 24 of 26 programs send teams or individuals to postseason play.

Sixteen of a possible 22 teams earned national rankings in 2000-01, including 10 that achieved the highest rating in the history of the program. In 2001-02, 20 of 26 teams qualified for NCAA competition. In 2002-03, 13 sports managed top 25 national finishes – and 17 advanced to postseason competition. In 2003-04, an unprecedented 22 teams qualified for NCAA competition, including two (hockey and women's golf) that accomplished that for the first time and a third (men's golf) that made the field for the first time in 38 years. Twenty Irish squads in 2004-05 advanced teams or individuals to NCAA play.

- Notre Dame in 2002 was the only school in the country to qualify all six of its teams – men's and women's soccer, men's and women's cross country, volleyball and football – for fall NCAA tournament competition (or, in the case of football, a bowl game). Notre Dame and Texas were the only schools in 2002-03 to play in football bowl games and have both their men's and women's basketball squads advance to the NCAA Sweet 16 round. In 2005, Notre Dame was the only school to win at least twice in both NCAA soccer tournaments and in the NCAA volleyball championship (men's soccer and volleyball won twice, women's soccer had three NCAA wins). Notre Dame, Penn State and California were the only schools to win at least once in those three 2005 NCAA tournaments and also play in a Division I football bowl game.
- Notre Dame won the BIG EAST Conference Commissioner's Trophy for overall athletic success in league play in 2001, '02 and '03 for both men and women (the trophy was no longer awarded after 2003) – and the Irish annually lead the league in conference titles, including a record 13 in 2005-06.

His initial six years on the job at Notre Dame featured a handful of other noteworthy accomplishments:

- He helped the Irish athletic program toward its goal of becoming a top-five program in the NACDA Directors' Cup competition by championing the University's plan to add 64 grants-in-aid over a four-year span (that goal was announced in December 2000), in order to give all 26 varsity sports the full NCAA complement of scholarships.
- He emphasized the need to remain competitive on the facilities front by commissioning a facilities master plan that now provides a long-term plan for upgrading Notre Dame's athletic physical plant. The first facility from that plan opened in 2005, with the addition of the Guglielmino Athletics Complex that provides a new day-to-day home for the Irish football program as well as enhanced space for training, sports medicine, equipment, and strength and conditioning for all Notre Dame student-athletes. Slated for completion in fall 2006 is the 10,500-square foot Robert and Marilyn Rolfs Family All-Season Varsity Golf Facility that will serve as the new home of the Notre Dame men's and women's golf teams.
- On the academic front, Irish student-athletes enjoyed their most productive year ever in the classroom in 2005-06 – as for the first time in the 2005 fall semester and the 2006 spring semester, every one of Notre Dame's programs achieved at least a 3.0 grade-point average. A Notre Dame record 14 individuals claimed Academic All-America notice in 2005-06.
- The American Football Coaches Association awarded its Academic Achievement Award for 2001 to Notre Dame based on its 100 percent graduation for entering freshmen from 1995. The University received a 2002 USA Today/NCAA Academic Achievement Award for graduating 90 percent of its student-athletes who enrolled in 1995 – and it also received the 2003 award for highest overall student-athlete graduation rate (92 percent of those who enrolled in 1996). When the NCAA first issued its Academic Performance Rate numbers in 2005, Irish teams excelled, with 13 of them earning a perfect 1,000 score.

- Sixteen of 20 athletics programs at Notre Dame compiled graduation rates of 100 percent, and none were below 90 percent, according to the new Graduation Success Rate measurement developed by the NCAA and announced in December 2005. NCAA figures showed that, among Notre Dame's men's sports, baseball, cross country/track, fencing, ice hockey, soccer, swimming and tennis achieved 100 percent GSR scores. Football scored 96 percent, golf was 92 percent and basketball was 90 percent (lacrosse was not included because the program did not offer grants in aid during the years covered in the survey). Irish women's programs with GSR rates of 100 percent were basketball, cross country/track, fencing, golf, lacrosse, softball, swimming, tennis and volleyball. Soccer scored a 94 percent GSR.
- Among the 119 NCAA Division I-A institutions listed in those December 2005 standings, Notre Dame had the highest percentage of its sports with 100 percent GSR scores, with an .800 figure (16 of 20). In football, Notre Dame achieved a 96 GSR rating, with only the United States Naval Academy (at 98) ranking higher among the Division I-A schools. And, when the final 2005 USA Today football poll of coaches was re-ranked by football GSR score, Notre Dame (11th in the actual poll) finished first in that tabulation at 96, just ahead of Clemson at 94 (21st in actual poll).
- The NCAA Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association gave one of its four 2000 awards of excellence to Notre Dame's CHAMPS/Life Skills Program
- He assured long-term consistency in the Irish coaching ranks by signing Notre Dame head coaches to multi-year contracts – with all assistant coaches and administrators signing contracts for the first time starting in 2001-02.
- He renewed in 2003 Notre Dame's NBC Sports contract for televising of home football games for five more years (2006-10 for that renewal, extending the relationship to 20 years) and its Westwood One contract for football radio broadcasts for five more years beginning in 2003.
- He oversaw the University's NCAA re-certification process in 2004 as Notre Dame went through that self-study and peer review process for the first time since 1997. The University's athletic program was recertified without conditions, with the committee noting that Notre Dame is "committed to academic success of its student-athletes and demonstrates this by requiring three more core courses than what is required by the NCAA," that Notre Dame "student-athletes are quite satisfied with quantity and quality of academic support and attribute much of the success around graduation rates to this service," and that Notre Dame has "affirmed and demonstrated its commitment to fair and equitable treatment" of male, female and minority student-athletes.

In addition to the varsity athletic component, White's assignment at Notre Dame also includes administration of a comprehensive intramural, club sport and campus recreation program, with 94 percent of the student body participating. Sports Illustrated On Campus rated the Irish intramural program tops in the nation in '04.

With a Ph.D. in education, White has taught graduate-level classes beginning in 1982-83 with his tenure at Loras, including currently as a concurrent associate professor in the management department of the Mendoza College of Business as part of Notre Dame's MBA program during spring semesters (he teaches a sports business course).

White has served on numerous NCAA committees, including the NCAA Council, formerly the association's highest governing body. In addition to his current role with the BCS, he previously was a member of the Rose Bowl Management Committee while at Arizona State, was an ex-officio member of the Sugar Bowl Committee during his tenure at Tulane and also worked closely with the Fiesta Bowl during his stay in Tempe.

In December, 2004, White was named the 15th most influential individual in collegiate sports by Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal. He has been a member of the NCAA Coalition on Intercollegiate Athletics (COIA) that deals with academics, fiscal reform and student-athlete well-being. He also was an ex-officio member of the NCAA Committee on Academic Performance and a member of its Penalty and Rewards subcommittee.

White has served as mentor for an impressive list of senior level athletic administrators who have worked for him, then gone on to become directors of athletics - including Jim Sterk of Washington State, Tom Boeh of Ohio University and currently Fresno State, Ian McCaw of Northeastern, Massachusetts and currently Baylor, Bruce Van De Velde previously of Iowa State, Herman Frazier of Hawaii, Rudy Keeling of Emerson, Scott Devine of St. Mary's College (Md.), Tim Van Alstine of Western Illinois, Mark Wilson of Tennessee Tech, Bubba Cunningham of Ball State and currently Tulsa, Sandy Barbour (who followed him at Tulane) of California-Berkeley, Jim Phillips of Northern Illinois, Bernard Muir of Georgetown, Sandy Hatfield Clubb of Drake, Vic Cegles of Long Beach State and Norwood Teague of Virginia Commonwealth.

White has his own weekly, hour-long radio show in Chicago – and he has a pre-game segment on Westwood One's radio broadcasts of Notre Dame football games.

During his coaching career, White served as head track and field coach at Southeast Missouri State (1981-82) and assistant cross country and track and field coach at Central Michigan (1976-80). He began his coaching career at Gulf High School in New Port Richey, Fla., coaching cross country and track and assisting in football and wrestling. White also spent a year (1980-81) as district administrator for athletics and special projects for the Mt. Morris Consolidated School District in Mt. Morris, Mich. During his tenure at Loras, he originated the National Catholic Basketball Tournament.

Born Sept. 25, 1950, in Amityville, N.Y., White earned his Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University in 1983 with an emphasis on higher education administration (his dissertation title was An Appraisal of the Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Programs, and the Relationship to Men's Athletics at the Big Ten Conference Institutions Before and After Title IX Implementation). In 1985 he White also attended the University of South Florida and St. Leo College in Tampa, Fla., between 1972 and '76 – and he took 60 hours of advanced graduate courses in higher education administration at Michigan State University between 1977 and '80.

White's wife, Jane, earned a bachelor's degree from St. Joseph's in 1973 and a master's degree in physical education from Central Michigan in 1977. She also served as head track and field coach at Central Michigan. White and his wife both received honorary degrees from St. Joseph's in 2001.

The couple have five children – Maureen, who completed a master of fine arts degree at Arizona State in 2000 and currently teaches at Notre Dame Prep School in Scottsdale, Ariz.; Michael, a University of Mississippi graduate and four-year starter at point guard for the Ole Miss basketball team and now an assistant basketball coach at his alma mater (after a stint at Jacksonville State University in Alabama); Daniel, a University of Notre Dame graduate and member of the '01 Irish basketball squad, who was an assistant basketball coach at Ohio University while earning his MBA in sports administration there, and now is assistant athletics director of development and annual fund director at Northern Illinois University; Brian, a 2006 graduate of the University of Notre Dame and now an intern in the Arizona State University athletics department; and Mariah, a high school sophomore who is a standout in swimming.

Rev. John I. Jenkins, C.S.C.
University President

Rev. John I. Jenkins, C.S.C., took office as the 17th president of the University of Notre Dame on July 1, 2005. He was elected by the University's Board of Trustees to a five-year term April 30, 2004.

An associate professor of philosophy and member of Notre Dame's faculty since 1990, Father Jenkins had served from 2000 until becoming president as a vice president and associate provost at the University.

Prior to his service in the provost's office, Father Jenkins had been religious superior of the Holy Cross priests and brothers at Notre Dame for three years. As religious superior, he was a Fellow and Trustee of the University, but he relinquished those posts to assume his duties in the provost's office.

Father Jenkins specializes in the areas of ancient philosophy, medieval philosophy and the philosophy of religion. He is the author of Knowledge and Faith in Thomas Aquinas, published by Cambridge University Press in 1997.

Father Jenkins earned degrees in philosophy from Oxford University in 1987 and 1989. He earned his master of divinity degree and licentiate in sacred theology from the Jesuit School of Theology in Berkeley, Calif., in 1988.

Prior to entering the Congregation of Holy Cross, he earned bachelor's and master's degrees in philosophy from Notre Dame in 1976 and 1978, respectively.

Father Jenkins was ordained a priest in Notre Dame's Basilica of the Sacred Heart in 1983. He served as director of the Old College program for Notre Dame undergraduate candidates for the Congregation of Holy Cross from 1991 to 1993.

A native of Omaha, Neb., Father Jenkins was born Dec. 17, 1953.

Thomas G. Burish, formerly president at Washington and Lee, University in Lexington, Va., and a 1972 Notre Dame alumnus, was elected provost on July 21, 2005. As provost and second-ranking officer of the University, he exercises responsibility for all academic matters. He is the fourth person to hold the office since it was established in 1970. Burish succeeded Nathan O. Hatch, who became president of Wake Forest University. In addition, Burish also was appointed a professor of psychology.

Burish had been president of one of the nation's top liberal-arts colleges since July 2002. Prior to joining Washington and Lee and prior to being named president was the longest-serving provost in the history of Vanderbilt University. He served as provost at the nationally-renowned research university from 1993 to 2002.

Known as a ground-breaking researcher, award-winning teacher and gifted leader, Burish exemplifies the excellence and humanity to which Notre Dame is dedicated. Through his work, he has helped "tens of thousands of cancer patients better cope with the emotional and physical pain of this disease," according to John R. Seffrin, chief executive officer of the American Cancer Society. Burish currently serves as chair of the American Cancer Society's national board of directors.

A native of Peshtigo, Wis., Burish was graduated from Notre Dame, summa cum laude, with a bachelor's degree in psychology in 1972. He earned his master's degree in psychology from the University of Kansas in 1975 and a doctorate in clinical psychology from Kansas a year later.

While at Kansas, Burish received the David Shulman Memorial Award of Excellence in Clinical Psychology. He moved in 1976 to Vanderbilt, becoming a full professor in 1986. He won Vanderbilt's prestigious Madison Sarratt Prize for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching in 1980 and served as chair of the department of psychology from 1984 to 1986. Burish became Vanderbilt's provost in 1993. He is the co-author or co-editor of four books, and has contributed to more than 16 other books and written more than 60 journal articles.

Dr. John Affleck-Graves
Executive Vice President

John Affleck-Graves was elected the first lay executive vice president of Notre Dame in April 2004. A vice president and associate provost the previous three years, he also holds the Notre Dame Chair in Finance in the Mendoza College of Business.

Dr. Affleck-Graves, the fifth person to serve as executive vice president, administers the University of Notre Dame's annual operating budget of more than $700 million and an endowment of approximately $4 billion. He oversees human-resource activities for a work force of more than 4,000 employees – the largest in St. Joseph County – and directs the University's construction program.

A native of South Africa and a naturalized U.S. citizen, Dr. Affleck-Graves specializes in the study of initial public offerings, valuation and asset pricing models, and shareholder value-added methodology. He is the author of more than 50 refereed publications and the recipient of numerous teaching awards.

Dr. Affleck-Graves joined the Notre Dame faculty in 1986 after teaching and conducting research for 11 years at the University of Cape Town, where he earned bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees.

Patrick F. McCartan was elected the fifth chair of Notre Dame's Board of Trustees in May 2000. He has been a Notre Dame trustee since 1989 and also is a Fellow of the University.

McCartan served from 1993 through 2002 as managing partner of Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue, an international law firm headquartered in Cleveland. Cited by The National Law Journal as one of the country's most respected and influential corporate trial lawyers, he currently is Jones Day's senior partner, concentrating on appellate litigation and corporate governance.

Don Pope-Davis, Dean of The Graduate School and a professor of psychology, was appointed in 2006 as chair of the University's Faculty Board on Athletics and NCAA faculty athletics representative in 2006.

A member of the Notre Dame faculty since 2000, Pope-Davis studies in the areas of multicultural psychology, counseling and education. He is the co-author of three books, "Multicultural Counseling Competencies: Assessment, Education, and Supervision," "The Intersections of Race, Class, and Gender in Multicultural Counseling," and, most recently, "Handbook of Multicultural Competencies in Counseling and Psychology." He has published more than 50 journal articles and book chapters in the field and is a research fellow of the American Psychological Association.

He previously served as a member of the Faculty Board on Athletics and also has served on the Provost Advisory Council, the Diversity Committee and as chair of the NCAA certification sub-committee for equity, gender and sportsmanship.

Pope-Davis earned his doctorate in counseling psychology from Stanford and his bachelor's degree in psychology and theology from Benedictine University in Lisle, Ill.

Academic Services

The Academic Services for Student-Athletes Office is designed to help Notre Dame fulfill its commitment to all student-athletes in their pursuit of a college degree and academic excellence. In order to achieve these goals, Academic Services has four major aims: to maintain academic integrity of the University; to comply with University and NCAA rules and regulations; to maintain the academic good standing of every student-athlete; and to assist every student-athlete to graduate in four years. These objectives work together and are aimed at teaching student-athletes to be responsible for themselves academically.

To this end, Academic Services provides student-athletes many services that begin when freshmen arrive on campus and continue through graduation. The office provides consistent counseling and appropriate interventions regarding academic matters and refers student-athletes to campus offices where they can meet regularly with their professors and use support services provided by the various colleges and departments.

As soon as student-athletes begin classes, Academic Services monitors their progress through professor surveys that ask professors to comment on each student's work level, attendance and any need for tutorial help. If a professor or student-athlete feels there is need for additional help, Academic Services provides tutorial assistance.

In addition to this interaction with the faculty, the members of the Academic Services Office meet with student-athletes to develop a personal relationship. These sessions help develop semester-long and career academic goals. Discussions may include such topics as summer-school attendance, class scheduling and career possibilities.

In 2001, the Academic-Services department received a new home through a generous donation by football alumnus Jim Morse ('57) and his wife, Leah Rae, when the Coleman-Morse Center was completed. A $14-million building, the James and Leah Rae Morse Center for Academic Services houses Notre Dame's First Year of Studies Program and Academic Services for Student-Athletes. It also contains the University Writing Center and a satellite office for the Center for Social Concerns, plus classrooms, staff offices, a tutoring center, a computer cluster, workrooms and a lounge.

Working alongside the athletic department's Student Welfare and Development office, Academic Services helps coordinate numerous workshops and speakers to assist student-athletes with post-graduate planning and transition into professional careers. Offered in conjunction with the University Counseling Center, workshops cover such topics as stress management, socialization to college life, adjusting to physical trauma and conflict management.

At the end of each academic year, the office hosts an Academic Excellence Dinner for student-athletes who have achieved excellence in the classroom. The University president, deans of each college, members of the Faculty Board on Athletics and coaches also attend. Students with 4.0 semester GPAs, the individual student with the highest GPA in each sport, the top senior student-athlete and the team with the highest GPA receive special awards.

Thank you for your tremendous support of our entire athletics program. Our student-athletes, coaches and administrative staff are very appreciative of your spirit and affinity for Notre Dame, in particular its intercollegiate athletics.

Your adherence to all applicable NCAA rules and regulations is essential as we strive to maintain and enhance our national athletic prominence while protecting the University's tradition of integrity and values.

Our Compliance Office staff stands prepared to assist you with your questions and concerns regarding NCAA regulations. Please contact us immediately should you have concern regarding any situation. Your attention to these matters will ensure that the eligibility of both prospective student-athletes ("recruits") and enrolled student-athletes is protected and maintained. Again, many thanks for your cooperation in this matter and your ongoing support.

Who is a Representative of Notre Dame's Athletics Interests?

(The following lists of examples are not all-inclusive. As always, ask before you act!)

You are if:

- you are an enrolled student or graduate of the University.
- you ever have participated in or are a member of any organization promoting Notre Dame's athletics program (the former Quarterback Club, the 3-Point Club, the Fast-Break Club, etc.).
- you ever have made financial contributions to the University of Notre Dame athletics department.
- you ever have helped to arrange employment of or provided any benefits to prospective or enrolled student-athletes.
- you ever have been a season ticket holder in any sport.
- you ever have promoted the athletics programs at the University of Notre Dame.

According to NCAA rules, once an individual has been identified as an institutional "representative of athletics interests" the individual retains that title for life. The University of Notre Dame ultimately is responsible for the behavior of all its athletics representatives in relation to NCAA rules and regulations. Violations of NCAA regulations by an athletics representative could result in the loss of eligibility for involved student-athletes (e.g. no participation in competitions) and/or severe sanctions against the University (e.g. loss of scholarships, television and post-season bans).

Current Student-Athlete

A student-athlete is any Notre Dame student who is a member of a varsity athletics team.

NCAA regulations apply to all student-athletes, not just those student-athletes who were recruited or who receive an athletics scholarship.

*Note: NCAA regulations concerning enrolled student-athletes remain in effect throughout the entire year (including summer break). If a student-athlete has completed his/her final season of eligibility, all NCAA regulations must be adhered to until he/she graduates or leaves school.

Do's and Don'ts for representatives in regards to a current student-athlete:

(The following lists of examples are not all-inclusive. As always, ask before you act!)

Do's

You may:

- contact a current student-athlete regarding employment opportunities. However, no contact may be made without approval from the Compliance Office.
- provide a student-athlete, not his/her family and friends, an occasional (once a semester) meal at your home.

Don'ts

You may not:

- provide a currently-enrolled student-athlete, his/her parents or friends any benefit or special arrangement without prior approval from the Compliance Office.
- pay for or arrange for payment of room, board or any type of transportation for a student-athlete or his/her family or friends.
- entertain student-athletes or their family and friends. (Exception: NCAA rules do permit institutional staff members and athletics representatives to provide student-athletes [not including their family and friends] with an occasional meal [defined as once a semester] provided the meal is at the staff member's or athletic representative's home and not at a restaurant.)
- use the name, picture or appearance of an enrolled student-athlete to advertise, recommend or promote sales or use of a commercial product or service of any kind; any use of a student-athlete's name, picture or appearance must receive authorization from the Compliance Office.
- provide any payment of expense or loan of an automobile for a student-athlete to return home or to travel to any other location.
- provide awards or gifts to a student-athlete for any reason; all awards provided to student-athletes must first be approved by the Compliance Office and meet all NCAA regulations.
- provide an honorarium to a student-athlete for a speaking engagement; all speaking engagements must be approved in advance by the Compliance Office.
- allow a student-athlete or his/her relatives or friends to use your telephone to make free calls.
- provide free or reduced-cost lodging in your home to a student-athlete or a student-athlete's family or friends.

Prospective Student-Athlete

A prospective student-athlete is any student who has started classes for ninth grade. Any student younger who receives any benefits from an institution or athletics representative would become a prospect. In addition, student-athletes enrolled in preparatory school or two-year colleges are considered prospective student-athletes.

* Note: An individual is considered a prospect (whether or not they have signed a National Letter of Intent) until the first day of initial collegiate enrollment or the first day they report for practice, whichever is earliest. Therefore, all NCAA regulations concerning contact with a prospective student-athlete are applicable until that time.

Do's and Don'ts for representatives in regards to a prospective student-athlete:

(The following lists of examples are not all-inclusive. As always, ask before you act!)

Do's

You may:

- forward information about prospective student-athletes to the appropriate coaching staff.
- have telephone contact with a prospect regarding permissible pre-enrollment activities such as summer employment, provided the prospect has graduated from high school and signed a National Letter of Intent; you must contact the Compliance Office to make them aware that you are making these employment arrangements.
- have a telephone conversation with a prospect only if the prospect initiates the call; such a call may not be prearranged by an institutional staff member, and you are not permitted to have a recruiting conversation, but may exhibit normal civility; you must refer any questions about our athletics programs to an athletics-department staff member/coach.
- view a prospect's athletic contest at your own initiative provided you do not contact the prospect or his/her parents; you may not contact a coach, principal, or counselor in an attempt to evaluate the prospect.
- continue established family relationships with friends and neighbors; contact with sons and daughters of these families is permitted so long as it is not made for recruiting purposes or encouraged by Notre Dame coaches.

Don'ts

You may not:

- write, e-mail or telephone a prospective student-athlete or his/her parents in an effort to recruit them to Notre Dame.
- become involved in making arrangements to provide money, financial aid or a benefit of any kind to a prospect or the prospect's family and friends.
- make contact with a prospective student-athlete or his/her parents when the prospect is on-campus for an official or unofficial recruiting visit.
- contact a prospect to congratulate him/her on signing a National Letter of Intent to attend the University.
- transport, pay or arrange for payment of transportation costs for a prospect or his/her relatives or friends to visit campus (or elsewhere).
- pay or arrange for payment of summer-camp registration fees for a prospect.
- provide ANYTHING to a prospect, the prospect's family or friends without prior approval from the Compliance Office.

Support of alumni and friends is welcomed and appreciated. We ask, however, that you help to keep Notre Dame's tradition of athletics integrity intact by following NCAA regulations. Your assistance will help ensure that the eligibility of prospective and currently-enrolled student-athletes is protected and preserved. Your efforts to know and follow the NCAA legislation are greatly appreciated because violations could affect the eligibility of involved prospects or student-athletes and/or result in NCAA penalties being imposed on the University.

To that end, it should be our goal, as the best alumni and fans in the country, to preserve and protect each and every student-athlete's eligibility. All NCAA legislation cannot be covered in a limited space such as this page. Therefore, any additional questions should be forwarded to the Compliance Office in the department of athletics. Please remember to ask before you act!

Student Development

The Student Welfare and Development Program is committed to the total development of Notre Dame student-athletes, by fostering the cultivation of skills that encourage student-athletes to reach their full potential.

Designed to work in conjunction with existing on-campus student services, the program acknowledges the unique needs and demands of student-athletes. The Notre Dame Student Welfare and Development program continues to receive national recognition for its student-athlete participation and has been named to the NCAS Outreach and Community Service Honor Roll three times in the past four years.

The Student Welfare and Development Program implements events and activities that are designed to facilitate learning within five key areas: academic excellence, athletic success, career preparation,

- An orientation program for freshman student-athletes to familiarize and identify the challenges and opportunities that are unique to them as both students and athletes.

Nearly every Notre Dame varsity sports team (24 of 26) participated in community service activities during the 2005-06 academic year, with the student-athletes completing more than 2,300 hours of community service (an increase of approximately 340 hours from the previous year) while reaching over 3,000 people in the community and assisting some 40 non-profit organizations and schools.

Student Development also is responsible for: managing the scholarship textbook process; designing and producing the annual Student-Athlete Handbook/Planner; facilitating "An Evening at Shamrock Hills" team dinners; serving as the primary advisors to the Student Athlete Advisory Council (SAAC); coordinating the Student-Athlete Leadership Institute; and facilitating the athletic department's annual year-end celebration, the O.S.C.A.R.S. – Outstanding Students Celebrating Achievements & Recognition Showcase.

The Positive Transition Seminar (PTS) remains the cornerstone of the Student Welfare and Development Personal Development component. Issues that headline the annual half-day symposium include body image and healthy eating, business and dining etiquette, media relations, career and financial planning, and life after college. In addition to attending the PTS, all juniors were required to meet with a career counselor to learn how to access career planning resources, schedule interviews, update resumes, and apply for internships and jobs.

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council helped bring about noteworthy enhancements within the athletic department in 2005-06, including: improvements to locker rooms; the hiring of a chiropractor; leading a student-athlete discussion at the Freshmen Student-Athlete and Parent Orientation; developing a SAAC service project (Shoebox Drive for the homeless); providing a team community service award; having better access to a sports psychologist; and adding a member to SAAC who represents international student-athletes. SAAC's monthly meetings also include discussions on important issues such as NCAA legislation, career opportunities, eating disorders, alcohol and supplement usage, and technological issues involving sites such as Facebook and Myspace.

The Student Welfare and Development Program, in existence since 1996, continuously seeks to development programs that educate student-athletes on current issues – so as to ensure that when they graduate from the University, they are prepared to successfully meet the challenges of life.

community involvement and personal development.

The program has three components: elective services (community service, leadership, social events); complementary services (encourages administrators and coaches to request coordination of workshops, events and activities); and essential services (student-athletes participate in a series of required skill-building and developmental workshops and activities).

The many services offered by the Student Development Program include the following:

- Academic support by working in coordination with the Office of Academic Services for Student-Athletes.
- Athletic success support with discussion topics on performance enhancement, leadership, nutrition, agents and amateurism, and sports conduct.
- Preparing for post-graduate life by working closely with the Notre Dame Career Center.
- Bringing Notre Dame and the community together through specific relationships with local area hospitals, community centers and outreach agencies to provide ongoing and reliable volunteer opportunities.

The men's basketball team assisted with building a YWCA playground that benefitted 50 children and parents.

Statement of Principles

Throughout its long and proud history, the University of Notre Dame has embraced the philosophy that a well-rounded athletics program — including club, intramural and intercollegiate competition — comprises an integral part of Notre Dame's educational mission.

This philosophy reflects the importance of operating an intercollegiate athletics program that fully comports with the University's aspirations as a Catholic institution. Notre Dame therefore dedicates itself to the pursuit of excellence in intercollegiate athletics within the framework of an academic community committed to the University's educational and religious objectives.

Notre Dame also commits itself to the unquestioned integrity of its athletics programs. All individuals involved, directly or indirectly, in the athletics enterprise must maintain and foster the values and goals associated with the University's mission as a Catholic institution of higher education.

As a Catholic university, Notre Dame espouses Christian values and principles. These include the development of the human person — spirit as well as body — in addition to the pursuit of excellence in all endeavors, the nurturing of Christian character, and the call to personal integrity and responsibility. By providing a general description of the structures that support these endeavors, this document articulates the central values and expectations that guide the University of Notre Dame's participation in intercollegiate athletics.

PRESIDENTIAL CONTROL

Notre Dame adheres to the principle of presidential control over intercollegiate athletics. The director of athletics reports to the president, who exercises ultimate responsibility for the conduct of the University's intercollegiate athletics program. The Faculty Board on Athletics serves as the principal advisory group to the president on educational issues related to intercollegiate athletics. The chair of the Faculty Board on Athletics also serves as the NCAA-mandated faculty athletics representative.

Basic Principles

1. The Faculty Board on Athletics nurtures Notre Dame's commitment to academic integrity within the athletics program, strives to ensure that the University's athletics program operates in consonance with Notre Dame's educational mission, and actively promotes the welfare and educational success of the University's student-athletes. The Board also functions as a formal liaison between the faculty and the athletics department.

In carrying out its charge, the Board reviews policies, procedures and practices that affect the educational experience of student-athletes and advises the president of its findings and deliberations. The Board systematically ascertains the views and concerns of student-athletes. The Board reviews data on admissions of student-athletes and on their academic performance, progress towards degrees, and graduation rates. The Board assesses the effectiveness of institutional support for student-athletes. In addition, the Board sets guidelines for the approval of all student petitions for a fifth year of eligibility for athletics and votes on each such petition. The Board establishes guidelines for all intercollegiate athletics schedules and qualifications for captaincy of all University teams, and it votes on all proposed schedules and captaincy nominations. The Board also assesses and revises procedures for resolving prospective conflicts between final examinations and post-season championship events.

In its role as a liaison to the broader faculty, the Faculty Board disseminates appropriate, non-confidential information and initiates discussions on educational issues regarding intercollegiate athletics and the related concerns of the faculty and administration.

2. The faculty athletics representative champions academic integrity, promotes the welfare of student-athletes, and helps ensure institutional control of intercollegiate athletics. More specifically, the faculty athletics representative works with the president and the director of athletics to maintain appropriate University oversight of intercollegiate athletics; assists the president and director of athletics in determining institutional positions on proposed NCAA and conference legislation; serves on search committees for senior athletics administrators and head coaches; oversees decisions regarding eligibility of student-athletes; remains visible and available to student-athletes; and actively participates in all investigations and reports of possible NCAA violations.

ACADEMICS

Notre Dame dedicates itself to providing to all of its students an outstanding education. The University commits itself to developing in its students those disciplined habits of mind, body and spirit that characterize educated, skilled and free human beings. Notre Dame calls its students to pursue the wisdom of our culture and religious heritage and to experience the human family's diversity and interdependence. To accomplish these objectives, the University provides to its students, on an equitable basis, ongoing opportunities to cultivate their moral, intellectual and physical well-being.

Basic Principles

1. Any student hoping to succeed at the University needs a significant level of ability and preparation. Therefore, the Office of Undergraduate Admissions will accept into the University only those student-athletes who demonstrate, on the basis of the best available academic and character-based information, the capacity to complete a degree at Notre Dame.

2. Even for individuals manifestly well suited for Notre Dame, the adjustments to the rigors of academic and athletic life in a highly-competitive university present difficulties. The University recognizes its responsibility to provide appropriate assistance to enable student-athletes to meet the demands of both academic and athletic competition. To this end, the University affords its student-athletes suitable academic counsel and support, primarily under the auspices of the provost's office. Other sources of support, both academic and personal, include the faculty, academic advisors, the residence-hall staff, coaches, athletics administrators and the Student Development Program.

3. The University strives to schedule practices and competitions so as to minimize conflicts with class periods and other academic assignments of student-athletes. In this regard, the rhythm of the academic year and the particular importance of final examinations warrant special attention. All playing schedules remain subject to the approval of the Faculty Board on Athletics.

4. Notre Dame expects its student-athletes to maintain the appropriate sequence and number of courses and the grade-point-average necessary to complete a degree within the usual time (normally four years), including summer classes when appropriate. Any exception to this policy remains subject to the approval of the Faculty Board on Athletics.

STUDENT LIFE

Like other students, student-athletes should have the opportunity to pursue fully the University's academic, cultural and spiritual resources. The University holds student-athletes not only to the same standard of conduct that applies to other students, but also to that higher level of behavior appropriate to their visibility.

Basic Principles

1. Student-athletes must comply with all University rules and guidelines, including those set out in both the student handbook, du Lac, and in the Student-Athlete Handbook. The Office of Residence Life and Housing enforces the University-wide rules according to procedures applicable to all student disciplinary matters.

2. The University strives to integrate student-athletes into the student body so that all students may take full advantage of the educational and other opportunities afforded by campus and hall life. Given the centrality of residential life to the University's mission, student-athletes normally live in residence halls; exceptions to this policy remain subject to the approval of the Faculty Board on Athletics. Moreover, Notre Dame provides no separate residence halls or sections of residence halls for student-athletes.

3. The University lists among its primary concerns the physical and mental health of all members of the Notre Dame community. Because of the dangers inherent in athletic competition, the prevention of injuries and the provision of medical care for student-athletes demand particular concern and deserve constant attention. The appropriate sports-medicine and athletics-training personnel alone determine whether injury or illness precludes a student-athlete from practicing or competing.

4. Because of the harm that illicit drug use causes and the pressure on student-athletes to use performance-enhancing drugs, drug-related education and counseling require particular emphasis. As a preventive measure, all student-athletes remain subject to regular, random, and unannounced drug testing according to the University's established drug-testing protocol. University Health Services decides the timing of drug tests, determines whom to test and administers the tests. The drug-testing protocol prescribes the treatment of test results and the consequences of a positive test.

5. Notre Dame regularly provides chaplains for athletics teams. Chaplains' duties include pastoral care and liturgical services for student-athletes, coaches and staff.

COACHING STAFFS

The University strives to maintain a staff of coaches who represent the best in athletic instruction, who possess the ability to motivate and inspire, and who take responsibility for the full development of the student-athletes within their charge as students, athletes and persons. Coaches, who after all are primarily teachers, share with members of the faculty and other University personnel the obligation to educate, train and otherwise assist in the formation of students entrusted to them. Furthermore, Notre Dame recognizes the important role each coach plays in the University's overall educational mission and makes this aspect an important part of both the coach's position description and periodic evaluation. Because of the public nature of their work, coaches represent Notre Dame in a highly-visible manner. Their words and actions should therefore reflect the University's values and principles.

Basic Principles

1. Notre Dame expects the personal and professional lives of its coaches to reflect highest standards of behavior. Coaches' actions must demonstrate that athletic success may not jeopardize institutional or personal integrity or student-athlete welfare.

2. Notre Dame expects its coaches to appreciate the primacy of academic life at Notre Dame and to emphasize that primacy during the recruitment and education of student-athletes and their participation in intercollegiate athletics.

3. Notre Dame requires its coaches to adhere to the policies and procedures of the University, its conferences and the NCAA. To that end, Notre Dame provides a comprehensive orientation to new coaches and suitable continuing education to other coaches. The University treats seriously all violations of University, conference or NCAA standards and reports such violations according to the applicable conference or NCAA procedures.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF ATHLETICS

The Director of Athletics and the other administrators in the department of athletics supervise all activities of the athletics program at the University. All aspects of the program must accord with the principles of justice and fairness. In addition, Notre Dame expects the personal and professional lives of its athletics administrators to reflect the highest standards of behavior. Athletics administrators also must adhere to the policies and procedures of the University, its conferences and the NCAA. The University treats all violations of such policies and procedures seriously.

Basic Principles

1. The University maintains full and direct control of the financial operations of the athletics department, including all revenues. The operating budget and the ongoing financial activities of the athletics department remain subject to the same approval process as all other units of the University.

2. Historically, Notre Dame's athletics program has generated funds sufficient to cover its expenses, as well as to provide funds for the University's general operating budget. The generation of revenue must always take into consideration Notre Dame's integrity and priorities.

3. The University commits itself to the principle of racial, ethnic and gender diversity in the composition of its coaching and administrative staffs. Notre Dame will make every reasonable effort to promote this commitment as positions are created or vacated.

4. Consistent with its overall academic mission and program, its financial resources and the athletic interests of its student body, the University will provide a full and stable athletics program for both sexes. Notre Dame embraces the principle of gender equity and will continue to monitor its intercollegiate programs in accord with this principle.

5. In considering conference affiliations, the University will assess the extent to which the other institutions involved share Notre Dame's educational philosophies and goals, as well as its commitment to integrity in intercollegiate athletics.

CONCLUSION

Notre Dame endeavors to maintain a highly-competitive athletics program consistent with its tradition, heritage and overall mission as a Catholic university. It will attempt to excel in intercollegiate athletics, but always in conformity with its primary role as an educator and moral guide. Notre Dame will conduct its intercollegiate athletics program so as to support the University's commitment to education, as well as the letter and spirit of the policies and procedures of the University, its conferences and the NCAA.

Many observers often are surprised to discover that Notre Dame's total enrollment encompasses fewer than 12,000 students per year. That surprise is due in part to the University's national appeal, but it also is due to the many noteworthy Notre Dame alumni who have gone on to distinguish themselves in a wide variety of fields.

Listings on this page are simply a sampling of the many noteworthy individuals who have spent their formative years in academia at Notre Dame. A more detailed list can be found at www.nd.edu (follow the alumni link), and some additional noteworthy alums are included on the athletic heritage page later in this section.

Alumni Organizations

The Notre Dame Alumni Association was established in 1868, some 26 years after the University's founding. Father Neal Gillespie, C.S.C., was elected the first president of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, then comprised of just a few hundred graduates — while the current membership reaches nearly 110,000.

Leadership — Several Alumni Association staff are former Notre Dame student-athletes, led by executive director Chuck Lennon (a catcher with the Irish baseball team in the early 1960s) and another former Irish baseball player, Scott Siler ('82), who serves as the Association's director of information technology.

Membership — Any person who holds a Notre Dame undergraduate or graduate degree and any who has matriculated at the University and is approved for membership by the Alumni Board shall be a regular member of the Alumni Association.

Alumni Clubs — An alumni club is one of the most viable channels through which the University is perceived by local communities. The Alumni Association helps coordinate activities of 215 domestic alumni clubs and 63 international chapters.

Reunion Weekend — Traditionally held the first weekend in June, Alumni Reunion is the largest campus program sponsored by the Alumni Association. Each five-year class is invited to participate. The program offers exciting and rewarding events for some 3,000 alumni and their spouses.

Notre Dame Magazine — This quarterly publication is sent to all alumni as well as parents of current students. News contributed by class officers is featured in the section entitled, "The Classes."

The Alumni Newsletter — This publication is distributed three times a year and highlights people, programs and events that are related to the Alumni Association, including local alumni activities.

Visitors Center — The Eck Visitors Center, located on the south end of campus (next to the Hammes Bookstore), offers a meeting and resting place for visitors, in addition to providing a summary of the University's history. Display cases line the walls, featuring University information and artifacts. A lighted aerial map gives a visual overview of campus and interactive kiosks allow visitors to take a virtual tour of the campus. A number of sculptures are on display, including the work of the late world-renowned artist and Notre Dame professor Ivan Mestrovic. An auditorium offers a DVD movie that chronicles Notre Dame's tradition and excellence in academics and athletics and its commitment to spirituality.

Notre Dame Monogram Club: "Bridging the Gap Between Legend and Legacy"

The Notre Dame Monogram Club is comprised of some 6,500 individuals who have earned the University's varsity athletic insignia for their athletic or team-support endeavors or who have been honorary-monogram recipients. The club supports the primary goal of the University: the spiritual, intellectual and physical development of its students and alumni. By providing its members the opportunity to foster and maintain relationships across different sports, generations and geographical locations, the Monogram Club aspires to contribute — through the common bond of sport — to the social and professional enrichment of its members while providing a means for ongoing association with the University. As an integral part of the Notre Dame family, the Monogram Club endeavors to uphold and enrich the great tradition of Notre Dame athletics.

One of the organization's primary functions continues to be providing aid to children of Monogram Club members to attend Notre Dame, through the Brennan-Boland-Riehle ("BBR") Scholarship Fund. The fund is named in honor of Joe Boland, Rev. Thomas Brennan, C.S.C., and Rev. James Riehle, C.S.C. Monogram Club members donate to the fund, and the University handles the principal funds, with interest providing scholarship money. The fund has grown to approximately $5.0 million, making it one of Notre Dame's largest endowments.

Since the fund's inception in 1980, there have been 146 BBR Scholarship recipients — including 46 sons and daughters of Monogram Club members who attended Notre Dame in 2005-06 — whose combined scholarship allocations are more than $2 million.

In 1976, at a meeting called by 1949 Heisman Trophy winner Leon Hart, the Monogram Club developed its bylaws, recommending that its purpose was to foster all the principles of the University in its academic, athletic, religious and social endeavors along with promoting camaraderie between former athletes and alumni.

During the Monogram Club presidency of Harvey Foster in 1981, he recommended that an endowment fund be started for the express purpose of aiding the University in continuing non-revenue sports. During the next 15 months, nearly $8 million was pledged and paid into the endowment fund. Endowment contributions still are accepted but more recently the Monogram Club's efforts have been directed to increasing the Brennan-Boland-Riehle Fund.

In 1984, during the presidency of Jim Lynch, the club received permission to construct a Sports Heritage Hall in the concourse of the Joyce Center. The first phase was to provide a ring of gold which names each monogram winner, alphabetically by decade, with those plans reaching fruition in 1987 when some 4,300 names were placed in gold letters on the oak panels. Nearly 1,700 names later were added in 2001, honoring monogram winners from the 1990s.

The second phase of the Heritage Hall involved building display cases showing various pieces of memorabilia, pictures of individuals and teams, trophies of various awards and other interesting objects detailing the history of Notre Dame athletics.

The Monogram Club's ever-growing list of events and projects included the following activities during 2005-06:

- A full allocation of $1 million towards the Notre Dame Stadium enhancement project — featuring an elaborate series of banners that commemorate Notre Dame's rich tradition in college football

- Introduction of the Sports Liaison Program, which pairs board members with current Irish teams to foster a beneficial two-way relationship

- Establishing a Catastrophic Relief Fund to help former Notre Dame monogram winners faced with catastrophic problems of health and/or financial hardship

- Pledged support for the 35th anniversary of women's athletics at Notre Dame, to be celebrated in 2006-07

- Sponsorship of student-athletes who participated in various domestic and international summer-service projects, as coordinated by Notre Dame's Center for Social Concerns. Former Irish hockey player and recent Monogram Club board member Dave Bossy has made a 10-year commitment ($10,000 per year) to help fund sponsorship of student-athletes who participate in the Summer Service Program

- Funding aid for 2005-06 foreign trips by the Notre Dame men's lacrosse team (Czech Republic), the men's soccer team (Brazil), the women's lacrosse team and the men's tennis team (Germany)

- Continuing financial assistance ($110,000 in '05-'06) to programs benefiting current student-athletes, via the student welfare initiative (in conjunction with the athletic department's student welfare/life skills programs)

- An expanded student-athlete outreach and education program that includes continued sponsorship of the "OSCARS" all-sports banquet (with specific funding for the popular all-sports highlight video), an informative brochure targeted to student-athletes and continued sponsorship of the varsity monogram awards program (letter jackets, blazers, blankets, rings, and watches)

- The continuing program of providing laptop computers to the Academic Services for Student-Athletes, with student-athletes able to check out these computers during official team travel.

- Ongoing funding and presentation of BIG EAST-championship rings and NCAA-participation awards for Notre Dame teams and individuals

Other recent Monogram Club projects have included:

- A joint effort with the network of local Notre Dame alumni clubs, providing various team hosting events (such as receptions and cultural events) for Notre Dame teams as they travel throughout the country

- A series of football-weekend receptions for Monogram Club members and their guests, typically held in the Joyce Center prior to each home football game (the final home game also traditionally includes a unique thrill for all former monogram winners in attendance, who form the pregame tunnel as the Irish team takes the field)

Monogram Club dues-paying members annually greet the Notre Dame football team as it takes the field prior to the final home game.

- Continuing an expanded sponsorship of the annual Blue-Gold Football Alumni Weekend that includes the alumni flag-football game and an interactive Friday-night dinner (attended by 700-plus) with the program's current players and coaches

- The organization of several popular events, including the fourth annual Football Fantasy Camp, the annual Monogram Club golf outing (held during reunion weekend) and V.I.P. football weekend auctions

- Expanded offerings and unique website content at www.ndmonogramclub.com (also linked via und.com), as part of an ever-increasing list of member benefits

- And the traditional awarding of honorary monograms — presented to those who have demonstrated exceptional service to Notre Dame — in conjunction with the announcement of the Moose Krause Distinguished Service Award

The Monogram Club of today is comprised of some 4,100 dues-paying members who are awarded the block ND. Yearly dues entitle members to a variety of benefits: annual golf outing and dinner; membership card; the Inside Irish publication, with first-class mailing (plus e-mail and web options); members' children eligible for Brennan-Boland-Riehle scholarship at Notre Dame; and ticket applications for home football games. The Club's annual golf outing, mass for deceased members, dinner and meeting is held in early June prior to the Notre Dame Alumni Reunion Weekend.

Assistant athletic director Jim Fraleigh has served as the Monogram Club's executive director since the fall of 2004 while the current president is former volleyball player Julie Pierson Doyle (the first female president in the history of the Monogram Club). The first vice-president is former basketball player Marc Kelly, with former Academic All-America football player Joe Restic joining the officer rotation as second vice-president.

Irish athletics receive the finest in sports medicine care from the team of athletic trainers and physicians.

From the days of Knute Rockne, when Eugene "Scrap Iron" Young first began providing care to student-athletes, the Notre Dame athletic training department has evolved into a fully-staffed sports medicine team with three state-of-the-art facilities. The 2005-06 academic year was a time of key growth and expansion for Notre Dame's athletic training operation, in keeping up with the changing demands of college athletics. The sports medicine department added two new full-time staff positions while moving into its new primary locale at the Guglielmino Sports Complex.

Head athletic trainer and physical therapist Jim Russ now oversees a staff of three associate and eight assistant athletic trainers, plus two physical therapist/athletic trainers. The staff of 13 is responsible for the care and treatment of more than 750 Notre Dame student-athletes. The entire sports medicine staff is certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association and boasts nearly 200 years of collective experience.

Each staff member is responsible for the health care of at least two of Notre Dame's varsity athletic teams. Duties in that role include evaluating and assessing athletic injuries, administering first-aid, making medical referrals, establishing treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries and educating student-athletes on nutrition and injury prevention.

The foundation of the Notre Dame Sports Medicine Department falls under the direct supervision of several sports medicine physicians. This group now includes three university primary-care doctors – Notre Dame directors of sports medicine Dr. Willard Yergler and Dr. Jim Moriarity, plus Dr. Rich Jacobs – along with six orthopaedic surgeons: Dr. Becky Moskwinski, Dr. David Bankoff, Dr. Fred Ferlic, Dr. Robert Clemency, Dr. Michael Yergler and Dr. Chris Balint. A variety of medical consultants are available for specific needs, ranging from cardiology to dermatology, while the sports medicine department also is supplemented by 17 undergraduate student athletic trainers.

Notre Dame student-athletes have access to three state-of-the-art sports medicine facilities, in addition to the 24-hour University Health Center. The original athletic training room is located in the Joyce Center and Notre Dame Stadium is home to the 3,300 square-foot athletic training room – while the newest sports area is located in the new Guglielmino Athletics Center. This sports medicine area opened in the fall of 2005 and encompasses more than 8,500 square-feet of cutting-edge sports medicine technology.

Through these facilities, all student-athletes have access to the most modern sports medicine, providing the latest in diagnostic procedures, treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. The various athletic training facilities include the latest in physical therapy modalities and rehabilitation equipment, with two 3,500-gallon therapy pools, a full x-ray unit and an MRI machine making up the majority of the department's diagnostic equipment.

The sports medicine team of athletic trainers and team physicians is committed to providing the most comprehensive and safest health care possible. Evaluations, treatments and rehabilitation are established for each individual, with the goal of returning the student-athletes to competitive status in the safest and quickest manner possible.

The Notre Dame strength and conditioning program is designed to provide each student-athlete with the most productive, effective and efficient means of sport-specific physical training. Led by director of strength and conditioning Ruben Mendoza, the Irish strength and conditioning staff has a simple philosophy that combines a "no nonsense" approach with an "old school" attitude.

The staff offers a well-balanced, well-rounded program by incorporating a variety of training methods from conjugate training to Olympic style movements. Everything the staff does is geared toward developing speed, power and strength.

The staff wants to teach Notre Dame student-athletes work ethic, discipline and pride with a relentless attitude to strive for, and win, championships.

When entering the 25,000-square foot Haggar Fitness Complex (shared by the Loftus Sports Center and the Guglielmino Athletics Complex), student-athletes are quickly reminded of the "roll up your sleeves" and "get to work" mentality that Mendoza and his staff inspires.

The Haggar Fitness Complex features 25,000 square feet of workout space with a three-lane speed development track (40 yards in length), a state-of-the-art sound system with 28 speakers and four sub woofers, six giant plasma screen televisions, a 45 x 18 yard Prestige Turf plyometric agility area and a Gatorade hydration station.

The Notre Dame strength and conditioning staff – seven full-time coaches and two intern coaches – includes: director of strength and conditioning Ruben Mendoza, senior assistant Tony Rolinski, assistants Mike Joseph, Brian Herzog, Rick Perry, Sarah Kearney and Chris Sandeen, nutritionist Abby Richey, and speed/skill development coach Shawn Gaunt. The staff provides a large enough group to meet the student-athlete needs while developing an environment where student-athletes want to come in order to get better and achieve athletic success.

One of the eye-catching features of the Haggar Fitness Complex, a 25,000 square-foot facility shared by the Guglielmino Athletics Complex and the Loftus Center, are two variable weight sleds installed in the summer of 2005.

NACDA Directors' Cup

DIRECTORS' CUP STANDINGS

A best-ever sixth-place finish in the 2005-06 United States Sports Academy Division I Directors' Cup all-sports competition sponsored by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (formerly known as Sears Directors' Cup) added an exclamation point to the most successful across-the-board year in the history of Notre Dame athletics.

Notre Dame is among 11 schools to earn a top-20 finish in each of the past six years, as Irish programs finished 11th in 2001, 13th in '02 and '03, 19th in '04 and 16th in '05. The other schools with that distinction include five from the Pacific-10 Conference (Stanford, UCLA, California, Arizona State and Arizona) and two from the Southeastern Conference (Florida and Georgia), plus Ohio State (Big Ten), Texas (Big-12) and North Carolina (Atlantic Coast Conference).

Notre Dame made one of the most noteworthy single-year improvements, rising 10 spots from its 16th-place finish in 2004-05.

FALL

Fall NCAA competition earned the Irish 412 points based on their third-place NCAA finish in men's cross country (85 points), seventh-place in women's cross country (69 points), a quarterfinalist appearance in women's soccer (73 points) third-round appearances in both men's soccer and volleyball (64 points each) and a final ranking of 11th in the USA Today football poll (57 points).

Notre Dame finished the fall seasons in first place for the second straight year, with the 412 points representing the most ever by Notre Dame during the fall season.

WINTER

Winter competition netted Notre Dame 125.5 points – based on its fourth-place finish in the NCAA men's and women's combined fencing championship (40 points), a 33rd-place finish in men's indoor track and field (32.5 points), a 41st-place finish in women's swimming and diving (21 points) and a first-round NCAA appearance in women's basketball (25 points).

SPRING

Spring sports play netted 368 points – a boost of 120 points from the 2005 spring – thanks to NCAA participation in women's tennis (quarterfinals; 73 points), men's tennis (round-of-16; 64 points), women's outdoor track and field (32nd; 42 points), women's lacrosse (semifinalist; 41.5 points), rowing (9th; 37 points), softball (regional finalist; 50 points), baseball (regional participant; 25), men's golf (50th; 23 points) and men's lacrosse (1st round; 12.5 points). Per the Directors Cup scoring format, the women's track outdoor points displaced the points from the indoor.

HISTORICAL PERFORMANCE

In previous years in which the Directors' Cup competition has been held, Notre Dame has finished 11th in 1993-94, 30th in '95, 11th in '96, 14th in '97, 31st in '98, 25th in '99, 21st in 2000, 11th in '01, 13th in '02 and again in '03, 19th in '04 and most recently 16th for 2004-05.

All but one of Notre Dame's 26 varsity sports have scored points for the Irish in the NACDA Cup. Leading the way are the men's and women's fencing programs, which have used 12 consecutive top-four finishes at the NAAs to contribute 806 points since fencing was added to the NACDA Cup in 1995-96. Women's soccer has contributed 815.5 points, highlighted by seven national-semifinal appearances and a pair of titles ('95, '04). It also stands as one of two teams – along with women's volleyball – to have scored points in the NACDA Cup all 13 years. Eleven of Notre Dame's sports have contributed points on 10 or more occasions while 17 have scored in at least half (7) of the NACDA Cup competitions.

The Directors' Cup competition honors institutions for maintaining athletic programs that seek to achieve success in many sports, both men's and women's. Begun in 1993-94 for Division I by NACDA and USA Today, the program was expanded in 1995-96 to include Divisions II, III, and the NAIA. Each institution is awarded points in a pre-determined number of sports for men and women (10 each in Division I). The overall champion is the institution that records the highest number of points in their division's Directors Cup standings.

Notre Dame placed sixth in the 2005-06 NACDA Directors' Cup competition, its highest finish in the 13-year history of the Directors' Cup.

The Notre Dame athletic department's sixth-place finish in the annual Directors' Cup standings included a historic finish by the women's lacrosse team, which reached the NCAA semifinals for the first time in the program's history.

BEST OF BOTH WORLDS – The Notre Dame athletic department continues to emerge as one of the highest-rated in the nation ... a 2005 report by the National Collegiate Scouting Association listed Notre Dame third (behind Stanford and Duke) in Division I-A rankings for schools with the top combination of academics and athletics, based on student-athlete graduation rates, the U.S. News and World Report rankings (academic) and the annual Directors' Cup all-sports standings.

A SPORT-MINDED CAMPUS – A Sports Illustrated feature on "America's Top Jock Schools" crowned UCLA No. 1, with Notre Dame a close runner-up ... the profile cited the Bengal Bouts campus-wide boxing tournament that benefits the Holy Cross Mission, Bookstore Basketball (the world's largest five-on-five basketball tournament) and intramural football in full pads (with the title game in Notre Dame Stadium) – plus the fact that 75 percent of Notre Dame undergrads lettered in high-school sports.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE – The success of Notre Dame athletics extends to the classroom:

- All 26 athletics programs at Notre Dame in 2004-05 and '05-'06 exceeded the NCAA's new academic performance standard introduced in 2005, with 14 Irish teams in '05-'06 scoring a perfect 1,000 (most from any Division I-A school) ... the Academic Progress Rate (APR) uses a series of formulas related to student-athlete retention and eligibility.

- In the traditional federal-mandated format of the NCAA graduation-rate report, Notre Dame ranked first nationally in the survey covering student-athletes who enrolled between '95-'98, based on the raw percentage of those who entered and graduated within six years (those who left or transferred were considered non-graduates) ... ND's 90.4% graduation rate in that study ranked first among all of Division I-A schools (also first with 87% grad. rate for male student-athletes and first with 96% for female student-athletes).

- Among 626 student-athletes who completed all four years of athletic eligibility at Notre Dame from among those entering over a 10-year period from 1989-90 through 1998-99, virtually 100 percent (623 of 626; 99.52%) earned their degrees.

- Another new graduation-rate survey – the GSR (Graduation Success Rate) – ranks Notre Dame second among Division I-A schools with a 98% GSR score (Navy is first on that list). The GSR was created to more accurately reflect graduation rates by factoring in transfer data. Notre Dame also was second in the latest male GSR rankings (98%, behind Navy) and fifth for female student-athletes (99%, behind Duke, Northwestern, Rice and Navy).

- Notre Dame student-athletes combined to post a 4.0 semester GPA 31 times in the 2005 spring and fall semesters ... those of note who posted 4.0s in 2005 included: soccer players Mary Boland, Erika Bohn, Ashley Jones, Susan Pinnick and John Stephens, swimmers Kelli Barton and Patrick Davis, sprinter Maryann Erigha, golfer K.C. Wiseman, lacrosse player Mary Carpenter, distance runners Sunni Olding, Elizabeth Webster, Mike Popejoy and Todd Ptacek, and track-and-field performer Petra Dankova.

SPANNING THE GLOBE – Similar to the composition of the Notre Dame student body, the 26 current varsity teams include student-athletes from nearly every state ... Notre Dame's 2004-05 varsity rosters included some 700 student-athletes who hailed from 44 states (all but Hawaii, Maine, Mississippi, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming), plus six Canadian provinces and 19 other foreign countries: Austria, Cayman Islands, Colombia, Czech Republic, El Salvador, England, Finland, Germany, Guatemala, Hong Kong, Iceland, Ireland, Jamaica, Korea, Luxembourg, Mexico, Poland, Singapore and South Africa.

A TRADITION OF SUCCESS

- Notre Dame has claimed 25 NCAA team titles: 11 in football ('24, '29, '30, '43, '46, '47, '49, '66, '73, '77, '88), seven in fencing (men in '77, '78 and '86, women in '87, combined in '94, '03, '05), two in women's soccer ('95, '04) and men's tennis ('44, '59), and one each in men's golf ('44), men's cross country ('57) and women's basketball ('01) ... the 2004-05 academic year saw Notre Dame win two NCAA titles (women's soccer and combined fencing) for the third time in the athletic department's history (also men's golf/men's tennis in '43-'44; football/men's fencing in '77-'78).

- Notre Dame's 11-year domination as a member of the BIG EAST Conference includes winning an unprecedented 13 official BIG EAST championships (based on tournament finish or regular-season standings) in 2005-06, besting the 10 titles won by the Irish in '04-'05 as the most ever by one school in a single academic year ... Notre Dame's BIG EAST titles in '05-'06 included five men's sports (cross country, swimming and diving, golf, outdoor track and field, and baseball) plus women's soccer, volleyball, cross country, swimming and diving, indoor track and field, softball, rowing and tennis. A total of 16 Notre Dame teams (out of 21) finished first or second in 2004-05 BIG EAST play – with men's tennis, women's lacrosse and women's outdoor track and field nearly winning BIG EAST titles before finishing in second place.

- Notre Dame's total of nearly 900 All-Americans includes 24 who have been four-year All-Americans and 49 who have coupled All-America and Academic All-America honors in the same season. The 2005-06 year saw an all-time high of five different Notre Dame student-athletes earn both All-America and Academic All-America honors.

BIG EAST Conference

The BIG EAST Conference in 2006-07 enters its second year as the nation's largest Division I-A conference. The first year with 16 members produced plenty of curiosity among those in the world of collegiate athletics and in the media, but the league thrived in its new alignment while enjoying significant success in the athletic arenas, on the playing fields and in the classroom.

The goals of the BIG EAST have remained constant throughout its history – to compete at the highest level and to do so with integrity and sportsmanship.

BIG EAST squads secured a league-record eight bids to the 2005-06 NCAA Tournament while seven BIG EAST women's basketball teams earned NCAA berths. In football, West Virginia garnered the attention of the college football world with its victory over Georgia in the Nokia Sugar Bowl, as the BIG EAST's representative in the Bowl Championship Series.

The BIG EAST welcomed five new members in 2005-06, increasing its membership to 16 with the addition of the University of Cincinnati, DePaul University, the University of Louisville, Marquette University and the University of South Florida. Some were ready to call the new BIG EAST alignment too unwieldy but the league showed that there can be strength in numbers even when that number is a large one.

BIG EAST institutions reside in nine of the nation's 34 largest media markets, including New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Tampa, Pittsburgh, Hartford, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. With its newest members, BIG EAST markets will contain almost one fourth of all television households in the U.S.

Since opening its doors in 1979, the league has seen its teams win 25 national championships in six different sports while 123 student-athletes from BIG EAST schools have won individual national titles.

The Villanova women's cross country team recently was named the NCAA's Silver Anniversary Cross Country Program, with that 2005 honors recognizing seven NCAA team titles by the Wildcats since 1981. Former Villanova standout Carole Zajac was named the top individual performer of the NCAA women's cross country era.

The BIG EAST always has been able to boast that some of its best students are also some of its best athletes. More than 350 BIG EAST student-athletes have earned Academic All-America honors – including West Virginia's Joe Herber, who was named by the College Sports Information Directors of America as its ESPN The Magazine

Academic All-American of the Year in men's basketball for the 2005-06 season.

The BIG EAST has continued its basketball success in the 21st century. Connecticut became the first school in NCAA history to win the men's and women's NCAA titles in the same season (in 2003-04). With the Syracuse men and the UConn grabbing NCAA crowns the previous year, the BIG EAST became the first conference in NCAA history to win the men's and women's titles in consecutive seasons. In fact, the BIG EAST has won five of the past seven women's basketball crowns and three of the past eight men's titles.

Moving proactively has been a consistent strategy for the conference, as the BIG EAST continually has turned challenges into opportunities to become stronger. The BIG EAST added women's lacrosse and rowing to its growing list of sports in the spring of 2001 while the inaugural women's golf championship was held in the spring of 2003.

The BIG EAST became a reality on May 31, 1979, following a meeting of athletic directors from Providence, St. John's, Georgetown and Syracuse. Seton Hall, Connecticut and Boston College completed the original seven-school alliance.

While the membership has increased and changed, the focus of the BIG EAST has not wavered. The conference reflects a tradition of broadbased programs, led by administrators and coaches who place a constant emphasis on academic integrity. The BIG EAST Conference has enjoyed a leadership role nationally. Its student-athletes own significantly high graduation rates and their record of scholastic achievement notably shows a balance between intercollegiate athletics and academics.

Any successful organization needs outstanding leadership. Michael Tranghese – the league's first full-time employee and, for 11 years, the associate to Dave Gavitt – moved into the BIG EAST commissioner's chair in 1990. In his first year, Tranghese administered the formation of the BIG EAST Football Conference.

The league has long been considered a leader in innovative concepts in promotion and publicity, particularly regarding television. Those efforts have resulted in unparalleled visibility for BIG EAST student-athletes. The conference has enjoyed long-standing relationships with CBS, ESPN and ABC.

While BIG EAST basketball games are regular sellouts at campus and major public arenas, including the annual men's BIG EAST Championship in Madison Square Garden, attendance figures also are significant at BIG EAST soccer, women's basketball and baseball games.

More than 550 BIG EAST athletes have earned All America recognition and dozens have won individual NCAA national championships. The BIG EAST has been well represented in U.S. or foreign national and Olympic teams. Several athletes earned gold medals in each of the past five summer Olympiads.

The BIG EAST has its headquarters in Providence, where the conference administers to more than 5,500 athletes in 23 sports.
