

1992 NCAA Tournament

UCLA 93 • Notre Dame 72
(First Round)

March 18, 1992

Pauley Pavilion (Westwood, Calif.)

Despite a losing record (14-16), Notre Dame made its first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance when the Irish claimed the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Tournament title with a 59-54 win over top-seeded Xavier to earn the league's inaugural automatic berth.

The 12th seed in the Midwest Region, Notre Dame was the only member of the 48-team NCAA field with a losing record. The Irish traveled to UCLA to face the fifth-seeded Bruins (19-9) who were making their fourth NCAA Tournament appearance.

UCLA jumped all over the Irish early on as the Bruins raced to an early 15-point lead and led by as many as 17 in the first half. Notre Dame shot just 29.7 percent from the field in the first half and were outrebounded 30-19 in the first 20 minutes of the contest as UCLA enjoyed a 37-24 halftime advantage.

The Bruins scored 56 second-half points en route to a 93-72 victory. Notre Dame finished the game hitting just 33.8 percent of its shots (24-71) and was outrebounded 64-37 for the game. UCLA had four players in double figures as Natalie Williams led all scorers and rebounders with 22 points and 15 rebounds. Amy Jalewalia added 21 points for the Bruins.

Michelle Marciniak was the leading scorer for Notre Dame as she netted 21 points. Letitia Bowen added 18 points and a team-high 12 rebounds, while Margaret Nowlin was the only other Irish player in double figures as she chipped in 14.

Notre Dame finished the campaign with a 14-17 record.

1994 NCAA Tournament

Minnesota 81 • Notre Dame 76
(First Round)

Joyce Center (Notre Dame, Ind.)

By winning its fifth Midwestern Collegiate Conference championship in six seasons, Notre Dame earned the automatic berth into the 64-team field and made its second NCAA Tournament appearance in school history. The Irish received the seventh seed in the East Region and played host to its first-ever NCAA contest, hosting 10th-seeded Minnesota at the Joyce Center. The game marked the first meeting between the two schools.

Trailing by as many as 11 in the first half, the Irish closed with a 12-2 run and went into halftime down 31-30. The Irish regained the lead 42-40 with 14 minutes to play on a Carey Poor basket, but the Gophers answered with nine straight points and never let the Irish get closer than six until the final six seconds of the game.

Notre Dame committed 28 fouls in the contest as Minnesota made 24 of 34 from the free throw line. The Irish outrebounded the Gophers 44-29, but 21 turnovers hurt Notre Dame.

Minnesota shot 51.0 percent for the game (26 of 51) and 65.0 percent in the second half. Five players scored in double figures for the Gophers. Carol Ann Shudlick led the Gophers with 19 points, while Nikki Coates added 14. Nancy Alexander came off the bench to score 13 points as she hit on all five of her field goal attempts.

Irish freshman Beth Morgan led all scorers with 26 points. Carey Poor and Kara Leary were the only other Notre Dame players in double figures scoring 11 and 10 points, respectively. Letitia Bowen led all rebounders with eight.

1996 NCAA Tournament

Notre Dame 73 • Purdue 60 (First Round)

March 15, 1996

Lubbock Municipal Coliseum
(Lubbock, Texas)

Notre Dame 73, Purdue 60. It marked a defining moment in the 19-year history of the Notre Dame women's basketball program.

After two previous trips to the NCAA Tournament, the Notre Dame women's basketball squad finally got the respect it deserved as the Irish, a 12th seed in the Midwest Region, shocked fifth-seeded and 15th-ranked Purdue for its first-ever NCAA tournament victory. The two in-state schools, located just two hours apart geographically, played in Lubbock, Texas in the first round to determine their tournament fate.

The win was Notre Dame's first in seven outings against the Boilermakers and it marked the first time a Purdue team coached by Lin Dunn had lost to an Indiana school. The victory also was the first for the Irish over a ranked opponent since the 1990-91 season.

Katryna Gaither led three Notre Dame players in double figures as she scored a game-high 18 points and grabbed 13 rebounds. Beth Morgan and Rosanne Bohman each added 16 points. For Bohman, the 16 points marked a career-high as she connected on seven of 11 field goal attempts coming off the bench.

Notre Dame led for much of the game and built a 10-point advantage in the first half on several occasions and had a 33-26 lead at intermission. Purdue got as close as two points (50-48) with 10:23 left to play in the game, but the Irish outscored the Boilermakers 23-12 down the stretch.

The Irish defense held Purdue to just 31.5 percent shooting for the game. Notre Dame had a decisive advantage from the charity stripe as the Irish converted on 25 of 32 attempts, while the Boilermakers went to the line just 13 times and hit nine of their free throws.

Stacey Lovelace led four Purdue players in double figures as she netted 17 points and grabbed a game-high 15 rebounds.

With the win over the Boilermakers, the Irish improved to 23-7, tying the school mark for victories in a season.

Texas Tech 82 • Notre Dame 67 (Second Round)

March 17, 1996

Lubbock Municipal Coliseum (Lubbock, Texas)

Despite playing on St. Patrick's Day for the first time in the program's history, Notre Dame's run in the NCAA Tournament ended as the Irish dropped an 82-67 decision to host Texas Tech, the fourth seed in the Midwest Region.

The Lady Raiders led from the opening tipoff and only once (3-3 with 18:19 left to play in the first half) was the score tied. Texas Tech led by eight at the half (32-24) and held the Irish, ranked second nationally in field goal percentage, to just 29.6 percent (8-27) shooting in the first half. Notre Dame shot 54.5 percent in the second half and finished with 43.3 accuracy.

Texas Tech dominated the boards outrebounding Notre Dame 40-28. The Red Raiders also hit 26 of 33 free throw attempts. The Irish missed only one free throw, but went to the line just 11 times.

Notre Dame was led in scoring and rebounding by Katryna Gaither who finished with 21 points and eight rebounds. Beth Morgan added 16 despite making just five of her 20 field goal attempts. Sheila McMillen was the only other Irish player in double figures as she netted 13.

Texas Tech had four players in double figures. Alicia Thompson led all scorers with 25 points, while Michi Atkins added 18 and Julie Lake and Rene Hanebutt each chipped in 16.

Notre Dame finished its storybook season with a 23-8 record and final ranking of 21st in both the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN polls.

Notre Dame 87 • Alabama 71 (Regional Semifinal)

March 22, 1997
Frank McGuire Arena (Columbia, S.C.)

Notre Dame moved one step closer to college basketball's pinnacle — the NCAA Final Four — as the Irish used a 22-0 spurt over a 6:03 stretch in the second half and overcame a nine-point halftime deficit to beat second-seeded and seventh-ranked Alabama 87-71. The win, which moved Notre Dame into the regional final against George Washington, marked the first-ever 30-win season for the program as the Irish improved to 30-6. The win was also the 300th of head coach Muffet McGraw's 15-year career.

Beth Morgan set an East Region record with her career-high 36 points. In a one minute 53-second span, she scored 11 points and single-handedly erased the nine-point Alabama lead (51-42) with 13:38 left in the contest. Morgan, who also grabbed a career and game-high 13 rebounds, hit three consecutive three-pointers to tie the game at 51-51 with 12:09 remaining. She finished the game hitting 13 of 22 shots from the field, including six of 10 from three-point range.

After the Tide grabbed a three-point lead 56-53 at the 10:10 mark, Katryna Gaither's two free throws pulled the Irish to within one 56-55. Sheila McMillen's hit back-to-back three-pointers which gave Notre Dame the lead for good as the Irish held Alabama scoreless for over five minutes and jumped out to a 20-point lead.

Gaither finished the game with 26 points and nine rebounds. McMillen's only points of the game were the ones scored on the three-pointers, but she also had six rebounds. Mollie Peirick dished off a game-high 11 assists in the game.

Notre Dame shot well from the field as the Irish hit on 59.3 percent of their shots, including 60.7 percent (17 of 28) in the second half. Alabama, meanwhile, shot just 30.7 percent (23 of 75) for the game and was just nine of 35 (25.7%) in the second half. The Irish also enjoyed a 47-37 advantage on the boards.

Shalonda Enis led Alabama in both scoring the rebounding as she tossed in 26 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

Notre Dame 62 • George Washington 52 (Regional Final)

March 24, 1997
Frank McGuire Arena (Columbia, S.C.)

Notre Dame left little doubt it was headed to the Final Four. Leading from the opening tip, the Irish beat fifth-seeded George Washington 62-52 to advance to the NCAA Final Four for the first time in school history. In a game between two unlikely East Regional finalists, Notre Dame, in just its second year as a member of the BIG EAST Conference, assured the league of having a team in the national semifinals for the third straight year.

Katryna Gaither, named MVP of the East Regional, scored 26 points and grabbed 16 rebounds to lead all scorers and rebounders as the Irish knocked off a higher seeded team for the third straight game.

Coach Muffet McGraw's team was in control right from the start and trailed only once in the contest. Beth Morgan, who finished with 15 points and six rebounds, nailed a three-pointer five seconds into the game and the Irish never looked back as they opened a 10-point lead and led 32-25 at the half.

Notre Dame, which had been shooting better than 50-percent throughout the tournament, hit just 36.4 percent from the field in the first half. The Irish defense, however, held the Colonials to 29.7-percent shooting in the first half. One of the team's leading scorer, center Tajama Abraham, was held to just four points at the intermission.

George Washington outscored Notre Dame 14-6 to open the second half and led for its first and only time, 39-38, with 11:37 to play in the contest when Lisa Cermignano nailed a 21-foot jumper. The Irish regained the lead 34 seconds later on a Gaither layup and never trailed again in the game outscoring George Washington 24-12 in the final 11:03.

Notre Dame finished the game shooting 41.8 percent from the field, while the Colonials hit just 31.4 percent (22-70) of their shots. George Washington also struggled from the free throw line making just 3 of its 10 attempts.

The Irish also had a decisive rebounding advantage outrebounding the Colonials 54-34. Mollie Peirick was Notre Dame's second leading rebounder in the contest with nine boards.

Tennessee 80 • Notre Dame 66 (National Semifinal)

March 28, 1997

Riverfront Coliseum (Cincinnati, Ohio)

Notre Dame's storybook season and thrilling ride through the NCAA Tournament and into the Final Four came to an all too familiar ending as the Irish lost to eventual national champion Tennessee, 80-66 at Riverfront Coliseum in Cincinnati, Ohio before a sellout crowd of 16,714. For the 13th time in as many games and the second time this season, the Lady Vols were the victors.

Tennessee, the third seed in the Midwest Region, already had four national championships to its credit and was making its third straight Final Four appearance, reached its national semifinal contest against Notre Dame after upsetting top-ranked Connecticut in the regional final.

The game marked the second meeting of the 1996-97 campaign between the two teams. The Irish and Lady Vols met previously in the semifinals of the Preseason Women's National Invitation Tournament as Tennessee earned a 13-point decision 72-59.

Behind the 31-point performance of sophomore Chamique Holdsclaw, the Lady Vols were able to hold off the Irish for the victory. Holdsclaw shot 13 of 25 for the game, including hitting eight of 12 field goal attempts in the second half.

Both teams shot poorly in the first half as the Irish hit just 34.5 percent (10 for 29) from the field, while the Lady Vols made only 11 of 34 shots for 32.4 percent accuracy. Notre Dame led only once in the contest (2-0 at 18:37) and trailed by just one at the half, 29-28.

After falling behind by eight to start the second half, Notre Dame closed to within 45-43 on a Beth Morgan three-pointer with 10:51 left to play in the game. Tennessee, however, answered with a 21-9 burst that put the game away. In the run, Holdsclaw scored eight points, while freshman Kyra Elzy finished with 14 points and nine rebounds.

Turnovers proved costly for the Irish who committed 23 for the game. The Lady Vols capitalized on those mistakes scoring 21 points off of turnovers.

In her final performance in a Notre Dame uniform, Katryna Gaither recorded her 41st career double double as she scored 28 points and grabbed a game-high 13 rebounds. Morgan was the only other Notre Dame player in double figures with 18 points.

The Irish finished the season with a 31-7 record, the most wins and best winning percentage in school history.

Notre Dame 78 • SMS 64 (First Round)

March 13, 1998

Lubbock Municipal Coliseum
(Lubbock, Texas)

For the third straight year, Notre Dame was playing its first-round NCAA Tournament game in the state of Texas. And for the second time in three years, the Irish were playing in Lubbock, Texas. In 1996, the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum was the site of Notre Dame's first-ever NCAA Tournament win when the Irish beat in-state rival Purdue.

Entering the 1998 tournament as the ninth seed in the Midwest Region, the Irish advanced to the second round for the third consecutive season with a 78-64 victory over eighth-seeded Southwest Missouri State. The win improved Notre Dame's NCAA tournament record to 5-1 in the state of Texas, including four straight wins.

Four of Notre Dame's five starters scored in double figures as the Irish shot 51.7 percent from the field for the game while holding the Lady Bears to just 39.6 field goal accuracy and forcing 25 turnovers.

Notre Dame trailed just once in the contest and held a double-digit lead for a majority of the contest.

Freshman Ruth Riley posted game-highs of 21 points and nine rebounds, while junior guard Sheila McMillen scored 13 points on the strength of three three-point field goals. Senior Mollie Peirick added 12 points and nine assists, while another rookie, Kelley Siemon, has 12 points and six rebounds.

Sophomore Niele Ivey was the only Irish starter not in double figures as she chipped in nine points, but made a game-high seven steals (the second most in an NCAA Midwest Region first or second round game).

Southwest Missouri State had four players in double figures and were led by freshman guard Jackie Stiles (15 points).

Notre Dame 74 • Texas Tech 59 (Second Round)

March 15, 1998

Lubbock Municipal Coliseum (Lubbock, Texas)

Notre Dame played spoiler for the second straight year as the Irish produced one of the biggest upsets of the 1998 NCAA Tournament by beating top-seeded and fifth-ranked Texas Tech 74-59 on the Lady Raiders' homecourt to advance to the Sweet 16 for the second consecutive year.

It was the second-ever meeting between the two schools. Two years previous, the two teams met in the second round of the '96 NCAA Tournament as the Lady Raiders eliminated the Irish 82-67.

This time, however, Notre Dame would not be denied. Before a hostile crowd of 8,174, Coach Muffet McGraw's squad, despite trailing by three at halftime (29-26) and playing most of the first half without the services of freshman Ruth Riley who picked up two fouls in the first 47 seconds of the game, did not lose its composure. The Irish used runs of 9-0 and 12-0 in the second half and shot 62.1 percent from the field (18-29) to outscore Texas Tech 48-30 in the final 20 minutes of the contest.

The Irish turned in a stellar defensive performance as they held the Lady Raiders to just 33.3 percent accuracy for the game, while holding Texas Tech to just 10 second half field goals (10-37 for 27.0 percent).

For the second straight game, Riley led the Irish in both scoring and rebounding as she finished with a game-high 23 points (all in the second half) and grabbed a team-best eight boards.

Texas Tech led 36-30 after Julie Lake connected on a three-point goal with 17:04 remaining. The Irish responded with nine consecutive points — seven by Riley — to take a 39-36 lead.

Notre Dame took the lead for good when junior guard Sheila McMillen connected on two free throws with 8:53 remaining to give the Irish a 45-44 advantage. That was the start of a 12-0 Irish spurt over the next 2:20 that gave Notre Dame a 55-44 lead. The Lady Raiders drew no closer than nine points the rest of the way.

McMillen and Kelley Siemon were the only other Irish players in double figures, netting 13 points and 10 points, respectively. Mollie Peirick finished with a game-high 11 assists.

The victory over fifth-ranked Texas Tech marked the highest-ranked opponent Notre Dame had beaten in the 21-year history of the program and enabled Notre Dame to join a list of eight other teams that advanced to both the 1997 and 1998 Regional Semifinals.

Purdue 70 • Notre Dame 65 (Regional Semifinal)

March 21, 1998

Lubbock Municipal Coliseum (Lubbock, Texas)

Notre Dame's Midwest Regional semifinal contest against fourth-seeded Purdue marked the second meeting of the season between the two teams. Both teams entered the game with identical 22-9 records and the Boilermakers were looking to avenge a 77-71 loss they suffered to the Irish at the Joyce Center in early December.

Entering the game, Purdue held a 7-2 advantage in the series. The Lubbock Coliseum was the site of Notre Dame's first-ever win against Purdue in 1996 when the Irish upset the Boilermakers 73-60 in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

For much of the game it looked like Notre Dame was going to make it two straight to capture its third win over its instate rival in the last four meetings, as the Irish held a 16-point lead (56-40) with 13:21 remaining in the contest. A 22-5 run, however, by Purdue over a nine-minute stretch thwarted Notre Dame's bid to earn an appearance in a regional final for the second straight year.

The Boilermakers led for the first time in the contest with 4:13 in regulation when Ukari Figgs nailed a jumper which put Purdue up for good 62-61.

Purdue's Stephanie White, who was held to just five points in the early December matchup between the two teams, scored 22 points and grabbed nine rebounds to lead four Boilermakers in double figures. Figgs had 15 points, while Camille Cooper and Tiffany Young tossed in 14 and 11 points, respectively.

Notre Dame's Sheila McMillen, an AAU teammate of White's in high school, also finished with 22 points. She had 19 in the first half in helping Notre Dame build a 42-30 halftime advantage.

The Irish were dominant in the first 20 minutes of the contest hitting 50.0 percent of their shots and 87.5 percent of their free throws. In the second half, Notre Dame was its own worst enemy, making just nine of 27 attempts from the field (33.3 percent) and committing 13 turnovers.

Niele Ivey and Ruth Riley were the only Irish players in double figures with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

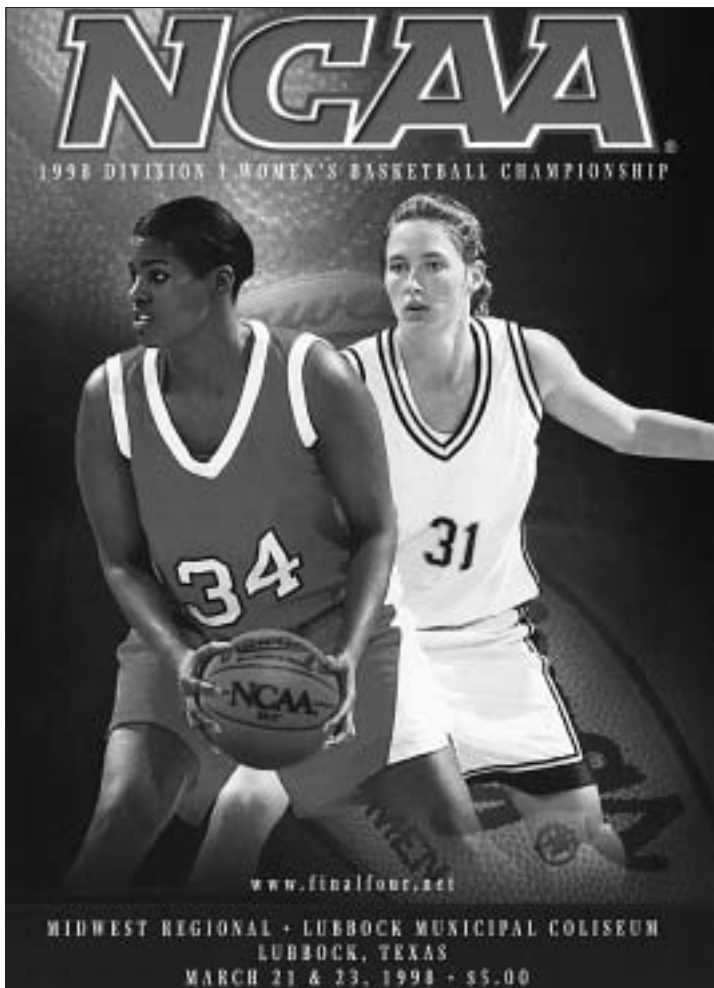

Notre Dame, which held a 42-34 advantage on the boards, was led by freshman Kelley Siemon who had a game-high and personal best 13 boards.

The Irish closed out their season with a 22-10 record, its fifth consecutive 20-win campaign, and finished 17th in the final USA Today/ESPN Coaches Poll.

Notre Dame's second-round upset of top-seeded Texas Tech in Lubbock, Texas, in 1998 produced an exhilarating moment for Irish players.

1999 NCAA Tournament

Notre Dame 61 • Saint Mary's (Calif.) 57 (First Round)

March 13, 1999

Pete Maravich Assembly Center (Baton Rouge, La.)

Despite being ranked in the Top 10 for a school-record 16 consecutive weeks, Notre Dame found itself on the road in Baton Rouge, La., for the first and second rounds of the NCAA Tournament. The Irish, making their fourth consecutive NCAA appearance, earned their highest seed ever in six berths as the number-five seed in the West Regional.

Notre Dame, which reached the 20-win plateau in 1998-99 faster than any other Irish team, was without the services of starting point guard. Ivey, a junior, was averaging double figures and was leading the team in assists and steals, before tearing her left anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) in Notre Dame's win over Rutgers in the semifinals of the BIG EAST Tournament.

Ivey's loss proved significant as the Irish offense, which averaged 81.0 ppg. during the campaign, was held to its lowest point total of the season. Notre Dame escaped with a 61-57 victory in its first-ever meeting with Saint Mary's to advance to the second round. Coach Muffet McGraw's team, which trailed by five points with 2:22 left in the game, used an 11-2 run at the end of the contest to escape with the four-point win over the 12th-seeded Gaels.

Saint Mary's, which was making its first NCAA tournament appearance, led 55-50 before the Irish outscored the Gaels 9-2 in the game's final two minutes. Notre Dame owned a 27-18 lead at intermission and was up by double figures early in the second half, but Saint Mary's came back from an 11-point deficit with 14 minutes remaining to grab its first lead of the game on Stacey Berg's three-pointer with five minutes to play.

After the Gaels built the five-point lead, Kelley Siemon cut the deficit to 55-52 with two free throws. Senior Sheila McMillen, the school's career three-point leader, hit her third three-pointer of the contest, when she nailed a jumper from the right baseline.

Notre Dame made four of its six free-throw attempts in the final minute to seal the victory as the Irish advanced to the second round for the fourth consecutive year. Despite shooting just 36.2 percent from the field, their second worst shooting effort of the season, the Irish had three players in double figures. Ruth Riley had game highs of 16 points and seven rebounds, while McMillen added 15 and Danielle Green tossed in 12. Tracey Morris led the Gaels as she scored 15 points.

LSU 74 • Notre Dame 64 (Second Round)

Pete Maravich Assembly Center (Baton Rouge, La.)

Seemingly on its way to a third consecutive appearance in the NCAA Sweet Sixteen, Notre Dame's high-scoring offense stumbled in the final eight minutes of its matchup with fourth-seeded and 21st-ranked LSU. Leading 59-51 with 8:32 remaining in the contest, the Irish managed just two field goals and a free throw as LSU outscored the Irish 23-5 en route to the 74-64 second-round victory.

Notre Dame, which shot 55.3 percent from the field in the contest and 59.1 percent in the second half, committed 29 turnovers in the contest. The Irish, however, managed just 47 field-goal attempts. Notre Dame's defense held the Tigers to 40.4 percent shooting for the game and forced 16 turnovers, but LSU came up with big plays in the final minutes of the contest to earn its first-ever appearance in a regional semifinal.

Notre Dame trailed 38-32 at halftime, but went on a 10-0 run to start the second half as the Irish opened up a four-point advantage with 15:28 left in the contest on Ruth Riley's basket. LSU point guard Latasha Dorsey, who scored 15 of her game-high 24 points in the second half, knotted the contest at 45-45 with 13:34 remaining with a three-pointer from the top of the key.

Following Dorsey's basket, the Irish outscored LSU 14-5 to open up the eight-point lead with just over eight minutes remaining in the game. Riley, who led the Irish with 20 points and a game-high 10 rebounds, had seven points in the run. After Riley's basket, LSU mounted its comeback with a 15-3 run that opened up a four-point advantage with just under two points to play. Notre Dame managed just one field goal and a free throw in a seven-minute span. The 10-point margin of victory for the Tigers was their largest lead of the contest.

In addition to Riley, Danielle Green and Kelley Siemon finished in double figures with 19 and 10 points, respectively. Sheila McMillen, playing her final game in an Irish uniform, had nine points.

Notre Dame's 26-5 record was its best in terms of winning percentage (.839).

2000 NCAA Tournament

Notre Dame 87 • San Diego 61
(First Round)

March 17, 2000

Joyce Center (Notre Dame, Ind.)

Playing host to an NCAA Tournament game for the second time in school history, Notre Dame opened up the 2000 NCAA championship on Saint Patrick's Day as the Irish played on March 17 for the third time in five years.

Wearing green jerseys for the fourth time that season, the Irish, the No. 2 seed in the Mideast Region, advanced to the second round of the NCAAAs with an 87-61 victory over No. 15 seed San Diego.

Four Notre Dame players scored in double figures as the Irish shot a season-high 63.6 percent from the field, connecting on 28 of their 44 attempts. Ruth Riley and Niele Ivey each scored 14 points in the contest, while Kelley Siemon came off the bench to score 13 points making all five of her field goal attempts. Riley hit seven of her eight shot attempts and led all rebounders in the contest with five. Danielle Green added 12 points in the victory. Susie Erpelding finished with a game-high 19 points, while Maria Perez-Barris finished with 16 points as the Toreros ended their season with a final record of 17-13.

Notre Dame, which never trailed in the contest, led by 11 (42-31) at halftime. The Irish broke open the game in the first 10 minutes of the second half as they outscored San Diego 22-11. Coach Muffet McGraw's squad, which won its first round NCAA Tournament game for the fifth consecutive year, owned a 32-19 rebounding advantage in the contest.

The Irish reached the 26-win mark with the victory, marking the second straight season with 26 victories (the second most in school history).

Notre Dame 95 • George Washington 60 (Second Round)

March 19, 2000

Joyce Center (Notre Dame, Ind.)

Niele Ivey scored a season-high 23 points to lead all five Notre Dame starters in double figures as the Irish posted a 95-60 win over George Washington to advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the third time in four years. The 95 points and 35-point margin of victory were the most by an Irish team in the NCAA Tournament.

Danielle Green was the spark for Notre Dame in the first half scoring all 16 of her points in the first 20 minutes of the contest as the Irish built a 43-25 halftime lead. Julie Henderson recorded her second double-double of the season as she scored 14 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Ruth Riley, on the bench for most of the second half because of foul trouble, finished with 14 points and nine rebounds.

Alicia Ratay, who was held without a field goal against San Diego, hit three three-pointers in the contest and finished with 11 points. Kelley Siemon tied her career high with 14 rebounds in the game.

Notre Dame shot 51.9 percent from the field and limited George Washington to just 28.3 percent for the game. The Colonials, who missed 16 straight shots in the first half converted just 26.7 percent of their attempts in the first half. After trailing 8-5 less than four minutes into the contest, Notre Dame went on a 21-4 run as the Irish built a 26-12 lead with six minutes to play before intermission.

The Irish dominated the Colonials on the boards, out rebounding George Washington 54-28, its largest rebounding differential of the season.

Notre Dame went to the free throw line 45 times in the game as the Irish tied the school record for most free throws made (33). A total of 53 fouls were called in the game. George Washington went to the line 29 times and converted 19 of those attempts.

Texas Tech 69 • Notre Dame 65 (Regional Semifinal)

March 25, 2000

The Pyramid (Memphis, Tenn.)

Notre Dame, making its third appearance in the Sweet Sixteen in the last four years, jumped out to an early 17-0 lead, and despite leading by five points at halftime, could not maintain the lead as the second-seeded Irish fell to third-seeded Texas Tech 69-65 in the MidEast Regional semifinals.

The matchup marked the third meeting between the two schools. Previously, the Irish and Texas Tech had met in the second round of the NCAA Tournament with both meetings taking place in Lubbock, Texas. This would be the first time the two teams would be facing each other on a neutral court.

Despite having four players in double figures and having the advantage in nearly every statistical category, the Irish fell victim to their 25 turnovers. Ruth Riley, who fouled out of the game, led all scorers with 19 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Seniors Danielle Green and Julie Henderson, playing in their final collegiate contests, scored 15 and 10 points each, respectively, while sophomore Ericka Haney also chipped in 10 points.

The Irish built their 17-0 advantage with 13:31 and it wasn't until 7:02 into the contest that Texas Tech scored its first basket. Notre Dame, however, would go 9:19 without a point as the Lady Raiders tied the score at 17-17 with 4:40 to play on Keitha Dickerson's jumper. The Irish ended the scoring drought when Haney nailed a jumper from the top of the key. The two teams traded baskets twice before Notre Dame closed the second half with a 7-2 run that provided a 28-23 halftime advantage.

Coach Muffet McGraw's squad led for most of the first 10 minutes of the second. Melinda Schmucker-Pharies' three-pointer with 9:55 to play in the game resulted in the fourth tie of the contest at 46-46. Riley's jumper knotted the game at 50-all for the sixth tie of the afternoon with 7:58 left in regulation.

Texas Tech led by as many as five late in the game as the Irish lost for just the second time in 1999-2000 after leading at the break. The Lady Raiders were paced by four players in double figures and were led by Aleah Johnson's 18 points.

The loss ended Notre Dame's season at 27-5 with the 27 wins representing the second most in the program's 23-year history.

2001 NCAA Tournament

Notre Dame 98 • Alcorn State 49 (First Round)

March 17, 2001

Joyce Center (Notre Dame, Ind.)

Playing host to an NCAA Tournament subregional for the second consecutive year, Midwest Region top-seed Notre Dame also began the 2000 NCAA championship on Saint Patrick's Day for the second straight year against 16th-seeded Alcorn State. All 12 players scored for the Irish, and senior All-American Ruth Riley led all scorers 16 points in 20 minutes of action to lead the Irish to their 98-49 win.

Notre Dame, wearing green jerseys for the first time all season, shot 54.5 percent from the field and held the Lady Braves to 21.1 percent. Five Notre Dame players scored in double figures as the Irish built a 47-23 halftime lead. Junior Ericka Haney had 14 points on 7-13 shooting, while sophomore Amanda Barksdale came off the bench to score a career-high 10 points and grab a career-high 11 rebounds in 19 minutes for her first career double-double.

Taresha Coleman made 5-11 three-point field goals for a team-high 15 points for Alcorn State, which attempted 41 three pointers, the second most in an NCAA Tournament game. The Lady Braves made just nine of those 41 attempts, while just six of their total field goals came inside the three-point arc.

Notre Dame used a 19-1 run over the final 7:20 of the first half to pull away from Alcorn State. Coach Muffet McGraw's squad won its NCAA first-round game for the sixth consecutive year.

Notre Dame 88 • Michigan 54 (Second Round)

March 19, 2001

Joyce Center (Notre Dame, Ind.)

Notre Dame and Michigan met for 11th time and for just the first time since 1992 in the NCAA second round. The eighth-seed Wolverines entered the game after a first-round overtime win over ninth-seeded Virginia – their first NCAA Tournament win since 1990 and second all-time. Notre Dame would deny Michigan its first NCAA regional semifinal appearance, the Irish scored 44 points in each half to beat the Wolverines 88-54 in front of 9,597 – Notre Dame's third largest crowd ever – to reach the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the fourth time in the last five years.

Senior All-American Ruth Riley led all scorers once again with 21 points on 8-11 shooting in 26 minutes of action. Senior Kelley Siemon added 16 points, six rebounds and a season-high five assists. Freshman Jeneka Joyce scored a career-high 14 points on 5-9 shooting, including 4-8 from three-point range. Raina Goodlow led Michigan with 16 points, Stephanie Gandy and Jennifer Smith both added 10 points.

Six first-half three pointers, three each from Joyce and sophomore Alicia Ratay, helped the Irish pull away for a 44-28 halftime lead. Joyce nailed a three-pointer at the buzzer for Notre Dame's largest lead of the first half.

Michigan, which throughout the season had made a number of comebacks after trailing at halftime (including overcoming a 17-point deficit vs. Virginia in the first round), watched Notre Dame use a 17-6 run to start the second half, as the Irish built a 25-point advantage just five minutes in the second half. The lead would grow to as many as 37 points before the 88-54 final – Michigan's worst loss of the season.

All 12 players on the Irish roster scored for the second straight game.

Notre Dame 69 • Utah 54 (Regional Semifinal)

March 24, 2001

Pepsi Center (Denver, Colo.)

Senior All-American Ruth Riley recorded her ninth double-double of the season with 24 points and 14 rebounds to lead top-seeded Notre Dame to a 69-54 win over No. 5 seed Utah in the Midwest Regional at the Pepsi Center in Denver, Colo. Notre Dame, making its fourth Sweet Sixteen appearance in the last five seasons, advanced to the Elite Eight for the second time in school history.

Riley, who also recorded a career high six assists, led four Irish players in double figures. Senior guard Niele Ivey added 15 points, while sophomores Alicia Ratay and Ericka Haney added 11 and 10 points respectively. Erin Gibbons led Utah with 14 points as the Irish limited the Utes to just 35.8 percent shooting (19-for-53) in the game.

The win improved Notre Dame to 31-2 overall, equalling the school record for wins. Utah, which advanced to the Sweet Sixteen for the first time, ended its season with a 28-4 overall record.

The Irish jumped out to a 32-25 halftime lead getting eight points from Ratay and Ivey and six from Riley and senior forward Kelley Siemon as Notre Dame shot 52.0 percent (13-25) in the opening stanza.

The second half belonged to Riley as the Irish center scored 18 of her game-high 24 points and grabbed nine of her game-high 14 rebounds after intermission. That included 12 of Notre Dame's first 13 points in the second half as the Irish held off an early Utah run before finishing with the 15-point margin of victory.

NCAA Tournament History

The Utes, who came into the game with the nation's top-ranked defense, held the Irish to eight points (seven by Riley) over the first eight minutes of the second half. When Gibbons knocked down a pair of free throws for Utah at the 12:04 mark, the Notre Dame lead was just two at 40-38.

From there, Riley scored Notre Dame's next five points to jump start a 27-10 Irish run to open a 19-point lead, 67-48, with 2:19 left in the game.

The Irish finished the game shooting 47.3 percent (26-55) and outrebounded Utah by a 41-28 margin in the game.

Notre Dame's 15-point margin of victory was its smallest of the NCAA Tournament as the Irish won their first three games by an average of 32.7 points per game.

Niele Ivey played a critical role in Notre Dame's 2001 NCAA Tournament championship run. The St. Louis, Mo, product averaged nearly three assists for every one turnover during the six-game stretch, including nine assists in a 72-64 Irish victory over Vanderbilt in the Midwest Regional title game.

Notre Dame 72 • Vanderbilt 64 (Regional Final)

Pepsi Center (Denver, Colo.)

Ruth Riley, Kelley Siemon and Alicia Ratay scored 65 of Notre Dame's 72 points to send the Fighting Irish to the NCAA Final Four for the second time in school history with a 72-64 win over Vanderbilt in the Midwest Regional championship game at Denver, Colo.

The win improved Notre Dame to 32-2, giving the Irish a school record for wins in a season. The loss dropped Vanderbilt to 24-10 on the season. Riley, named the Midwest Region's Most Outstanding Player, scored a season-high and personal NCAA Tournament best 32 points on the night. That gave her the edge in the battle between All-American centers, as she outscored Vandy's Chantelle Anderson who had just 14 points in 24 minutes before fouling out with 6:22 left in the game.

Notre Dame and Vanderbilt battled to a 40-40 halftime tie with both teams sizzling from the floor. The Irish shot 63.0%, hitting 17 of 27 from the floor including four of five three-pointers. The Commodores shot 55.2% making 16 of 29 shots.

Ratay, who scored 17 points on the night, led Notre Dame with 15 points in the first half. Vanderbilt's Zuzana Klimesova, who led the Commodores with 27 points, paced Vandy with 15 points of her own in the opening stanza.

In the second half, Riley took over the game scoring 22 points, including 11 in a row after Anderson fouled out to allow the Irish extend a 61-52 lead.

Siemon was eight-for-11 from the floor to score 16 points while leading the Irish with seven rebounds in the game.

For the game, the Irish shot 55.8 percent (29-52) from the floor, while Vanderbilt was held to 41.7 percent (25-60) in the game. The Commodores were just five-for-19 (26.3 percent) from behind the three-point stripe while Notre Dame made four-of six in the game.

Riley was joined on the all-tournament team by teammates Siemon and Ratay while Anderson and Klimesova were selected from Vanderbilt.

Notre Dame's last trip to the Final Four came in 1997 where the Irish lost to Tennessee in the semifinals by an 80-66 score.

Notre Dame 90 • Connecticut 75 (National Semifinal)

Savvis Center (St. Louis, Mo.)

The ultimate setting of the NCAA Final Four was the stage on which BIG EAST Conference rivals Notre Dame and Connecticut met for the third time in 2000-01. The matchup featuring the Irish and Huskies marked the first-ever showdown between the two league powerhouses in NCAA competition.

With the season series tied at 1-1, this game certainly proved to be the most significant in the 13-game series history. Notre Dame had earned its first-ever win over Connecticut on Jan. 15 when the Irish dethroned the top-ranked and defending national champions, 92-76 on the floor of the Joyce Center. The Huskies won the second meeting in the championship game of the BIG EAST tournament, 78-76 on a last-second buzzer-beater.

The third matchup was a tale of two halves as Connecticut led 49-37 at the intermission. The Irish, facing their largest halftime deficit of the season, exploded for 53 second-half points after trailing by as many as 16 points in the first half and prevailed with a convincing 90-75 victory to secure its first-ever appearance in the NCAA championship game. Notre Dame held Connecticut to just 26 second-half points and 23.7-percent shooting in the final 20 minutes while putting together the biggest comeback in NCAA Final Four history.

All five Irish starters scored in double figures with Niele Ivey and Alicia Ratay combining for 41 points. Ivey had a game-high 21 points, while Ratay scored 20 points, grabbed eight rebounds and dished off 5 assists. Ruth Riley chipped in 18 points with Ericka Haney notching a double-double as she scored 15 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Kelley Siemon was the final Irish starter in double figures as she tossed in 11 points and dished off six assists.

Notre Dame shot 57.1 percent in the second half using a 24-7 run to start the second half. The Irish grabbed its first lead of the game with 12:40 remaining on Ratay's three-pointer. After a couple of lead changes, Ivey's two free throws at the 9:47 mark gave the Irish a lead they would never relinquish as they outscored Connecticut 25-10 in the final nine minutes of the game.

Ruth Riley cuts down the nets at the Savvis Center after Notre Dame claimed its first NCAA title with a 68-66 win over Purdue on April 1, 2001. Riley was named the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player after collecting 28 points, 13 rebounds and seven blocked shots in the championship game against the Boilermakers.

Notre Dame 68 • Purdue 66 (National Final)

April 1, 2001

Savvis Center (St. Louis, Mo.)

It was a storybook ending to a storybook career for center Ruth Riley and her senior teammates as Notre Dame claimed its first-ever basketball national championship with a 68-66 victory over in-state rival Purdue at the Savvis Center in St. Louis. With the score tied 66-66 and 5.8 seconds remaining on the clock, Riley sank two free throws as the Irish staged a second-half comeback and rallied for the win for the second time in three nights. She scored her team's final four points when her layup with 1:01 remaining tied the game for the eighth time.

Riley, who was named Most Outstanding Player of the NCAA Final Four, capped off her sensational career with a 28-point, 13-rebound performance in the championship game. In the process, she became the school's all-time leading rebounder and the first Notre Dame player to grab more than 1,000 rebounds in her career.

After shooting just 35.5 percent in the first half (11-31), the Irish were nearly flawless in the final 20 minutes as they connected on 60.0 percent of their shots (15-25) from the floor.

St. Louis native Niele Ivey, playing in front of her family and friends, recorded 12 points and four assists and played the entire 40 minutes. Her status was in doubt as to how many minutes she would play after suffering a slight ankle sprain in Notre Dame's semifinal win over Connecticut. Junior Ericka Haney had another outstanding game as she finished with 13 points. Kelley Siemon also netted double figures in her final game in an Irish uniform as she finished with 10 points, nine rebounds and six assists as she also played the entire game.

Purdue was led by Katie Douglas' 18 points, while freshman Shalicia Hurns and Shereka Wright also added 17 points each.

Notre Dame trailed 19-7 with 11:26 remaining in the first half following Douglas' three-pointer, but rallied to close the gap to three points (25-22) with 6:16 left. The two teams traded baskets for the remainder of the first half with the Boilermakers holding a 32-26 halftime advantage.

The Irish started the second half with an 8-0 and grabbed their first lead of the game 34-32 at the 2:20 mark. The Boilermakers countered with a run of their own and led by as many as eight (49-41) with 12:33 remaining in the contest. Notre Dame its second comeback of the game and led 64-63 with 2:07 remaining on Ivey's layup, but Douglas' three-point play after being fouled by Siemon gave Purdue a 66-64 advantage with 1:22 left to play.

Notre Dame 59 • Arizona 47 (First Round)

March 23, 2003

Bramlage Coliseum (Manhattan, Kan.)

Respect is a quality that must be earned, rather than simply expected. Notre Dame came into the 2003 NCAA Tournament in search of respect after an up-and-down season that had seen the Irish ranked as high as eighth in the nation at one time.

However, a rocky start in BIG EAST Conference play left Notre Dame scrambling to make up ground late in the year and resulted in many observers tabbing the Irish as a "bubble team" that was fortunate just to be tasting the rarified air of postseason play.

As a No. 11 seed in the East Region, Notre Dame was sent up against Pac-10 Conference runner-up Arizona, the same Wildcat squad that had ousted the Irish on a buzzer-beating shot in Tucson a year earlier. However, Notre Dame had one key factor in its favor — NCAA Tournament experience. Of the 10 players on the Irish roster, seven had already played in the postseason, while much of UA's youthful lineup had never been to the "Big Dance." That turned out to be a critical point as the Irish claimed their eighth consecutive NCAA first-round win, 59-47 over the Wildcats.

Coming into the game, Notre Dame and Arizona had not played in more than a week and the long layoff showed in the first half. The teams combined for 23 turnovers and both posted miserable shooting percentages (UA - .226, ND - .194), resulting in a tight, low-scoring contest. A late 5-0 run by the Wildcats was offset by six consecutive Irish points, giving Notre Dame a 23-21 lead at the break.

The two sides stayed virtually on even terms through the first seven minutes of the second half. Arizona wiped out an early four-point deficit and opened up a 37-34 lead at the 13-minute mark when Krista Warren knocked down a pair of free throws. However, in much the same manner as they won their 2002 NCAA opening round game vs. New Mexico, the Irish relied on their defense to carry the day. Over the next 9:38, Notre Dame held Arizona to a single point, going on a 15-1 run that rocked the Wildcats, who would get no closer than nine points the rest of the way.

Senior guard Alicia Ratay had the most NCAA Tournament experience of any Irish player and it showed, as she lit up Arizona for a game-high 20 points, including a trio of three-point field goals, and added a team-high nine rebounds. Freshman forward Courtney LaVere pitched in with 15 points and seven rebounds in her postseason debut. As a team, the Irish chalked up 16 steals, matching the second-highest NCAA Tournament total in school history.

Notre Dame 59 • Kansas State 53 (Second Round)

March 25, 2003

Bramlage Coliseum (Manhattan, Kan.)

In college athletics, history can be an excellent teacher and sometimes, it can even be a precursor of things to come. The folks in Manhattan, Kan., will now attest to that.

Twice in its previous nine NCAA Tournament appearances, Notre Dame had faced a top-three seed on its home floor in the second round and had come away victorious, turning the trick at Texas in 1997 and Texas Tech in 1998. Ironically, both of those schools are Big XII Conference members, as is Kansas State, which provided the opposition for the Irish in the second round of the 2003 tourney. The eighth-ranked (and No. 3 seeded) Wildcats were considered by many to be a darkhorse contender to reach the Final Four, but by the time night fell on Manhattan, it was Notre Dame's postseason dreams that remained in sharp focus.

Junior guard Le'Tania Severe rang up a team-high 17 points, pacing four Irish players in double figures as Notre Dame shocked a partisan Bramlage Coliseum crowd of more than 11,000 fans with a 59-53 victory over Kansas State, snapping the nation's second-longest home winning streak at 22 games. With the win, the Irish punched their ticket to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the fifth time in seven seasons, a feat only seven other schools in the country can match.

Much of the pre-game talk centered around the Wildcats' explosive offense which had averaged more than 75 points per game during the regular season. Meanwhile, Notre Dame had built its fortunes around a sturdy defense that was yielding less than 62 points per contest. Early on, the Irish were getting the better of this matchup, jumping out to a 14-4 lead behind seven early points by Severe. K-State battled back and used a 14-3 run late in the first half to take a 31-28 lead to the locker room. Little did the Wildcat faithful know that their team would never hold such an edge for the rest of the night.

Calling upon its history of strong second-half defensive performances in the NCAA Tournament, Notre Dame spun another masterpiece against Kansas State. The Irish threw a blanket over the Wildcats and held the hosts without a field goal for the first 11:03 of the season half. Actually, the drought stretched a total of 12 minutes and 43 seconds, dating back to the closing moments of the first half. In that time, K-State missed 12 consecutive shots from the floor, had seven turnovers and did not even manage an offensive rebound until the final seven seconds of the run.

However, for all the defensive success the Irish had, they could not put the Wildcats away, opening up just a 40-32 lead midway through the period. Laurie Koehn finally broke the seal for K-State with a three-pointer at the 8:57 mark, but Notre Dame continued to cling to its lead, building the margin up to nine points (48-39) on a free throw by senior guard Alicia Ratay with six minutes to go.

Koehn slowly helped bring the Wildcats back one final time, hitting another three-pointer (her seventh of the game) and two free throws for a 51-49 Irish lead with 1:13 left. K-State then began fouling Notre Dame and forcing the visitors to win the game at the free throw line. The Irish were up to the challenge, hitting all eight of their charities in the final 61 seconds, including six by freshmen (four by guard Megan Duffy) to preserve one of the signature wins of the 2003 NCAA Tournament.

Megan Duffy scored 10 points and canned all four of her free throw attempts in the final 61 seconds to help Notre Dame knock off Kansas State, 59-53 in the second round of the 2003 NCAA Tournament.

Purdue 66 • Notre Dame 47
(Regional Semifinal)

March 30, 2003
University of Dayton Arena (Dayton, Ohio)

For the fourth time in eight seasons, Notre Dame and Purdue squared off in the NCAA Tournament when they met up in the 2003 East Regional semifinals. The Irish had taken two of the previous three encounters, including a memorable two-point win in the 2001 national championship game. The fourth matchup provided much of the same intensity that the first three games had featured, but in the end, Purdue found the winning combination, ending Notre Dame's season, 66-47 at the University of Dayton Arena in Dayton, Ohio.

Seeking to become the lowest seed ever to reach the Elite Eight, the Irish came out cold offensively, misfiring on five of their first six shots from the floor. An early 12-3 Purdue run gave the Boilermakers their largest lead of the first half just over seven minutes into the contest. Still, Notre Dame doggedly pursued their in-state rival throughout the opening period and eventually pulled even at 27-27 on a jumper by senior guard Alicia Ratay with a minute to go in the half. A pair of Boilermaker three-pointers, sandwiched around two Ratay free throws, took some steam out of the Irish comeback and gave Purdue a 33-29 edge at halftime.

Notre Dame had made its name in the 2003 NCAA Tournament on a strong defense, but it was the Boilers who came up with the timely stops early in the second half. Just as in the first half, the Irish struggled to find their shooting eye early in the second frame, going 2-for-10 from the field and turning the ball over four times in that stretch. When the smoke cleared, Purdue had a seemingly comfortable 55-33 lead with 12:36 remaining.

Boxed into a corner, the Irish came fighting back behind their trademark defense, which turned around and held the Boilermakers scoreless over the next 7:15. Meanwhile, the Notre Dame offense managed to slice the Purdue lead to 12 points twice, the second coming on a layup by sophomore forward Jacqueline Batteast at the 4:30 mark. It would be as close as the Irish would come, thanks to another Notre Dame dry spell that resulted in only two points the rest of the way.

Playing in her final game for the Irish, Ratay scored a team-high 16 points, while Batteast plucked a game-high 12 rebounds and blocked four shots. Sophomore center Teresa Borton added 10 rebounds and a career-high five blocks for Notre Dame. Four players scored in double figures for Purdue, led by Erika Valek who carded 19 points.

Notre Dame 69 • SMS 65 (OT)

(First Round)

March 21, 2004

Joyce Center
(Notre Dame, Ind.)

According to the old saying, "it's not the size of the dog in the fight, but the size of the fight in the dog." Notre Dame lost sight of that fact for a while in its 2004 NCAA Tournament opener against Southwest Missouri State and it nearly ended the season for the Irish.

Playing before an enthusiastic crowd on its own Joyce Center floor, fifth-seeded Notre Dame raced out to an early double-digit lead in the East Region first-round game, only to see the No. 12 seed Lady Bears rally back and force overtime before the Irish prevailed in the extra session, 69-65. It was the first time the Irish had ever been pushed to overtime in NCAA Tournament play, but the end result was an eighth consecutive NCAA opening-round win for Notre Dame.

Junior forward Jacqueline Batteast showed no signs of repeating the misery she endured in the 2003 NCAA Tournament, rolling up a double-double with a game-high 17 points and 11 rebounds. Sophomore forward Courtney LaVere also picked an excellent time to notch her first double-double of the season, logging 11 points and a career-high 13 rebounds, including seven offensive boards. The Irish backcourt also was sharp, as sophomore guard Megan Duffy scored 16 points and senior captain Le'Tania Severe chipped in with 11 points, seven rebounds and five assists while playing a career-best 43 minutes.

Jenni Lingor and Kari Koch shared team-high scoring honors for SMS with 15 points, while lanky post Stephanie Busbey came off the bench to knock down five of six shots and score 10 points.

Notre Dame wasted little time in asserting itself offensively, bolting to an 18-6 lead less than seven minutes into the game. Showing veteran poise from the point guard spot, Duffy scored eight points in that early spurt, banging down a pair of three-pointers. Meanwhile, the Missouri Valley Conference champion Lady Bears appeared shell-shocked by their surroundings, misfiring on seven of their first nine shots. The Irish took advantage of the visitors' struggles and pumped their margin up to 29-13 at the 9:10 mark of the first half on a jumper in the lane by Batteast.

During the ensuing media timeout, SMS coach Katie Abrahamson-Henderson challenged her team to fight through their nerves and her charges responded. The Lady Bears went on a 14-4 run to close out the first half and cut their deficit to a more manageable 33-27 score. The combination of Lingor and Koch accounted for eight points in the rally. SMS stayed within striking distance early in the second half, keeping it at a one or two possession game for the first 10 minutes. The Lady Bears then erupted again, putting together an 11-4 charge that ended with the upstarts holding a 52-50 lead after K.C. Cowgill's layup with 6:36 to play.

After seeing its big lead evaporate completely, Notre Dame wasn't about to pack up and head for the hills. Severe took her captain's title to heart and ripped off five of the next seven Irish points, including two free throws after a controversial technical foul on Abrahamson-Henderson, and Notre Dame was back in front, 57-55 with 3:21 left. SMS guard Morgan Hohenberger, who had been fairly quiet to that point, answered with a pair of clutch baskets, the second coming with her team down by two and 26 seconds remaining. Both sides had a chance to win in the closing seconds, but could not convert.

The overtime period largely belonged to Notre Dame, as the Irish scored the first five points of the bonus stanza. Senior guard Monique Hernandez put Notre Dame ahead for good on a jumper with two minutes gone in the frame. Severe then followed with two crippling drives and assists to LaVere for easy baskets, putting the Irish on top 65-59 with 39 seconds to go. SMS finally got going as Lingor buried a three-pointer six seconds later, but Duffy and Severe each made two free throws in the waning moments as Notre Dame clinched its 11th consecutive 20-win season.

Notre Dame 59 • Middle Tennessee 46 (Second Round)

March 23, 2004

Joyce Center (Notre Dame, Ind.)

Coming into the 2003-04 season, junior forward Jacqueline Batteast talked about how the added strength she had gained in the offseason would pay dividends for herself and her teammates. Against Middle Tennessee, the South Bend native used that strength to put Notre Dame on her back and almost single-handedly carry the Irish into the Sweet Sixteen.

In one of the greatest individual NCAA Tournament performances ever by a Notre Dame player, Batteast made 13 of 17 shots from the field, scoring 27 points and grabbing 12 rebounds in only 28 minutes as the Irish pulled away for a 59-46 win over Middle Tennessee in an East Region second round game at the Joyce Center. With the victory, the Irish locked up their second consecutive trip to the Sweet Sixteen and their sixth regional semifinal berth in the past eight seasons.

Batteast was the catalyst for a Notre Dame squad that shot a blistering 55.3 percent from the floor, matching the fourth-best NCAA field goal percentage mark in school history. Senior guard Jeneka Joyce complemented Batteast's performance by canning three of four three-point attempts and scoring nine points in 17 minutes of court time. Freshman forward Crystal Erwin also turned in a strong outing — literally — by collecting seven points, five rebounds and four steals while waging a physical battle in the paint.

Unlike its opening-round win over Southwest Missouri State, Notre Dame trailed for much of the first half, falling behind by five points early and later enduring a quartet of four-point deficits. However, the Irish outscored Middle Tennessee, 12-5, in the final five minutes of the first half, grabbing a 29-26 lead at the intermission on a jumper by Batteast and a fastbreak layup by senior guard Monique Hernandez in the waning seconds of the period.

The final 20 minutes proved to be a perfect marriage of Notre Dame's offensive muscle and signature defensive pressure. The Irish went on an 18-1 run to begin the second half, with Batteast scoring 12 points (6-for-7 shooting) and Joyce burying a pair of three-pointers to give Notre Dame a 47-27 lead at the 11:43 mark. On the other end, the Irish held the Blue Raiders without a field goal during the first 9:16 of the stanza before Tia Stovall finally broke the ice with a jumper in the lane. By then, the die had been cast and the final score was the only question remaining. Batteast capped off her stellar night with a foul line jumper at the four-minute junction, allowing her to tie her career-high scoring total and also match the Irish record for most field goals in an NCAA Tournament game (13 by Beth Morgan vs. Alabama in 1997).

Penn State 55 • Notre Dame 49 (Regional Semifinal)

March 27, 2004

Hartford Civic Center (Hartford, Conn.)

Notre Dame did nearly everything it wanted to do in its East Regional semifinal matchup with top-seeded Penn State. The Irish turned the game into a defensive slugfest, keeping the high-powered Lady Lion offense and one of the nation's top scorers, PSU guard Kelly Mazzante, off balance all day long. In the end, it would still not be quite enough.

Mazzante nailed a transition jumper with 46 seconds remaining and Notre Dame missed two shots to tie or take the lead in the final minute as fifth-ranked Penn State squeezed out a 55-49 victory over the Irish at the Hartford Civic Center. It was a bitter pill for Notre Dame to swallow, made even more distasteful by its shooting struggles from the floor (.322) and the foul line (.600).

Junior forward Jacqueline Batteast wrapped up a superb 2004 NCAA Tournament with her third consecutive double-double, amassing game highs of 22 points and 12 rebounds. Senior guard Le'Tania Severe ended her Irish career with nine points and a game-high six steals, the latter figure tying for the second-best NCAA tourney mark in school history. Jessica Brungo scored a team-high 20 points and Mazzante added 17 points for PSU.

Notre Dame's shooting woes were evident from the outset, as the Irish missed on five of their first six shots. However, Penn State was only able to open up a six-point lead, which was quickly erased when Notre Dame went on a 9-0 run behind four points from Severe. The Irish lead ballooned to five points (20-15) before the Lady Lions countered with an 8-2 spurt in the final 3:34 of the period to take a one-point edge at the break.

In the second half, Notre Dame seemed unfazed by its surroundings or circumstances, regaining a pair of five-point leads, the second at 41-36 on a jumper by sophomore forward Courtney LaVere with 10:24 to play. Penn State responded again with nine of the next 11 points to retake a two-point lead three minutes later. It stayed a one-possession game for either side during the next six minutes with the final tie coming at 49-49 on a Batteast layup at the 1:47 mark.

The Irish had two chances to grab the lead again, but Batteast's jumper with 57 seconds left came up just short and LaVere's putback attempt didn't find the mark. Mazzante then leaked out on the break and hit a pull-up jumper on the baseline to put her team in front for good. She added a steal on Notre Dame's next possession and the Lady Lions locked up the win with two free throws each from Brungo and Tanisha Wright in the final half-minute.

2005 NCAA Tournament

Notre Dame 61 •
UC Santa Barbara 51
(First Round)

Save Mart Center (Fresno, Calif.)

Entering its NCAA Tempe Region first-round matchup with 13th-seeded UC Santa Barbara, Notre Dame was well aware of the Gauchos' penchant for pulling off upsets in postseason play. However, the Irish have posted their fair share of big victories in NCAA Tournament action and they knew just how to handle any potential upset from UCSB.

After a tight first half that saw six ties and four lead changes, No. 4 seed Notre Dame came out of halftime on a 16-7 run and went on to register a 61-51 win over Santa Barbara. The victory marked the 10th consecutive year that the Irish won their opening-round game in the NCAA Tournament and the sixth time in the past nine NCAA games that Notre Dame held its opponent to less than 60 points.

Junior guard Megan Duffy led three Irish players in double figures with a game-high 18 points, including nine in the final 1:24 after the Gauchos had tried to make a late rally. Junior forward Courtney LaVere, a Ventura, Calif., native who had been recruited by UCSB, added 10 points, as did sophomore guard Breona Gray. Mia Fisher was the only Santa Barbara player to finish in double figures, ending up with 18 points. Interestingly, both teams' top players — Notre Dame's Jacqueline Batteast and UCSB's Kristen Mann — were held largely in check, as Batteast had eight points and a game-high 10 rebounds, and Mann was limited to seven points on 2-of-14 shooting.

The Irish made the first run of the game, going on a 9-2 run midway through the first half to open up the largest lead by either side in the period (19-12). The Gauchos answered with an 11-2 spurt of their own to retake the lead, staying in front after Kate Bauman's old-fashioned three-point play gave them a 26-23 edge at the 4:04 mark. Bauman then committed a gaffe by getting whistled for a technical foul 15 seconds later, leading to an 8-2 Irish run that gave Notre Dame a 31-28 lead at the half.

The Irish then put together their game-turning run during the first 10 minutes of the second half, building a 47-35 lead with 9:56 remaining. UCSB battled valiantly and got as close as four points (50-46) on Brandy Richardson's layup with 3:10 to go. However, Gray came up with a critical steal and breakaway layup less than a minute later, and following Mann's seventh turnover of the night, Duffy sealed the win by hitting an off-handed baseline jumper as the shot clock expired with 1:24 to go.

Arizona State 70 • Notre Dame 61 (First Round)

Save Mart Center (Fresno, Calif.)

As any basketball fan will tell you, the pendulum of emotion can swing in one direction and then just as quickly, it can reverse course and head the other way. For much of the first half of its NCAA second-round game with Arizona State, Notre Dame had the momentum going its way with a double-digit lead and a stifling defense. Then, the pendulum swung back in the faces of the Irish and it was enough to knock them right out of the NCAA Tournament.

ASU outscored Notre Dame, 27-5 during a 13-minute stretch that crossed between halves and went on to defeat the Irish, 70-61. Notre Dame had been looking to reach the Sweet 16 for the third consecutive season, but instead it wound up allowing its highest postseason point total since 2002.

Junior guard Megan Duffy narrowly missed a career-high scoring performance, finishing with a game-best 24 points, while senior All-America forward Jacqueline Batteast closed out her brilliant career with 20 points and eight rebounds. However, the Irish didn't get any support beyond their top two players, who accounted for all but 17 of Notre Dame's points. The Irish also were hampered by a season-high tying 23 turnovers, not to mention Arizona State's 53.3 percent shooting in the second half.

Things appeared rosy for Notre Dame in the first half, as the Irish erased an early 7-0 ASU advantage by scoring 20 of the next 27 points. A pair of free throws by Duffy gave Notre Dame a 27-14 lead with 3:47 to play in the period. That's when the Sun Devils began to mount their comeback, going on a 9-1 run to end the frame and trim the Irish lead to five-points by the intermission.

It took all of 93 seconds after halftime for the Notre Dame lead to disappear entirely, and ASU then built its edge up to 41-32 with 10:17 to play. In the midst of the Sun Devil rally, the Irish lost a key cog in their arsenal when freshman guard Charel Allen was fouled on a breakaway layup attempt and wound up suffering a season-ending knee injury.

Trailing by eight with less than four minutes to play, Notre Dame made one final charge, as Batteast hit a jumper and Duffy made two free throws to get within 58-54 at the 2:34 mark. That's where the rally ended, as ASU's Reagan Pariseau hit a jumper of her own on the Sun Devils' next possession and Arizona State wound up converting seven of eight free throws in the final 49 seconds to preserve the win and their first-ever Sweet 16 berth.

2006 NCAA Tournament

Boston College 78 •
Notre Dame 61
(First Round)

March 19, 2006

Mackey Arena (West Lafayette, Ind.)

Timing is everything in the postseason. There have been numerous tales of teams that have caught the proverbial "lightning in a bottle" and ridden that hot streak all the way to a national championship. Unfortunately for Notre Dame, the Irish picked the worst possible time to have one of their coldest shooting nights of the season, dousing their NCAA Tournament hopes in a flash.

No. 9 seed Notre Dame shot a frigid 34.3 percent (23-of-67) from the floor and missed 11 consecutive shots during one stretch, leading to a 78-61 loss at the hands of eighth-seeded Boston College in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. It marked the first time since 1994 (and just the third time in school history) the Irish did not win at least one game in the NCAA Tournament, snapping a string of 10 consecutive NCAA first-round wins.

Freshman guard Lindsay Schrader proved to be one of the bright spots for Notre Dame, closing out her rookie campaign with a career-high 29 points on 12-of-23 shooting while tying for the third-highest single-game scoring output ever logged by an Irish player in the NCAA Tournament. Senior All-America guard Megan Duffy ended her brilliant career with 15 points and five assists, with the latter total giving her an even 500 handouts at Notre Dame.

As one might expect from an 8-9 matchup in the NCAA Tournament, the first half was a tightly-played affair, although Boston College led the entire way and the Irish found themselves playing from behind. Still, Notre Dame stayed within striking distance for most of the period, getting within 18-17 on Courtney LaVere's jumper at the 7:21 mark. BC tried to pull away, but Schrader got her side back within five points (27-22) with 3:50 left in the first half before the Irish shooting woes commenced.

Notre Dame made only one of 12 shots during the next 8:26, while Boston College went on a 19-4 run to blow the game open. The Irish doggedly tried to cut into the deficit, getting as close as 11 points on two occasions, the second with 9:06 to play on a layup by Tulyah Gaines. However, the Eagles kept Notre Dame at arm's length the remainder of the contest, converting 22-of-29 foul shots in the second half alone (29-of-36 for the game) to end the season for the Irish.

Second on Notre Dame's career rebounding list, Letitia Bowen was a two-time all-Midwestern Collegiate Conference selection in 1993 and 1994, helping the Irish win the MCC Tournament title and an automatic NCAA Tournament berth in '94.

The name Notre Dame has appeared prominently on the rosters of the USA Women's Basketball national team squads during the last decade.

Most recently, All-America point guard Megan Duffy ('06) played on the 2005 USA World University Games Team. Duffy was the starting point guard in all seven games for Team USA, averaging 6.1 points and 2.1 assists with a team-high .400 three-point percentage as the United States went a perfect 7-0 and won the gold medal.

In 2004, standout center Ruth Riley ('01) was a member of the U.S. Senior National Team that went undefeated and won the gold medal at the Athens Olympics. Riley averaged 3.4 points and 2.4 rebounds per game with a .667 field goal percentage during the Games, seeing action in seven of Team USA's eight contests.

Riley thus became one of only six players in history to win a NCAA title (Notre Dame - 2001), a WNBA championship (Detroit - 2003 and 2006) and an Olympic gold medal (2004). She also capped off an unprecedented gold rush by Notre Dame alumnae in Athens, as former Irish student-athletes won four gold medals at the '04 Olympics.

Riley's Olympic stint was her third with the USA Women's Basketball program. As a member of the 1999 U.S. World University Games team, she was the third-leading scorer (10.3 ppg.) and second-leading rebounder (5.1 rpg.) as she helped her squad, coached by Penn State's Rene Portland, to a 4-2 record in capturing the silver medal. She scored in double figures in four of the six contests with her best game coming against South Africa when she had 16 points and nine rebounds, personal highs during the tournament. Riley also averaged 7.3 points and 5.3 rebounds at the Spanish International Tournament, a tuneup to the World University Games.

Following her freshman season, Riley was a dominant force as a member of the 1998 USA Women's Select Team. She helped the squad to a 7-1 record against teams from Puerto Rico, Poland and Spain during its 15-day tour. The team was headed up by current Ole Miss head coach Carol Ross.

Riley was the team's second leading scorer (10.3 ppg.) and top rebounder (7.5 rpg.). She recorded two double-double performances as the Irish went 3-0 against Puerto Rico to open the tour. She had 12 points and 11 rebounds in the opening game, and in the third and final contest versus Puerto Rico, Riley finished with 20 points and 10 rebounds. In the eight-game tour, Riley led the team in rebounding on four occasions.

Former class of 1997 standouts Beth Morgan (Cunningham) and Katryna Gaither also have been members of USA teams, competing in the summer of 1999. Both played on the U.S. Pan American Games team that won the bronze medal in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

Morgan played in all seven games during the Pan Am Games and averaged 5.1 points, while Gaither played in six contests and registered 1.2 points and 1.3 rebounds.

Morgan, Notre Dame's all-time leading scorer, was the first Irish player ever invited to a national team tryout in Colorado Springs, Colo., in June of 1996. The Bloomington, Ind., native earned a spot on the USA Women's Select Team, a special developmental squad designed by USA Basketball to help give elite college players additional international experience while improving the United States' talent pool.

After being named to the squad, Morgan and the squad remained in Colorado Springs to train and scrimmage with the 1996 USA Jones Cup Team against the Russian Olympic Team.

The BIG EAST Conference was well-represented on that '96 Select team as Connecticut mentor Geno Auriemma served as head coach, while former Seton Hall forward Dana Wynne also earned a spot on the 15-player roster.

In the summer of '97, Morgan and Gaither, who ended her Irish career as the second all-time leading scorer and rebounder in school history, were named to the USA

Women's World Championship Qualifying Team. The team, coached by current Auburn head coach and 2000 U.S. Olympic mentor Nell Fortner, captured the silver medal at the World Championship Qualifying Tournament in Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Prior to the Qualifying Tournament, the squad made a three-game sweep of the Canadian National Team and won both of its contests against the German National Team. The squad posted a 4-1 record and finished first at the Grand Prix of Slovakia in Myjava, Slovakia, and went undefeated posting a 3-0 mark with victories over Lithuania, Germany and Italy to win the Super Cup tournament in Bremen, Germany.

Fighting Irish Travel

Besides being one of the most consistently successful programs in the nation, the Irish also are one of the most well-traveled. Since joining the BIG EAST Conference in 1995-96, the team has played in 62 different cities located in 30 states and the District of Columbia, spanning more than 5,000 miles and six time zones. All along the way, the Irish have traveled in comfort, flying chartered aircraft to and from virtually all road sites, allowing student-athletes to miss only a bare minimum of class time.

In addition, Notre Dame takes advantage of an NCAA rule allowing teams to take a foreign exhibition tour once every four years. In the summer of 2002, the Irish crossed the Atlantic for a 12-day trip to Italy, Monaco and France, during which they hit the court against some of Europe's top club teams. Notre Dame went 3-1 on its trip, which was the first foreign tour in program history. The Irish already are scheduled for another international adventure in May 2007, with Spain the tentative destination.

Below is a list of the cities and states Notre Dame has visited during the past decade, with opponents and/or events in parentheses. Upcoming 2006-07 stops are indicated in bold type:
