The third-seeded Red Raiders (26-9) take on 11th-seeded Notre Dame (24-10) at 4:10 p.m. (PT) in the NCAA Tournament Second Round at the Viejas Arena on the San Diego State University campus. Tech advanced in the West Region bracket with a 97-62 win over Montana State on Friday, while the Irish earned a 78-64 victory over Alabama on Friday in San Diego after an 89-87 double-overtime win over Rutgers on Wednesday night in Dayton, Ohio in a First Four matchup. The top defensive unit in the nation, the Red Raiders scored the most points of any team in the First Round of the tournament.

TTU advanced to the second round for the fourth straight NCAA Tournament by setting a program record with the 35-point win and 97 points in a tournament game. The 97 points, 23 assists and 12 made 3-pointers were also all season-highs for the Red Raider offense which put up 52 points by halftime against the Bobcats. In the program's 19th NCAA Tournament, Tech is now 18-20 all-time in tournament play and is seeking its fifth trip to the Sweet 16 (1996, 2005, 2018, 2019). The win over Montana State also assures that the team will not have lost back-to-back games all season.

Notre Dame is 1-0 all-time against Tech with an 88-63 win back on December 6, 1976 in South Bend. Rick Bullock led the Red Raiders in that game with 20 points while Mark Adams was a student at Tech.

Tech had six players score in double figures in the opening round win over the Bobcats with Williams and Shannon both scoring 20, Arms at 15 and McCullar, Warren and Obanor both at 10 points. Obanor notched his 33rd career double-double and the 13th in program history with 11 rebounds and 10 points.

Tech remains at No. 1 in Kenpom.com defensive efficiency in a season where the Red Raiders are limiting opponents to only 60.4 points per game, are holding teams to 38.4 percent shooting and are forcing 16.1 turnovers per game. Warren leads the team with 52 steals with two more on Friday, while Marcus Santos-Silva has 26 blocks for the Red Raiders who have limited 15 opponents under 60 points and five under 50 this season. TECH IN THE TOURNAMENT

The Red Raiders are now 9-3 over the past four tournaments which is the second most wins nationally with Gonzaga and Michigan tied for the most with 11 after first-round wins. Baylor, Houston and Duke each have eight during that span. After the 2020 tournament was canceled due to COVID, the program returned last season to advance to the 2021 NCAA Second Round after a win over Utah State before falling to Arkansas. Tech has now made the NCAA Tournament in 1954, 1956, 1961, 1962, 1973, 1976, 1985, 1986, 1993, 1996, 2002, 2004, 2005, 2007, 2016, 2018, 2019, 2021 and 2022. Adams and the Red Raiders have long since surpassed their win total from the past two seasons after going 18-11 (2020-21) and 18-13 (2019-20). The program record for wins came in the historic 2018-19 season where the team went 31-7 and advanced to the NCAA Championship Final. Allen is in his first season at Tech after transferring from East Los Angeles College where he averaged 18.5 points and 9.3 rebounds, had 11 double-doubles and starred in the Netflix series Last Chance U: Basketball during his freshman season of 2019-20. Three of his eight rebounds against KSU were on the offensive end of the court to give him 12 offensive rebounds this season. He is averaging 2.1 points and 1.9 rebounds per game this season in 19 games played after playing for 3:38 in the first round of the tournament.

A true freshman from Lubbock, Ethan Duncan is redshirting this season after suffering an off-season shoulder injury that required surgery. Austin Timperman made his debut against EWU after becoming eligible at midterm. A walk-on from The Woodlands, Timperman transferred to Tech as a student last year after being in UTSA's team during the 2019-20 season where he played in six games. Sardaar Calhoun entered the transfer portal on Jan. 11 and is no longer with the team. At midyear, Tech added Jaylon Tyson to the roster after he decided to transfer from the University of Texas. Tyson will be able to practice with the team, but is not eligible to play until the 2022-23 season.

OUR NEW HOME:

Texas Tech officially opened the Dustin R. Womble Basketball Center, a state-of-the-art $32.2 million facility during the summer. The Womble Center, which was funded entirely through philanthropic gifts to The Campaign for Fearless Champions, represents the premier basketball facility in the country, providing both programs a day-to-day home for player development and strength and conditioning workouts. the nearly 59,000-square foot Womble Center, which is located directly across from United Supermarkets Arena for quick access for both programs. The facility features practice courts for both teams as well as a 6,500-square-foot strength and conditioning area, an 83-foot wide, 14-foot high videoboard. It is one of the largest of its kind in the NCAA that is on-par with similar team headquarters in the NBA.

Texas Tech installed Robbins MVP wooden floors in both practice gyms, long considered the industry leader in court technology. The facility also boasts 3,355-square feet of athletic training space, which includes areas for hydrotherapy and cryotherapy as well as a physician's exam room and massage and treatment areas. Most impressively, the Womble Center features a strong investment in technology with 97 television or video monitors throughout the facility.

This includes a state-of-the-art film room for both teams and 98-inch screens in each players' lounge complete with gaming systems. From a player-development standpoint, Texas Tech has installed a video coaching system that allows each team to run a play and then go to the video screen to immediately review team performance. Both gyms also have respective sound systems and acoustical decking that is designed to match the decibel levels at the USA.

PLAYING IN THE USA:

Texas Tech Athletics announced an extension of the current naming rights agreement to United Supermarkets Arena as the grocery chain will remain the facility's namesake through 2035. Texas Tech will receive an additional $16 million over the course of the agreement, which continues the long-standing partnership between the university and United Supermarkets.

The West Texas-based chain has now committed more than $30 million to Texas Tech Athletics since securing the original naming rights to the 15,000-seat arena in 1996. United provided Texas Tech with a key $10 million investment that jumpstarted fundraising efforts for the arena, opening in 1999 as United Spirit Arena. In 2014, Texas Tech and United extended their original agreement for $9.45 million. The second extension continues the relationship until 2035.

HISTORIC RUN:

Texas Tech has ascended into one of the top college basketball programs in the nation. The program advanced to the 2018 NCAA Elite 8 and then reached the 2019 Final Four for the first time in program history. The Red Raiders won the 2019 Big 12 regular-season championship before making their historic run in the 2019 NCAA Tournament. DEFINE YOURSELF: "I'm a versatile player who can hit shots from the outside and also post-up depending on my matchup. I bring a positive energy and am a man of God on and off the court. I've had a great journey that has taken me on a lot of different routes. God always had me in his hands and I really feel like everything has played out naturally. I feel more prepared right now to do big things here at Texas Tech because of everything on my journey. Everything has been a blessing. My role could be anything at this point. It could be as a large role from the starting lineup or as a role player who does the little things to help us win. I'm working hard to be prepared for everything and know that if I stay positive and work hard that I'll be in a position to help us win. I've always been a scrappy player and see myself as a dog. Having played in the Sweet 16 and seeing that stage, you learn what it takes to keep advancing. I see myself as a leader on our team and plan on using those experiences from last year to help our younger players be ready to have a successful season."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I see myself as a versatile player who is a strong defender and can handle the ball. I'm still developing my shot to get to where I know it can be, but I'm a guy who is always going to work hard to get better and am never satisfied. I was a point guard in high school and have seen my role change the past two years. I'm more of a defender than I ever was before I got here and always try to make the hustle plays. I see myself as one our go-to guys and primary ball handlers this season. Every year my role has gotten bigger as I've improved. I'm a player with a lot of intangibles that are hard to teach like taking charges, diving on the floor to make a play and being an encourager for my teammates. I feel like the game is slowing down for me since I've been playing in the Big 12 two years now. I got feedback from the NBA coaches and GMs this summer directly and feel like I understand what I need to do more now. I'm confident in who I am. I feel like I'm one of the best players in the country and can't wait to prove it."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I'm a guy who can facilitate, bring a lot of energy on both ends and am always there to encourage my teammates. I know we need everyone on our roster to be successful so we all have to be ready at all times. My journey has really shaped who I am right now. I've always kept faith in myself throughout my career and never quit working. I'm just going to keep working. I feel like I'm a good guy to be around and always try to be present with a positive energy. I'm always positive. I can be a playmaker on offense and lockdown defender."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I'm a more experienced player and have learned a lot about the game since I've been here. I think I'm a solid player offensively and defensively who is only getting better. It's my third year and I'm ready to take it to another level by hitting more shots, making more assists and be a presence on defense. I'm an energizer and bring fire to the team. I've worked a lot on my decision-making and trying to make the right plays. I'm not as wild. It's about making the right shot and pass, not forcing anything anymore. Defensively, I feel like I can be really strong and consistent. I'm ready to take on a bigger role by earning trust. I want to be a leader on and off the court by consistently doing what's best for the team."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I play to win. I have a good basketball IQ and vision on the court. I'm a strong rebounder and athletic. Last year was really tough not playing because of my injury but I stayed focused and was always paying attention. I was watching and learning so it's not new. I'm ready to get back out there. I'm working on my post game and think that can make me a better player. I'll always do whatever it takes to help the team win. Everybody on this team works hard. We are underdogs. There are guys who are underrated and we all work to prove them wrong. Every day we push each other to be the best we can be. It's the best I've ever been around."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I'm a relentless basketball player. I give it everything I've got every time I'm on the court. I'm willing to do anything to help my team win. My biggest strength right now is scoring the ball. I can score in a variety of ways – in the post, midrange and my three-ball has been consistently improving. My journey has made me hardnosed. I feel like it's showed me that hard work is the only way to accomplish something. I value every day and every moment. Moving around a little like I've done I've learned that you'll find success if you work as hard as you can all the time. I'm using this opportunity to better myself and help this team accomplish every goal we have. I want to become a better leader and player to prepare myself for the NBA."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I'm a combo guard who can make plays. I feel like I have the ability to score and can defend with my length. Defensively I can play in transition and get deflections to create steals. When I'm locked-in I feel like I can guard anyone on the court and help lead my teams to easy buckets on offense. I'm excited about playing in the Big 12 and see where my game is at. It's my goal to help us win every game we play. My journey has shown me not to take anything for granted. I'm from a small town where not very many people get big time opportunities like I have right now. I don't take it for granted."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I'm a guy who is always going to work hard with a high motor and go for every rebound. I feel like I'm more prepared this season after a year playing in the Big 12. I have a better sense of who I am as a player at this level now and have really worked with our coaches to help improve my game in those areas. I got stronger and more explosive in the offseason to prepare for what we're about to get into. I'm going to always play with energy and fight for the ball down low. We're a team with a chip on all of our shoulders. We all have something to prove. We are mature and I feel like we're ready for the challenges that are coming."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "This year I really want to take on the leadership role on the team. I see myself as a player who makes winning plays. I've become a lot more vocal and supportive of my teammates. It was really important for me to help the new guys get accumulated to the system and keep everyone together. I'm looking forward to being in the point guard to get everyone involved offensively and always competing defensively here at Texas Tech. I've been here a while now and have learned from some great players. It's my job now to help our new guys who transferred in and the younger guys. I'm always going to keep working on trying to become a more versatile player. I want to be able to post up and shoot from the outside. I want to create for others and create for myself. All I want to do is win. That's all I'm about."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I bring a lot of energy to the team. I'm aggressive and athletic. I try to get to the basket and get dunks whenever I can and hit the open three if it's there for me. I'm aggressive on the boards and play with heart. My journey shows how dedicated I am to accomplish my goals. I'm determined and never give up. Not being able to play last year (because of COVID canceling ELAC season) was tough. I love playing basketball and I'm just ready to get back on the court and play again. I worked hard all summer and took every day serious. I knew I was behind the other guys because I didn't play last year and knew that I couldn't take any day off. I'm ready to go."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I feel like I've really grown as a player and person over the last year. My game has improved because I really took a look at what I was good at and what I needed to get better at. It was important that I tried to simplify my game some right now. I worked really hard over the offseason to get better and be ready to consistently contribute this season. I'm at my best when I take advantage of open shots and not try to force things with too many dribbles. I can create off shot fakes, one-dribble pull-ups and one-dribble passes. Defensively, I'm more active than last year. I play with more energy and have improved with my communication. My role on this team right now is to take the open shots I get and make them. I feel like I've grown a lot mentally over the past year from the playing experience last season and then the work we put in during the offseason. The game is slowing down for me."

DEFINE YOURSELF: "I see myself as a playmaker, shooter, distributor, defender and all-around player. I try to be anything my team needs to be. I've been learning the game over the years by taking everything one day at a time and building it into more. Watching film, working hard on the court in practice and developing by not being afraid to try new things has made me into who I am now. I believe in myself. My journey has shaped who I am right now at this stage in my life. I follow Jesus Christ and am built up by my mom and sister. There's been some adversity in my life that I've learned and built from. I don't take anything for granted and give every day everything that I've got."

He spent the 2013-14 and 2014-15 seasons as Tech's Director of Basketball Operations before returning for the 2016-17 season as the lead assistant and being promoted to associate head coach in 2019.

Widely regarded as one of the best defensive coaches at any level of basketball, Adams led Tech to the nation's top defensive efficiency rating during the run to the 2019 NCAA National Championship Final and leading the Big 12 by limiting opponents to only 63.2 points per game last season. The Red Raiders, who won the 2019 Big 12 Conference regular-season championship for the first time program history, were second in the country by holding teams to 37.0 percent shooting, third by limiting the opposition to 59.5 points per game and led the Big 12 with opponents only shooting 29.8 percent on 3-pointers during the run to the Final Four and the National Runner-Up finish. Tech was coming off a banner season in 2017-18 on the defensive end where it limited their opponents to 64.8 points per game and a 40.1 shooting percentage to pace the Big 12 conference in 2017-18.

Both marks were ranked inside the NCAA's Top 20, and it marked the first time in program history that Texas Tech ended the season as the Big 12 leader in both defensive categories.

The Red Raiders have held the opposition to 60 or less points on 59 occasions over the past five seasons with Adams as an assistant coach. Tech held four opponents in the 2019 NCAA Tournament to under 60 points, including earning a 63-44 win over Michigan in the Sweet 16 and then a 61-51 win over Michigan State in the Final Four. The 2020-21 team limited 13 opponents under 60 and finished at No. 20 in adjusted defensive efficiency, including securing a 65-53 win over Utah State in the NCAA Tournament first round. As an assistant, Adams is now 9-3 in the NCAA Tournament at Tech and 10-4 overall.

The Red Raiders finished the 2017-18 season with a 27-10 record, the program's first NCAA Elite Eight appearance and a program-best No. 6 final ranking in the USA Today/Coaches Top 25 poll. Texas Tech also captured a program-best second place finish in the Big 12 regular season and set a program single season mark with 11 Big 12 victories before it was broke the next season.

Adams served as an assistant coach on Little Rock staff during the 2015-16 season. The Trojans started a historic campaign with 10 straight wins and finished with a 30-5 mark. Little Rock claimed the Sun Belt regular season and tournament titles, and the Trojans knocked off No. 12-ranked and fifth-seeded Purdue by an 85-83 margin in double overtime at the NCAA Tournament. The 15-game improvement for Little Rock was tied for the NCAA's top spot in 2015-16.

Adams led Howard College located in Big Spring, Texas to the 2010 NJCAA National Championship and was named the NJCAA's National Coach of the Year. The team was led by current Utah Jazz forward and NJCAA Player of the Year Jae Crowder who averaged 18.9 points, 9.0 rebounds, 2.5 assists and 2.4 steals under Adams in 2009-10. Crowder posted a career-high 14.2 points per game with the Boston Celtics in 2015-16.

Adams recorded 233 victories with the Hawks from 2004-13 and advanced to the NJCAA Regional Tournament in nine consecutive seasons. The 2006 team racked up a program single-season record 36 wins, and Charles Burgess tucked away the NJCAA Player of the Year award. Adams led his teams to three conference championships and six trips to the regional finals over his nine-year run.

Overall, Adams guided his teams to 14 postseason appearances and a .700 postseason winning percentage as a head coach and reached the national tournament of each school's respective classification eight times (three NJCAA, two NCAA Division II and three NAIA). Wayland Baptist secured a spot in the 1985 NAIA National Final.

Adams has earned 15 Coach of the Year honors during his tenure as a head coach. He also has captured six region, conference or district Coach of the Year honors over his career.
