- Jeremiah Love's six-yard touchdown reception in the first quarter is his second touchdown reception of the year and third of his career.
- Love's 14-yard rushing touchdown in the second quarter matches Wayne Bullock's school-record for consecutive games with a rushing touchdown with 11. - Love, highlighted by a 68-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, posted his fourth 100-yard rushing game of the season and his career, finishing with 130 yards. It also marks the first time that Love has rushed for 100 yards in back-to-back games and the first Irish running back to do so since Audric Estimé against Wake Forest and Stanford in 2023.
- Notre Dame's defense held Army to just two yards passing in the first half and 26 total in the game, the least amount a Notre Dame opponent has posted since Navy had 22 passing yards on October 10, 2015.
