Reaney Named ACC Women's Swimming & Diving Scholar-Athlete of the Year

Emma Reaney amassed many accolades over her four-year career in South Bend, including having been named the 2023-14 ACC Women's Swimming & Diving Scholar-Athlete of the Year. It was Notre Dame's first season in the ACC.

During her junior season, the Lawrence, Kansas native broke the NCAA, U.S. Open and American records in the 200 breaststroke on two occasions, once when winning an ACC title and again when winning an NCAA title. She won three events at ACC Championships and was also named an All-American in 100 breaststroke, 200 breaststroke and 200 IM.

Emma Reaney was a 13-time All-American for Notre Dame and was the 2013-14 ACC Women's Swimming & Diving Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

In addition to their many accomplishments in collegiate action, Notre Dame women's swimmers and divers have a history of competing in various prestigious national and international meets, including three Olympic Games.

In 1996, Jilen Siroky ('04), then just 15 years of age, represented the United States in the Atlanta games, finishing 15th in the 200m breast. Siroky also was the 1996 U.S. champion in the 100 breast.

In 2000, Christel Bouvron represented her native Singapore in the Sydney games, finishing 32nd in the 200m fly and 36th in the 400 free. Four years later, she became just the second current Notre Dame student-athlete ever – and first in 84 years – to take part in the Olympics, matching her 32nd-place finish in the 200 fly. In addition to that pair of Olympians,[] Irish student-athletes have competed at United States Olympic Trials, including most recently Maggie Graves in 2024.

Jilen Siroky participated in the 1996 Olympics for the United States.

The Irish swimming and diving teams compete in the Rolfs Aquatic Center. After 27 years for the men's swimming team and four years of varsity intercollegiate swimming competition for the women's team in the Rockne Memorial Pool, the Notre Dame men's and women's swimming and diving programs entered a new era in 1985, as they moved to the $4.5-million natatorium located in the Joyce Center.

Donated by brothers Thomas and Robert Rolfs of West Bend, Wis., the Rolfs Aquatic Center provides Notre Dame with a modern, innovative facility. Ellerbe Architects and Engineers of Bloomington, Minn., the architects used in the planning of the Joyce Center, also were commissioned to design the 45,000-square-foot facility which houses a 50-meter Olympic pool (25 yards in width), spectator seating for 400 and support facilities.

The facility features a video and replay board, and two movable bulkheads to allow sections of the pool to be blocked off, allowing competition and warm-up to occur simultaneously. Diving is accommodated with two one-meter boards and two three-meter boards.

Support functions housed in the center of the facility just below the spectator seating include men's and women's locker rooms, men's and women's varsity locker rooms and men's and women's staff locker rooms. Offices for the Notre Dame swimming staff, aquatics directors and lifeguards are deckside and glass-fronted with a view of the pool.

Several deckside instructional areas are located around the pool and feature infrared heat lamps, designed to keep wet swimmers warm between events. The pool features a stainless steel racing gutter, which is designed to absorb the bow waves of a swimmer, allowing for faster swimming times.

Another instructional feature is the presence of two underwater windows, which allow critiquing of a diver's or swimmer's underwater technique. The unique structural system consists of three trusses, which span 120 feet with the roof suspended below the trusses. In addition, the white exterior trusses provide an interesting and athletic character to the building. The lighting system is designed to be adjusted from maximum brightness for television to nearly dark for dramatic synchronized swimming presentations.

The center was officially dedicated on Nov. 13, 1985.
